

DR. LAWRENCE REMEMBERS
CLANTON FRIENDS WITH LONG, SCROLLED LETTER

From out California way this week came a long scrolled letter from Clanton's own Dr. C. O. Lawrence, who, along with the wife, are out around Pasadena for the Rose Bowl classic.

Dr. Lawrence's letter, headed, "Dear Folks," we guess, is to all the "folks" around Clanton. Sorry the letter was too lengthy to reprint. He did send some of the California sand and said he moved a bathing beauty to get it. If you have an hour or so to spend, the Doc's letter is at the News office.

BIGGEST LIE OF '45 TOLD TO LIAR'S CLUB

The biggest lie of 1945 has been told to the Burlington, Wisconsin Liar's Club. This year's whopper was mouthed by M. E. Lincham of Louisville, Ky. Here's his lie:

"Very few people know it but it was through my efforts that the 1945 Ohio River flood was stopped before it spread out of control."

"On the day the water reached its peak and was expected to flood half of Louisville, I made a hurried call to the election board, had them arrange a special local election, and we voted the town dry in half an hour."

That was the champion lie of 1945.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our many good friends of the community for their thoughtful and appreciated gifts after the loss of our home. Your thoughtfulness and kindness will never be forgotten.—G. M. Jones and J. C. Dennis.

ALABAMA WALLOPS
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
IN ROSE BOWL

Alabama, by no means a new-comer to the annual Rose Bowl game staged in Pasadena, Calif., defeated Southern California last New Year's Day to a tune of 34 to 14.

For a while sportswriters had Alabama listed as an underdog, but the Tide turned loose and rolled and rolled from the beginning to take a lead of 20 to 0 at the half. Harry Gilmer, All-American of Alabama, proved his worth by passing and running as well as the flashy Crimson Tide from Tuscaloosa kept rolling, rolling along for another Tide victory. The "Hillbillies" and "Swamp Rats," as a California sportswriter called the Alabama team, really went to town.

There were an estimated 92,000 people there to witness this annual tilt. Among them were many Clanton people. Just to list those the NEWS know that were there, were: Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Lawrence and son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Raybon Crew and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Crew.

Truly, New Year's Day was Alabama's day in California.

Pension Bill For World War I Widows

On December 15, 1944, Public Law 483, 78th Congress was approved which provided pensions for widows and children (not parents) of Veterans of the First World War.

This measure extends coverage to the families of virtually all World War I Veterans, since it provided pensions regardless of cause of death. Parents and Widowers are not entitled to benefits under this law.

The deceased veteran must have served at least 90 days for his family to be eligible. Marriage after the effective date of this bill will not make the widow eligible unless she has been married to the veteran for 10 years and has lived continuously with the veteran from date of marriage to date of his death (except for separation due to veteran's misconduct or procured by him without fault of the widow).

Childless widows are not eligible unless her annual income is under $1,000, nor can a widow with children qualify if her annual income exceeds $2,500.

The widow of a World War One veteran who has remarried after the death of her veteran husband is not eligible no matter what her circumstances are and to file claim under such circumstances would constitute fraud.

Children may be eligible even though the widow is barred if the children are under 18 years of age or if attending an approved school until they reach 21.

It is believed that there are many widows and orphans of Veterans of World War I in Chilton County entitled to this pension who are not aware of its availability. Any widow who feels that she is entitled to this benefit may contact the County Office of the Department of Veterans' Affairs over Upchurch Drug Store, in Clanton, Ala., and get the necessary forms filled out at no cost to them whatsoever.

Clanton Couples Fly Own Planes To Bowl

By KATHRYN TUCKER
Birmingham News Staff Writer

Clanton, Ala., Dec. 31—While other Alabamians fussed and fumed about getting transportation to the Rose Bowl, three Clanton couples shrugged off such worries, climbed jauntily into their Piper Cub coupes and headed West.

It was early last Fall that Charles Wade, manager of the Clanton airport, first began talking with his friends and fellow fliers, Raybon Crew and L. J. Crew, about flying out to see the California classic.

"We could do it easily," he said. "We could take our wives along, start in time to take it easy and do some sight-seeing and have a wonderful time."

SO THEY GOT OUT AIR MAPS, began planning their trip. They marked the places they would stop for gas-

EXTRA! FRESH STRAWBERRIES ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

Can you imagine FRESH strawberries and short cake on New Year's Day? Well, if you ate your New Year's Day dinner at the City Grill, that was your desert. We were all surprised when Bob "Boy" Windham, told us that they were really fresh, and to top that they were Clanton's own berries too.

The novelty of the fresh strawberry deal was this: They were Chilton County strawberries grown here last season by Roy Roper and were quick frozen at the Chico Freeze Plant.

Well, "Boy," if you keep on giving us those good dinners in the future like you have in the past and those surprise deserts, then you can REAL-LY watch the satisfied customers come and go AND come back.

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Weldon, better known in Chilton County as "Uncle Pete" Weldon last Sunday, December 30th, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in Cane Creek Community.

Mrs. Weldon will be 81 in February and "Uncle Pete" will be 80 this January.

They have been living up in the Cane Creek Community all their 66 years of married life with the exception of two years they lived up Thorsby way.

Mrs. Ralph Johnston spent Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nivens.

Clanton and Chilton County will dive head-into the Victory Clothing Collection Campaign when it officially opens on January 7th.

Mayor Leo Thompson is the campaign manager of the Clanton District which is being handled by the Kiwanis Club.

Schools about over the county are expected to be organized to take care of clothing collections in the rural sections of the county, according to D. P. Culp, County Superintendent of Education. Mr. Culp emphasized that no definite plans had been made as yet, but full particulars will be published in the near future.

The campaign, running from January 7th through January 31st, is being launched by the direction of President Truman. The purpose of the campaign is to cloth men, women and children in Europe, the Philippines and the Far East, who were over-run by aggressor nations.

Lawrence Beller, National Publicity Director states, "Unless clothing is contributed to them, somehow, millions of people in war-devastated countries all over the world will be exposed to cold, sufferings and death."

The campaign is under the national direction of Henry J. Kaiser and the State director for Alabama is Haygood Paterson. All spare clothing collected in Clanton and Chilton County is destined to be sent overseas for distribution to the needy free of charge.

Mayor Thompson said the Clanton territory would be handled by Kiwanians in this manner:

Every home and every person in Clanton are asked to select their spare or old clothes and get them ready. The town has been divided into districts. On Friday p.m., January 18th, members of the Kiwanis Club will go to each home and pick up any clothes that are to be contributed. They will work Clanton from three until six o'clock on that date.

It is not absolutely necessary, but preferable, that clothes be clean.

Clothes they want are just clothes, any size, color, shape or fashion; shoes, boots, galoshes, shirts, dresses, coats, jackets, work clothes, children's clothing—just clothes.

Start now. Work your wardrobe and closets. Dig out your old clothes and donate them to a worthy cause. Watch next week's NEWS for further particulars!

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

An English hunter tells the story of a tigress that was known all over India as the man eater. One day this tigress slipped up to camp where some wood-cutters were sleeping, and seized a man and carried him away to the place where her whelps were in hiding. She placed the man in the midst of the group of young tigers, and he being very much alive and conscious of his danger, tried to crawl away from them. The young whelps would fasten their teeth in his legs and hold him secure to the great delight of the mother tiger. The man's pale watched from a distance, but were powerless to help. Many a time have we seen the tigress of whiskey as it would seize a live man and drag him down into the midst of a group of other like tigers. The person might try to escape, but he would be seized and held secure in the teeth of certain destruction. Whiskey is the man eater tigress of today.

For months a farmer used an alarm clock and every morning at four he would get up to feed his mule. Finally the mule caught on to the plan, and he supplanted the clock by kicking the side of his stable four times, when it was time for the farmer to bring in his feed. At first the farmer thought that his mule was sick, and then he discovered that the kicking took place as his clock set up its alarm. The old mule became the alarm clock for the family. It is wonderful how habit will work its way into the actions of men and beast.

Joseph told Parash that there would be a surplus of food in Egypt for seven years, and then there would be seven years of famine. The king commanded that Joseph take charge and store up the surplus and hold it in readiness against the years of need. This was done and there was food in Egypt. During the II World War wages have been high, and money has been plentiful. What have we spent with the surplus? Many have spent it freely. It came easy and it went easy. Men and women made ten and fifteen dollars a day, and now the war is over, and they have no more than they had in the beginning. Jobs are going to be limited and there is going to be a decrease in wages. We are going to have want and suffering and all because we wasted the surplus. I am a firm believer in saving when we have prosperity. A time of need is coming.

VETERANS GET INCREASED ALLOWANCES UNDER GI BILL

Greater educational opportunities for World War II veterans are foreseen as a result of President Truman's approval of amendments to the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944.

The revised act (Public Law 346) increases benefits for veterans, said Mr. E. Head, Alabama Regional Manager of the Veterans Administration, and especially for those who desire to continue their education.

"One of the principal amendments," Mr. Head pointed out, "provides for increased subsistence allowances for veteran-students. This alone should cause more veterans to enter training."

Under the amended law, monthly subsistence allowances are increased from $50 to $65 for veterans without dependents, and from $75 to $90 for veterans with dependents.

Disabled veterans who are engaged in vocational rehabilitation training now will receive a minimum of $105 per month without dependents; $115 with a dependent, plus $10 for the first child, $7 each for each additional child and $15 for any dependent parent. If the veteran is receiving a lesser pension he will receive these amounts while he is in training status. In no event will his pension be reduced by entering training.

All age limits on training have been removed. Any eligible veteran now may receive one year of education or training, plus as many additional years as he had active service, not to exceed four years. He need not have been under 25 years of age when he entered service, nor need he show that his education was interrupted by war service.

The time during which a course may be initiated under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 is extended.

William E. Caton, son of Mr. W. D. Caton of Route 1, Thorsby, is among those recently discharged from the army. Caton served 29 months overseas in the ETO with the 96th Engr. Maintenance Co.

Sgt. Chester A. Johnson, of Route 5, Clanton, has been honorably discharged from the army. Chester served ten months overseas as a radio mechanic and radio operator.

James A. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosie Jackson, was recently discharged from the army after serving 25 months overseas as a gunner in a tank battalion.

Harmon O. Headley, husband of Edwina Headley, of Clanton Route 4, was recently discharged from Ft. McPherson after serving in an M. P. detachment.

Another veteran with a long stay overseas—29 months—has been discharged. He is Julius A. Sample of Route 1, Stanton. Julius is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Sample of Stanton. He served in the ETO, has one battle star and was a dispatcher. He also wears the Meritorious Service Unit insignia.

Warren G. Walker, chief gunner's mate, Stanton, Ala., has received the Purple Heart Medal for wounds received when this destroyer was attacked by Jap aircraft near Okinawa last April.

Seventy men on the LAFVEY were wounded when 22 Jap planes came in for the kill. Four of the planes scored bomb hits and seven crashed with their loads of high explosives into the ship.

Word reached here this week that Pfc. Charles Samuel Tatum has been discharged. Charles served 27 months overseas in the European Theatre. He is the son of William Tatum, formerly of Clanton.

Among those discharged from the Ft. McPherson separation center last week was Sgt. Andrew L. Turner, of Pletcher, husband of Mary Laverne Turner. Turner served 13 months overseas as an airplane mechanic, serving in the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre.

Jesse P. Payne, Jr., MoMM 3-C husband of Mrs. Elsie Dee Payne, of Thorsby, Ala., is on his way home.

Payne is one of 1,000 high-point Army and Navy veterans whom the "Magic Carpet" is bringing back to the States aboard the U S S TRYON.

Seaman First Class George Fox was home for a few days last week. George is stationed at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station.

Thomas H. Wright, son of Mrs. Maggie Wright of Route 2, Maplesville, has been honorably discharged from the army. Thomas served with the 402 Infantry in the ETO and was overseas ten months. He was a machine gunner.

from two to four years after discharge or official end of the war, whichever is later, and the time limit for completing the course is raised from seven to nine years after official end of the war.

Vocational training under Public Law 16, involving more than 400 years of training, may be begun by a disabled veteran, subject to VA approval, and the time for completing such training is extended from six to nine years after the official end of the war. This will be of special benefit to those approved for professional courses such as law and medicine.

Under the amended Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, short intensive courses may be undertaken and the additional cost pro-rated against the period of eligibility to which the veteran is entitled at the rate of $500 per school year. No such short course may cost more than $500.

Correspondence courses are made available under the revised Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944. A veteran may apply to take a correspondence course under the new provisions, but he is not entitled to a subsistence allowance. One-fourth of the elapsed time used in pursuing such a course is charged against the veteran's period of eligibility. The total amount payable for correspondence courses for any veteran is limited to $500.

Full information on veterans affairs may be obtained at Veterans Administration offices at Montgomery, Birmingham, Mobile, Dothan, Anniston, Gadsden, Huntsville, Florence, Tuskegee, Auburn, Tuscaloosa and Demopolis.

AMOUNT OF THE GUARANTY ON FARM LOANS EXPLAINED

J. H. Yates, Secretary-Treasurer of the Bibb-Chilton National Farm Loan Association this week answers a question of interest to many returning veterans. How much of a loan which may be obtained by a veteran under terms of the GI Bill of Rights will be guaranteed?

Under no circumstances may the total amount of the guaranty for one veteran be more than $2,000, Mr. Yates said. On first mortgage loans the guaranty cannot be more than 50 per cent of the total loan or loans. On second mortgage loans, permitted only where the first lien is held, insured, or guaranteed by a Federal agency the guaranty may be for the full amount of the loan if the loan does not exceed 20 percent of the cost of the property.

A veteran who secures guaranties amounting to $2,000 is not eligible for further guaranty, even though the original loan or loans may have been paid in part or in full.

Transfer of title to the property does not affect the guaranty contract unless the creditor releases the veteran from personal liability on the debt.

The liability under the guaranty decreases or increases pro rata with any decrease or increase in the amount of the unpaid portion of the obligation, but the amount of the guaranty cannot in no case exceed the original amount thereof, or the percentage of the indebtedness originally guaranteed.

THE LAST DAY

FOR MEN NOW IN THE ARMY TO RETAIN THEIR PRESENT GRADES BY REENLISTING...

Men now in the Army who reenlist before February 1 will be reenlisted in their present grade. Men honorably discharged can reenlist within 20 days after discharge in the grade they held at the time of discharge, provided they reenlist before February 1, 1946.

There's a long list of attractive reenlistment privileges in the new Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1945. The ability to keep your present grade is only one of them, but this privilege expires on January 31.

There are plenty of other reasons why many thousands of men have enlisted, and more thousands are enlisting every day. You'll certainly want to know all of the opportunities open to you. If you'll read them carefully, you'll know why a job in the new peacetime Regular Army is being regarded today as "The Best Job in the World."

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE NEW ENLISTMENT PROGRAM

1. Enlistments for 1 1/2, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men now in Army with 6 months' service.)
2. Enlistment ages from 17 to 34 years inclusive, except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age.
3. Men reenlisting retain present grades, if they reenlist within 20 days after discharge and before February 1, 1946.
4. The best pay scale, medical care, food, quarters and clothing in Army history.

New Farmall for Small Acreages--
All of the farm power jobs on small acreages can be handled successfully now at low cost with the new, Farmall Cub tractor, shown here with farm truck. This small tractor, now in pre-production, is considered by experts in agricultural equipment to be one of the most important developments in small acreage farming in many years. A complete complement of quick-attachable tools adapt the tractor to work in field and garden crops. International Harvester Company engineers developed the Farmall Cub to provide the advantages of power farming for small acreages commensurate in economy with the advantages enjoyed by large-scale farmers. The first public appearance of the new tractor was at Harvester's recent field demonstration of postwar machines at Hinsdale, Ill.

STATE FARMERS LOOK FOR GOOD YEAR IN '46

Alabama farmers look hopefully to 1946 after one of the most "valuable" agricultural years in their State's history.

Eight major field crops alone had a 1945 value of $243,254,585 to Alabama ruralists, based on average prices of November 15.

Through the first nine months of the year, Alabama farmers marketed for cash $87,982,000 of these leading crops, plus $56,573,000 worth of livestock and livestock products, giving them a total income of $144,435,000 to October 1.

There is promise that 1946 might be even better, with almost the entire world looking to the United States for food and raw materials, the government continuing its "parity" price program, and with several measures pending in Congress to assist the farmer.

One of those bills, by Rep. Pace (D. Ga.) would require the increased cost of farm labor to be figured into parity prices established for various commodities by the government.

Cotton is still king of crops in Alabama, but, as in most Southern States, his position has been slipping in recent years. The value of various crops as figured from prices prevailing November 15:

- Cotton — $105,655,000.
- Cottonseed — $18,309,000.
- Corn — $53,643,560.
- Potatoes — $10,400,000.
- Sweet Potatoes — $12,112,500.
- Hay — $15,504,000.
- Peanuts — $27,483,300.
- Tobacco — $147,225.

DEATH AMONG BOY BABIES IS HIGHER

The death rate among boy babies in the United States is substantially higher than that among girl babies, according to information received by the State Department of Health from the Bureau of the Census.

Using 1943 deaths among infants less than one year of age and the births reported during that year from the entire United States, the Census Bureau statisticians computed the death rate for female infants under one year of age at only 35.4 per 1,000 live births, as compared with a rate of 45.1 per 1,000 live births for male infants. The rate for the two sexes combined was 40.4 per 1,000 live births.

EIGHT POINT CHICK PROGRAM FOR 1946

John Ivey, API extension poultryman, says that Alabama farmers can succeed with poultry during 1946 by following an 8-point program. The eight points are:

- (1) Decide the number of chicks to brood.
- (2) Determine what equipment will be needed and what must be bought.
- (3) Determine source of day-old chicks and equipment.
- (4) Decide when the chicks will be started.
- (5) Contact hatcherymen or breeders from whom chicks are to be bought.
- (6) Place orders for chicks to be delivered on or about the day wanted.
- (7) Place order now for equipment to be purchased.
- (8) Get housing equipment ready for arrival of chicks.

If straight run chicks, pullets and cockrels, are bought, it is advisable to buy 300 chicks for 100 choice pullets to go into the laying house. If sexed chicks are bought the number can be reduced by 50 percent, Mr. Ivey said.

It is best to buy good chicks from a hatcheryman near you who is following a good breeding and disease control program, Ivey advises.

BIG TERRACING JOB AHEAD FOR FARMERS

Alabama farmers are on the last half of their 8-million acre terracing job. "But," warns J. B. Wilson, A.P.I. extension agricultural engineer, "we must terrace the remaining 4 million acres quicker than we did the first 4 million."

"Farmers can't afford to continue losing their top-soil from these acres which haven't been terraced. The sooner the terracing job is finished the richer Alabama farms will be," he

BUTTERFAT PROMOTES VITAMIN DEVELOPMENT

The kind of fat consumed in the diet may exert an important influence upon growth, states the National Dairy Council. This is due to the way in which different fats affect the vitamin producing bacteria in the digestive tract. This far-reaching conclusion is drawn from experimental work in rat feeding published recently by Dr. E. B. Hart of the University of Wisconsin.

Different types of carbohydrates were fed to ten different groups of rats. Each of the groups were divided, one set receiving corn oil as the fat constituent of their diet and the other receiving butterfat. Some of the rats in each group received a normal vitamin B supply, some a high vitamin B supplement plus ligger.

In nearly all cases, those animals receiving butterfat and normal vitamin B allowances showed wide advantages. Where extra vitamins were fed the difference in favor of butterfat fed rats were not so marked. The conclusion drawn by Dr. Hart is that butterfat in combination with most carbohydrate foods encourages the growth in the digestive tracts of those bacteria which promote the development of the B vitamins.

Farmers can sell without going to town; use the Want Ads.

Though slightly more than 4 million acres have been terraced, some of this work will need to be done again because proper maintenance was not carried out.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PLAN FUTURE IN DAIRYING

Though the fighting is over there the Alabama farmer's battle for a better dairy farm program has only begun.

That was the statement of C. E. Teague, API extension dairyman, in telling farmers that now is the time to lay plans for their future in milk production. "While milk and cream prices continue to be good farmers can get into the business with less difficulty," he said.

The farmer is interested in what financial condition he'll be in five or ten years from now. Dairying, as is true of most farm enterprises, is a long-time business proposition. If a farmer is looking ahead to selling milk or cream either as a main or supplementary income, he should begin now to build his herd and develop feed crops.

The number of farmers selling milk in the state climbed steadily until last July, but records show that there has been a gradual decline since that time. "Milk is as much in demand as during war time and indications are that this condition will continue. It is to the farmer's advantage not to drop out of the dairying business but to build for the future," Mr. Teague said.

Discharges from the armed forces crossed the 4,000,000 mark December 4, according to an American Legion survey.

VICTORY CLOTHING DRIVE TO BE LAUNCHED

Soon after post offices are cleared of the last Christmas packages, they will begin to receive clothing gifts from the American people to the suffering people in bomb-out lands, according to an order of Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan which was made public today.

Henry J. Kaiser, national chairman of the Victory Clothing Collection, declared that the order to all postmasters authorized and directed them to permit local committees of the nationwide clothing drive to place boxes in post offices lobbies to receive clothing donations.

Mr. Kaiser also announced that Nelson A. Rockefeller, former Assistant Secretary of State, will serve as the New York City chairman of the Collection.

Mr. Kaiser also announced that 9,607 communities throughout America are organized to conduct clothing drives under the local chairmanship of 4,313 men and women, many of whom will direct county-wide drives.

One community, South Hero, Vt., has completed its clothing collection. The 606 residents of this village on an island in Lake Champlain began their drive a month in advance of the national campaign. Mrs. Henry Buerman, local chairman, explained that three pre-Christmas sewing bees were held to salvage garments that were worn and ripped.

The Victory Clothing Collection, scheduled from January 7-31, seeks 100,000,000 used garments, in addition to shoes and bedding. Each contributor is invited to attach good-will messages to clothing gifts.

Tuberculosis is one worry we bovines do not have to worry about

Mrs. Cow is telling you the absolute truth. No cow has died of T.B. in the U. S. for years. Because cows were a valuable property and their T.B. a menace to other cows, as well as to people, the known method of prevention was applied and with 100 percent effect. There are no more tubercular cattle in the United States. Humans were interested enough to bring that about.

In humans too

T. B. IS UNNECESSARY

There has been a known method of cure for more than half a century. T. B. is an open book to science. Its cause, its method of spread and the right way to prevent occurrence are common knowledge to our medical men. . . yet . . . 55,000 Americans died of T. B. last year. Each death is a record of failure. . . the failure to apply the known methods. We made peace with Japan and Germany following a war which took the lives of 253,000 Americans. We can't make peace with T. B. In the war years 206,000 Americans died of it. It is the enemy that never surrenders. . . it must be destroyed.

Having the knowledge to prevent T. B. . . knowing the method for curing T. B. . . having the machinery for detecting T. B. early when it is most susceptible to treatment, we can't relax for a single second. Those who die of T. B. are really dying of neglect. . . neglect of individuals who will not learn of modern methods of treatment. . . neglect of our community if it fails to provide the effective and known means of prevention and cure. T. B. is your problem . . . your responsibility. . .

The Defense of American Freedom is our First Consideration

NOW, LET'S SEE— WHAT CAN WE DO FOR US?

Fundamentally there is nothing wrong with this country. It is still the greatest country in the world. The only trouble . . . the only drawback to our greatness and progress . . . is that the country is filled with greedy groups, made up of selfish, pleasure individuals . . . the "I'm gonna get mine, regardless" boys.

As a newspaper man we have attended hundreds of meetings of every imaginable type and kind of groups . . . industrialists, manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, associations, unions and what have you. To the best of our recollection we have never, at anytime, heard a discussion at these meetings that could, even be the widest stretch of the imagination, be considered as favorable to the public. On the other hand the general trend, even if not expressed in blunt words, has been:

Now, let's see, What! can we do for us?

This same selfish attitude on the part of groups and individuals, we charge, is responsible for the costly delays in reconversion. It is not only selfish, but neglect of patriotic duty and criminal. No group or individual should place themselves ahead of their country and its essential needs.

During the Christmas trade season, we have been told, essential merchandise has been withheld from the market by manufacturers, wholesalers and, in some instances, by retailers. Why? Selfishness and greed.

Thousands of these firms were already in the top income tax brackets due to high war production and profits. Congress last July passed a new income tax law, leaving a wider scope for gains in 1946. It was the case these interests were looking for, because they could withhold goods from the market and make higher profits in 1946.

In the meantime millions of men are being returned to civilian life from the armed service . . . men who made great sacrifices; who fought on the gory battlefields of Europe, and the Pacific theatre. They returned to the land of a thousand glorious dreams; the country they fought to make free, prosperous and safe, to find what?

A nation torn by strife, a land of shortages that prevents them from finding a suit of clothes, a good shirt, a home in which to live, and a decent job.

They returned to a land ruled by a minority instead of a majority. They have returned to a land whose laws, in the main, are dictated by pressure groups . . . those selfish, greedy organizations.

Abraham Lincoln set the creed for democracy when he described what we are supposed to have, thus:

"A government of the people, for the people by the people"

It is this kind of a government for which men fought and died. It is the type of government we, the public, expect to restore.

To do this will require an organized public, a people girded for a fight to the finish against special interests and the so-called pressure groups.—Shades Valley Press.

YEAR'S FARM OUTLOOK

No man in agriculture is better prepared than the County Agent to chart the course as farm families adjust their operations from all-out wartime production to a long-range peacetime farming program.

Dedicated to the advancement of better farming and home-making, stronger citizenship and finer rural living, the activities of some 4,000 County Agents in a single wartime year included 2,288,335 farm or home visits made, 9,726,678 office calls, 6,664,424 telephone calls and 605,678 meetings held with total attendance of 11,521,760.

Looking ahead, here are some of the things the County agent believes he sees: Corn: Reduced acreage as livestock numbers swing back, feed needs ease off. Wheat: World surplus in sight; get ready. Oats: Doing a comeback. Dairy cattle: Milk market one of least war-expanded. Hogs: Fewer; must bear brunt of restoring balance between livestock numbers and feed supplies. Poultry: Long-time production trend upward.—Country Gentleman.

FOLKS & THINGS

ABOUT TOWN

-By BEN

"If I could in the coming year Make any dream come true, I'd ask the Christ to breath His peace Into the heart of YOU."

You know, what we need is more business houses in Clanton. In the past few weeks we have heard this mentioned many times. The land-owners should build on their property or either sell to some one who will—and there are plenty of buyers who will. Clanton is headed for a boom that will double our population in the next five years and there must be a "building spree" in the down town district to take care of the new industries that want to come in but cannot find housing facilities. This is just as important—or even more important than the housing problem that is confronting us at this time.

A little boy was kneeling by the side of his bed, mumbling his nightly prayers, as his mother came up to tuck him in for the night. Mother: "I can't hear what you are saying, dear." Little Boy (candidly): "I wasn't talking to you."

Well, we spent the New Year in Birmingham and north Alabama. We talked to J. E. (Big Jim) Folsom and several of the other "big wigs" in the coming May Primary. We heard talk about Hugh Locke coming out for Governor; we heard about Handy Ellis and his campaign; we heard about that man Booser from Anniston; we heard about a Mr. Poole who got a lot of publicity in the last State Income Tax Referendum; and oh, golly, we heard about a lot of fellows who would like to be this or that in the coming four years. We heard that Dave Birmingham wanted to be Secretary of State. That's the job Miss Sybil Poole holds now and Miss Poole has made a mighty popular Secretary of State. We would like to see the man who tries to fill a beautiful lady's shoes. In fact, we heard so much it will take us until about the middle of May—that's a week after the election—to figure this thing out. In the meantime we are just going to say nothing saw wood and pray.

Well, we like this, our cousin Katherine Tucker, comes down from the Magic City and the Birmingham News to interview Elizabeth Wade about her flying father and mother going to the West Coast to see the Rose Bowl game and doesn't even come to see us or call us up or anything. 'Course Katherine and I are only cousins by mutual agreement, but gee whiz, she should call a fellow up and let him know how she's getting along when she comes around here hunting ground. But that's okay, when we go to Birmingham to the Alabama Press Association meeting in a few weeks we won't call her up either. We'll just ignore her—unless she's got something interesting planned.

"Mitch" Williams has built a home out on his farm about three miles west of town. Now Mitch is hunting a name for the "plantation" and is asking his friends to help him out. Well, being a friend of his we would like to submit, "The Louis Lodge" or "Mitch's Madness," or "Williams' Weakness," or any one of a dozen names that we have in our mind that would make a wonderful name for his country home. How's "Pat's Paradise" or "Where Mitch and Pat Hang Their Hats."

ALABAMA'S SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES TO DISCUSS CURRENT LEGISLATURE

Alabama's two Senators and nine Representatives to the Congress will discuss in a series of lectures current legislation affecting our State, the Nation and America's International Relations over WSGN each Sunday afternoon at 1:15 p.m. in a newly inaugurated series of programs entitled, "A Report To The State." The Birmingham News-Age-Herald, Washington correspondent, opened the series Sunday, December 30th, with an outline of the speakers and subjects to be discussed on the subsequent 12 broadcasts.

We ought not to complain about food shortages, because it's impossible to talk with a mouthful.—Hartwell, Ga. Sun.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

- 1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "blues" to come.
- 2 Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Dear Joe . . .

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

Clanton is still Clanton. The city is still recuperating from four years of war with most of its young men gone and war-time scarcities that made the merchants dread a customer more than appreciate one.

People still crowd into town on Saturdays as they always have and as they probably always will. Saturday is still "the" day for the farmers.
Up and down the street from U. S.
31 to the courthouse it is still crowded with overalled farmers, women with little crying children. Some are hustling getting their weekly business attended to. Some just congregate and chat and chew the fat among one another. I haven't noticed any street preaching since I returned. Maybe they have a city ordinance against that now. There was a quartet singing sacred hymns in front of the New Wadesonian the other night; asking for handouts.

The same old faces (some not so old) are still around. It doesn't take one very long to run into such familiar faces as Jim Parrish, C. E. Stapp, Dr.
Parrish, "Pud" Walker, Erby Pop-well, Millard Lancaster and Marion Mims. Then if you want to round the stores there are many, many more faces you've always remembered. Clanton
by. Such faces as Cecil Ramsey, the Evans brothers (who are now running a hardware), Paul Williamson, Rip Burnett and Luke Culpepper at the Ford Place. Also there is Adolphus Moatts and Bean at the groceries. Leo Thompson is now the Mayor. "Spud" Calloway is also still around. V. J. Heard is now a "jerger" —of the Inferior Law Court. The Crews out in the Reynolds Addition are still around. I think just about all of them have a plane out at Gragg Field. Charlie Wade is still here and still flying.

There are a number of changes you will immediately notice when you return. About the first will be that Clanton has sprouted out and now has bus service within the city. There are more taxis around than there used to be and they are higher too.

They tell me fishing is still good on the Hatchet and the Coosa River.
I'm waiting until Spring to find out.
One thing for sure, fox hunting is good. It seems that the sly fox is about to take the country. You don't have to go to the river any more to hear a rate. Just get away from the city noise and you can hear all you want to two miles from town.

There is not much to do in Clanton now if you are the type that like to kick your heels. The Starlite burned down and so has Gulleger down on the river. There isn't a honky-tonk in the county that I know of (and if there was I would have already patronized). There is a $1,000 license if you want to start a dance hall within the city. The pool rooms are gone too. There is no more Es-co's. So, that being the case, the celebrating money is being spent in Jefferson and Montgomery counties instead of Chilton. And, believe me, there is a lot of Chilton County money going that way.

That is our version of Clanton—a good place to be from and a better place in which to return.

New Industries Will Come To Alabama in 1946

NEW INDUSTRIES will come to Alabama
in 1946.

We don't know what kinds of industries they will be nor where in Alabama they will locate. We do know that our Industrial Development Department is in contact with a number of them—that some of them will locate in Alabama.

Our Advertising Department is preparing a series of advertisements to appear in national business magazines. It is our hope that they will be as effective in stimulating interest in Alabama as those published this year.

We know also that the State Chamber of Commerce and local chambers of commerce and other groups of citizens are laying before interested parties the advantages of location in Alabama. We know that others are planning the establishment of new industries in Alabama with Alabama capital.

Yes, new industries will come to Alabama in 1946 and, as in the past, they will offer opportunity for employment and will help increase the market for the products of Alabama farms.

Cooperative Basket Factory Started In Thorsby

A cooperative basket factory has been started in Thorsby by the Farmers Union. It is located in the Leary warehouse in the center of town. Six people are now employed and others will be added as soon as equipment can be made ready. Several thousand baskets have already been made which visitors say are as good as ever they have seen. Capital is now needed to finance materials and the storage of baskets. Farmers are urged to invest in the cooperative basket factory which will pay five percent interest. The enterprise will also be furthered by placing orders for baskets. Deliveries can be assured on the date specified for those who place their orders now. Net savings will be returned on a patronage refund basis. Now is the time to support this home industry.

MRS. LUTHER LITTLE IS APPOINTED PARALYSIS APPEAL CHAIRMAN

Plans for the 1946 March of Dimes in the fight against infantile paralysis moved forward today with the appointment of Mrs. Luther E. Little, as chairman for the Appeal in Chilton County with the cooperation of Clanton Pilot Club.

The local campaign, which opens on January 14 and closes January 31, is part of the nation-wide appeal of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for funds to continue the fight against poliomyelitis.

"Poliomyelitis", she pointed out, "is one of the most expensive diseases for a single patient costs more than known to medicine. Hospitalization $2,500 a year. Some cases require continuing care for several years. Not only must many victims of past epidemics receive continuing care, but each year's outbreak add new names to the steadily growing list. Few families can meet the cost of extended polio treatment. Through the annual March of Dimes, treatment and care can be assured for all polio victims regardless of age, race, creed or color."

Kiwanis Club To Collect City's Clothes On 18th

Mr. Delos P. Culp, County Superintendent of Education, stated this week that all schools in the county are going to participate in the Victory Clothing Collection campaign, which officially opened on January 7th and will extend through January 31.

The campaign over the county, as far as the schools are concerned, will run from the 14th to the 18th. The goal of the schools is one garment for each student attending school.

This clothing, which will be collected all over the county and in Clanton is earmarked for the unfortunate overseas. The clothing will be distributed free and indiscriminately.

With each garment collected from the homes of school children, Mr. Culp said, a good-will letter will accompany the article or garment to the recipient overseas.

Clothing collected by schools will all be turned into the County Superintendent's office on January 18th where it, together with that collected by the Kiwanis Club of Clanton, will be turned over to Mr. Haywood Patterson who is heading the state drive.

The Kiwanis Club has taken it into their hands to handle the City of Clanton. Mayor Leo Thompson is heading this city-wide drive.

Mayor Thompson said the drive in Clanton would be handled in two centers:

Every home and every person in Clanton are asked and urged to select their spare or old clothes and get them ready for the collection day. The city has been divided into districts. On Friday p.m., January 18th, member of the Kiwanis Club will go around to each home and pick up any clothes you can spare. They will work the town from three until six o'clock p.m. on the 18th. Mayor Thompson says just leave your bundles of clothes or whatever you contribute on the porch and it will be handled by the Kiwanians.

This Victory Clothing Collection campaign is not just in Chilton County. It is a nation-wide drive instituted at the suggestion of President Truman and placed under the direction of ship-builder Henry Kaiser.

In urging the cooperation of all in this drive, National Headquarters reports: "In France where the war left two million people homeless, the infant death rate has climbed to 75 per cent of the country's birth. This is due from lack of sufficient foods and clothes to protect them through the terrible winter months. In Norway the scanty-clothed Norwegians stand in line all night for a pair of American shoes. In Poland, China and the Philippines the story is the same people suffering for clothes."

The clothes they want in this campaign are just any type clothes—and size, any kind, either old or new or mis-fits.

Everyone is urged to start now and clean your wardrobes of that clothing you cannot use. The needy are suffering and dying from the lack of it. Dig deep; get clothes and turn them in to any of the schools or to the Kiwanis Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Eubanks have just returned from a weeks visit with their children in Key West, Fla.

Isabella Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding Anniversary

To the many friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. LeCroy, of Isabella community, December 29th was a very cherished day. The occasion was their observance of their Golden Wedding Anniversary at their home.

The noon anniversary dinner was attended by the honorees, six of their nine children, sixteen of their twenty-two grandchildren and their only great-granddaughter.

The dinner was followed at two p.m. by an informal reception. During the hours from two to five, about seventy-five guests registered in the guest book.

Highlighting the afternoon was a re-enactment of their marriage ceremony. All members of the wedding party (with the exception of the minister and ring-bearer, Romona Tucker, grand-daughter of the couple) were present at the original wedding ceremony in 1895 at Honover, Alabama in Coosa county.

Mr. W. T. White, brother of Mrs. LeCroy, acted as best man as Braxton LeCroy, youngest son of the honorees, sang "I Love You Truly" accompanied at the piano by his wife, the bridesmaid, Mrs. Emma Manning and Mrs. Fannie Morris, sister of the groom and Mrs. John Conway, sister of the bride preceded Mrs. LeCroy into the living room to meet the groom and minister before the fireplace. The nuptial vows were read by Rev. R. W. Stuckey and the double-ring ceremony was re-enacted.

Despite the fifty-year lapse since their wedding, Mrs. LeCroy exhibited the bride's traditional smiling, blushing face which seemed to take color from her beautiful pink carnation corsage.

The radiance of the pair was so beautifying it acted as assurance to the guests that fifty years ago Mr. LeCroy, as the 22-year old groom and Mrs. LeCroy (nee Frances White) as the twenty-year old bride, had entered into the state of Holy Matrimony founded on love for each other and divine trust in God.

To the many friends of the couple it is evident that their love for each other has grown with the years and their years of service to the church and community is proof of their continued faith and trust in God and mankind.

After the ceremony punch and cookie were served from an attractive table in the hall between the two rooms that were being used as receiving rooms. The table was covered with a lace tablecloth and a large crystal punch bowl centered the table; the base of the bowl was nestled in waxy, green foliage of Southern smilax vines. The table was further adorned by tall burning white candles on either side of the punch bowl.

As the guests left the home of the couple, which for many years has been the scene of happy visits from friends, neighbors and relatives, each departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. LeCroy many more anniversaries as happy as their fiftieth one.

Two types of combines are the choice of farmers, postwar—the pull type and the self-propelled type. Both will be available in various sizes when factory production gets back on a full peacetime basis. At a recent field demonstration of postwar machines, at Hinsdale, Illinois, the International Harvester Company featured among others this McCormick-Deering No. 53R five-foot pull-type combine, designed primarily for average averages. This combine harvests all threshable crops from swath and windrow. A bagging attachment enables threshing and bagging of rain or seed in one operation in the field. The combine is being drawn here by the Farmall-B tractor shown at work harvesting wheat in Montana.

WAYS TO KEEP PECANS FRESH YEAR-ROUND

Quantities of home-grown nuts, particularly pecans in the South, have grown stale and inedible each year for lack of means to keep them fresh.

Recent research on food preservation, however, has shown that this waste may be prevented by canning or freezing.

To can, the meats are first heated and dried in a slow oven, then packed hot in hot sterilized pint jars, and either processed 15 minutes in a boiling water bath with the water two inches up on the jars, or in a steam pressure canner for 10 minutes at five pounds pressure.

Oklahoma scientists also report success in keeping nut meats fresh for two years by packing in moisture-proof containers and storing in freezer lockers.

SUGAR SITUATION IS GRADUALLY IMPROVING

United States civilians will have slightly more sugar to back their ration stamps in the first quarter of 1946 than in the last three months of 1945.

On the basis of the allocation for the January-March period of 1946, announced by the Production and Marketing Administration, USDA, civilians are allotted 1,100,000 of the total 1,183,854 tons. That amount will be divided between homes, and institutional and industrial users. Of the remainder, the U. S. military and war services will receive 70,263 tons, and 13,591 tons will go into commercial exports and shipments.

The civilian allotment compares with 982,000 tons during the last quarter of 1945. The PMA cautions that there is little likelihood of sugar becoming ration free for some time.

Before discarding a wool skirt that has begun to look worn and shabby, consider the possibility of giving it a new lease on life by turning it inside out. Wool goods and garments still are scarce, so every effort should be made to get full wear from the clothes on hand. Often the faded color, spots and wear that make a skirt look worn are only surface deep, and the other side may look fresh and new.

Brooms washed in medium soapy water, and thoroughly dried, will keep in good condition and the wire will not rust.

Man Had Brick In His Stomach For 10 Years

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking INNER-AID and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID. Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County.

MACHINERY SITUATION PRESENTS DARK PICTURE

Representatives of several farm machinery manufacturers have told Alabama agricultural leaders that they are far behind in meeting machinery goals for the fiscal year July 1945 to June 1946. With half the year gone less than one-third of the goal has been met.

Labor conditions and shortage of iron castings will prevent increase in production in time for 1946 planting season, they say.

Since production of parts also is below planned production, farmers are being advised to check repair needs and locate parts as early as possible.

BUTTER SUPPLY FOR CIVILIAN USE TO BE CURTAILED

Butter may be harder to find in some parts of the country during the first quarter of this year than at any time since early in the war, when heavy military buying depleted supplies.

This prospect was indicated by an Agriculture Department announcement today that 30,000,000 pounds less than has been allotted civilians for the January-March period than was allocated them for the October-December period. The allotment for the current quarter is 369,000,000 pounds.

Shortages are expected to be most noticeable in the East, the West and in other areas distant from major producing areas of the Midwest. Complicating the situation is the absence of rationing, which was used during the war to spread supplies.

The supply picture is expected to become brighter in the April-June quarter. During Winter months milk production drops off sharply, but it increases in the Spring. The department tentatively has allocated civilians about 470,000,000 pounds for the April-June quarter.

Despite a record milk production year, the output of butter in recent months has been only at about pre-war average. Failure of butter production to keep pace with that of milk reflects the diversion of a larger-than-normal portion of butter fat into other dairy products, including cream sold to civilians.

In addition to the civilian allocation, the U. S. military services were allotted about 2,000,000 pounds and commercial exporters 2,900,000 pounds for the current quarter.

Civilians were allotted 219,000,000 pounds of cheese, an increase of about 16,000,000 pounds over the past quarter. For export, the allocation is 31,600,000 pounds.

The civilian allocation of canned milk totals 475,000,000 pounds, or about 40,000,000 less than for the October-December period. The department said, however, that supplies are expected to be ample, since trade channels are reported to be well stocked. The export allotment was 683,400,000 pounds.

Civilians were allotted 95,000,000 pounds of dried milk, or about the same as in the past quarter. The export allotment is 84,200,000.

Prices received by Alabama farmers for most farm products seem likely to be maintained near their present levels for the next few months, but probably will average moderately lower in 1946 than in 1945, particularly if farm production is maintained at a high level.

Dear Joe . . .

Clanton's veterans are pouring back in town and the county every day now. For weeks the NEWS has been receiving news bits from the separation centers about local "Joe" who is now being discharged.

If you have been wondering what they are doing when they first get home here it is: Nothing. At least that is their primary objectives upon arrival. Then they just politely drift away or back into their old job or a new one. Some (the lazy ones—the paid loafers) just trot down to the unemployment office and start drawing their $20.00 a week and forget about looking for a job. We don't know how many in Chilton County are doing just that but the percentage is high we bet.

Clanton has several veterans who have entered business in the fair city. We could name a number but no doubt we would leave some one out so we'll skip that. Whether any of our not assistance through the GI Bill or not we don't know, but we have our doubts.

The returned GI's all seem to have money and want to spend it. Automobiles are had to get. A wreck costs as much as the pre-war new one. So, it's just a matter of walk or pay the bill. Some have paid the bill.

We believe Clanton has a high percentage when it comes to veterans who are working as apprentices. You can do that you know. Work, get paid by Uncle Sugar and then get paid by your employer too. Seems to be a pretty good deal—especially for the employer.

A lot of the GI's you, remembered as just playboys around on the streets when you left are not playboys any more. They've grown up, got business in their minds and don't mind telling you so. They, too, are more politically minded. It don't take you long to run down the street and find out what is the matter with Clanton, the County, the State or the Nation. The GI's are very open-spoken, which is the way we should be. Somebody has to do the talking. . . and you have to get someone who will do the listening. Believe me, the guardhouse lawyers are not inactive yet.

The returned veteran is having a heck of a time finding clothes to wear. The dry goods stores are bare. No suits, no shirts, no pants, no nothing hardly except work clothes—and what a veteran wants work clothes? Lead me to him.

There is not any particularly interesting gossip this week. Oh yea, the Tisdale girl who was lost has been found. She was in Jacksonville, Fla. Her "mama" went and fetched her home. The hundred "dollar reward" was paid to a local sailor who reported her whereabouts. At least, that is what we were told.

Here is what we like: Last week we were talking to a Clanton GI who was recently inducted. He, my boy is going overseas. Ain't we glad to hear it? Let 'em try it a while and find out a few things for themselves—the hard way. Find out what? How to appreciate the good old U. S. A. that's all.

THEY TELL US: In Bombay (India) last week an Indian magazine hard up for news of what was happening in Moscow, finally found it. This is what they printed:

"London—It was generally felt in Washington last night that the Big Three Conference in Moscow is going ahead in a cordial atmosphere, says the New York correspondent in the London Daily Mail."

We call that getting the news by remote control.

MEMBERS SOUGHT BY FARM BUREAU

The Alabama Farm Bureau Federation set out today to expand its membership to 80,000 in the next five years.

The goal was set in a resolution adopted at the first 1946 meeting of the executive committee. The resolution, estimating this year's membership at 55,000, instructed officers to work for a 10 percent increase each year until the end of 1950.

Another resolution adopted by the committee demand higher dairy price ceilings to assure an "equitable" return in the event subsidies paid to milk producers to offset increased feed costs are withdrawn.

1946 COTTON GOALS 9 PER CENT HIGHER

Auburn, Ala. — America's cotton farmers are being asked by the government to plant about 9 percent more acres of cotton in 1946, — with a larger percentage planted to varieties producing longer staple cotton.

A suggested production goal of 20 million acres has been established for the 1946-47 season. This is only a little under the acreage recommended for the current season. At average yields per acre, this acreage would produce about 10,650,000 bales. Average consumption is now running around 9,000,000 bales per year.

But while production levels remain virtually unchanged, the production of the higher grades, somewhat in proportion to the output during the pre-war year of 1939. Requirements for short staple, low grade cotton are falling off, and the demand for longer staples is increasing. To meet this situation, many cotton producers will find it necessary to switch to varieties producing the longer staple.

USDA officials report that there will be enough labor, fertilizers, and shipping, marketing and ginning facilities to meet the 1946 goal.

CULTIVATION INCREASES BERMDUDA GRASS YIELDS

Auburn, Ala. — Cultivation offers a promising method of increasing production of forage from solid stands of bermuda and native bunch grass in established pastures and meadows.

In Oklahoma experiments, started in the spring of 1941, it was found that disking the grassland lightly every other year in March caused an increase in the yield of bermuda grass of 26 per cent.

The tests were made on thin or poor stands of grass. It was found that bermuda responds to heavier disking than the common native grass. Tillage seemed to prevent the grasses from dying in the center of the clumps and increased the decay of plant residues.

The experiments also included a study of the effect of tillage on production of grass seed. In 1939 several grasses were seeded in 21- and 42-inch rows and in broadcast strips. The row plantings were cultivated twice with sweeps during the growing season. In general it was found that the broadcast areas produced the most hay and row plantings the most seed.

The 42-inch rows in these tests, in fact, produced an average of 24 times more seed than the broadcast strips. Under favorable conditions, little blue-stem grass, planted in 42-inch rows, produced 432 pounds of seed per acre. This was 78 per cent more seed than was grown on adjacent broadcast areas. The prity and germination was very high in the seed from the cultivated land and as a result, only about one-half the quantity would be required in seeding a given area compared to seed from the broadcast strips.

Some of the important little secrets of successful darning are: (1) Use a fine needle and short thread. Long thread pulled back and forth across the tear or hole tends to stretch the darn out of shape. (2) Use thread that blends with the material—preferably ravelings from the same cloth, or dull-finish thread of a matching but slightly darker shade. Thread usually works up lighter than it appears on the spool. (3) Darn on the right side, but steam press the finished darn on the wrong side, then brush the right side to life the nap.

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

The clouds gathered thick and dark and then the winds began to blow. In the rain storm that followed my father's acres of corn were flattened to the ground. The corn that stood waist high the day before was now prostrate on the ground, and as a boy, I thought how impossible it was for that corn to lift itself and stand erect again. Our hopes for corn lay hopelessly on the ground. Later that day the clouds disappeared and the sun started shining and a miracle began to take place. In the days that followed the warm, gentle rays of the sun kissed that corn, and under the lifting power of the sun rays, that corn stood up and soon looked to be as strong and beautiful as ever. The storm blew it down, but the sun rays lifted it up. The storms of this world play around the best of us, and we fall prostrate in seeming ruin, but the gentle rays of God's Son will shine upon us and we shall stand up again. We thank God for His Son.

Near by a country church was a clear toned bell that could be heard for eight miles on Sunday morning. Some years ago the church burned down and the heat coming from the burning building was so intense, that the bell mounted on its scaffold near by was cracked. Another church was built on the same spot, and the old bell was strapped tightly with wire but it would not ring. It was bound with iron hoops, but still it would not ring. Finally it was returned to the factory and was recast and then it rang out in melody as before. When the fires of sin crack your soul life, no man-made device will ever make you new. You must return to God and He alone can make you as you were before your ruin.

We make our greatest mistakes when we shove our old men aside as antiques. Often they are our most treasured advisers. Benjamin Franklin was sent to France as minister when he was seventy years of age. The best work that this grand old man ever did for America, was done between his seventy-first and his seventy-eighth birthday. To be sure young life is needed, but that does not mean that our aged must be pushed out on a limb and then the limb sawed off by those who want their place. Experience, wisdom and understanding, belong to age.

FARM PRODUCTS CONTINUE TO GAIN

Advancing for the fourth consecutive month, prices of farm products in Alabama December 15 were three points higher than those in November, the Alabama Crop Reporting Service said today.

At 193 per cent of the 1909-14 base period, the report added, the over-all price index last month was 15 points above that for December, 1944.

The reporting service said it was the highest general level of farm prices recorded since August 15, 1924.

All groups showed advances in December except feed grains and dairy products, the report continued. The highest jump, 14 points, was recorded for chickens and eggs.

World carry-over of cotton stands at 26.5 million bales as compared with 22.0 million bales before the war.

GI BILL OF RIGHTS SHOULD BE A BOOM TO WAR VETS

Recently amended loan provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 (GI Bill of Rights) should be a boom to World War II veterans in the purchase of a home, farm or business, in the opinion of M. E. Head, Alabama Regional Manager of the Veterans Administration.

One of the major changes in the law increases the maximum guarantee on a home to $4,000 as compared with a $2,000 limit under the old provisions. The government guarantee remains at 50 per cent of the total loan up to the maximum amount of $4,000.

The business loan guarantee limit is still $2,000 or 50 per cent, which is the greater.

"Loans for the purchase of a home now may be set up for payment over a period of 25 years," Mr. Head said, "and farm realty loans may be guaranteed for payment over a period of 40 years." Non-real estate loans, for the purpose of purchasing a business or farm equipment, may not be extended for payment over a period of 10 years.

Details of the loan guaranty have been simplified by allowing guaranteed loans to be made by any lending agency which is subject to examination and supervision by a Government agency.

MOVIES AT ENTERPRISE SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT

The P. T. A. met Wednesday night of last week. Brother Grady Williams was our principal speaker.

Buying a movie picture machine for the school was discussed and was decided that the school would buy one and show a picture every Friday night of the 2nd and 4th weeks.

Miss McKee has been kind enough to lend us her projector until we have raised enough money to buy one.

We plan to show many pictures which will be educational as well as entertaining.

The first picture will be shown Friday night at 6:45. It will be Dicken's immortal classic, "David Copperfield: The Boyhood." This is a continued picture. For the later period see, "David Copperfield - The Manhood", that will be shown the 4th Friday night. "Rip Van Winkle" will also be shown Friday night. It is an animated cartoon with a newer and funnier ending to this famous legend about good old Rip and his escape to the mountains. Admission will be 10c for children and 25c for adults.

Everyone is urged to attend these shows for recreation and for the benefit of the school.—Helen Smith, Rep.

Blue Lupine Survived Extreme Cold In County

Two plantings of Blue Lupine in this county have survived the cold weather quite well, so far. The stand of Lupine on C. R. Childress' place was damaged more from the cold weather than the stand of Lupine on C. L. Wilkins' place. Survival on Mr. Wilkins' Lupine was ninety-nine per cent or over.

As soon as possible, conservation aids will come around to run terrace lines for cooperators that need terrace lines run. If you need some terrace lines run and have not let your Conservationist know, please let him know the acreage and time you will be ready.

N. L. Roberts, a cooperator with the North Central Soil Conservation District, has quite a large acreage of Kudzu located in meadows and on critical slopes. The yield of hay must have been good, because the weight of the hay in one of his barns was enough to break the sills.

For those that are going to plant Sericea this spring, Sericea seed are now available here in Clanton. If land for sericea has not had any preparation, it should be turned as soon as possible. A poorly prepared seed bed can be the determining factor in the success or failure in obtaining a good stand. A number of cooperators are going to establish Sericea in meadow strips this spring. Next year the terraces will be changed so they will empty on the sericea, and the sericea will also be used as hay.

The Defense of American Freedom is our First Consideration

TEAMWORK

The late Stephen Leacock once described a fabulous character who "mounted his horse and rode off in all directions."

And that is quite a trick! Anyone who ever hitched his horses to opposite ends of the same wagon and then tried to drive both ways at once will understand the difficulties involved.

Teamwork is the basis of progress. And men, like horses, have to pull together in order to get anywhere.

Without teamwork among nations international relations hog down and end up in a Vietry over Germany. Without teamwork among the cooperation that existed among our allies because our armed forces abroad and the men and women of this and other American communities who manned the Home Front, pulled together.

Teamwork is the basis of teamwork in every business, teamwork in which every man plays his part. Without it, every business is a floundering and our nation is headed for economic disaster.

Teamwork is a common goal. Teamwork is the basis of national prosperity. Teamwork requires a nation that is united, that is, a nation that is united in its common goal.

Teamwork is the basis of teamwork in every business, teamwork in which every man plays his part. Without it, every business is a floundering and our nation is headed for economic disaster.

The ward was full of ailing men. The air was full of groaning. The Doctor entered full of fun: "Good morning—good morning."

How's the head feeling after New Year's? According to reports of the nation we celebrated one of the wildest in our history. Not being much of a celebrant we couldn't know. Anyway the sun is shining today and the folks in and around Clanton are making preparations for the work of the new year. Along about this time every year the Chilton Countians roll up their sleeves and dig in to see what we can do with the coming year and lay the one just past away with the rest.

We're introducing a young lady this week to the NEWS readers who need no introduction. She is, Miss Essie White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horsley White. Essie has been helping us out once in a while for the past few weeks but she is just starting regular work this week. What we want you to do is this: the next time something of interest happens that you hear about, call Miss White and give her the low-down on it. That will make for a newsy paper for you and all the other seven-thousand, five-hundred readers that pursue our columns each week. And don't forget that personal tid-bit about what you and the family did over the week end, you know? Where you went or who came to see you. Folks like to read "stuffy like that there."

The 1946 automobiles are conspicuous by their absence.

"Red" Fulmer, operator of the City Bus Service, says dog-gone-it Red, you know, has inaugurated Clanton's first bus service—and the business really started off with a bang. We've said all along that it was one of the things most needed here. But according to "Red" it's a case of "you is and you ain't". Every time he has a big week and he thinks everything is fine, along comes old man trouble and eats up all the profit. But no fooling, the City Bus Service is in its infancy and our predictions is that it will grow with Clanton and surrounding territory and eventually be one of the large businesses of our territory.

The same thing happens after every Christmas and New Year season: we can't balance our income with the outgoing.

Rumor still persist as to the erecting of a radio station in Clanton. Being far from a wise man we would not know whether the experiment would be sensible at this time or not. We do know that in time Clanton must and will boast a radio station. But is this the time? We are of the opinion that it is not. Within the next five years we believe that Clanton will show the largest growth in her history. Then she will be able to take on an undertaking like the one mentioned. Until then we cannot see where she could possibly support it. But like we said to start with—we ain't smart, and we don't know it all—we just had to put our two-cents worth in.

Farmer John coming from town meets Farmer Jim going to town. Their conversation was like this: "Good morning, Jim."

"Morning, John."

"Say Jim, what did you give your horse when he had the Bots?"

Jim answers, "Turpentine."

"Much obliged," says Jim, "and good-day."

A week later they meet again. Their conversation was like this:

"Good morning, Jim."

"Morning, John."

"Say Jim, what did you say you gave your horse when he had the Bots?"

"Turpentine," answers Jim.

"Killed mine," says John.

"Mine, too," says Jim. "Good day."

Alabama 1945 pecan crop is estimated at 9,020,000 pounds, compared with 9,500,000 pounds last year and the 10-year (1934-43) average of 7,636,000.

Cane and sorghum syrup can be substituted in home curing of meat to replace granulated or brown sugar, point out specialists. In the recommended 8-2-2 formula—eight pounds of salt, two pounds of sugar and two ounces of saltpeter—two pounds of syrup can be used to replace the sugar.

FSA NOW MAKING FARM OWNERSHIP TRAINING LOANS

Robert O. Williams, County Supervisor of the Farm Security Administration, said yesterday a limited number of new Rehabilitation loans will be made in Chilton County.

Farm ownership, Mr. Williams said, has always been the goal of the Farm Security program, and the Rehabilitation program is the stepping stone to farm ownership. Borrowers in the Rehabilitation program who have demonstrated that they are capable of managing and operating a farm of their own will be assisted in every way possible toward the attainment of that goal.

Mr. Williams said that a total of 122 farmers in the county had attained ownership through the Farm Security program, either under terms of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act or through the purchase of farms from other sources after enrollment in the Rehabilitation program.

Farmers who cannot obtain credit upon reasonable terms from other sources are eligible for consideration.

ALABAMA BORROWED ALL REA FUNDS AVAILABLE

Based upon loans already made and loan applications now being processed, Alabama and 20 other states have borrowed the full amount which can be loaned from current REA funds.

Alabama cooperatives already have borrowed $3,015,000 from 1946 funds and have made applications for $10,368,000.

Other states which have borrowed all funds available to them are: Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Tennessee and Texas.

POWER COMPANY SEEKING APPROVAL OF NEW SHARES

The Alabama Power Company today filed with Alabama Public Service Commission a petition seeking the approval of the Commission of proposed issue of new shares of its preferred stock to bear a dividend rate of not more than one-quarter per cent per annum.

The Company has outstanding 355,876 shares of $5, $6 and $7 preferred stock and plans to issue not more than 300,000 shares of new preferred stock. Upon receiving the necessary authorizations, it will offer to the holders of the 355,876 shares one privilege of exchanging their shares for shares of new preferred stock on the basis of one share of new preferred stock and $10 in cash for each share of $7 preferred stock exchanged, and one share of new preferred stock for each share of $5 and $6 preferred stock exchanged. If more than 300,000 shares of old preferred are deposited for exchange, the Company will allot shares of the new preferred stock up to 25 shares in full, and for any excess over 25 shares of old preferred stock there will be a prorata allotment of the new preferred stock up to the total of 300,000 shares of new preferred stock. Any shares of old preferred stock which are not exchanged will be redeemed.

The whipping quality of cream depends in its age and its "richness" or butterfat content. Freshly separated cream does not whip well. It needs to stand and chill at least four hours. The whipping quality improves of it stands 24 hours. Cream sold by dairies will have sufficient aging when delivered.

Military Student: "Captain, I have neither pencil nor paper."

Captain: "What would you think about a soldier who went to battle without a rifle and ammunition?"

Military Student: "I would think he was an officer, sir."

The train roared past the station. Above the noise the station agent heard a yell. Rushing out to the platform he saw a man sprawled out alongside the tracks. A little girl was standing by.

"Did he try to catch the train?" asked the agent.

"He did catch it," she replied, "but it got away from him."

Bowden Service Station
Completes 8 Years Of Service

On January 10th, 1946, the Bowden Service Station, located on the Montgomery highway one mile south of town, completes eight years of service.

It was January 10th, 1938 when Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bowden, the congenial and accommodating owners, set themselves up in business in South Clanton. Their first thought was to give the public a finer service than they could get elsewhere—this they have lived up to for their eight years in business.

To this "finer service" they added courtesy, also the best in gas, oils, and automobile accessories. Later they have added automobile tires to their many services.

Because of this the Bowden Service Station has grown steadily each year. And each year new services have been added.

When the war came Mr. Bowden knew that there would be no new cars on the market for some time so he set himself to the task of aiding his patrons in every way to get the most out of their cars and to conserve on tires and gasoline. He accomplished this by carefully checking oil, water and tire pressure; by keeping batteries clean and giving efficient service at all times.

The Bowden Service Station boasts a full line of groceries and feed stuffs. The same careful service that was inaugurated when the business was founded is today their first thought.

On this eighth anniversary, "The Bowdens" pledge old customers as well as new customers, that the reputation enjoyed by this business will not be relaxed. Confidence will continue to be deserved. And "The Bowdens" express their sincere thanks to those who have made their fine business possible.—Adv.

When rayon dresses become limp from washing they may be given a lift by dipping in a gelatin and water solution. Starching is not successful with most rayon fabrics, but a plain granulated gelatin and water solution softened and then dissolved in water, can give the needed body or filling. For most rayon dresses two tablespoons should be enough. Less can be used for sheer rayon. Soak the gelatin a few minutes in a little cold water, then dissolve with boiling water. Pour the solution in a bowl large enough to hold the dress and add enough cold water to be comfortable for the hands. After the dress is washed and rinsed, dip in the gelatin solution and squeeze gently. Then roll the dress in a thick towel until dry enough to iron.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
2. Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Clifford Manning Tells Of Trip To Nippon Homeland

After leaving Clanton June 19, 1945, the first stop for the ship was San Pedro, California, where Clifford boarded the U.S.A.H.S. Marigold as acting Jr. III Engineer. From California to Honolulu, Wake Island, Guam, Leyte, Manila and finally on to Okinawa.

In Okinawa a brief stop with only a few ashore. Much talk and speculation about the occupation of Japan; nightly blackouts and then it was back to sea again.

Tokyo Bay Japan—There the first glimpse of a long hated enemy land. There was much excitement as the ship moved into the dock at Yokohama, the first American ship inside the breakwater since war was declared. The hush of curiosity as the city was found deserted. A move across the harbor and while some play, perhaps, the first American ball game in conquered Japan. Others souvenir-hunt on a Jap aircraft carrier—souvenir fever grows. Prisoners of war arrive, a procession of all nationalities—all crazy with joy to be once again free. Last hand experiences of Jap atrocity were given. Finally all are placed on planes and ships bound for home. Generals (Steven, MacArthur, et al) as common as PFCs rumors rampant among them Tokyo Rose aboard. Mark Streeter apprehended aboard. Admiral Byrd treated; Tojo also treated after his failure to commit "harikiri".

The first real trip in Japan—Dirty, smelly, over-crowded trains, millions of poorly-clad, dirty little people rushing and scurrying back to Tokyo and Yokohama ruins. Women with babies papoose-style or bowed down with huge bundles on their backs. Miles of twisted sheet metal burned and rusted. Crude tin shacks and gutted buildings were everywhere. All ashore for tea sets, kimono, samurai swords, cameras and just shopping and looking in Kamakura, Atami, Fuji Mishima and a hundred little unspellable places. For everyone a glimpse of the Imperial Palace and then... Underway again for Manila. All Dutch patients and passengers and then it's true—off for the states. For many the last chapter of Army Life—for many the last trip overseas. For

Demand for farm products is likely to be maintained at nearly its present high level through the winter, although there may be some decline later in 1946. Civilian demand per capita, which exceeded available supply of many farm products during much of 1945, may decline slightly in 1946 because of lower incomes.

DAUGHTER OF STAPP'S HIGH BRED BULL MAKES FINE RECORD

Daughter of the Registered Guernsey Sire Gayoso Rangers "Majesty" owned by C. E. Stapp, has completed an advanced registry record.

This high quality Guernsey cow "Majesty's Snow White" produced 12,628 pounds of milk and 584 pounds of butterfat in a 303 day official test. This production is equal to an average of 4.77 gallons of milk, containing 1.91 pounds of butterfat each day for the entire milking period. "Majesty's Snow White" is the fifth daughter of this outstanding herd sire to make a high enough record to be recorded in the Guernsey Cattle Club's Performance Register.

Breeding stock capable of transmitting this type of production on to their offsprings is the type that will establish and improve the livestock industry in any county or farm area. Gayoso Ranger's Majesty is still in service in Mr. Stapp's Guernsey herd and we will be disappointed if other quality cows are not developed on this grade A dairy farm.

Mayor Thompson asked that everyone have their clothes ready so that the Kiwanians can cover the entire city in the short time allotted. He asked that anyone who expected to be away from home at that time to leave their contribution with a neighbor or call the Clanton Laundry who will send a truck around.

The schools of the county are organized to take care of the rural sections. The schools campaign will close Friday afternoon, January 18th. GIVE US YELLOW STRIPES

There's one postwar project that the State Highway Department should not delay one minute longer than necessary.

That is to paint yellow stripes down the middle of paved highways once more, just as was done before the war when paint and labor were plentiful.

Of course, these stripes had to go when paint became scarce and when simple maintenance absorbed all the labor the highway department had. But paint will be available before much longer, and so will help.

At a level, both during the day and at night, the stripes will help motorists to keep their cars in the proper lane and prevent them from driving off the highway.

These lines will be welcomed back no less than anything else that disappeared during the war.

STOCK YARD EXCEEDS ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS

Stebbins, Executive, Vice-president and General Manager of the Union Stock Yards Company.

On the other hand, hog receipts were sharply reduced during the past year largely because of the nationwide liquidation of brood sows during the fall of 1943 and spring of 1944, while the past year also witnessed a wide

LOANS TO G. I. JOES

Have you tried to borrow any money from your Uncle Sam yet Mr. Service Man? If you got it you were lucky. Others have failed to get their loans although they are in process now. We mean by process "the long and tedious job of unrolling the red tape of the government and slowly, but surely, wrapping you up securely with it before the loan is granted. You may get it all right but the chances are you'll get it in the neck also.

In the meantime keep up your courage. They have been known to go through in just a few short months, that is, if the pictures of the home front want to buy look good and the war says it's worth two or three times the amount you want to borrow. In the case of a farm where the owner has to plant, how you will get it is how many early spring crops you expect to bring to town when you come. If the farm will raise the necessary crops that the experts think it ought to, then you might get your government loan after the deducts have been taken out of it.

Personally we believe the veterans should be granted the loans for homes and farms, even if all they wanted to raise was a little hell.—Covington News.

FOLKS & THINGS ABOUT TOWN

-By BEN

Yep, politics have started to boil. Things are smoking up around the county, the state and the nation. Course, what we are most interested in right now is "what's cooking" in Chilton County. Just as a starter let's see what's going on in the race for Judge of Probate. Good golly one could hear a pin drop. What's the matter, has Judge J. Lee Smith got an open field? Sure looks like it anyway. We have heard of more prospective candidates for that office who are NOT going to run. They never were going to run—somebody was just trying to shove them into a race. Believe it or not, Judge Smith has the ball at this time, whoever runs.

Howard Roper was in to pay his respects. We always did like Howard. He's going to be hard for a gentleman named Killingsworth to beat. Howard Roper has made a good Commissioner and you must remember that our Commissioners for the last few years have worked under very trying conditions. Hoyt Freeman looks like he will knock a home-run with the bases loaded. As yet we see no opposition on the horizon.

Now take our Sheriff. That's unique in itself. The Sheriff usually takes you. But—we're talking about politics. Take the Sheriff's race. Nivens has made a mighty good name for himself as Sheriff of Chilton County. Anyone who comes out in opposition to him will take on a man-sized job—and then probably get beat.

Our good friend J. C. Patillo is unbeatable. He is one of the most popular political figures in the County and our guess is that he will have no contestants at all. Any candidate running against Mr. Patillo just is looking for an easy way to spend it. We know of no easier way than in politics.

Our very popular Superintendent of Education will probably go with no opposition. Delos is another Democrat who has filled his office well and won the respect of "all the people." Until now we have heard of no one willing to contest his right to another term. We don't expect we will.

Pete Jarmon was in to see us last Friday. Pete looks good and was down covering his district and trying to smell out opposition. We don't think he found any. There was a faint scent in and around Tuscaloosa but by the time he got there it had been blown away or the odor of that pulp mill had overshadowed it.

The 15th Congressional District is composed of Chilton and Shelby. It has always been the rule that the counties take turn about supplying the candidate. This year is Chilton County's time to name the contestant or contestants. Of course we don't think it is right. Neither is it democratic. No matter which county a man is from or what the office, if he is a resident of that District he should be able to qualify and make a campaign for the office.

he seeks. (We know a lot who won't like that). Anyway that is the rule, so let's stick to the rules. We have heard of several who might give Grover Walker opposition. One is Luther Little. Luther is very popular hereabouts. He is still more popular over the state and at the State Capitol at Montgomery. He was secretary to the Organization of County Commissioners before resigning and coming back here to go into the hardware business. Charlie Cox has been mentioned in the set-up also. Mr. Cox is another local citizen who is very popular at Montgomery and possibly has more friends in the State than any other man in the county. We have heard his name mentioned mostly as a candidate for the Legislature.

Well, enough of politics. That's something we never cared for anyway. Let's pick on our Mayor. We bet you a nickel that today if you were to ask him if the Airport road needed paving he would say YES. Sunday afternoon he was returning from there when his car got stuck (and we do mean stuck) and had to call a wrecker to pull him out. Leo is stuck with that one—but definitely.

Dan Smith has been made Major. He was discharged from the U. S. Army several weeks ago as a Captain. Last week he received his Majority. We bet Dan rolled that thing up and sent it back with the notation: "there ain't no such person as Capt Dan Smith—you can give this back to the Indians."

Luke Sewell, manager of the St. Louis Browns was a guest last Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes. Jack and Mr. Sewell are old friends and he ran down to spend the day with him. Jack was popular as a Big League baseball player for a decade and still keeps in contact with his old friends. Jack and Luke were also team-mates at one time.

Plans were made for the coming year's work, which included a Young Peoples Rally on February 10, at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist church of Clanton. Supplying a number of Bibles for families in the association as requested by the negro field worker-Corinne Waite, was accepted as the Community Missions' project for the first quarter.

The First Quarterly meeting of the Unity Association of Woman's Missionary Union will be held with the Actonville Woman's Missionary Society, April 9, 1946.

FARMERS SHOULD HAVE DATA FOR TAX RETURNS

Whether a farmer makes out his income tax return himself, or gets someone to help him with it, he will find that it pays to assemble carefully all records of his business beforehand.

Farm records should of course include all accounts of receipts and expenditures. They also should include a record of property on which the farmer is entitled to claim depreciation as an expense of operation of the farm. Such property includes buildings other than his own dwelling, fences, machinery, and animals for breeding work and dairy purposes which were purchased. The record of such property should include the date acquired, the cost or value at the time acquired, and the estimated number of years of useful life.

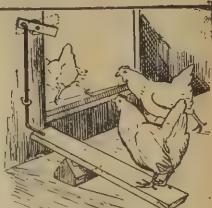

When a farmer obtains the services of someone to help him with his income tax return, the cost and value of the help, not only depend upon the ability of the person rendering help, but also upon the ability of the farmer to supply information which fully and correctly reflects the net farm income. After all, the responsibility of reporting this information rests upon the farmer.

The farmer who arms himself with a full summary of his farm business is more likely to pay the correct tax and less likely to have need for correction of his income tax return.

Educational institutions in Alabama are in critical need of housing facilities for 3,780 single veterans and family housing units for 1,610 married veterans. These figures were made available today by Dr. E. E. Norton, State Superintendent of Education and chairman of committee appointed by Gov. Sparks to work for solution of the problem. Efforts are being made to have Federal wartime housing facilities made available.

GREAT NEED IS FOR HIGHER CROP YIELD

Possibly the greatest need in Alabama agriculture is larger yields per acre, declares J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist. This applies especially to crops since yields per acre of livestock and livestock products are dependent upon food produced per acre. Crops should be planted on land capable of profitable production and other land should be placed in soil improvement crops that would bring it up to a profitable state of production.

FARMERS ADVISED TO GET PLANTING COTTON SEED

Shortage of cotton seed for planting in 1946 has reached the critical stage, reports J. T. Bule, API extension cotton specialist, in urging farmers to make every effort to obtain planting seed as early as possible.

The shortage is due to unfavorable weather over much of the belt during harvest time, a delay in harvesting due to a shortage of labor and the shortage of protein feed which has caused a considerable amount of good seed to be exchanged for cottonseed meal.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D. D.

A mother and her son, who had made a wide reputation as a jumper in his college, were passing along a grassy road in Texas, when a large jack rabbit leaped from near, and hopped with the speed of the wind. The boy and his mother watched him as he leaped ten and twelve feet in the direction of safety. At college her son had gained fame because he was able to jump two and a half times his length. The mother felt that life in a college meant more than being a long jumper. Quietly she said to her son, "Did you see that J. Rabbit? He never attempted college a day in his life, and yet he was jumping five times his length at every leap." The proud boy saw the point. Some people are so foolish as to believe that they are comewhat, and all because they are high jumpers, fast runners and skilled ball players. Real life is beyond these things.

See that old man with slow and dragging steps advancing toward the center of the stage. The figure is hunched, the eyelids droop and a feeling of sympathy settles over the audience. Too bad that he must try to speak. The first sound of his voice is weak, somewhat painful, but look, the old man is standing erect. His eyes open wide, his thoughts are clear and his voice rings out with the thrill of youth. Sentences unfold themselves like pages of gold. The whole man dilates and the soul leaps out from between his lips in words and power, as upon his words like a man in the deep would cling to the life line. When the address is over the old man staggers back to his chair while the audience shouts, "Thou hast made him a little lower than the angel and have crowned him with glory and honors". This was George Washington Carver on many occasions when he was feeble, old and gray. Truly, his body was old, but his soul was young.

of Dr. Carver, and he quietly closed the door and locked it. For hours he and I were there alone with his God and my God, and with the products of his long life of research. It was like being in the Holy of Holies. This man never claimed anything for himself. When we had seen it all this is what he said to me as the tears trickled down his cheeks: "This is what God and George have done to me." Thus, George and God walked and talked together.

MORE SERICEA SEED NEEDED IN ALABAMA

With the demand for lespedeza seed greatly ahead of supply, Alabama farmers are turning to seed patches to increase their own acreage and furnish some for sale.

"Farmers who are planning seed patches this year should have no difficulty in getting a sale for seed next fall, says J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist.

WHOLESALE TOMATO MARK-ET ESTABLISHED BY LOCAL PACKING COMPANY

Chilton County tomato growers have been assured adequate marketing facilities for handling wholesale quantities of tomatoes by Roy Roper and John Deramus, of the Chilton Packing, according to an announcement this week from Mr. M. R. Glasscock, County Agent. Also, the services of Mr. H. H. Williams, an experienced tomato packer and handler, has been secured to add marketing "know how" to this new arrangement.

The present peach packing shed is to be expanded and grading equipment added to handle tomatoes. By having the grading, packing and marketing business in the hands of local individuals that understand the problems and wishes of local growers, our tomato industry should continue to grow.

Arrangements have been worked out by Mr. Williams to have plants grown in central Florida. These plants will be grown from certified stock in Florida's variety. They are grown on a land that has never been used for tomatoes before and will be free from insect diseases of tomatoes. This source of plants should produce a crop of tomatoes that will be free from insect diseases and will be of a better quality than those produced in previous years.

Mr. Roper stated in the growers meeting that Chilton Packing Co. intends to exert every possible effort to attract the best buyers into this area and that this added facility to the company's packing shed is an answer to the request of a large number of growers. Also, that the officials of Chilton Packing Co. do not expect the patronage of tomato growers unless they can give the growers an orderly service and the best market possible.

Chilton Packing Co. has given this new plant the same plant production as the old plant. The new plant is a better plant than the old plant. The new plant is a better plant than the old plant. The new plant is a better plant than the old plant.

JUDGE BRYAN ANSWERS SOME PENSION QUESTIONS

Why should I join the Alabama Old Age Pension organization?

1. You may be old and in need to-day.
 2. If you are young, you may have old parents that you have to help care for.
 3. You will soon be old and may be in need.
 4. If you are in business, it will build up your trade by putting more money into circulation. When money is kept out of circulation business suffers.
- T. W. Bryan, State Vice-President.

ALABAMA

Boozer Announces For Governor

I hereby announce my candidacy for Governor of the State of Alabama subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held May 7, 1946.

I am prompted to run for this high position so that the Governor's office may be restored to the people to whom it rightfully belongs. For nearly eight long years our State Government has been run and dominated not by its stockholders, the people, but by a small group of willful men whose sole purpose has been to control the buying and selling of everything our State Government purchased from "SPOT BOTTLE" whiskey to lice exterminators in the jails.

The people of Alabama are in revolt. They will no longer tolerate being "LIED" to by the same "OLD GANG" trying to ram down their throats any "HAND PICKED" candidate for Governor. They know the full details about the famous "SPOT BOTTLE" deal and are fully aware of the fact that the "OLD GANG" has another one coming up should they be able to fool the voters on May 7th.

The tens of thousands of returning war veterans all over Alabama know what has happened while they were away waging a death struggle for the preservation of a democratic form of government. They are fully aware of elective county offices being extended for two years without being submitted to the people for ratification, they are outraged over the present administration outlawing the construction of more homes by the Government they fought so bravely to preserve, while at the same time authorizing the construction of a "MILLION DOLLAR" Cow Coliseum at Montgomery when every farm county in the State could have had one at a cost of only $25,000 each, thereby helping each individual farmer in each farm county.

The old aged people, the school teachers, the workers, the farmers, the cross-road merchants, the automobile owners and all other groups of citizens that pay their hard earned money into the State Treasury are up in arms, with their tomahawks out waiting for May 7th.

I shall not attempt to go over this State and introduce myself as the next Governor, nor after the statement, "there won't be any race." That is a matter for the people to decide on election day. I am willing to abide by their decision. Before releasing the text of my complete platform, which will be ready within the next ten days, there is one solemn pledge that I make should that I make to the people pledge they name their next Governor—there will be no "SPOT BOTTLE" deals or "INSURANCE and BONDING" rackets during my administration.—S. ELBERT BOOZER Anniston, Ala. Pd. Pol. Adv.

Dr. Parrish Starts Another Mule Clinic In Chilton County

We have been unable to have a clinic for two years owing to war conditions. Now medicine is available and gasoline is not rationed and the mules and horses have had nothing done for two years. They will need checking. All horses and mules that have had any knot flies after them will need a treatment, most of them need the teeth looked after. Colic in the mules and horses has been much worse for the two years. They have had no treatments. Some do not know that this tooth treating and medicine giving almost eliminates colic in stock but it does. Ask your neighbor who has tried it on his stock.

Have your horses fairly empty (without feed for 12 or 15 hours) for best results. The medicine will be 75 cents and the tooth work will be $1.00 per head, cash.

Bring your horse out if you have any doubt. We will be glad to check him without cost.

Veteran of Okinawa Returns To Clanton

Lt. Carl Cooper, U. S. Marine Corps and veteran of the Okinawa invasion was back in Clanton this week on terminal leave from the Marines, awaiting discharge.

CARL COOPER

Carl, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cooper, of Route 4, Clanton, is well remembered in Clanton after playing football with the CCHS Tigers for three years. Later Carl went to Howard College in Birmingham with a football scholarship and there played with the Howard Bulldogs' Varsity team. Carl received his degree from Howard, Majoring in Biology.

His tour of military service began in April 1942 when he enlisted in the Marine Reserve Corps. In the summer of 1943 Carl went into active service and received his boot training at Parris Island, S. C. He received his commission at Quantico, Va. after going through the Marine OCS there.

Carl left the states and went to Guadalcanal and later on to Guam. From Guam he went to Okinawa. On that morning of April 1, 1945, when the Marines and the Army made their joint assault on the Japanese Island, Carl went in with the fourth wave as a platoon commander with the 6th Marine Division. He was in the continued assaults on Sugar Loaf Hill on the Island. When the Okinawan campaign was finished he was sent back to Guam where they were re-equipping and processing for future operations scheduled for November 1st. Carl was Battalion Ordinance Officer on Guam.

When the war suddenly ended Carl says he began to get itchy fingers to get hold of that year-old son of his he had never seen. Carl married James Anna Ruthledge. Their son is named James Carl.

Quinton Cummings, left above and Mr. J. H. Camp, his instructor, formerly of Isabella Quinton's, advisor, were recently placed in the seat of honor in a current issue of The Alabama Future Farmer, publication of the Future Farmers of America, of Alabama. Quinton has become an outstanding farmer in his community. The story of Quinton's success follows.

Quinton Cummings, age 23, a native of Thorsby, Alabama, Chilton County, is a real dirt farmer and plans to make it his vocation. Quinton's supervised farming program while in high school shows his keen interest in farming as evidenced by the fact that during these years in vocational agriculture he completed the following projects:

Six acres corn, 100 heads chickens, 4 acres watermelons, 1 beef steer, 7 acres of cotton, 1 hog.

Maintaining his interest in farming after finishing school in 1943 Quinton has produced the following crops and livestock:

Forty-three acres corn, 23 head of hogs, three and one-half acres sorghum, 2 acres peanuts, 13 acres cotton, 13 acres hay, 275 chickens, 6 head dairy cattle, 7 head beef cattle, 10 acres pasture.

Quinton has proved to be a thrifty farmer. During his first year in vocational agriculture he borrowed from his local bank $175 to get his supervised farming program started, and since that time has been able to operate on his own capital derived from his farming enterprises. In the Fall of 1944, Quinton and his brother Robert, who was also a student in vocational agriculture bought fifty acres of land valued at $2900.00. Today this farm, with a result of the improvements that Quinton has made, is valued at well over $5,000.

In addition to the above farming activities, the following improvements have been made: 7000 pine seedlings planted, pasture improvement, constructed and equipped farm shop, has and agricultural library, terraced most of his farm land, and makes a practice of turning under soil-building crops. Although Quinton has been in his home only one year, he has painted the house, planted shrubs and otherwise improved it.

Quinton was active in his local FFA chapter, having served on the following committees: Cooperative Activities, Pig Chain, Tree Planting, and FFA Store; he was a delegate to the state convention three years. He is also active in church and community activities.

There are plenty of other reasons why many thousands of men have enlisted, and more thousands are enlisting every day. You'll certainly want to know all of the opportunities open to you. CEILING PRICES ON USED CARS REDUCED

In accordance with the "rollback" provisions of the used car price regulation, ceilings for used passenger cars were reduced four per cent on January 1. The reduction applies to used cars sold by either dealers or private owners.

Here are the new prices as listed by an OPA directive:
Ford, 1940 model, V-8, Deluxe two-door, $609.00
Chevrolet, 1940 model, special deluxe, $617.00
Plymouth, 1940 model, Deluxe two-door, $604.00
Add $27.30 for a radio and $9.22 for a heater.

Farmers intend to have about 4 per cent more sows farrow next spring than were farrowed in the spring of 1935.

METHODIST SERVICES AT JEMISON CHANGED

The Methodist services at Jemison have been changed. Rev. Carlisle Miller will serve the church as pastor until a new pastor comes. Services will be held each first and third Sunday at 5:00 o'clock. Everyone is invited to each service.

A program to support through purchases and loans the price of the 1946 crop of farmers' stock peanuts has been announced by the Department of Agriculture. Prices will be supported at 90 per cent of parity as of July 15, 1946, the beginning of the marketing year.

Farm people are being urged by the Alabama Extension Service to continue to save and turn in all used fats. The end of the war did not reduce the need for salvaged fats.

In the offer of Commodity Credit Corporation to make dairy production payments for the period October 1945 through March 1946, it is not meant that one payment only will be made, but that payments covering the period October-November and December 1945 will be made beginning January 1, 1946 and for the production period or January-February, March 1946 payments will begin April 1, 1946.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson has made another sincere appeal to American housewives to salvage used fats. The Secretary points out that fats and oils are just as vital to reconstruction as they were to war, and their shortage delays the manufacture of plentiful supplies of soaps and nylons as well as other needed articles.

RATION CALENDAR

The OPA announces that Sugar Stamp No. 37, which went into effect January 1 will expire April 30.

Salute To Volunteers
Chilton Countians who began their fifth year of service on OPA Price Control Boards this month were lauded today by OPA District Director, Irby Jones, for their work in the past and reminded that that work is far from being finished.

"Board members who gave so untrudgingly of their time and energy to the rationing of scarce commodities are the people who made rationing programs a fine example of American Democracy", Mr. Jones asserted.

OPA continues to need the assistance of unpaid volunteers, on local boards to meet the tremendous inflationary threat that is many times greater now than it was after World War I, the District Director said.

Reviewing the history of the organization of local boards, Mr. Jones related that immediately following Pearl Harbor, each governor was asked to set up an organization to ration tires in his state by January 5, 1942.

Less than one month after the war began, he continued, approximately 7,500 local rationing boards, manned by 20,000 volunteer workers, were receiving applications and issuing ration certificates for tires.

This original army of 20,000 volunteers soon increased to 76,000, and another 200,000 men and women volunteered to assist the local boards regularly, he said. These volunteers—merchants, bankers, factory workers, doctors, housewives, high school boys and girls, teachers, office workers, and farmers—gave a specified amount of their time on a regular weekly schedule.

With everything but sugar now off the rationing list, OPA has changed the name of its local organizations to Area Price Control Boards, Director Jones stated.

Mr. Jones stressed that while goods are scarce and in great demand these Price Control Boards will need the support of the volunteers who worked so efficiently on price control during the war.

Surplus Goods
To pass on the benefits of low-priced sales of government surplus property to consumers, OPA officials from the national, regional, and district offices met in Atlanta this week to map out a program of effective price control on these commodities the District Director said today.

The Surplus Property Board estimates that by June 30, the amount of surplus government property will be approximately $32,000,000,000, a substantial part of which is salable merchandise still short on the civilian market.

Conferences are being held with government disposal and owning agencies to determine the most effective method of maintaining price controls on sales of surplus goods, Mr. Jones added. Price controls already exist on most surplus items.

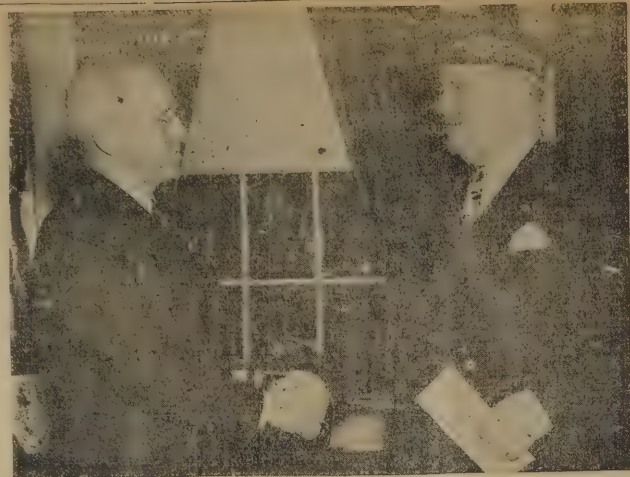

Ceilings Restored
Ceiling prices for citrus fruits, restored to OPA controls January 4, will again appear on the new community price lists posted in food stores, Irby A. Jones, OPA District Director at Montgomery said today.

Prices appearing on the community price lists in the eight south-eastern states range from six and one-half cents per pound to eight and one-half cents per pound on Florida white grapefruit.

Price control was restored to fresh citrus fruits after several weeks of consideration because of unexpected price increases, Mr. Jones explained.

How much cream to whip at a time depends on the size of the whipper. The usual small household beater does the best job with no more than a pint of cream. If larger quantities are required, time will be saved by whipping in successive batches.

President Harry S. Truman greets Joseph M. Stack, Pittsburgh, Pa., Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. President Truman, veteran of the 35th Division of the AEF in the first World War, has been a member of V. F. W. Post No. 35, Kansas City, Mo., since 1920.

Vets With Overseas Service Urged To Join V. F. W.

More than one million World War II veterans have joined the Veterans of Foreign Wars to date, according to word received by Adjutant C. T. Stephens, of Post 3193 in Clanton in a communication from National Headquarters. New VFW posts are being organized at the rate of 500 per month.

"The VFW is the oldest, largest and strongest overseas veteran organization in the country, from all indications, the VFW is the big new veterans organization to be born out of World War II. The only thing that is old about the VFW is the basic structure which existed prior to Pearl Harbor when our membership was approximately 250,000.

"With charters for new chapters being issued from the National Headquarters at the rate of 1 per day, we will soon be able to serve the needs of discharged veterans in every community in the United States. Back in 1941 we had less than 3,000 local units. Today we have more than 5,000. Our goal is a total of ten thousand posts by the end of 1946.

"World War II veterans are turning to the VFW because they understand that our organization automatically becomes the property of each new generation of overseas veterans. This fact was established with the creation with our eligibility rules back in 1899 when the founders of the VFW decreed that the rank of this organization would always be open to the overseas veteran of any war, campaign or expedition in which the United States participated.

"We are not required to change our eligibility regulations to make membership available on World War II veterans. With the attack on Pearl Harbor, every man in uniform outside the continental United States immediately became eligible to join our ranks. This partly explains why our numerical strength has been increased four times since December 7, 1941.

"World War II veterans are turning to the VFW because they want the help of an organization that is already prepared to help them to solve their re-adjustment problem.

They have the opportunity to benefit from the knowledge of veterans' affairs which the organization has gained in 47 years.

Cooked A Fine Dinner Then Threw It To Dog

One lady recently stated that she used to throw her own dinner to the dog most of the time. It made her sick just to look at anything to eat. She was swollen with gas, full of bloat, had headaches, felt worn out and was badly constipated. Finally she got INNER-AID and says she now eats everything in sight and digests it perfectly. Bowels are regular and normal. She is enjoying life once more and feels like "some other woman" since taking this New Compound.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID, sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County.—Adv.

ALABAMA FORMULATING EGG MARKET PROGRAM

Every effort is being made by Alabama agricultural leaders to work out a marketing program which will assure "floor" prices for eggs this spring.

The government has announced a price support program to reflect a U. S. average farm price of 29 cents a dozen during the flush production season in the spring. Operation of the program will begin as soon as heavy supply conditions threaten to force producer prices below 90 percent of parity, the minimum support level required under the Steagall Amendment.

To aid in the marketing of Alabama farm eggs through channels which will put them where they can be bought by the government, the Alabama Extension Service, Production Marketing Administration State Department of Agriculture, and farm leaders are now working on the details of a marketing program. The aim of this program is to make support prices work on every farm. Marketing in past years has not been of the type which enabled the average farmer to get the support price.

Ed Lowder has been employed by the Extension Service to devote his entire time to the egg marketing program. "A veteran of World War II, Mr. Lowder was formerly county agent of Pickens County.

To secure data on egg prices, the Production Marketing Administration will receive weekly from each county prices of straight run, candled, top grade and second grade eggs. This information will be sent to Washington so it will be informed of the program's operation in the State.

The USDA will resume publication of its Yearbook in 1947, after its continuance during the war years. Tentative title of the 1947 edition which will feature scientific progress made during the war will be "Science and the Farmer".

Dear Joe . . .

Had a couple of nice letters last week from some who actually "says" they have been reading our scribbles. Seems we got some of the boys' dandruff up. We'll just let you read their scorching letter.

January 13, 1946
To Whom It May Concern:

Dear Writer:
As I was looking through the Chilton County News I found your column you wrote "Dear Joe".

I don't know you but you sound like a Quartermaster G. I. who served your time in England in the United States to me.

I don't believe a combat man if you was one the $200.00 dollars wouldn't look so bad. But in your condition I would feel bad too. I don't want to be odd from anyone else but I believe we earned the $200.00 dollars we are now drawing.

While the war was going on no one called us loafers or Gold brakes so why not give us a brake and let us come back to the America we fought for to save.

This time last year me and many others was some where in Germany fighting in snow and ice for this $200.00 dollars we are now drawing.

To-day we are all home—I mean the lucky ones—loafers as you call it, drawing our $200.00 dollars we have already paid for. So why not give us a brake and let us find a job we like if you believe we don't deserve the money, just put an answer in the News and maybe we can figure it out some way. I am only writing for myself but thousands of others, loafers you were speaking about.

Don't forget to go down and sign for your loafin $200.00 if you feel like you deserve it.

For you may be planning on a big time before long. You know it is given to you—Signed: Six Loafers of Chilton County.

Thanks Earnest for the letter. We have no solution to the veterans ills figured out at present. We don't begrudge anyone of that "rocking chair" money. But calling an Engineer a Quartermaster is hard to swallow. (Now listen to the Quartermasters roar and fume!) And too, 28 months in India was just a mere vacation. Try it sometimes!

While we are in the mail bag we'll just give you an excerpt from another letter last week:

DeLand, Fla.
Jan. 7, 1946
Dear Clark:
... get the Chilton County News every week. We enjoy your column very much. You are in a position to open the eyes of a few of those people around there and it is time that it should be done.—Signed: Your Old Friends.

Boy, this clothing shortage is almost enough to run a veteran back into the army. In the army you can get changing clothes. If you haven't been in the states in the past two years or more, you have no idea at the shortages on the civilian market. Can you imagine the stores not having a simple bath cloth—a mere wash rag? Try and find one in Clanton, will you?

Last week it rained and rained and then poured. Results: Chilton County's roads are in one mess. It is a very common sight to see a limb or pole stuck in the middle of the road marking some hole. Washboard roads are plentiful and the fenders on the old ol'ize just bang and slamb and rattle.

The local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is well organized now. So is the American Legion, as far as that goes. The VFW held a special meeting only recently and obligated some twenty-odd new members. And, more and more are joining as they return from overseas. Horton Walker is the Comrade Commander of the local post and believe me, the VFW have things in store for Clanton, the county and themselves. Just sit tight and watch their smoke.

First Vet: "I had it easy in the army. I was a mail clerk".
Second Vet: "Well, I was a supply sergeant".
First Vet: "You win. I just thought I had it easy".
(And, now just isn't that corny?)

Remember how you swore that the first thing you would do when you got home would be to pull off that uniform? Well, walk down the streets of Clanton and you'd be surprised at the number of soldiers and sailors who still see. Or maybe we should say that you would be surprised at the number of uniforms you'd find on the backs of veterans. I guess one becomes a little attached to, the khaki uniform.

Forman of St. Clair County would be his campaign manager for North Alabama and Malcolm Harper, well-known Montgomery business man would direct his drive in South Alabama.

Judge Forman is well known in Alabama political circles, has been probate judge of St. Clair for 11 years and was recently elected president of the Associations of County Commissioners of Alabama. Confirming his appointment as one of the leaders Judge Forman said, "I certainly let with Judge Boozer after carefully considering all the candidates. Because of his broad business background and his extensive farming operations which have covered a period of many years, I believe he will be fair to both labor and capital and that he is the best qualified man in the field."

Mr. Harper has been in business in Montgomery for many years, was one of the state leaders in the recent tax fight to defeat the amendment to Alabama's income tax law. In taking over the South Alabama campaign for Judge Boozer, Mr. Harper asserted, "Judge Boozer has the political courage to make known his convictions. In his platform which will be amplified later he takes a decisive stand on such vitally important questions as health, labor relations, taxation, education, help, not charity for the old people of this state, assistance for Alabama's disabled war veterans and assistance for the widows and families of deceased veterans. As the campaign goes along I believe the people of this state will see Judge Boozer the man best qualified to lead the state for the next four years."

We have for trade in on above, the following:

On the gravel loader, we have for trade 1 Letourneau scrapper, 8 yard capacity.

On the Patrol we have a No. 12 Caterpillar Motor grader.

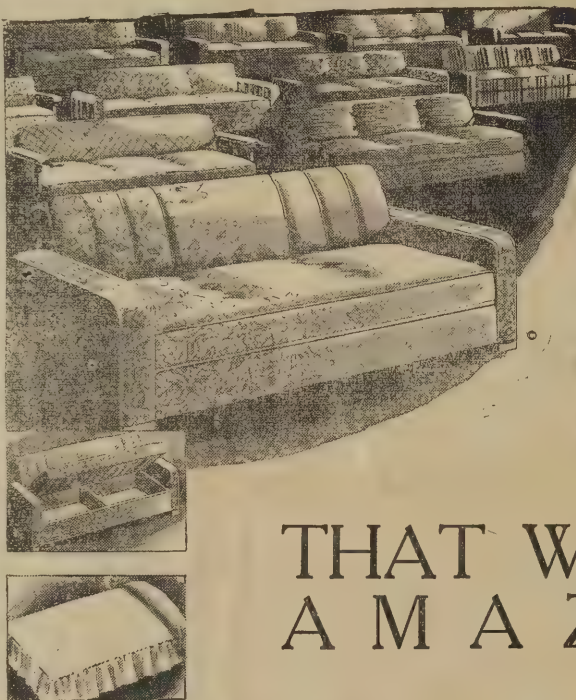

On the Carryall scrapper we have a Letourneau 6 yard pan.

Said sealed bids will be received until 10 o'clock February 4th, 1946 and said bids will be opened in the presence of the Court and the lowest and best bid will be received, however they reserve the right to reject any or all bids. — J. LEE SMITH, Judge of Probate.

March Of Dimes In County And City Well Underway

County And City Chairmen Ask For Dimes For Polio

The March of Dimes, to raise funds for the fight against Infantile Paralysis, is well underway in Chilton County and Clanton, according to Mrs. Luther E. Little and Miss Robbie Hardy, County and City chairmen, respectively.

The polio drive in Clanton this year is being sponsored by the Clanton Pilots club. The committee asks you to help in this drive to help the unfortunate of this dreaded disease. In asking you to help, the committee this week issued the following statement:

"Once again we have an opportunity to share in the unrelenting battle against infantile paralysis, the dread crippler that annually attacks our children.

"We can hope that the children of our community will be spared in the year before us. We cannot be sure. No one can predict where, when or how severely the Great Crippler will strike. It therefore behooves us to be prepared.

"The Chilton County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is arming now, against the possibility of an outbreak in the summer ahead. They must have the necessary funds to help our health officials, physicians and hospitals provide the finest available care and treatment for infantile paralysis patients. When a polio outbreak occurs no one knows how much special equipment and appliances, or how many physical therapists and nurses, may be needed.

"Our chapter, and the National Foundation are pledged to see to it that no victim of infantile paralysis goes without care and treatment for lack of money, regardless of age, race, color or creed.

"This is our opportunity to share in one of the greatest humanitarian services of all time. Let us all resolve to give generously.

"Let us make this March of Dimes the greatest ever."

Alabamians were urged today by Dr. B. F. Austin, State Health Officer, to go "all out" in their support of the March of Dimes campaign to raise funds for the year-round campaign against infantile paralysis. The campaign began January 14 and will continue until the end of the month.

"On two never-to-be-forgotten occasions—in 1936 and 1941—the people of this state experienced all the anxiety and heartbreak which a poliomyelitis outbreak brings," he said. "On both of those occasions, and at other times when help was needed, The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis responded promptly and generously with personnel and equipment to care for the afflicted and protect them against crippling. Such an organization deserves the support of the people of the entire country, in order that it may continue to stand guard against this disease.

Child Killed By Automobile In West Clanton

Automobile Wrecks; Negro Charged With Manslaughter

The life of Stella Littlejohn, four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Littlejohn, of West Point, Clanton, was taken last Thursday afternoon when she was hit by an automobile. The accident occurred in the rear of her home near the junction of Second Avenue and the Maplesville Road in West End.

The accident occurred at 4:25 p.m., according to Mr. C. R. Copeland, who was the first to the child after she was hit. The car, a '41 Ford Mercury driven by a negro named Spencer, was reported travelling at a high rate of speed. The child was in the road near the edge of the road when she was hit by the car. The terrific force of the car carried the child some seventy-five feet before she fell off and the car travelled over her. The child then lay in a ditch while the car went a few feet further and crashed into a ditch. When the car hit the child, the driver swerved the car and crashed into an embankment on the opposite side of the road, according to Mr. Copeland, owner of the nearby Trade-A-Car and Motor Shop.

Mr. Copeland said that the occupants of the car, some four or five negroes, came back and rendered whatever assistance they could just after the accident.

Just after the accident the Highway Patrolmen were called. They were on the scene in about seven minutes and immediately placed the negro under arrest, charging him with manslaughter.

Just after the accident the child was placed in the car of Rudolph Moatts and hurried to the hospital, but she was dead before arrival. According to Mr. Copeland, the child's head hit the headlight of the automobile which completely disfigured the beautiful face of the little child.

Mrs. Littlejohn, mother of the child, reached the scene about the same time as Mr. Copeland. She was in the house at the time of the accident.

Funeral services were held at Liberty Hill Church on Sunday at 11:00 a.m., conducted by the Rev. Homer Carroll and B. Lawrence; interment was in the Liberty Hill Cemetery.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Littlejohn; three brothers—Roger, Billie and Edmond; one sister, Nettie Faye Littlejohn; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Melton of Clanton, and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Littlejohn of Thorby, Ala.

Palbearers were: A. G. Littlejohn, Earl Lowery, Marvin Lowery, Hershel Lowery.

Flower girls were: Martha Bell, Bonnie Gray, Annette Littlejohn, Gail Gray, Katherine Carroll, Olivet Headley, and Wilodean Lockhart.

Spigener Funeral Home was in charge.

This is Election Year; Pay Up Your Poll Tax

February First Is Deadline; Veterans Should Register

This is election year in Chilton County and the State of Alabama. A Probate Judge, a Senator, a Representative, a Governor and a number of other public offices will be filled. With all this in view it is very important that poll taxes be paid. Those of age can register at the courthouse in Clanton any time from now until February 1st.

Monday, January 21st, the Board of Registrars went in session at the courthouse for the purpose of registering anyone wishing to vote in the May 7th primary.

Jack Hayes, Tax Collector, was in the News office Monday and asked that the people of the county be notified that February 1st is definitely the last day in which poll tax may be paid.

After February 1st, the Board of Registration will be in session for one day at the courthouse on each first and third Mondays of each month.

Returned service men of this county should go to the Probate office and file for their poll tax exemption certificate, which means that the soldiers and Sailors' poll tax will be paid up for life.

Folsom Announces For Governor Of Alabama

Dr. W. L. Parrish Looms As Candidate
To Oppose Smith

Since last week's paper, several new candidates have announced their candidacy for public offices in Chilton County and the State, thereby adding political interest to both county and state politics.

Rumor spread in the county this week that Dr. W. L. Parrish, well known and popular veterinarian, would be a candidate in the coming election to oppose Judge J. Lee Smith. As we go to press he had not qualified with the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, however.

James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, Clanton business man, last week announced that he would be a candidate for governor. Folsom ran second to Chauncey Sparks in the last gubernatorial race four years ago. Others already announced in the campaign for governor are Poole, Boozell, Ellis and Pearson.

In county politics, three men announced for re-election to their present office.

J. A. Nivens, Sheriff of Chilton County, announces that he will be a candidate for re-election.

Delos P. Culp, County Superintendent of Education, also announced for re-election to that office.

In a statement issued Monday Mr. Culp said: "In asking for a second term in this office I stand on my record of administration during the trying years of the war. I invite you to compare the progress of our school, during the war emergency with other schools in the state."

J. C. Pattillo, Circuit Clerk, Chilton County, also made an announcement Wednesday morning that he had qualified and would be a candidate for re-election. Pattillo is completing two terms in that office.

The first candidate for representative to the State Legislature announced this week when C. B. Cox qualified and made an official announcement. Charlie has served one term as representative—1934 to 1938.

B. F. Vines Catches Big Wild Kitty

Better Tomato Marketing Facilities Seen For Farmers

New impetus is placed on the tomato growing industry in Chilton County this season with the announcement from the office of the county agent that adequate marketing facilities have been arranged.

Growing tomatoes on a large-scale basis is something new in Chilton County as was the strawberry and the peach at one time. Last year was the first year any attempt had been made for cooperative marketing of the tomato in Chilton. This year, Roy Roper and John Deramus of the Chilton Packing Co. have assured the farmers that if they grow tomatoes they will do their utmost to see that they will be marketed properly by the addition of the services of Mr. H. G. Williams. Mr. Williams is an expert at handling and packing tomatoes and thereby adds the "know-how" touch to the packing and shipping of tomatoes in this county.

In a recent meeting of growers of the county, Mr. Roper stated that the Chilton Packing Company would exert every effort to attract the best buyers into this area. Mr. Roper further added that the officials of the Chilton Packing Company did not expect the patronage of the growers unless they could give the growers an orderly service, and the best marketing possible.

Present plans are to enlarge on the peach packing shed and to add grading equipment to handle tomatoes. The County Agent, Roy Roper and John Deramus, believes that with the grading equipment and the marketing in the hands of local individuals that fully understand the problems of the growers, the tomato industry in Chilton County should continue to grow. According to the announcement, arrangements have been worked out through Mr. Williams to have the tomato plants grown in central Florida. These plants are to be grown from certified Rutgers variety. The plants are to be grown on land that has never before been seeded to tomatoes.

Chilton growers are given this advance marketing and plant information at this time so that order may be placed now for plants to be delivered any time from March 15th on. This also will enable the farmer to complete their farm plans for 1946.

ROADS BADLY DAMAGED

December and January rains have done thousands of dollars worth of damage to the county roads.

"Stick to the pavement" has become the by-word of all who have to use the chert and gravel roads these days. The school busses are running anywhere from a few minutes to an hour late each day in getting the children to and from schools of the county.

The condition is much worse because of the inability of our commissioners to secure help and the right materials to keep the roads. Like everyone else they have worked under many handicaps.

As has been said many, many times, you can do nothing about the weather, so we guess Chilton County will go along in the mud until brighter days are here.

THESE POLITICS

As we come to the second week after the Chilton County Democratic Executive meeting, we see very little change in the candidate set-up in the coming elections. That there will be a change is practically sure. And that is as it should be.

An election where there is no contest is hardly an election. The candidate is sure of the office. The people have no other choice.

Whether we like it or not, or whether you like it or not, let's have an election. This is a democracy. The people are entitled to a choice as to who will manage the public affairs of their city, county, state or nation.

CLANTON IS BUILDING

For the past several months Clanton has been "building conscious." At every turn another residence is "going up."

This is well and good, we need all the residences that we can build right now. The housing shortage is terrible here as it is most everywhere else. The most of this building lately has been done on the Maplesville Highway. Each and every one of these homes is an asset to our city.

But—what are we going to do about the construction of buildings suitable for businesses in our down-town area. Such buildings are as much in demand, if not more so, than are the homes.

Are we going to let our residential district grow off and leave our business district far behind?

There is only one answer and that is for the property owners to build suitable buildings to take care of new industries that want to come to Clanton, or sell to these industries and business men so that they can build their own buildings.

When this is done you will see Clanton grow as never before in her history.

Congratulations to Bonnie Hand of the LaFayette Sun. Bonnie is a home-town boy who made good in his chosen profession. Several years ago when he was working here on the News Bonnie said that some day he was going to be president of the Alabama Press Association—that is the highest honor that can be given a State weekly editor by the Fourth Estate. Last Saturday at Birmingham when the Alabama Press held their 75th Annual Session Bonnie Hand of the LaFayette Sun was elected President of the Association.

Jack Hayes, Tax Collector, wants us to mention again the fact that you have only until February First to pay that poll tax. This is going to be an exciting political year and you don't want to miss sharing in the fun by failing to pay that poll tax. Do it now—if you put it off, you will forget it again.

Two more of our Democratic candidates are announcing their candidacy in this issue of the News. Last week there were also two—Judge J. Lee Smith for re-election and Rep. G. C. Walker for the State Senate. This week it is Delos Culp for re-election as Superintendent of Education and Sheriff J. A. Nivens for re-election as County Sheriff. Of course we mean at this time. By the time we go to press on the last run there will probably be several more. Tell you what you do—turn to page eight and see for yourself.

Horton and Mrs. Walker are the parents of a son, born last Thursday, weight 8½ pounds; name of Joel Calhoun. This, we think, is a time when not only the parents should be congratulated, but also the baby—for being born to such a fine couple.

Editors can't win.

If we print jokes, people say we are silly.

If we don't they say we are too stilted.

If we clip things from other papers, they say we are too lazy to write them ourselves.

If we don't we are too fond of our own stuff.

If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate genius.

If we do print them the paper is full of junk.

If we make a change in other people's write-ups, we are critical.

If we don't they say we're asleep.

Now, like as not somebody will say we swiped this from some other paper.

Well, they're absolutely correct. We did. —(Alabamian).

James Cook, that great plant Bill, has left the county for a few months to serve in the most of it in the South Pacific. He was discharged some months ago and came back to his home county to get a job and enjoy civilian life for awhile. It was a much bigger job than Louis thought it was going to be. One job after another "fizzled." Still he hunted on. He even left Chilton County and journeyed to Montgomery and Birmingham hunting work. This morning he gave up—he went down to the post office where the Army recruiter is and joined the Army.

Alabama farmers are highly interested in farm ponds and have built approximately 4,000. County agents say the number of ponds built this year will double the 500 constructed last year. Farm ponds are used for fish production, watering stock and other purposes.

Prices offered for saw timber, pulpwood and cross-ties are still at wartime levels because demand continues to exceed production. Prices for forest products should remain at a high level through the year.

For a wet mop choose a loose head, cotton mop for easy cleaning. Wash, bleach and disinfect and air and dry after using.

Home economists say the best fat for greasing pans contains no salt, water or protein. In other words you'll find vegetable oils and shortening are more satisfactory for greasing.

FARMERS CAN PROFIT BY GROWING KUDZU CROWNS

J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist, says that hundreds of Alabama farmers plan to set out kudzu crown patches this year.

"These farmers are looking forward to the future when they will want crowns to increase their acreages of kudzu, or will need to plant acres to replace those that now are in kudzu but may be put in row crops later," he says. "This is a sound practice and it will pay thousands of other farmers to plant crown patches this year."

Crown patches should be planted before kudzu growth begins in the spring, about February 15 to March 15. Plant crowns six feet apart in seven foot rows, or thicker, on well-prepared seed bed. Fertilize when rows are prepared. Use not less than 200 to 400 pounds of superphosphate or 400 pounds of basic slag per acre, and about two tons of stable manure in furrows, if available.

Alabama farmers believe kudzu and sericea lespedeza have a great future as grazing, hay, and soil building crops. There are 175,000 acres of kudzu and 88,000 acres of sericea now on Alabama farms, and acreages continue to grow each year.

PREPARE, IMPROVE, PERMANENT PASTURE

Farmers who devote a part of their time during the winter to preparing for and improving permanent pastures are making a wise investment.

"Winter months are the best times to prepare for establishing permanent pasture and a good time to apply lime and phosphate to improve pastures already established," reports J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist.

"In preparing for the permanent pasture, good pasture soils should be selected or arrangements made for improving the soil before pastures are established," he advised. "Land to be put into pasture should be cleared and lime applied. The soil should be worked in such a manner as to leave as much of the top soil on the surface as possible."

Applying lime and preparing the land as much as possible now will get the soil in good condition and will enable pasture plant seed to be sown early when moisture conditions are best, the Extension agent said. Early

FARMERS ASSISTED IN MARKETING SEED

Alabama farmers last year marketed a good volume of planting seed through assistance given them by their county agents. Reports show that by volume blue lupine led in seed sales, over 3,500,000 pounds sold by farmers for $176,099. Caley peas were second, 1,092,500 pounds sold for $71,455. Among other seed which sold in appreciable volume were crimson clover, 513,500; vetch, 351,000; annual lespedeza, 198,700; and lespedeza sericea 135,800 pounds.

seeding will give the pasture plant a chance to make more growth and become well established the first year.

"Arrangements should be made for seed and fertilizer as early as possible," Lowery advises. "Fertilizer should be applied and pasture seed should be sown in February and March. While white clover makes best growth when planted in the fall, it will make satisfactory growth if sown early in the spring."

Some of the Questions They Ask Us

SOME of the questions asked our Industrial Development Department by industries considering locations for plants may be of interest if your town desires industrial development. Here they are:

How many men and women are available for employment in the area under consideration?

Is there a good supply of the type of raw materials needed?

What is the Southern market for the product to be manufactured?

Are there good rail and highway transportation facilities?

Is there a building available? Is the cost of land or rent reasonable?

Does the town have an enthusiastic organized group of citizens interested in the industrial progress of the town?

These are a few of the questions asked. In response to them, our Industrial Development Department presents the facts about such locations that in its opinion meet the requirements of the prospect. The decision as to where he will locate is made by him. This he does not do, of course, until he or his representatives have visited the community, and have met some of the people.

One thing not to be overlooked is the fact that the prospect may not be an out-of-state resident. He might be an Alabama citizen, planning to start or expand an industry, quietly doing his own looking and asking others the questions so frequently asked us.

These questions are published with the thought that communities which have not already done so, may want to take stock so that when an industrial opportunity develops, they will have the facts at hand.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

Helping Develop Alabama

CHILTON HAS HUGE JOB AHEAD ON HOME REPAIR

More than $673,000 is expected to be spent during the next five years by Chilton County home owners on remodeling and repair work.

The year 1946 promises to inaugurate one of the greatest eras in American history for home repairs and modernization, according to estimates released by the Tile Council of America. "Few developments will contribute more to employment and general prosperity in any community," according to R. E. Jordan, chairman of the Council's Residential Construction Committee.

Because of lack of materials and manpower during the war, majority of the county's 7,012 dwelling units are in need of some kind of repair or remodeling work. Kitchen improvements and modernization of bathrooms, installation of tiled showers and in some homes addition of a second bath top the nation's list of most wanted major improvements, Jordan said.

Outside paint jobs are needed on more than 50 per cent of homes, and addition of rooms and construction of porches also rank high in remodeling plans, according to the report. New roofing and heating plants are required by many dwellings.

Home owners in Alabama will spend an estimated $68,000,000 and those of the nation more than $5,500,000,000 for major repairs alone in the next five years, according to Jordan. Ample funds, at low interest charges, are available for such work through commercial banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions and mutual savings banks, he pointed out.

SLEEK JERSEYS ON MIDWINTER PASTURE OF CRIMSON CLOVER AND OATS, on Chambers County farm of D. C. Sims. Starting in 1918 with two animals, Mr. Sims now has 100 registered Jerseys, 113 acres in winter pasture, says he averages better grazing in winter than in summer over period of years. He attributes success to early planting, fertilizing according to Auburn-TVA formula, proper preparation of land. His winter pasture greatly increases milk production, furnishes grazing from Nov. 1 right on through; picture above taken Jan. 9. In foreground, left to right, Bonnie Hand, editor, Lafayette Sun and booster for better farming methods; Farmer Sims, and County Agent H. F. McQueen. (State Newsphoto.)

A few facts about frozen fruits may be worth while. First, if you would enjoy frozen fruit at its best, serve it at once. Frozen fruits need only slight thawing. Thaw only the amount of fruit you will use at one meal. Once you've thawed fruit, don't try to refreeze it. Refreezing decreases the good flavor and robs the fruit of much of its nutritive value. Spoilage often results from refreezing.

What Can Be Done To Increase Winter Grazing?

Chilton County farmers may look at the record established by this farmer:

Cited by Auburn as a farmer who has made a noteworthy success of winter grazing, D. C. Sims, of Chambers County, says that on the average, over a period of years, he has had better winter grazing than summer grazing.

The mid-winter pasture in which Mr. Sims' sleek Jerseys feed contentedly, did not just happen that way. Alabama can have green fields in winter all right, but it takes planning and work. Mr. Sims, speaking from experience as a practical farmer, listed three main essentials for success: 1. Early planting of winter pasture crops. He starts planting September 1. 2. Proper fertilization. He fertilizes on Auburn-TVA approved program, using 200 pounds to the acre of triple superphosphate, and 100 pounds per acre of ammonium nitrate a month after sowing. 3. Proper preparation of land. Mr. Sims gets best results by turning land in July and following the rest of the summer.

Mr. Sims uses a wide variety of crops for winter grazing — crimson clover, and oats, or ryegrass, which he says he had rather depend on than anything else; Manganese clover, an improved variety of bur clover which originated in the backyard of A. Lee

Andrews at Lafayette and has won favorable notice from Auburn; Caley peas; alfalfa; and frosted kudzu, the last named summer-growing legume being grazed in winter after frost, with good results.

Does winter grazing pay? Mr. Sims, who starts cows on winter pasture November 1 and has grazing every day after that, is emphatic that it does. On one field of 20 acres he ran 30 cows every day during November of 1945; after a week, milk production for the 30 cows jumped 20 gallons a day. He follows a plan of rotation in grazing winter pastures.

Starting in 1918 with a cow and a bull, Mr. Sims today has 100 registered Jerseys, and this year has 113 acres in winter pasture. On a little over 1,000 acres owned or operated by him, he grows only a little cotton, "just to keep some help, he explained. His green acres in mid-winter, even after the severe cold of December demonstrates what can be done when an Alabama farmer sets out to make the best year-round use of his land.

A few scuppernon vines will pay on every farm, believes Pope Long Jr., Walker County farmer. Without attempting to put his fruit on the market, he sold $140 worth to people who came to his two-acre vineyard.

Cincinnati Man Felt Like Swollen Balloon;
Full Of Stomach Gas

Recently, a Cincinnati man stated that he used to feel like a swollen balloon after every meal. He would bloat full of gas and spit up acidulous liquids for hours after eating. Was terribly constipated. This man is one of the hundreds in this vicinity who now praise INNER-AID. He states he was amazed at the results when he took this medicine. Now he eats what he wants without gas or bloating, and bowels are regular for the first time in years. He feels like a new man.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County.

FARM TOOLS NEED
STORAGE AND REPAIR

Farm machinery and equipment should be properly stored and repaired during the winter months, advises J. E. Wilson, engineer of the AFI Agricultural Extension Service.

He pointed out that such machinery must be in good condition to do efficient work and that painting, greasing, and housing are important factors in the upkeep of all farm tools and equipment.

"Tools and machinery should be housed even though they are to be idle for only short periods," Mr. Wilson said. "Painting provides additional protection. Regular rust preventives, old motor oil or grease will protect unpainted surfaces. It's a good idea to check over tools and equipment in storage to see that they are protected from the weather and to make sure they weren't put away hurriedly—dirty, or with chaff or fertilizer left in them."

New farm machinery is coming on the market at a slow rate, the engineer pointed out. He stressed the importance of getting equipment in a good state of repair, saying, "If machinery is organized in storage, it is easy to go to the machinery shelter at odd times to test and inspect it and to make repairs."

"Farm machinery can't do its job properly with 'baling wire repair jobs.' Machinery should be checked over, repair parts ordered and proper repairs and adjustments made to get the equipment in top condition."

"Don't neglect light equipment and other farm tools such as harrows, singletrees and planters," Mr. Wilson continued "for long delays in starting spring work will result if these tools and equipment are not repaired and ready to be used."

A delicious jelly, with a pronounced flavor and a delicate texture may be put up in mid-winter—or any other time of the year. And it can be made from only three ingredients. They are: 1 cup of honey; ¼ cup of water; and ¼ cup of liquid fruit pectin. Heat the honey and water to boiling, stirring constantly. Add the liquid fruit pectin and heat just to boiling. Pour in hot sterilized jelly glasses. Seal with paraffin when the jelly is set.

"The best source of income we have is poultry," says Mrs. Lois Hodnett Clay County home demonstration member. From 600 chicks, 275 broilers were sold and the rest kept for the laying flock.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Cooperators with the North Central Soil Conservation District have planned to plant quite a large acreage of sericea in water disposal areas this Spring. The sericea will also be used for hay and temporary grazing. Mr. Eli Borden of Sawyer's Cove is going to plant 15 acres of sericea this Spring in water disposal areas. Mr. W. B. Strock of Coopers is going to plant four more acres of sericea this time. He already has a little over three acres which is three years old.

Planting sericea on a thoroughly prepared seed bed that has been allowed to settle is the first thing that must be done in order to obtain a good stand. If the areas to be established have not been turned, then they should be turned just as soon as the season will permit. Immediately after turning, the land should be harrowed well. If you are not familiar with seed bed preparation for sericea, see your County Agent or Soil Conservationist; and do not run the risk of not getting a good stand. Sericea seed are now available here in Clanton.

JEMISON

Honoring Mrs. Gilbert Burks, nee Hilda Smith, Mrs. Seymour Reynolds, Mrs. George Nash, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Homer Carroll and Miss Miriam Harvey, were co-hostesses at a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Reynolds on January 17th, at 4 o'clock. The home was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums, ivy and white tapers. About 30 guests signed the bride's book, presided over by Miss Charlotte Nichols. Out-of-town guests for the shower included Mrs. G. C. Burks and Mrs. H. L. Smith of Clanton.

The honoree wore a brown crepe dressmaker suit with accents of pink and brown accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white snapdragons tied with pink ribbon.

Guests enjoyed several contests, music by Mrs. Carroll and a reading by Mary Julia Blewster. Clues to a novel "Treasure Hunt" led the bride to the display of gifts.

Assisted in serving by Annette and Mary Edna Reynolds, the hostesses served a delicious salad plate to the guests. The plates were marked with individual corsages of pink and white snapdragons.

Mr. and Mrs. Burks are residing in Jemison while he is completing work as a ministerial student at Howard College. Mrs. Burks is the Home Economics teacher at the local high school, and is active in the work of the W.M.U. of the local church.

Personals

Mr. Leo Langston is convalescing in the Jefferson Hospital after an appendectomy.

Captain Alfred Van Hoose of Cuba, Alabama, and James Van Hoose of University, Alabama, were guests of Miss Elizabeth McNeill during the week end. Captain Van Hoose has been on furlough after service in Germany. James, recently discharged from the Army Air Force, has resumed study at the University.

Mrs. Burns Marsh of Bessemer visited relatives during the week end. Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, Jr., have named their daughter, born in December, June Frances.

Miss Joyce Guy was chosen "Good Citizenship Girl" by the faculty and student body of the local high school. The title is an envied one and Joyce well deserves recognition for her War Bond salesmanship.

The Junior Audubon Club

The Junior Audubon Club met January 3rd, at the home of the sponsor, Miss Melba Patton. The history of birds was presented through short talks by the following people: Erskin Woodley, Alyce Jo Langston, Bobby Jones, John Woodley and Carolyn McNeill. The Club received Vice Bratton and June Handley as new members. The membership now includes 12. Members are keeping scrap books on Nature, and at this meeting members had drawn pictures of birds' bills. The regular meeting date is the second Thursday of every month.

Members of the community are cordially invited to church services at the Methodist Church at 5 p.m. on the 1st and 3rd Sundays of each month. The Rev. Carlisle Miller, pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church, will conduct the services.

Two hundred and twenty-seven applicants for the Regular Army were accepted by Alabama recruiting stations during the first week in January.

Army officers, warrant officers and flight officers honorably discharged since last May 12 now are eligible to enlist in the peacetime Army as master or first sergeants, Fourth Service Command Headquarters here announced today.

The March of Dimes, nationwide appeal of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, January 14-31, gives every American an opportunity to join one of the great humanitarian crusades of modern times.

Dear Joe . . .

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

Last week while in Birmingham at the Alabama Press Association's annual "rhin-dig" we had occasion to talk to Mr. M. H. Potter, Publicity Director of the Veterans Administration out of Montgomery. Mr. Potter is very interested in what the returned "Joos" are doing in Chilton County. He quizzed us a little more than somewhat. We gave him our piece of mind—our two cents worth—and we trust we did justice. Mr. Potter says that one of the most urgent needs of Chilton County, as far as the Veterans are concerned, was an appraiser on property. He is of the opinion that the veterans will get "gipped" out of their "hard-earned" cash unless those buying property have it appraised by someone capable of doing the job. It is our understanding that this does not apply to the buying of farms. Only this week the Veterans Administration published a list of appraisers for counties about over the State but Chilton was listed as one without this assistance. If anyone knows of someone who is capable of handling this job it wouldn't be a bad idea to drop the Veterans Administration, Montgomery, a line. We don't think you will be able to buy a business of any kind with government assistance without the property being appraised.

Clanton is getting fuller and fuller with familiar faces every day now as the GIs and sailors return. The burg almost seems natural with so many back. In fact, there are so many of them back it's hard to tell just who's gone. And brother, if you want to hear the war fought over just come to Clanton and listen.

If you are the politically-inclined type of GI then you want to hustle back into good 'ole Chilton. This is election year; candidates for this and that and the other. We elect a Probate Judge, a Senator, a Representative, a Governor and the records only know what else. There's bound to be some fun if Chilton County's elections run true to form. And we'll bet somebody loses — as usual. Along about from now until the May 7th Primary the heat will be on and the mud will fly. And we bet the week after the May 7th Primary you couldn't find a politician shaking hands with anyone. The town will be deadlier than the week after New Year's we bet. There's one thing we vets can look for. We'll bet our "duck" almost that eight candidates out of ten has a plank in his platform catering to the returned GI. We've already noticed some of this. Maybe it's like the old Westerner said: "There's gold in them thar hills."

Last week we said something about the predicament the Chilton County roads were in after the rains and the freezes around Christmas time. Oh Brother, you should see them now. As one lady said, "They are impossible."

While we are at this, Horton Walker, Commander of the Local Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, announces that next Monday night, January 21, the VFW will hold its regular meeting at the City Hall in Clanton.

ENTERPRISE SCHOOL NEWS

Our school is progressing nicely, although we have had some absences due to the flu and bad weather.

We have converted our auditorium into a gymnasium. Everybody enjoys our indoor games.

Last Friday Thomas Junior girls and boys came down and played us. Our girls lost with a score of 32 to 17. The boys won with a score of 32 to 11.

Verbena B team played our A team Friday night with a score of 15 to 20, in favor of Verbena.

Mrs. Crowson and the fifth grade presented an interesting chapel program Friday morning. They gave "The Prophecy of the Fifth-Grade Future," and a district school dialogue, "Teaching The Teacher."

This Friday night at 7 o'clock we will present, "Romeo and Juliet." Leslie Howard plays Romeo and Norma Shearer plays the part of Juliet, and "The Headless Horseman." Admission 10c and 25c.

We will also have a cake for the prettiest girl and the ugliest man. Come one, come all, and help us enjoy the fun.

Last week we were very busy with mid-term exams.—Evelyn Johnson, Reporter.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardul is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2 Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardul. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Henderson Brothers Of Enterprise Did Outstanding Job In 4-H Club Work

The Henderson Brothers, Barney and Clyde, are two 4-H Club boys who have done an outstanding job in their 4-H Club work. Clyde has been in club work six years while Barney is entering his third year. Both boys are members of the Enterprise 4-H Club. Since Barney and Clyde have been in club work they have carried to completion a total of twenty-four club projects including beef, dairy, corn and pig projects.

This year the Henderson Brothers have purchased three beef calves and three purebred Jersey heifers as club projects. Clyde and Barney have invested over $600 in livestock projects alone this year. This in itself shows how firmly the boys believe in their 4-H Club project work. Since Clyde and Barney have been in club work they have recognized a nice cash return for their project work, netting over $100 on their beef projects last year. Other than this they have gained valuable experience in caring for and managing their projects.

Clyde and Barney have worked toward balancing their club projects by planting enough feed crops to supply feed for their club calves. Now that three Jersey heifers have been added to their project list, they plan to establish more improved pasture and also provide winter grazing. With the purebred heifers the boys now have as foundation stock it will not take long to replace their grade animals with purebreds.

With the experience Clyde and Barney have gotten from their 4-H Club work, they will be better qualified to take up the responsibilities that come with more progressive farming and farm leadership.

Folsom Makes Statement To People Of County

James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, Cullman businessman and candidate for governor, this week made a statement to the people of the county and the state. Folsom, who ran second to Chanuncy Sparks in 1942, seems to be running on the same platform.

Below is the statement issued by Folsom:

CULLMAN, ALABAMA
January 28th, 1946
TO ALL THE PEOPLE OF ALABAMA:

GREETINGS:

I have qualified as a candidate for Governor. I will resume my campaign where I left off in 1942. I will run on the record as follows:

1. A ten year record of making an ordinary living in an ordinary small business.

2. A ten year public record of advocating liberal and progressive government.

3. A lifetime record of no line-ups or tie-ups on Capitol Hill.

The 1936 public record shows that I began my major political career advocating old-age pensions. I still do. In honor of that occasion I hereby appoint every person sixty-five or over an honorary Campaign Manager.

The 1936 public record shows that I advocated rural electrification for every farm home in Alabama. I still do.

The 1938 public record shows that I advocated liberal and progressive legislation for the working man in the factory, on the farm and in the office. I still do.

The 1938 public records show that I advocated hard surface farm to market roads. I still do.

All my public records show that I advocated liberal and progressive legislation for education, health, and welfare. I still do.

The records show that I have always advocated local, self-government. I still do.

The 1942 record shows that I advocated a constitutional convention. I still do. That is the spearhead of our present campaign. That will be the important issue of this campaign. A convention of Alabama men and women. They will be elected by you. They will re-write the basic law of our state. They will end our rotten borough system of legislative representation. They will give Alabama her rightful place in the sun. They will, in short, return our state to the people.

The records show that I was an enlisted man in World War II. I fully understand and appreciate their problems.

State campaign headquarters will be in my office in Cullman. Volunteers from Cullman County will finance and manage my State campaign headquarters. Volunteer committees will run my campaign in each of the other counties.

Yours sincerely,

J. E. (BIG JIM) FOLSOM.

Farmers Striking Against Strikers

A group of Nebraska farmers are not sitting idle while every-one else strikes. They have voted to strike against the strikers and have voted to withhold their products from the market until the strikes are settled.

One farmer declared: "You might say we've got our Irish up. We need machinery, bathtubs and refrigerators. Why, you can't even buy a pair of overalls out here."

The farmers stated, "When we shut off sources of food, strikers will work or starve."

Introducing "Jimmy" McDow, Ex-Sailor, Now Hudson Distributor Of County

This week, the News takes pleasure in introducing to the citizens of Chilton County, James T. McDow, age 25, and an ex-serviceman, who, in this issue, is announcing the formal opening of a new business in this county.

Jimmy, as he is more familiarly known, is going to be dealer of Hudson automobiles in this territory and has opened business in the Tom Kemp building behind the bus station in Clanton.

An ex-serviceman who was recently discharged from the Navy, Jimmy comes to Clanton to make this his home. He and his wife, Mildred, and their son, Jimmy, Jr., moved here in November. They have bought a place in Clanton and have joined the First Baptist Church.

He is in partnership with his father, J. R. McDow, who for a long time has been in the used car business in Montgomery.

Besides being dealer for the new Hudsons, the McDow Motor Company will handle used cars and carry a complete parts service on all makes and models of automobiles.

Being dealer for Hudson, the McDow Motor Company will specialize in Hudson repairs with expert Hudson mechanics. In announcing the opening, Jimmy also stated that he was going to have mechanics to service and

Dr. Parrish Still Holding Out Of Judge Race

For the past week things have been exceptionally quiet in county politics. Howard Roper of Jemison Route two, who has served as our Commissioner of District one for the past four years, announces in this issue of the News for another term.

A newcomer to the political scene is Fred Smith, of Jemison. He has qualified with the County Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, and is announcing this week for a place as Member of the County Board of Education. He is a merchant and operates the Smith Grocery Company at Jemison. He has been a resident of the county for the past ten years and is very popular in the northern part of the county. At present he serves on the Town Council at Jemison.

Rumors are still wide-spread that Dr. W. L. Parrish will announce in the near future for the county Probate Judgeship. In conversation last Tuesday he stated that he was not yet ready to make formal announcement.

To date no candidate has qualified to oppose J. A. Nivens, Delos Collins, C. Pattillo, Hoyt Freeman, Howard Roper, G. C. Walker, Charlie Cox, or J. Lee Smith.

As we go to press we learn that A. B. Foshee, County Solicitor, has announced for re-election to his present office and will announce within the next few days.

It looks that things are warming-up generally and by the last part of February the lines will be drawn and the fireworks will begin.

Go to the Tax Collector before Friday of this week and pay your poll tax. This will assure you of a front seat for the fireworks that will be popping about May 7th.

FOREST FIRE PREVENTION PLANNED FOR CHILTON COUNTY

Dan C. Royal, District Forester, with the Division of Forestry, State Department of Conservation, was in Clanton today formulating plans with county officials for the inauguration of a Forest Fire Prevention Program for Chilton County.

Mr. Royal pointed out that the State has just established a District office in Selma for District Eight, composed of Chilton, Autauga, Perry and Dallas counties. Of these counties Dallas is the only one to have an organization now in Forest Fire Prevention. Morris U. Reedy, Forest Ranger for Dallas, accompanied Mr. Royal.

As soon as a Ranger can be secured an office will be opened in Clanton and the program foundation laid. To begin with fire prevention will be extensive rather than intensive, Mr. Royal pointed out and due to the nature of the work, eventually all phases of forestry will be offered to landowners and others wishing help in the wise usage of their woodlands.

FOLKS & THINGS

ABOUT TOWN

-By BEN

We have at last caught on to Mayor Leo Thompson's racket. He tells the folks at the Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Company that he is going to the City Hall for a while. Then we chase around to the City Hall. Well, around there he tells them he will go to the Laundry for a while. But, by golly, we caught up with him—he was at the airport.

Of course this will be news to you, but the weather has been terrible for the past six weeks. Pee-Wee Martin was telling us the other day that he has carried a set of chains in his ambulance for the past five years and never used them. That is until this month. Now he has had to bring out his chains three times within the past three weeks. Wonder would a pair of chains get us out of the hole?

We hear that the biggest stink in our recent rat killing campaign wasn't dead rats. Several have come to us with the story that their place wasn't serviced with rat poison at all. Some have said that the party putting out the rat poison asked them before putting it out if they were willing to stand the smell. If they were not (and of course one would always say they didn't want to smell dead rats) then it would be better for them not to throw out the poison. We think the Mayor and Councilmen should look into this and see if Clanton got her money's worth.

One of the girls in town said she called her boy friend Pilgrim because every time he called he made a little Progress.

The trouble with politics is that when you get a bunch of politicians out of office you get another bunch of politicians in office.—Thanks Tom.

Now about pol-ticks — somebody keeps coming to us asking about this prospective candidate and that candidate. We're just going to tell you what little we know about the whole thing. As we get it there is no chance whatsoever of Horton Walker opposing Grover C. Walker for the office of Senator. Mr. Horton says he definitely will not run for any office—he is busy. 'Tis a fact. We are told that Dr. W. L. Parrish will run against the Judge. Luther Little does not want to run for a public office. If he did it would be against Mr. Walker. All are standing around waiting for someone to announce against Sheriff Nivens. The two commissioners, namely: Howard Roper and Hoyt Freeman, are busy building political fences throughout the county. Howard will probably need his but it looks like Hoyt is safe. We still don't think that Delos will have any opposition. He is a good man in a hard-to-fill office and will more than likely go in without opposition. We can say the same for Mr. J. C. Pattillo. It would be practically impossible to beat either of them. Looks like Charlie Cox will go back to the Legislature again. There's nothing in the air that even makes a dim outline of opposition. Now, if you don't think that we know nothing at all about politics, just save this column until the first of March and check it with the ballot and we will prove our point.

Bowel Cleaning Power Of Inner-Aid Medicine

One man recently took INNER-AID three days and said afterward that he never would have believed his body contained so much filthy substance. He says his stomach, intestines, bowels and whole system were so thoroughly cleansed that his constant headaches came to an end, several pimply skin eruptions on his face dried up overnight, and even the rheumatic pains in his knee disappeared. At present he is an altogether different man, feeling fine in every way. INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County.

The time of these meetings is to be arranged by the speakers and the churches. Each church will notice her speaker in this letter.

May each church cooperate with its speaker in arranging for a meeting.

We would appreciate it if each church would contact its speaker and make the arrangement for the meeting.

I am hoping every church will give this meeting their best effort and that we may have more of God's love and greater fellowship, one with another and more workers in the Vineyard of

Same Boy— Same Trees

IN THE picture at the left is Gomer D. Evans, Jr., viewing pine tree seedlings a year after they had been set out (in 1936) under the direction of his dad, forester for Alabama Power Company. In the picture at the right, taken early this month, is young Evans at the same spot. The seedlings have grown into trees and the boy into a man—a veteran of the Philippines Campaign. Boys and pine trees do grow... fast!

The planting in the pictures is only one of the many made by Alabama Power Company on its lands. In the 7 years from 1935 to 1942, nearly 7 million trees were planted on more than 6,500 acres of land. Seedlings planted in 1935 now average 6 inches in diameter breast-high from the ground, and are 25 to 30 feet tall. In about 3 more years, they will be large enough for use as strong posts or as pulpwood for paper mills, one of Alabama's important industries.

Members of the Alabama Forestry Council and the Forest Farmers Association Cooperative, meeting in Birmingham this month, stated as their objective "to make forest lands more secure and more profitable, and to get better forestry practiced in the woods."

We are glad to add our endorsement of this objective to that of other land owners, editors, bankers, public officials and others who realize the value of the South's forest resources and the importance of conserving them through fire protection, intelligent harvesting and replanting.

Helping Develop Alabama

Dear Joe . . .

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

Were you a Major or a Private in the Army? Were you an Ensign or a Seaman first-class? That is hard to tell when you see veterans walking down the streets of Clanton these days. With civilian clothes on, they can't be separated very easily. Some say the ex-brass still have a chip on their shoulder and are trying desperately to carry that chip into civilian life. We think the vets of Clanton are pretty regular guys — after they get into civies. Of course, there are exceptions.

Again let us remind all veterans that their poll tax is paid for life. If you haven't already done so, go to the Probate Office and get your poll tax exemption certificate.

Recently we heard a veteran from the University tell how the ex-GIs were distinguishable from other school "kids." The vets always have their hands in their pockets, walking with that old nonchalant, no-care look on their faces.

Remember how we used to curse the strikers when we were overseas? Then we could yell, "draft 'em." What is the solution now? The worst strike in history is on. Let's "draft 'em."

We overheard an ex-GI remark down-town the other day that all he wanted was to find some good-looking woman who could chop cotton and make him a good living. Some guys will ask for the unreasonable.

At last they've done it. They shot

TO THE VETERANS OF CHILTON COUNTY

Fellows, remember when we were over there fighting for democracy—lying in mud, raining in your face and in all kinds of bad weather, not to mention the combat?

It looks like some people back here do not appreciate what we did. I was planning on going into business of my own here in Clanton, but I was ruled out by a high tax. Now the people that put that tax on me; were they worth fighting for? No! As some of you know, I was placing a Night Club here for entertainment, which is badly needed, and before I had it started it was rumored that a petition was going around to close it. It also seems that some people would rather have their children parked out on a lonely road or at some place between Birmingham and Montgomery than to let them be at a nice public place at home for entertainment.

Fellows, election will soon be here, so let's put the right men in office that will help the veterans instead of knock them down. There is around two thousand of us here in the county, and that many will swing any election.

Thanks

ALL-PULLET FLOCK HAS

MANY ADVANTAGES, SAYS

EXTENSION SPECIALIST

An all-pullet flock is worth the consideration of any poultry raiser during the coming year, says John Ivey, poultry specialist, Alabama Extension Service. The all-pullet flock, instead of the mixed flock of hens and pullets, is not a new idea. Many of the best and most successful poultry raisers have been following this program for some time. The success of this program is early hatched, bred-to-day chicks.

Some advantages of an all-pullet program have been pointed out by poultry specialists as follows:

An all-pullet program for the small flock owner, based on early hatched, bred-to-day chicks raised on clean ground will help increase production per layer, will help reduce mortality rate among layers, and will make possible maximum production of broilers and hens needed for flock replacement.

Serious consideration should be given to an all-pullet program by large flock owners and hatchery-supply flock owners with the exception of key breeding flocks. An all-pullet program with a barracks system to maintain production at the end of the laying year, gives a high yearly egg production with minimum seasonal variation.

Hatchery supply flocks replaced with pullets reared from pullover-clean stock on clean ground will speed up elimination of this dreaded disease.

Farmers who are interested in adopting this program should buy enough good early chicks to be able to fill their laying houses next fall with pullets, keeping over no old hens. Buy three chicks for each pullet wanted. If seeded chicks are purchased, the number can be reduced about 50 percent.

YOUNG MATRONS CIRCLE

The W. M. U. of the First Baptist Church of Clanton, welcomes to its membership a group of formerly uninitiated young matrons who were invited to a Missionary tea at the home of Mrs. T. R. Burdette on Monday afternoon, January 28th, to consider the possibility of forming a new circle under the capable and consecrated leadership of Mrs. Houston Nivens, enthusiastic chairman of the W. M. U.

The meeting opened with a short devotional message by the pastor's wife Mrs. R. E. Owens. Mrs. Nivens then spoke to the group on the great contribution they could make to the Kingdom's interests by meeting with the already long-established W.M.U. who so greatly needed the vision, and ambition and joyful service of Christian young women.

Mrs. Nivens then introduced the president of the W.M.U., Mrs. Luther Little, who pledged the mother-organization's love and cooperation. Mrs. E. T. Clapp, of Maplesville, President of the W.M.U. of Unity Association then inspired her hearers with the opportunities that have been met through the concerted efforts of the women's organizations in sixteen of the churches in our association. It was then explained that Unity Association was a member of one of the ten districts into which the State of Alabama is divided, and that Mrs. H. G. Hefflin was re-elected to serve a second term as President of the Ninth District. She challenged the young women to make their influence felt even out into the larger organizations of our state.

After a period of open discussion the young women present unanimously agreed to form a new circle, and all the necessary offices were filled by the vote of the charter members as follows:

Chairman—Mrs. Robert Powers

Co-chairman, Mrs. T. R. Ambrose; Mission Treasurer, Mrs. Raymond Mims; Local Aid Treasurer, Mrs. J. T. McDow; Program, Mrs. John Griffin and Mrs. Howard McKenzie; Community Missions, Mrs. John Higgins; Stewardship, Mrs. Cleo R. Cox; Social, Mrs. James Minor; Literature and Publicity, Mrs. C. Truman Luca; White Cross, Mrs. W. H. Dixon; Sunbeam Band Leader, Mrs. Bill Armstrong.

Mrs. L. M. Williams, Social chairman of the W.M.U., with the aid of other interested and devoted members of the W. M. S., served attractive refreshments.

The new circle members were reminded that all the circles meet together at the church the first Monday in every month to transact the business of the W.M.U. as a whole, and on every third Monday for the Missionary Program meeting. The chairman of the circle with the largest number present at the church for the Missionary Program meeting will have the honor of wearing the W.M.U. pin for the month.

Mrs. T. P. Hayes, formerly president of the W.M.U. for many years, graciously invited the new circle to meet at her home for their second meeting, the fourth Monday in February, the 24th, at 3 p.m., which is the regular hour for all meetings of the W.M.S.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Luther Little.

For the best service from pillow cases, select cases of a firm weave, little sizing, and with smooth and even hems. It's also well to remember that sizes are important—cases too large wrinkle under the head, and if too small they bunch the pillow into a hard lump, and are more likely to be strained. The best size is a case 1½ inches wider and 6 inches longer than the pillow.

Chilton County tomato growers are planning for the orderly handling and marketing of tomatoes in 1946. Plans, according to M. R. Glasscock, county agent, have been made to provide a shed with necessary equipment for handling tomatoes. An adequate supply of plants from certified seed has been provided.

Farmers in both ends of Alabama are in trouble. In South Alabama they are unable to obtain sufficient seed for planting their Irish potato crop, while in North Alabama rain and cold have prevented their harvesting large quantities of corn and cotton.

WHAT'S AHEAD IN TELEPHONE SERVICE?

We're looking into the future of telephone service in Alabama. What we see is of great importance to forward-looking citizens of the State.

We see telephones for all who want them. We see a lot of people with new jobs and steady incomes... more good customers for more businesses... added prosperity for Alabama—all as a result of the tremendous expansion program already started by the Telephone Company.

This program involves the expenditure of more than $300,000,000 in the nine southeastern states and means that the present investment in telephone facilities in Alabama will be practically doubled in the future.

So, we see the need for a lot of money. This money will have to come, as it has in the past, from the savings of thrifty people.

Unless these people have confidence in the safety of their investment and feel assured of a reasonable return on that investment, new funds for future expansion will not be forthcoming.

So, it is easy to see that earnings have an important place in the future of telephone service for every Alabamian.

Dr. Parrish Mule Clinic Schedule

We have been unable to have a clinic for two years owing to war conditions. Now medicine is available and horses have had nothing done for two years. They will need checking. All horses and mules that have had any knot flies after them will need a treatment, most of them need the teeth looked after. Colic in the mules and horses has been much worse for the two years. They have had no treatments. Some do not know this tooth treating and medicine giving almost eliminates colic in stock but it does. Ask your neighbor who has tried it on his stock.

Have your horses fairly empty (without feed for 12 or 15 hours) for best results. The medicine will be 75 cents and the tooth work will be $1.00 per head—cash.

Bring your horse out if you have any doubt. We will be glad to check him without cost.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

There is a legend of two Hebrew sisters who were in Egypt the night before Moses was to lead the Israelites out of bondage. The two sisters were ready for the departure. One was calm and the other was agitated. The restless lady was continually asking, "Has the blood been sprinkled on the posts of our door?" and then she would reproach her sister for being so calm, so confident and so unconcerned. One sister was agitated because she was fearful that the angel would not see the blood, while the other sister was calm and confident that the angel would see the blood and pass over their home. When God speaks it is truth, and as His children we should believe and then be calm and confident.

Have you not observed that most people can work with only one hand? We have two legs and we walk on both alike. Why not work with both hands alike? In Philadelphia there is a school where the pupils go to learn how to use both hands alike. They are trained to draw with both hands, to push a plane with both hands, to drive nails with both hands. They are neither right-handed, nor left-handed. Both hands can be used with equal efficiency. By training and practice, both hands work in coordination, and a third more work can be done in a day's time. It takes careful training and practice but we can increase our efficiency if we will only try.

In recent months the world has become "Atom Conscious." To be sure this atom is very small, but who made it? Under the Microscope we may look upon this unknown block from an unknown quarry and wonder from whence it came. Who preserves to them their absolute identity, notwithstanding their infinite variety? Who endowed them with inalienable properties? Who impressed upon them the characteristics to be found in each one? Who struck them from the anvil of time and flung them out into space? The only answer is that God did this job. There is enough of God in an atom to blow the universe into smithereens if we unleash the power of God hid there. Better beware for you are living in a world that is crowded full of God.

ASSOCIATIONAL YOUNG PEOPLES' RALLY

One of the major undertakings for the year in our Associational work is the bi-annual Young Peoples' Rally. The first of these will be held at the First Baptist church of Clanton, February 10th at 3 p.m.

Our main speaker will be Miss Annie Boyd Parker, Student Secretary of Alabama's Women's College, Montevallo, who has been making a wonderful contribution to the religious life of the students on that campus. We feel sure she will have a stirring and worthwhile message for the youth of our churches, for their parents and for their church leaders.

Both Unity and Chilton Associations, at their Annual W. M. U. meetings in January, voted to participate in this Young Peoples' Rally. We hope there will be large and eager delegations present from every church in both associations.

May it not have to be said of Chilton county, as has been said by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, that the churches are reaching too few of the youth of America. It is up to us as Christian men and women to remember that we have a large share in shaping the destiny of tomorrow's world as we either care for or neglect today the missionary development of the children of our churches. We must prepare now to claim the future for our Master. Tomorrow's world will have big problems, big opportunities and big responsibilities. It will take big men to live in it; men big in their knowledge of God; big in their vision; big in their love.

Y. W. C. A. OF BAPTIST CHURCH MET JANUARY 21

The Young Women's auxiliary of the Clanton Baptist church met at the home of Miss Juanita Glass. Mrs. Elaine Ambrose gave the devotional. A large crowd enjoyed a discussion, "What Do Other Nations Think of Americans," led by Miss Sarah Foy Helms. Others taking part in the discussion were Miss Mable Camp, Miss Johnson, Miss Rita Glass, and Miss Zora Smith.

Refreshment were enjoyed after the program.

The next meeting will be February 5th at the church. All young women of Clanton are invited to attend. The Y. W. C. A.

Too often 4-H Club work has been considered elementary and should be discontinued when a boy or girl leaves school. This is not the case with Hoyt Thrash of Union Grove.

Hoyt was a member of the Union Grove 4-H Club for three years and was elected club reporter two years. After leaving school he took over his father's farm and this past year cultivated 40 acres of cropland. Hoyt has continued his club work, and in farming has had many opportunities to put his club work into practice.

In the past six years Hoyt has fed out seven 4-H beef calves. Last year his beef calf netted him $112.00. This money allowed him to add a purebred Jersey heifer to his herd. This year he is feeding out two 4-H beef calves that any club boy would be proud to show.

In 1943, Hoyt won a purebred Jersey heifer in a Sears, Roebuck Pig Show. Since getting his first purebred heifer in 1943, Hoyt has continued to carry his 4-H dairy project and now he has five purebred Jerseys, and has sold several purebred calves to other club boys. He plans to continue his jersey breeding and selection until he replaces all of his grade cows with purebreds.

Hoyt is improving his pasture as fast as possible to meet his pasture needs, and this year he plans to supply additional grazing in the winter by planting winter grazing crops.

Hoyt is to be complimented on the fine 4-H record he has made over a period of six years, and he says that regardless of age, he will always be a 4-H club member.

Others taking part in the discussion were Miss Mable Camp, Miss Johnson, Miss Rita Glass, and Miss Zora Smith.

Refreshment were enjoyed after the program.

The next meeting will be February 5th at the church. All young women of Clanton are invited to attend. The Y. W. C. A.

New Ordinance Proposes Zoning City Of Clanton

Clanton Divided Into Districts; Regulates Buildings

This week and last week the News publishes a proposed Ordinance for the City of Clanton proposing the Zoning of the City of Clanton.

According to this Ordinance, the City of Clanton is to be divided into seven groups, namely: Residence "A" and "B" Districts, Local Business District, General Business Districts "A" and "B", Light Industrial District and Heavy Industrial District.

This Ordinance, if and when passed, will regulate, within districts, the height, number of stories and of structures, the percentage of lot that may be occupied, the size of the yards and other open spaces, the density of population and the use of buildings, structures and lands to provide methods of administration of the ordinance and penalties for violations of the ordinance.

This Ordinance has not been passed. It is only in the proposal stage. Its passage rests with the City Council of Clanton. The Council will meet on the 15th day of February, 1946, at 7:00 p.m. at which time persons who desire shall have opportunity to be heard in opposition to or approval for the passage of this ordinance.

This proposed ordinance is too lengthy to attempt to condense. For the provisions set forth in this Ordinance we suggest you turn to pages four and five of this issue of the News and see the map of Clanton and read the Ordinance.

DO YOU NEED AN EMPLOYEE?

For the past few weeks the News has been running a series of advertisements for the U. S. Employment Service branch in Clanton. The Employment Service is making an attempt to place returned veterans in jobs in Clanton and the county.

Every week they have a new man to offer to employers. Watch their advertisements and you may be able to find just the man you want.

The office wishes it announced that anyone needing help, please contact them. They have men with all types of experience from bulldozer operators to gardeners.

The Employment office is located upstairs over E. L. Kliner Furniture Company.

WHAT'S INTERESTING?

Do you like a newsy paper? Sure you do. We, at the News, enjoy putting out a newsy paper full of local news. In order to do this, you, our subscribers and readers, can help us out. How? Here's how:

The next time something in your community happens or is about to happen, then let us know about it. If there was a birthday party, a wedding, anniversary, a program at the church, then that's news. Write it in. All we ask is that it be signed by the writer.

There are a lot of good stories hid in Chilton County. We don't know where they are. You do. If there is anything in your community or otherwise, then we would like to hear about it. Thanks.—The Ed.

Associational Young People's Rally

One of the major undertakings for the year in our Associational work is the bi-annual Young People's Rally. The first of these will be held at the First Baptist church of Clanton, February 10th at 3 p.m.

Our main speaker will be Miss Annie Boyd Parker, Student Secretary of Alabama's Women's College, Montevallo, who has been making a wonderful contribution to the religious life of the students on that campus. We feel sure she will have a stirring and worthwhile message for the youth of our churches, for their parents and for their church leaders.

Both Unity and Chilton Associations, at their Annual W. M. U. meetings in January, voted to participate in this Young People's Rally. We hope there will be large and eager delegations present from every church in both associations.

May it not have to be said of Chilton county, as has been said by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, that the churches are reaching too few of the youth of America. It is up to us as Christian men and women to remember that we have a large share in shaping the destiny of tomorrow's world as we either care for or neglect today the missionary development of the children of our churches. We must prepare now to claim the future for our Master. Tomorrow's world will have big problems, big opportunities and big responsibilities. It will take him men to live in it: men big in their knowledge of God; big in their vision; big in their love.

Dr. Parrish Makes Statement To People Of Chilton County

Dr. W. L. Parrish, Lonnie, to many of his friends, has this week qualified for and makes his formal announcement as candidate for the office of Probate Judge in the coming Democratic Primary. Dr. Parrish has been a life-long citizen of Chilton County and definitely needs no introduction.

He has practiced his profession as a Veterinarian since graduating from Auburn in 1917, except a year during which time he served his country in uniform in World War I. He is one of Chilton County's outstanding citizens, always interested in the things that are for the progress of our County. He has served as member and Chairman of your school board for 10 years. In making his announcement Dr. Parrish made the following statement to you as a citizen of your County:

"At the insistence of hundreds of my friends, I have decided to become a candidate for the office of your Probate Judge. My views as to the operation of your business as a county of fine people will be advanced to you from time to time—by newspapers and word of mouth. I invite you to feel free to discuss our many problems with me at any time.

If elected to the sacred charge of managing your affairs of your County, it will be my whole hearted occupation to serve you well, to work with and for you and to build Chilton County into a better place to live, work and travel.

I earnestly solicit your support and influence.

Verbena Boy Gets Off To Good Start In 4-H Club Work; Shows Initiative

Alton Moore, a Verbena High School 4-H Club member, has gotten off to a good start this year in his 4-H Club work. Alton has been in Club work four years and has held three 4-H Club offices.

Last Spring Alton started getting ready for his club projects by planting two acres of corn for feed. At gathering time, he harvested forty bushels per acre. With plenty of feed in the barn he was ready to start his livestock project. Alton's first project was a 4-H beef calf which he purchased through the 4-H Club. Alton has done a good job with his beef calf and Spring should find him with a beef calf that will be a credit to any 4-H Club member.

Alton's latest club project is a pure-

Dr. W. L. Parrish Enters Race For Probate Judge

Hoyt Freeman, A. B. Foshee And W. G. Shaw Announces

Looked like county politics got into the first lap of the campaign this week when four more candidates announced for county offices.

First and of most interest was the announcement of Dr. W. L. Parrish, who will oppose Judge J. Lee Smith, incumbent for the office of judge of Probate. Judge Smith is a formidable opponent and will not be unseated easily. On the other hand Dr. W. L. Parrish is a prominent Veterinarian, and has strong support in certain sections of the county. This should prove a hot affair between these two popular contestants.

Hoyt Freeman, present Commissioner in District Two, announces for re-election. He has no opposition to date and has made an efficient county official.

A. B. Foshee announces for reelection as County Solicitor. Mr. Foshee is also without opposition so far.

Fourth and last to announce this week is Mr. W. G. Shaw of Jemison. Mr. Shaw is announcing on the Republican Ticket and says that he has run every time for the past twelve years. Mr. Shaw is quite philosophical about the whole thing and says one more defeat won't hurt him none.

That is the set-up this week. Candidates have until March 1st to qualify and you never know what will happen.

WHAT ABOUT ADULT DELINQUENCY?

When editorial writers run out of subject matter it seems there are a few pet subjects they harp on. One of them is "Juvenile Delinquency." We are going to change this thing and talk about "Adult Delinquency."

When Juvenile delinquency stirs we see only one cause: There is adult delinquency. When children run off to nearby towns to honky-tonks, park on lonely roads in the late hours of night; when they disobey their parents and parade the streets; when they forget and ignore their church, then there is only one reason and one cause as we can see: Parents and responsible civic organizations and municipal and county governments ignore their children and don't provide them the proper means of recreation to spend their idle hours. The older sets, the governments and responsible persons look on their children as the fathers' and mothers' responsibility. It is their responsibility. And, if younger people are not provided with a suitable place of recreation to spend spare moments—places to meet and make friends and places of enjoyment — then they become the peoples' liability.

What are Clanton and Chilton County doing? Let's wake up. Let's us all endeavor to treat our children not only as children but as the men and women of tomorrow. Let's bring our children up in a social world of equality and understanding among men, women and children.

Above all, let Clanton and Chilton County offer their children something besides a honky-tonk trip to Birmingham or Montgomery. Let them meet their and your friends in respectable recreation centers of Clanton and Chilton County.

What has Clanton to offer its teen-agers? Think it over. We adults seem to be the ones that are delinquent.

WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE DONE?

Not long ago we attempted to teach a Negro boy some of the fundamentals of the printing trade. It was soon learned that he is what is known as a "dropper" and seldom touches anything he doesn't drop. Washing the press one day, he dropped the bottle of gasoline which splashed over the floor. Somewhat aggravated, we suggested that he throw a match into the spill and burn the building down.

Hardly had the words been spoken when the boy scratched a match across the seat of his pants and flipped it into the gas. The blaze licked the ceiling and everybody started fighting fire. The boy commenced fighting it with the gas-soaked rag he used to wash the press. The Negro, the press and the floor was afire.

Grabbing a fire extinguisher, we smothered the blaze and some member of the force smothered the fire about the boy. Noticing the gasoline rag still burning on the floor, we yelled to the Negro to get it out. He grabbed it up and tossed it into a big waste paper basket filled with paper. Everybody started fighting fire again.

What would you have done? We didn't.—Opp News.

There's a hen that lays for Ed Bowden who isn't satisfied. Evidently she knows what the price of laying mash is and is trying to help the boss break even. Monday she laid two eggs at the same time. The two eggs are not exactly fully developed and are joined by a small tube. Ed says with the price of eggs going down and the price of feed going up it will take about two a day from each hen to meet his feed bill.

For those interested in the Probate Judge race the war of nerves is over. Dr. W. L. Parrish announces this week as a candidate for that office. Now everyone can choose his candidate and get going. May the best man win.

The more the sober-minded citizens studies the new zoning ordinance published again this week in the News the more he sees that it is a good thing for Clanton. Not that we are in such bad need of the zoning ordinance at this time but for the betterment of our city in the coming years. We will not always be as small as we are now and within the years to come you will find that the Mayor and Councilmen did a fine job. We believe that the present administration are doing a fine job in more ways than one. They have made mistakes; they will make more mistakes. But they have also accomplished much. Regardless of the cussing they get by some, the man who never tried or who never made a mistake never did anything. They are trying—and they are building a better Clanton.

"Pa," said Clarence, looking up from his history lesson, "Who was it that said, 'We haven't started to fight?'" "A bride and a groom who were still on their honeymoon, I guess," answered his dad.

A traveler from the east stopped at an isolated farmhouse in the early years of the century. The next morning the young son of the house watched as the gentleman performed his toilet. All the facilities: the house provided were a basin, a rough towel, a bar of home-made soap and cold water. The boy watched "in growing wonderment" as the traveler brushed his nails, combed his hair, brushed his clothes and polished his shoes. "By cracky!" the boy burst out at last, "I gotta know. Do you allus that much trouble to yerself?"

Don't be surprised if you see our announcement next week. We gotta go around to see Chairman Delos Culp and see if anyone has qualified for the place we want. If we have no competition we are going to run for the county seat. It don't pay anything, but it's comfortable.

Hi, folks! Here we come with some more happenings from I.H.S. Didn't get back last week on the account of doing this, that and the other, but just the same, we are here.

The basketball boys played Billingsley here Friday evening, winning both games. The Billingsley boys can play good ball just the same.

We are proud to see some of our old students returning to finish their work, who left it off and went in the service to defend our country. We wish them the best of luck.

The F.H.A. Clothing Drive turned out fine.

The F.F.A. boys are building brooders and planting trees on the school grounds.

Had some visitors this week. They were Walter Kendrick of the Marines and J. E. Scott of the Army, both were students of I.H.S. before enlisting in service. We're glad to see them.

Well, we have lost some of our students who have moved away. We miss them a lot and we have some new ones, and we are glad to have them.

"This'n That"

Ah! Peggy Williams with a big smile when Walter Kendrick came to school.

Martha McKee seems to be especially attracted to Glenn Jones's basketball playing.

The Seniors' calling cards are real

ENTERPRISE

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Jones had as their guests last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Easterling.

Mrs. O. L. Devaughn is in St. Margaret's Hospital, Montgomery. We all join in wishing for Mrs. Devaughn a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Devaughn are at home for the time being with Mrs. Brown, as they are building their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown and son, Billy, and Percy Yeargan and family visited at Luther Yeargan's Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. W. C. Davis is still with her daughter, Mrs. Alonzo Askins, and Mr. Askins in Clanton. She asks that her friends remember to come by to see her, for the days pass slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Bookholdt and daughter visited Larkin Williams and family this week end.

Sara Mims, with other operators, have gone from Birmingham Telephone Company to Miami for a three months stay there.

Mrs. John Mullins and Mrs. Eugene Mims entertained a great number of relatives and friends at the home of Mrs. Mullins last Sunday, celebrating the birthday of their sons, Raymond and Herman Mims.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Yeargan visited Mr. and Mrs. Bunyon Sunday.

We are having ball games often now at Enterprise school since the indoor courts were arranged.

We have had so many people in our community having the flu, the school attendance has been irregular.

MANY ALABAMA ACRES NEED TO BE DRAINED

Simple drainage with plows and blade-graders or explosive, may step up crop yields on thousands of acres of low yielding and poorly drained soils.

Increased production resulting from proper drainage should pay the drainage cost within a few years, believes J. B. Wilson, API extension engineer. If low-grade timber is on the land, the sale of it for pulpwood should enable farmers to meet the cost of clearing and draining.

County extension agents are now helping farmers in all sections of the State with their drainage problems.

Charles Ray Scott always smiles when some one mentions Marion.

Bet John Roper smiled when Frankie McCary came back to school Friday.

Have you noticed Frances Bryant and Jean Williams these days.

Just suppose: Mrs. Clenner teaching music and Miss Sturkey cooking at the lunch room and Mrs. Roper teaching Home Economics and Mrs. Heida peeling potatoes, and so. I had better scram before things will happen.

So long, see you later—

COOPERATIVE HOSPITALS

The organization of cooperative hospital, owned by the people they serve, is reaching its most intensive period in years, according to the Cooperative League of the U.S.A.

At present five cooperative hospitals are in operation in the states of Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas and Minnesota, and at least forty more are in various stages of organization.

The pioneer cooperative hospital the Elk City Community Hospital in Elk City, Okla., was established in 1929. Since then this cooperative hospital has become one of the outstanding medical institutions in Oklahoma. It erected a new nurses' home last year and has plans underway to build a new clinic building, add ten new doctors and another dentist to the staff, and provide "the finest medical surgical, dental and hospital care available anywhere."

The cooperative hospitals follow the policy of the Elk City pioneer in providing for prepayment of medical care, consumer ownership of the hospital, and consumer direction of the medical service with the technical operation in the hands of able, well trained medical personnel. Shares are usually $50 per family and medical care costs run as low as $25 per year per family for basic medical care.

The Texas State Legislature, impressed by the success of the South Plains Cooperative Hospital, passed a law last year providing for special charters for cooperative hospitals. Already 25 cooperative hospital charters have been granted and active organization campaigns are underway in 25 communities throughout the State.

A 16 mm colored movie on cooperative hospital operation is being prepared by the Texas Federation of Cooperatives, the Texas A & M College and the South Plains Cooperative Hospital.—C. C. Haun, Thorsby.

Alabama dairymen should raise at least three heifer calves each year for each ten cows in the herd. This allows for some increase in herd size and permits selection of the heifers raised.

CANCER SOCIETY WILL CAMPAIGN FOR $12,000.00

Stating that the American Cancer Society would campaign for 12 million dollars to be raised during its annual April, 1946, fund drive, the Administrative Director of the American Cancer Society announced that these monies would be used for research on malignant growths, service for cancer victims, and broader national education aimed at better understanding of the disease.

The Society was told that the War Department had verbally agreed to share with scientists seeking a cure for cancer all information, materials and instruments involved in atomic studies and chemical warfare, withholding only information vital to military security. There are hundreds of chemicals which should be tried, thus opening an entirely new type of study.

American Cancer Society stresses the need for greater interest and for increased efforts in the instruction of America's youth on the prevention, symptoms and treatment of cancer. "We have a double-barreled reason for going into the school. We are preparing the youth for its future and sending information home to the parents."

The Society based its 12 million dollar quota in the 1946 campaign for funds on the wealth and potentialities of the individual states as indicated by recent war bond sales and contributions to the national war fund and similar drives.

Some $720,000, or sixty per cent of the total will be retained for service and education in the individual states. The remainder will be used for research and the national campaign.

"Alabama's goal is $170,000," states Mrs. Ray Meade, State Commander of the Field Army, American Cancer Society.

We know Chilton County will not fail to do its part in this great cause. MRS. SOPHIA L. JONES, Dist. Com. MRS. L. E. DIEFENDERFER, County Commander.

NO VIOLATIONS OF MILK CONTROL BOARD

During the past fiscal year, no cases involving violations of the Milk Control Board law, or orders, rules and regulations of the board were brought before that body, according to annual report of Executive Secretary Charles W. Kirby. "Violations in the field were handled and corrected by inspectors in their markets without having to be brought before the board," the report stated. "The board has lent its best efforts to cooperate with all agencies in or about an increased supply of pure and wholesome milk for all of our markets." Wholesale producer prices were described as "more or less stable" in the various milk sheds during the year, with the majority of plants paying the maximum price allowed by OPA.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST OFFERINGS AMOUNTED TO $1,236.96 LAST YEAR

Japan's imperialism and demands that the Japanese Emperor be placed above God fell heavily upon members of the Seventh-Day Adventist faith. Many suffered violent persecutions.

In Korea many were in prison and were tortured. It will cost $50,000 to repair and refurbish the Skodsbury Sanatorium and Hospital in Denmark after the evacuation by the Germans.

The members of the Clanton Church have made spiritual progress showing devotion to worship, faithfulness in Bible study and willingness to serve.

Offerings given for church work during 1945 were as follows: Tithes and Mission offerings amounted to $1,236.96, while $195.00 was given for Home Missionary activities. Sabbath school offerings for the year used for Foreign Mission extension amounted to $592.44.

The fit of a slip depends not only on its size but also on its cut, clothing specialists remind us. Bias-cut slips which are widely sold, usually fit slender figures but straight-cut slips are better suited to stout figures and large hips. Straight-cut slips stay down better over the knees when sitting and are less likely to hang unevenly and "cut under" at the back.

Heating the "stuffing" in a pan before it is put into a chicken or turkey cuts the roasting time slightly.

RURAL WOMEN URGED TO CONTINUE FAT SALVAGE

Farm and other rural women in Alabama are urged to continue the salvage of used kitchen fats.

Elizabeth Forney, state home agent, says that collections of used fats from rural areas are helping to meet the heavy demand for inedible fats and oils that are an important ingredient in soaps and other industrial products.

She also states that used fats enter into the manufacture of many items besides soap, including fabrics, paints, floor coverings, insecticides, leather, and tires.

Meat dealers pay 4 cents a pound for used kitchen fats.

Dear Joe . . .

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

It's past time to make resolutions as every resolute knows. But, when New Year's came and we hadn't been a civilian then quite long enough to make any drastic resolutions. This is a few of our delayed resolutions after thinking this thing over.

We are not going to buy a new suit just yet. We do not like the way the dealers are showing nowadays. (Then, too, we think we can get a '47 before we can a '46).

We are not going to do any fancy dressing just yet. The old pre-war rags we had left can hang on a little while longer.

We are not going to travel the country roads of Chilton any more than necessary. We don't like the idea of being dug out of ditches in the wee hours of morning.

We are not going to try to buy any mayonnaise in Clanton. (There just isn't none).

We are not going to believe everything politicians say.

And our prayer (we copied): "Oh Lord, help us keep our nose out of other people's business."

No doubt, amendments will be due before 1947.

These girls! Clanton is really getting modern. Last Sunday we saw a tractor come tearing up through town loaded down with girls. Good advertising, we'd say.

We heard this little yarn the other day: Concerning two farmers. One of them had been preaching for some time. His brother came up and said to his preacher brother that the Lord had called him to go out and preach the Gospel. The brother who had already been preaching, advised: "Well I tell ya. There ain't much money to it but there shore is a lot of good eating." "

When it comes to music appreciation, we think Clanton is backing up instead of advancing. Why? Every time we sit down in a cafe in town, "It's Been So Long, Darling." We

ALABAMA FARMERS USED CONSERVATION MATERIALS

To enrich and conserve their soils, Alabama farmers last year used large quantities of conservation materials and services.

This is shown by figures covering some of the seed, fertilizers, and services procured by farmers through the PMA in 1945.

Seed included 2,600,000 pounds blue lupine; 7,600,000 pounds Austrian winter peas; 6,500,000 pounds vetch; 158,000 pounds crimson clover; 104,000 pounds lespedeza sericea and Dallisgrass; and 1,327,000 kudzu crowns.

Fertilizers included 60,000 tons basic slag; 24,000 tons limestone; 9,000 tons calcium silicate; 2,500 tons oyster shells.

Over 3,600,000 feet of terracing and 67,000 feet of ditching were done through PMA.

ALABAMA COLLEGE TO CELEBRATE ITS 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Alabama College will celebrate the Fiftieth Anniversary of its founding on October 12, 13 and 14, 1946. The College makes this announcement trusting that those who receive it will place these dates on their calendars for the year, 1946, and that, either in person or through their duly constituted representatives, they will attend its exercises at that time.

Correspondence should be addressed to Doctor Minnie L. Steckel, Chairman, Committee on Invitations, Montevallo, Ala.

Formal invitations will be issued at the appropriate time.

FURS BROUGHT MONEY

Furs sold from Alabama farms last year brought a gross income of $49,400. These furs were taken from a total of 58,650 acres on 218 farms. On many farms the income from furs was more than $1 per acre.

POWER COMPANY WILL BUILD MORE RURAL ELECTRIC LINES

The Board of Directors of Alabama Power Company has approved construction expenditures of over eight million dollars for 1946 to be expended for improvements, replacements and extensions. Of this amount, over four million dollars will be for rural electric lines and associated facilities to be built in 1946. By the end of 1946 the Company hopes to have built approximately 3,200 miles of new rural electric lines. This figure includes those built the latter half of 1945.

ALABAMA TO USE BOWL DOUGH ON OWN STADIUM

Alabama will use some of the $124,000 it got from the Rose Bowl game to enlarge its own stadium at Tuscaloosa. It is hoped to add 7,000 more seats by next Fall.

The Tide has made a lot of money in post-season games and is steadily building up its own athletic plant. In time the Tide may schedule more games at home. It is building now to take care of the fans who will want to see Alabama at home. Most of its games have been played away.

CLARKE FORESTS NOW INCLUDED IN PROTECTED AREA PROGRAM

Clarke County has been added as a protected area in the State's forest protection program becoming a part of District 10, it was announced by State Forester J. M. Stauffer of the Department of Conservation's Division of Forestry. As soon as equipment is received — anticipated within the next 60 to 90 days — extensive fire protection will be in effect throughout the county.

Last year 43,496 farm women were members of Alabama's 1,361 home demonstration clubs. Cullman County had the biggest increase in new members with a gain of 260 over 1944 membership, giving a county total of 918. Other high gains: Calhoun 153, Pickens 146, Marshall 130, Geneva 122, Coffee 121 and Autauga 106.

Dr. Parrish Mule Clinic Schedule

We have been unable to have a clinic for two years owing to war conditions. Now medicine is available, gasoline is not rationed and the mules and horses have had nothing done for two years. They will need checking. All horses and mules that have had any knut flies after them will need a treatment, most of them need the teeth looked after. Colic in the mules and horses has been much worse for the two years. They have had no treatments. Some do not know that this tooth treating and medicine giving almost eliminates colic in stock but it does. Ask your neighbor who has tried it on his stock.

Have your horses fairly empty (with-out feed for 12 or 15 hours) for best results. The medicine will be 75 cents and the tooth work will be $1.00 per head—cash.

Bring your horse out if you have any doubt. We will be glad to check him without cost.

Following is some of the places and dates, tell your friends and advertise it at your public gatherings:

MONEY CAN BE MADE ON SERICEA PATCHES

With the demand for Lespedeza sericea seed greatly ahead of supply, Alabama farmers are turning to seed patches to increase their own acreages and furnish some seed for sale.

There are now more than 88,000 acres of sericea in the State, says J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist. "Farmers producing seed this year should have no trouble in finding a sale for seed next fall.

"Best times to plant seed are February 15 to April 1 in south Alabama and March 15 to May 1 in north Alabama."

Gov. Sparks has proclaimed the week of February 17-24 as "American Brotherhood Week," as part of a nationwide program sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. "In peace as in war we stand in need of the cooperation of all our people."

W. G. Shaw Writes To Voters

To the Republicans of Chilton County: I was born and raised a Republican. I grew to manhood under a Republican daddy who always stood for the freedom of voting, which has been the doctrine of the Republican Party all ways.

My father served you as County Commissioner for several years. He was elected by the Republican voters of the county. It has been my ambition for many years to hold the same office he held and to help carry on the ideals of free and representative government which he and other founders of the Republican Party started and kept up here in our good county. I have run for this office in the past, but have never been elected. I hold no ill will for the past, but I have hopes for the future, both for myself, individually, and for the Republican Party in our county.

Therefore, I am announcing as a candidate for the nomination for Commissioner of the First District in the Republican Primary of May 7th, 1946. Between now and the primary I hope to see every voter and discuss with you the important issues that face us as citizens of a great country and as voters whose obligation it is to guarantee good government in our country.

Now I want to say a word about the right of voters to go to the polls and choose their candidates and officers. All of you know that the Republican Party in Chilton County was founded upon the principle of the right and privilege of voters to go to the polls and vote their choice and convictions. Our party stood for that right and gave it to us when the other party would not do it.

I am reliably informed that the Republican committee of the county now plans to abolish the primary and have a convention to nominate candidates for office. I am not in favor of such a plan. That will, in my way of thinking, bring about a system of dictatorship somewhat like the kind our boys have fought down in Europe.

It is my firm conviction that the Republicans of Chilton County want to keep the right of free vote so they can go to the polls and nominate the men they want. That is the only way our party ever amounted to anything and it is the only hope for the future. Therefore, I am announcing myself as a candidate for Commissioner of the First District in a Republican Primary to be held May 7, 1946, the same day of the Democratic Primary. I will appreciate the vote and support of all who believe in the Republican Party, in what it has done in the past, and in what it may do in the future. I invite the young Republicans, many of them returned soldiers, to join with me in seeing that the rights given to us by our fathers shall be maintained.

Respectfully yours,
W. G. SHAW,
Jemison, Ala., Route 1.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

Peter Cartwright, a famous old Methodist preacher, was holding a camp meeting in Ohio, and too few sinners were coming to the altar. Early one morning he sent a young man up a tree on the camp grounds with a tin horn. At the preaching hour Cartwright delivered a sermon on the horrors of the lost, and while men shook like leaves on a tree, Cartwright shouted, "What if Gabriel should sound his trumpet this very minute?" On hearing this the young man in the tree top sounded a long blast on his tin horn, and pandemonium ran wild. Strong men groaned and women screamed. The preacher allowed the people to pray for a few moments and then he called for the young man to come down out of the tree with his tin horn. Then he turned upon the vast multitude and upbraided them for being scared at the sound of a tin horn, and warned them against that day when Gabriel would sound his trumpet. The sermon had great effect and hundreds were saved that day.

There is a pleasant story of a lawyer who was refused entrance into heaven by St. Peter. He stood before the gate keeper in silence for a moment, and then he lifted his hat and sailed it over the wall. Politely he addressed St. Peter, "Please, sir, if you will not let me into heaven, then just let me in to get my hat." He got in that way, and then he refused to come out. We are told that there is one lawyer in heaven. Be it known that lawyers, will not be the only class of people who will be scarce in heaven.

A man-eating lion troubled the construction crew as they built a road through the interior of India. Finally a watchman was put on guard, with a high-powered rifle, but one night the watchman fell asleep and the next morning he found his white bones found. Days later his white bones were found in a cavern where he had been carried and eaten by the lion. He went to sleep on his job of watching and while he slept the lion came and carried him away. Ah, my friends, you think that you can fail God in your place in the church, and all will be well. Not so. When you go to sleep, you not only endanger yourself, but you bring danger to all over whom you have an influence. God holds us responsible for our lives, and the lives of others.

CHILD VILLAGE PRE-SCHOOL AND NURSERY

Experts say that the young child needs plenty of vigorous outdoor play to develop his large muscles. As rapidly as possible the playground at Child Village will be equipped to provide this. The happiness and safety of the child will be the prime consideration. No formal school work will be offered but six-year-olds who were not six in time to attend school are invited. There will be story telling, games, singing and nature study.

Many parents will wish to send their children only three hours. The charge for this per week is $1.00, morning or afternoon. Four hours $1.25 per week. If you wish to send your child occasionally, the price is slightly higher for one morning or afternoon. After day care from 8 to 5 with well balanced noon meal is $3.00 per week.

Your are cordially invited to inspect Child Village and consult Mrs. Wilson. Any information will be given with pleasure.—Adv.

G. I. BENEFITS RECEIVED NOT TO BE DEDUCTED FROM FUTURE BENEFITS

World War II veterans who receive financial benefits under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 will NOT lose any portion of any future bonus because of the aid they receive.

In explaining miscellaneous provisions of the amended Servicemen's readjustment Act, M. E. Head, Alabama Regional Manager of the Veterans Administration, today explained that Congress had repealed that portion of the law which provided for deductions from any future bonus.

"This should remove any hesitancy on the part of veterans to apply for benefits to which they may be entitled," Mr. Head commented.

Another amendment is an special help to young men who enlisted in the English, Canadian, French or other Allied service. This new provision, Mr. Head said, makes eligible for benefits of the act anyone who served in the active military or naval service of an Allied government and who was a citizen of the United States when he entered this service. However, the veteran must be a citizen of the U.S. at the time he applies for the benefits and must not be receiving similar benefits from another nation.

Provision is made to insure ample authority for the Veterans Administration to procure prosthetic appliances for veterans and instruct them in the use of these appliances, including payment of any expense involved in the veteran's traveling to and from the center where the appliance is fitted and training given in its use.

The amended act makes permanent the authority of the Veterans Administration to obtain necessary space for administrative, clinical, medical, and out-patient treatment purposes by lease, purchase, construction, condemnation or declaration of taking. This authority previously was limited to six months after end of the war.

EARNEST L. SUNDBERG

Mr. Earnest Leon Sundberg, age 56, of Jemison Route 2, died suddenly Thursday at 1:45 p.m. while on a visit to a neighbor's home, Mr. Alton Glass. Funeral services were held Sunday at 11:30 a.m. from New Salem Church conducted by the Rev. Homer Carroll, assisted by the Rev. B. L. Northcutt; interment was in the church cemetery.

Proposed Cotton Ceilings

To avoid some misapprehension among cotton growers, resulting from an apparent misunderstanding of proposed ceiling prices for 1946 cotton crop, Mr. Sam J. Watkins, OPA District Director, clarified several points today.

Mr. Watkins quoted Chester Bowles, OPA Administrator, as saying that the proposed ceilings in the advance notice represent the legal minimum levels at which ceilings would be established if it became necessary later. The prices in the notice are the lowest ceiling prices that can be established, not the highest, he added.

Pointing out that the advance notice is only legal action required to be taken 15 days before the normal planting of a crop, Mr. Watkins quoted Mr. Bowles as saying, "It is sincerely hoped that a program of ceiling prices will be unnecessary after the beginning of the 1946 marketing year. If it becomes evident that the price of cotton is becoming stabilized because of improvement in supply or other reasons, no ceiling will be imposed."

Price action affecting agricultural products must be a joint decision of the Secretary of Agriculture and OPA. Mr. Watkins explained. Any ceiling imposed on cotton at a later date would require the approval of both agencies.

FREAK OF THE WEEK: SQUIRRELS DIE OF FRIGHT

Squirrel season is over, as every good hunter knows. But, last week we heard of a man out in the country who was out one day with his gun just rambling the woods. Suddenly two squirrels made a rustling noise. The farmer said: "You know what? I was so excited that the gun went off twice before I could think. And, believe it or not both squirrels dropped out just as dead as they could be."

"Uncle" Riley, 95, Celebrates Birthday

On Sunday, February 10th, a birthday dinner was given in honor of Uncle Riley Robinson, who was 95 years old Monday, February 11th. He is living in the same home which he and his wife, the late Savilla Ann Mims Robinson built some fifty odd years ago. He was made Superintendent of the Providence Baptist Church Sunday School some 55 years ago, which position he holds still today.

Among the things he loves most is his Sunday School and church. He attends every Sunday that he is able to go. He is among the first inhabitants of Clanton and Chilton County. He and his mother lived in a little log cabin where the Clanton First Baptist Church now stands. That was before Clanton's time. Chilton County was then known as Baker County.

At noon Uncle Riley made a very interesting talk which was enjoyed greatly by his guests. He told of his younger days when his family lived near Maplesville and about his father making him a pair of shoes out of cow hide leather; also of his pleasure in having his relatives and friends for dinner.

He received many nice gifts on this occasion. A delicious birthday cake was given him by a granddaughter, Mrs. Irene Mims.

He was especially glad to have his old friend, Judge J. Osmond Middleton, as his guest Sunday, as well as a host of children and grandchildren. Many more happy birthdays, Uncle Riley.

Union Cooperative Held Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Farmers Union Cooperative was held last Friday afternoon in the Co-op Basket Factory at Thorsby. Reports were made by officers and directors together with enthusiastic speeches by a number of the members.

The cooperative members received five percent interest on their investments. Two percent patronage refunds were made on purchases. Around $50,000 business was done during the past year in spite of the shortage of goods and other handicaps.

Amendments to the constitution were adopted including one, increasing the board to seven members. Including the new members, the board of directors is as follows: O. R. Robinson, R. A. Parker, Marvin Martin, Posey Cleecker, Monroe Foshee, O. V. Cost and Lorenzo Sanders.

The need for more capital was stressed by the directors. The stock of goods in the Clanton store should be doubled and include many other farm supplies. Only $435 has been invested in the basket enterprise but there is need for from two to ten thousand dollars. One of the speakers said: "Why should we farmers have hundreds of thousands of idle dollars in our Chilton County banks when it could be rolling in these enterprises that all of us need."

It was reported that ten years ago a group of farmers in the northern part of the State organized a cooperative fertilizer plant by investing $10,400. Its worth has now grown to $138,000 and in the ten years it has paid back to the farmers $151,000. It now has a seed cleaning plant and other services. It has a concrete block machine and is now employing 22 carpenters who are putting up buildings for the members.

Firearm Ordinance To Be Enforced

Mayor Leo Thompson issued orders to city officers Tuesday that any one violating the Ordinance prohibiting the shooting of firearms within the city limits be arrested.

The ordinance has not been rigidly enforced in the past and it has reached a point where the city officers must step in and see that the citizens are protected, said the Mayor.

The Mayor said further, "It is not only a violation of the law, but extremely dangerous. It has been reported to me that one lady had a bullet go through her hair so careless was the youth shooting at birds with his rifle."

The officers are on the alert and the penalty for violation of this ordinance is a fine as much as one-hundred dollars.

Perry Sorrell Has Well - Balanced Farm At Cooper, Ala.

Perry Sorrell of Cooper has made a fine club record in the seven years he has been in 4-H Club work. Since becoming a Club member, Perry has increased and added to his projects until he has a well balanced farm program.

Last year, Perry won a week's trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for the outstanding job he did in feeding out his 4-H beef calf. Perry fed out a 1,000-pound Shorthorn steer that was judged champion of the breed at the Birmingham 4-H Fat Stock Show. Including the trip to Chicago, Perry's steer brought more than $400.00 in return.

This year Perry is feeding out another beef calf and has added a purebred Jersey heifer to his 4-H projects. Perry's Jersey heifer should prove to be a very nice animal as her breeding is very outstanding.

In the past seven years Perry has planted a 4-H corn project every year. Last year he made an average corn yield of 45 bushels per acre. This year it is about three times the average corn yield for the State of Alabama.

This year Perry has vetch that will be turned and followed with corn. With the high corn yield that Perry has he plans to use a hybrid corn this year and try to raise his corn production even higher. In addition to his corn, beef and dairy project, he is giving serious thought to truck crops, especially tomatoes and hybrid sweet corn that will be sold on local markets.

Perry has done a fine job in club work and when better club work is being done you can bet that he will be there.

DO NOT FLY KITES NEAR POWER LINES!

Mr. T. L. Williams, District Manager of the Alabama Power Company here today asked boys and girls flying kites not to fly them across power lines. Mr. Williams emphasized that this was a dangerous practice which could result in injury or death if the kites or cords come in contact with the power lines under certain conditions. "The danger exists," said Mr. Williams, "with any kind of cord, but is increased many times if the cord has tinsel or any other metallic substance in it."

"Even if injury does not result, power service can be disrupted, resulting in inconvenience and annoyance to electricity users."

RURAL SCHOOL DESTROYED BY FIRE TUESDAY

Arrangements Being Made To Finish Present School Term

The Concord Junior High School, located three miles east of Clanton on the Higgins Ferry Road, was completely destroyed by fire last Tuesday afternoon about five o'clock.

The exact origin of the fire is unknown. D. P. Culp, Superintendent of Education, said from what he gathered it seemed the fire began in the attic. Eugene Gore, of the Clanton Volunteer Fire Department, said he heard the fire broke out in the rear of the building near the cook room.

According to Mr. Culp, all children and teachers had left the school about an hour before the fire was first discovered by neighbors.

The Clanton fire department went to the scene but was too late to save the building. Everything in the building was lost with the exception of a heater and a few chairs.

The school carried an enrollment of 211 pupils. Mr. Culp said that tentative plans were to put the children in nearby churches until another building could be erected. Also, Mr. Culp said that they were going to try and get some of the portable buildings from the CCC Camp and erect on the site to finish this term of school. Mr. W. T. Bean is Principal of the school.

Mr. Culp said the building was insured at the original building cost. "But, this will not near rebuild the school at present building costs," he concluded.

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

We do not believe that "good sportsmanship" is being shown at our local basketball games. Neither do we believe that our local boys are the ones who are showing "poor sportsmanship."

Last week the game ended in a "free-for-all" that did no credit to Clanton or our high school. We do not think that the boys of the local teams were to blame.

It would be terribly unfair to say that any player should take foul after foul from another player and not fight back or resent it. It isn't human nature to take too much pushing around. Even in business life one can take just so much pushing around and he starts resenting it. The fellow who would take too much pushing around, would not make a good player in the first place.

Still we have to admit, no matter who is to blame—Clanton and Chilton County High School gets the credit of being hard to get along with.

It isn't the fault of our local boys. It isn't the fault of our local coaches. Some people just can't take a licking without whining. We believe our opponents last week were that kind.

TORCH - BEARERS

It is often said that we who are alive today are better people because our ancestors lived before us.

So we are. All of us are better simply because each generation that has ever lived helps to carry forward a torch that blazes the way to more wisdom, tolerance and freedom.

Each generation receives a priceless gift from all those who came before. It is the accumulated knowledge and experiences of those who have passed on. And each generation, for its own part, adds something to that knowledge. Then it passes it on to its children, they to theirs, and so on through time everlasting.

Thus, every new-born child today has a head start over his parents. This head start takes many forms, added knowledge learned from never textbooks, greater opportunities in brand new fields of activity, and higher living standards that each year bring new conveniences into the reach of the average family.

Few of us realize that much of this has come about mainly because of paper. Few of us stop to think that the top quality pulpwood that is delivered to nearby pulpwood mills is the stuff upon which all of mankind has advanced from one generation to the next, from the dawn of history to the present time.

Each generation widens its knowledge, develops its newly found resources, finds new uses for paper. Today, for example the pulp and paper industry is expanding, even before reversion has become an accomplished fact, making room for new jobs, and through its war research, offering new pulpwood products to business and household markets.

Without paper, paperboard and other pulpwood products we would still be living in the dark ages.

NO — WE DIDN'T MEAN THAT

Friends of Judge J. Lee Smith have been calling our hand this week because of the front page make-up of last week's News. Seems that they misunderstood the pictures lined up across the top of the page. We had a County Commissioner on either side of Dr. W. L. Parrish, who is seeking the County Judgeship. They tried to construe the make-up to mean that the Commissioners were lined up with the doctor which of course wasn't intended by us at all. In making the front page of a newspaper, you don't do it with politics in mind, you try for balance and neatness—trying for a pleasing appearance. We don't always accomplish what we are after, but that certainly explains the make-up of last week's front page.

FOLKS & THINGS ABOUT TOWN

-By BEN

FEBRUARY 12th is Lincoln's Birthday. Here are a few lines taken from his Second Inaugural Address that fits mightily well in to the pattern of things in 1946: "With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphan, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

For a permanent that makes you swoon, go to the Modern Beauty Shop. The past week a young lady fell asleep under the drier and fell face forward into the floor. Now that is a permanent that is a permanent. A real advertising man could get a line from that, that would probably stop all competition. Anyway, the young lady got a little confused and embarrassed and decided that she would finish her own "hair-doo," and went home and combed her hair where if she chose to fall asleep she could at least do it in privacy. We're calling today for one of those permanents.

Building, building, building. That seems the order of the day in Clanton. New store buildings are going up on every side. Course it's just a rumor, but we are about it we will tell you what we heard: Clyde Mims Grocery will have a new home. It's already started. Also we understand, and of course this is just what we heard, Dr. J. L. Bennett will occupy new quarters in the near future. And while we are about it we will rumor this: The Carter Brothers are going to move. Don't get excited that's just a rumor too. But after all, we're not giving facts here we are just telling you what we heard. Auburn Jones is just about ready to go with his Upholstering Shop, Charlie Cox and McKinnie have already opened their place in South Clanton. We have heard that there will be a fine new building constructed in the "V" formed where Sixth Street runs into the Highway in South Clanton. Probably to be used as a new One-Stop Service Station. Wouldn't be surprised if a new building starts soon on the vacant lot across from the Thomason Hotel site. Wouldn't know but will probably be used as a garage of some sort. Understand there will be a new Picture Show built here soon. Think a fellow by the name of "Wade" will build it. Wonder what ever happened to the county buildings that were to occupy the corner below the County Jail and the lots behind it?

A party of boys were camping, and to avert annoying questions they made it a rule that the one who asked a question that he could not answer himself had to do the cooking and the camp chores. One evening while sitting around the camp fire, one of the boys asked: "Why is it that a ground squirrel never leaves any dirt at the mouth of its burrow?" They all guessed and missed. So he was asked to answer it himself. "Why," he said, "because it always starts to dig at the other end of the hole." "But," one asked, "how does it get to the other end of the hole?" "eWIL" was the reply "that's your question."

What would we do without these March winds that we worry so much about? While they are blowing we get "cyclone conscious" and wonder if they will grow and cause damage. But without them how would nature clean the trees of the old leaves and the lands of the accumulation of debris? "March Winds" are more a benefit to man than they are a bother. It is all in the way you look at it.

Sunshine is delicious. Rain is refreshing. Wind braces one up. Snow is exhilarating. There is really no such thing as bad weather—only different kinds of good weather.

You know if we had not had rumors this week we would have been in a bad fix for copy. The latest is that Durwood Broadhead could be a candidate to oppose J. A. Nivens for the office of Sheriff. Too, comes the rumor that John Elland might be a candidate for the same office. Just suppose both decided to run. That would make the Sheriff's race a three-way affair. What about the "Gentleman

From Jemison" who may be the "dark horse" in the race for Senator. Or could he have an eye for the Legislature. That would throw competition to Charlie Cox. Well, no matter how you figure it, it still adds up to one swell headache. If you hear anything, let me know.

We just learned why the ground hog didn't see his shadow the other week when he was supposed to come out. It wasn't that the sun wasn't shining, it was because of the housing shortage, he was afraid to come out—he was afraid he would lose his hole.

The wife has at last found a way to keep us at home. Monday morning she sent our last suit to the cleaners before we got up and when we hit the floor we had no pants to put on. Well, she thought she had taken care of that by laying out a pre-war outfit that we hadn't used for several years. But what do you think? That's right, we couldn't get into it. To make a long story longer, she had to sit herself down to the machine and rework a pair of trousers so that the guy that brings home the bacon, sometimes could get to work.

We are told that the other week Ed Edwards was enjoying the hospitality of the "Motes Boarding House." Especially did Ed like the coffee. Now comes Mrs. Ed Propst and tells that she, too, is enjoying their hospitality and their coffee. But, remarks Mrs. Propst, "Thank goodness, I am enjoying it from the outside." The Propst are staying with the Motes until they get possession of a home they have purchased here.

During the week ending January 12 farmers in Bullock County sold 20,000 bushels of sweetpotatoes from storage. Prices were from $2 to $6 per 100 pounds.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

I was teaching a group of boys in a Sunday School class and was having them to read the Scripture lesson. One little boy started out reading his verse, "Now Daniel had an excellent spine in him." "Hold on a minute," said I, "that is not spine, but spirit." Then on second thought I told the boy to proceed, as it made good Bible any way. In reality that is what Daniel had. It took an excellent spine for Daniel to purpose in his heart that he would not defile himself with the meat of the king's table. It takes a good backbone to enable any one to stand up against the temptations of a wicked age. All of God's people need an excellent spine.

As our boys come home from overseas, we meet more and more the badges of honor won in army life. There are medals with ribbons, medals without ribbons and ribbons without medals. There are buttons; big buttons, and little buttons; silk buttons and metal buttons. There are pins, gold and silver and plated, every imaginable kind of pin. These are worn by men and women, old and young. All alike take delight in showing the badges of honor won on the field of conflict. They are not ashamed of the cause for which they fought and not ashamed of the flag that they followed. And yet, there are many persons who seem to be ashamed of their church, and who blush and stammer when they are called upon to confess their Lord and Christ. I confess to you that I had much rather wear the Cross in my heart, than to wear a

A plentiful supply of eggs is the present outlook for spring, and it may be well to think of the various needs they fill. Some of these are: To thicken custard or sauce, to lighten a soufflé or cake, and for mayonnaise made at home. Specialists suggest using egg whites to make cloudy soups clear, or an egg shell with some of the white still clinging to "settle" muddy coffee.

MAPLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

February 5th, Mapleville school's A and B basketball teams played Centerville's A and B teams. The scores were 32-28 for the A team in favor of Centerville, and 21-13 for the B team in favor of Centerville.

February 8th, Isabella's A and B teams played Mapleville's A and B teams. Isabella won both games. The players really played good. Harold Walker of the A team was unable to play in the game with Isabella. The boys played Centerville without two of our best players.

We are planning to have all the players ready for our other games to prove that they work together when all are there to work. We wish Harold good luck in recovering from a foot injury received at Centerville.

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Montgomery, Ala. — The 69 diphtheria cases reported from the entire State in December included three occurring in Chilton County, the State Department of Health announced today.

The State total failed by 47 to equal that for the previous month and represents a decline of one case from the total for December, 1944.

medal on my coat.

I have just read in the morning paper of a boy 19 years of age who was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. His picture showed him to be supported by crutches, having had a limb blown from his body in his last attempt in robbing a safe. This boy had been before the courts before, and the kind hearted judge had given him a chance to reform. He failed those who tried him, and now he must serve his sentence. It is love and mercy that gives to you a second chance when you have gone wrong, but hear me, when you trample these under your foot, you may expect justice to be measured out to you. Love and mercy are the two best 'friends' that we have in this world. Beware how you trample them.

The total number of all cattle on farms in Alabama reached an all-time peak of 1,268,000 in 1945.

NOT According To Plan

OUR PLANS for 1946 included getting electric service to approximately 2500 new electric customers per month. The best we are able to do under existing conditions is to connect about 1800 per month. The number connected will be even fewer if necessary equipment and materials are not received and we are unable to get the skilled men necessary to build them into lines, substations and other facilities.

If you are among the many persons who have applied for, but have not received, electric service, you are entitled to know why. Here are the reasons:

1. We need more men with special skills. Five hundred of our employees are still in military service.
2. We have received only a few of the many trucks and cars ordered months ago, but not nearly enough for a construction program of the size we have planned. The delivery of suitable construction trucks and other needed automotive equipment has been stopped by strikes.
3. Much electrical equipment and material is necessary for a construction program of this size. A considerable part of it was ordered over a year ago, and all of it was ordered months in advance. Strikes and other conditions over which we have no control have prevented or delayed the delivery of much of this equipment. Even if factory conditions improve, increased delivery of materials and equipment cannot start for some weeks—months in some cases.

The return of some of our engineers from military service has made it possible for us to increase our engineering staff, although we are still short. As additional skilled employees are released from military service, they will be re-employed. However, without adequate deliveries of equipment, material and supplies, we can't extend service to as many customers per month as we had planned, nor can we employ as many persons as we would need.

We are as eager to get your business as you are to use electricity, and will do everything possible to get our service to you as soon as conditions will permit.

Grammar School Students Make Trip To Water Plant

OUR VISIT TO THE WATER PLANT

While we were studying water in health class, many questions came up about our water supply. We began to look up more about water in our encyclopedias, in other health books, and in a few science books. Later, we wrote letters to Mr. Thompson asking for permission to visit our City water plant. He gave us permission to go.

At last a very beautiful day came. We had made preparations to go, so we left about 10:30. As we passed along the streets a little squirrel was sitting in a nearby tree. Later we saw two little puppies in a yard playing with some paper. They seemed as happy and frolicsome as we.

We reached the plant. Mr. Blalock was introduced to us by Pat Huddleston, one of our classmates. Mr. Blalock was very kind to us. He explained all the things over there. We found out how many gallons of water are in each tank and we saw the filters. Everything was very interesting.

When we returned to school we either wrote a story, made a poem, or made a picture. Then we wrote letters thanking Mr. Blalock for his kindness.—Josephine Cieckler.

A TRIP

It was a beautiful sunny day, and everyone was eager to play. We had to be careful crossing the street.

Because we didn't have a police. We finally arrived at the water plant. That's built on the highway near a slant.

Mr. Blalock was very kind to our class, and we were thrilled to the very last.

Now we're back at school with our books, and I wish you could see how everyone looks!

—PEGGY POPWELL.

OUR TRIP TO THE WATER PLANT

One bright and sunny winter day, we decided to go away.

(Away from school, of course, I mean) Such preparations you've never seen! We wrote the Mayor of the town. We hoped and prayed he wouldn't frown.

Of course he didn't, so you see how all of this came to be.

At last there came the happy day. We all had said we wouldn't play or even try to take a dip.

While we were out upon this trip. Away we went, merry as could be. Trying to see all there was to see.

We met a man, Blalock by name, Who made the works seem very plain.

When we returned all was the same, Except for the knowledge which we had gained.

Now that's what happened on the day After we decided to go away.

—LENORE OGLESBY.

OUR TRIP TO THE WATER PLANT

One nice, crisp, cool morning recently, we decided it would be just the day for our trip to the water plant. Squads were formed and soon we were on our way.

When we reached the plant, Pat Huddleston introduced us. Mr. Blalock asked us to come in. Once inside we saw a maze of pipes and valves. Upstairs we saw the filters. Our class learned many things about water.

After everyone had seen the filters, Jimmy Bousinger began to ask the questions we wanted answered. Mr. Blalock answered them for us.

After the questions were answered, luck.—Dick Kemp.

Don't wait too long before you come in and have your tires capped and repaired, for you can't find new ones.

We will give you the best of service. If you need truck tires, come in and get a Hood Tire—its a good tire. We have it in—

Will Support Present State Merit System

HANDY ELLIS

Handy Ellis, candidate for Governor, announced in Montgomery Thursday at a state-wide meeting of his campaign leaders that he would unreservedly support the state merit system and lead the fight against any effort that may be made by any faction to destroy or impair it. He praised the manner in which the merit system has been administered and declared that it had made an outstanding contribution to good government in Alabama and must continue to be kept free from any political controls or pressure.

Mr. Ellis told his campaign leaders that the platform he would soon present to Alabama citizens would deal fully and forthrightly with every campaign issue.

"My campaign platform will leave no room for doubt about where I stand," Mr. Ellis said in his informal talk to his campaign leaders. "You may depend on it that I will enter into no back-stage agreements with any group or individual in Alabama. Secret covenants will have no place in my campaign. Voters are entitled to know the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth concerning the position of a candidate for Governor of Alabama."

In his statement to supporters on the state merit system, Mr. Ellis said: "When the merit system was proposed for our state government I did not favor it. I feared it might take government out of the hands of elected officers and so make it difficult for them to direct state employees. I also questioned whether it could be kept free from political manipulation by those who might seek to use it for selfish ends."

"As a member of the legislature and as Lieutenant Governor, I have had the opportunity to watch the working of the merit system since it became a part of our state government. I have become convinced that our merit system has made an outstanding contribution to good government in Alabama. It has brought into the employ of our state, men and women qualified to fill positions in our government. It has secured these state employees in their jobs. It has provided a system of promotion based on merit. It has opened the way for service to the state by career men, who would not have taken state jobs without the security that the merit system afforded them."

"The merit system in our state government has been honestly and efficiently administered. It has been and must continue to be, kept free from political pressures. As Governor of Alabama, I shall unreservedly support the merit system and lead the fight against any effort that may be made by any faction to impair or destroy it."

Lieutenant Colonel Collins Cameron, field representative of the Victory Clothing Drive, reports fine progress being made in clothing collections in Alabama.

City police departments and other agencies including the Military Police, accounted for 50 of the total number and sheriffs' offices listed six vehicles returned.

All are invited to help bring in children and adults. The evening worship service at 6:30 is for every one even though it is led by young people, whose messages are often more forceful than some sermons.

At seven o'clock the young people go to the Fellowship Room for their regular discussion of the high road topics. Dear Joe . . .

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

Chilton County has no Chamber of Commerce to boost its beyond its border lines. If it did have there is plenty it might boost about. But, to the returned GI's and the ones still in uniform, Chilton County does not have to do any boosting.

When we were overseas sweating it out, we had ambitions to write one big headline: "HOME." Then we were going to enumerate the thousands of big and infinitesimal things that make "Home" the most wonderful place on earth. But, after being home a while everything to us became more or less as it was before leaving: Kindly matter-of-factly.

If you are still over there, you probably have New York or San Francisco or Seattle pictured as your ultimate destination — "Brother, when I get there I will be home"—that's what I said. You are not home there. That is not Chilton County. Although, when you put it all together—the calm, the beauty, the distasteful, the rich, the poor, the hustle and the frenzied—then it is the same: "Home."

It is practically impossible to find a definition for that little four-letter word that means so much. You might say that sitting with your feet under "Mama's" table is home. We guess that is as close to home as anyone could ask to be.

But, you'll know you are home when you can:

See children—clean, neatly dressed and healthy—hurry along to school with a few books and a mouthful of chewing gum. And when Junior slides up to "daddy" and says, "daddy, can I have a nickel?"

Drive under a filling station and say, "fill'er up."

Buy a bag of popcorn and sit in a cushion-seat and see a movie in a theatre where "smoking is prohibited" and where they don't stop mid-way the show to change reels.

You'll be home when you can see: The paper boy on his bike heave the evening paper your way.

Hear the milkman rattle a few bottles or hear a chicken cackle or rooster crow.

You'll be home when you can sleep as late as you wish (no reveille) and when you don't have to have a pass from the "Old Man" to go out and pick up that date.

You are home when you can drive to Montgomery and pick up a hot dog rather than buy one in Clanton.

When you can drive on a highway on the right side of the road instead of the left and where there is a yellow streak to drive by.

You are home when you can pick up the telephone and call across country in just a few minutes or when you can call the laundry to come get those dirty clothes.

And, it seems awfully like home when you can sit in a barber shop and hear all those yawns on each other and last week's hunting trip.

That's home—the American way to us. Any better definition you can think of would will be appreciated.

Last week we mentioned a song we had heard. Title: "You Should Have Seen Gramma When She Put Her Teeth in Upside Down." Erby Popwell, Popwell Music Company, says the song is not distributed by him. He is right. It is not. We heard it over the radio. Our amends. . .

YOUNG LADIES OF CHILTON COUNTY MAKE HONOR ROLL

Among those receiving grades high enough to place them on the honor roll at Alabama College for the first semester from Chilton County are: Kathryn Bryan, Mavis Powell of Clanton, and Howard Nell Smith of Maplesville.

Around Isabella Hi

Hi, folks! We are back again with more happenings and things around here.

Seems like we lost both ball games last Tuesday night with Marbury. We played Maplesville Friday evening at Maplesville and won both games over there. Sometimes we lose and sometimes we win, so just keep playing ball boys.

Well, guess last Friday was visiting day at Isabella, or it looked that way, for there were students and more students coming in from every direction. City buses from Clanton was bringing them in by the bus loads.

The X-ray bus was here making X-rays. We want to thank all the visitors for their good behavior during their stay, and especially do we thank the ladies and the man who had charge of the work, for the interest they have for our health.

Mr. Culp, our Superintendent, visited our school Friday afternoon. Was glad to have him and invite him to visit more often.

We have had some work done on our heating system and maybe we can keep everybody warm and comfortable these cold days. We hope so anyway.

This'n That

Everybody is still talking about the party last Wednesday night at Imogene Williams'. It seems everyone strictly had a good time.

Wonder if Mr. Turner will find the owner for the lost red and white mitten. Good luck, Mr. Turner.

We welcome the new students to I.H.S. We are always glad to have new ones.

Seems as if Flora Dell and Joe Earl are making progress. Eh, Joe!

John Will Owens seems to get along fine around I.H.S. How about it, John?

We hope Miss Sessions a speedy recovery and hope she will soon be back at school.

Miss Tomera Williams, who is substituting for Miss Sessions, seems to make kids scat.

What about the chapel program last Thursday. That was I-T, wasn't it? Good actors, don't ye agree?

Raymond Whaley is certainly the life of a party. What about it, gang?

We are glad to see Raymond Willson back at school. He has been sick.

Can you imagine Miss Baker play the piano and Mrs. Brown singing; or Miss Langston coaching volleyball and Mrs. Yielding washing dishes.

So long, be seeing you next week. —H. C. Gray.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Among those farmers having complete soil conservation farm plans made on their farms within the last few days was Mr. J. D. Haggard of Maplesville.

Mr. Haggard has on his farm a planting of kudzu which was made approximately 10 years ago on a small thin upland portion of his farm. In addition to cutting a good crop of hay from this area each year since its establishment he has obtained some summer grazing plus keeping this area from becoming washed and eroded. Also from this area Mr. Haggard has dug and sold some kudzu crowns.

In one year he dug and sold approximately 40,000 crowns. The normal price for kudzu crowns at this time is about $10.00 per thousand.

Last year Mr. Haggard took a very small portion of this same kudzu area and planted it to corn allowing the kudzu to re-establish itself in the corn after planting. He estimates the corn yield from this area averaged at least one-fourth more per acre than did any other area on his farm and without the aid of commercial fertilizer. This Spring Mr. Haggard plans to broadcast and disc in an application of basic slag to this kudzu area at the rate of 600 to 800 pounds per acre in order to replenish his stand and help control some weeds which are appearing in spots.

One of the other soil conserving practices which Mr. Haggard plans to establish on his farm within the next three to four years is a permanent pasture with sericea lespedeza planted joining his pasture on some upland thin land to be used to empty his terraces into and to be used for late Summer grazing when his pasture would normally be low and depleted.

The above practices can be established on practically every farm in Chilton County with a minimum amount of cost and labor. Consult your county agent or soil conservationist for any particulars.

AAUW ASKS ACTION ON LOAN TO BRITAIN

Speedy and favorable action by Congress on the proposed United States loan to Great Britain was urged by the American Association of University Women in a letter, made public today, to majority and minority leaders of both houses. The petition was signed by Dr. Louise Pearce of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, chairman of the AAUW national Committee on International Relations, Dr. Mabel Newcomer, Head of the Department of Economics at Vassar College and chairman of the AAUW Social Studies Committee, and Dr. Bessie C. Randolph, President of Hollins College, Hollins, Va., chairman of the National Legislative Committee.

Speaking for some 80,000 AAUW members in 930 branches, these national committee chairmen endorse the loan as in line with the Association's Legislative program, adopted by its 1945 convention, which include support of legislation for "the promotion of inter-national economic cooperation and reconstruction, the expansion of world trade, and the development of world resources."

They based their endorsement of the British loan on the urgent need for good monetary relationships between Great Britain and the United States, to prevent the world from breaking up into competing economic blocks based on the currencies used in various areas: The dollar in the Western Hemisphere, the pound in the British Commonwealth and Western Europe, the ruble in Russia and her satellite countries. Noting that the loan is a vital part of the Anglo-American agreements negotiated last December, they pointed out that these agreements would foster trade relations of advantage to the United States as well as England. Exchange controls which have required that U. S. exporters to countries in the sterling area spend their profits only in those countries where the British pound is the medium of exchange, would be abolished. The British would also agree to terminate promptly the Empire-preference arrangements which give the British Dominions of preference over other countries in trade with England and with each other.

FACTS ABOUT THE MINIMUM WAGE BILL

SENATE BILL 1349. Introduced by Senator Pepper (Fla.) and nine other Democratic senators. High on President Truman's list of "must" legislation.

PRESENT STATUS. Favorably reported by the Senate Committee on Education and Labor; awaits action by Senate. Similar bills, H. R. 3336 by Rep. Price (Dem., Ill.), and H. R. 3840 by Rep. Hook (Dem., Mich.), await action by House Labor Committee.

PROVISIONS. Would raise legal minimum wage from present level of 40c to 65c; after 2 years would raise minimum to 70c, and after 4 years to 75c. Would also cover more workers than the present law.

WHO WOULD BENEFIT DIRECTLY? About 4,000,000 low-paid workers engaged in interstate commerce, including agricultural processing workers. The 65c minimum would mean a guaranteed income of $1,350 a year for those employed a full year. Even this is $300 less than the amount needed to support a family of 4 on a minimum standard of health and decency.

INDIRECT BENEFITS OF THE BILL:

1. Maintenance of take-home pay that has been drastically cut by loss of overtime and higher wartime wage rates;
2. Increased sales for industry and agriculture. Farmers would benefit especially, since low-income families spend more than 40% of their money for food.
3. Lower taxes through reduction in—

Slums, crime, and juvenile delinquency.

Sickness and death rates; Relief and dependency payments.

EFFECT ON PRICES. OPA Administrator Chester Bowles says, "There need be no hesitation on any one's part because of the price consequences of this legislation." In most instances, industry could easily absorb the increases. In a few cases, slight price rises might be necessary. The long-run effect would be to reduce prices through increases in labor efficiency and productivity.

Dr. Parrish Mule Clinic Schedule

We have been unable to have a clinic for two years owing to war conditions. Now medicine is available and horses have had nothing done for two years. They will need checking. All horses and mules that have had any kind of colic after them will need a treatment, most of them need the teeth looked after. Colic in the mules and horses has been much worse for the two years. They have had no treatments. Some do not know that this tooth treating and medicine using almost eliminates colic in stock but it does. Ask your neighbor who has tried it on his stock.

Have your horses fairly empty (without feed for 12 or 15 hours) for best results. The medicine will be 75 cents and the tooth work will be $1.00 per head—cash.

Bring your horse out if you have any doubt. We will be glad to check him without cost.

FARLEY - WILLIAMS RITES SOLEMNIZED

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Horace G. Williams in University Circle was the scene Tuesday evening, January 29th, of the wedding of Evelyn Janette Farley, of Montgomery, and Dan S. Williams, lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

An altar was arranged with ferns, palms and baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Cathedral candles in branched candelabras were lighted by Miss Lucille Raspberry, of Montgomery.

Before the ceremony, Miss Edith Humphrey, pianist, played "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me," and William Stevens sang, "Because." The traditional wedding marches were used.

Mrs. Margaret Wright, of Montgomery, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a costume of aqua crepe, with brown accessories, and her flowers were pink carnations in a corsage.

The bride was lovely in a spring model of platinum gray, with accessories in woodland brown. Her flowers were white carnations and carnations in a shoulder corsage. She was given in marriage by Major C. E. Edgerton, of Montgomery.

Captain LaMar Hubbs served Lt. Williams as best man. Dr. Williams officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

After the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Williams entertained with an informal reception. Receiving with them was the bride's mother, Mrs. Ruby Smith. The lace-covered table was centered with the bride's cake and decorated with white flowers and tall white tapers. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Charles Barnes, Mrs. J. D. Williams and Mrs. William Stevens. With Mrs. James Roberts and Miss Grace Bishop at the punch table. Mrs. Bill Williams presided over the Bride's Book.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Smith, of Clanton, Ala. For the past two years she has held a government position in Montgomery.

The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Williams, who have spent many years as missionaries in China. He received his education in the University of Alabama and since that time has served with the U. S. Marine Corps in the Pacific theatre of war from which he lately returned.

Lt. and Mrs. Williams left Wednesday for a brief visit with the groom's mother in Richmond, Va., his father having already returned to China. The young couple will spend a few months in New York City, after which they will be located in China, where Lt. Williams will hold a responsible position with the American Express Company.

Buying books for their youngsters often presents a bewildering problem to parents. There are so many and such varied kinds on display in the stores. Sympathetic specialists have come to the rescue and suggest something like this:

For a two-year old get picture books which objects he knows, such as airplanes, engine, cars and other children. Four-year-olds generally like stories about things that are happening around them every day. Fairy tales and tales of achievement are right for seven, eight or nine-year old.

Members of the A-Club, Auburn's athletic fraternity, announced that A-Day will be held March 9th, with many sports and cents taking place.

The interesting program includes a football game between the Orange and Blue, pie-eating contest, greasy pig chase, sack race, tug-of-war, and many other interesting features including the crowning of the A-Day Queen.

Washing and rinsing dishes under running water is extravagant, and especially so where hot water supplies may be limited. Use a hot suds bath in a dishpan—then rinse the dishes all at once.

PLACED 429,000 PERSONS IN FOUR MONTHS

With the stepped-up rate of discharged of service men, and manpower readjustments in industry, the U. S. Employment Service in Alabama has placed 429,000 persons on jobs in the four months, September through December, since V-J Day, Ernest L. Marbury, State Director of USES, announced today.

Of that total, 9,000 represent veterans placed in civilian employment.

The volume of visitors to Alabama's USES offices skyrocketed in 1945 to an all-time high—annual total of over 1,524,000. This figure, Mr. Marbury pointed out, means a monthly average of 127,000 USES callers seeking jobs, information, or other special services. December hit the peak for the year, with a record of 237,393 for the volume of callers.

The number of veterans filing applications for employment climbed to a monthly average of 8,800 after the war's end, an increase of 4,200 over the monthly average of 4,600 for the months of 1945 before V-J Day.

Mr. Marbury pointed out that employment adjustments of veterans, displaced workers, the physically handicapped, and others in a free labor market present challenges as important and far-reaching as those of the war months.

"With the goal of reconversion aimed at full employment," he said, "These adjustments, while national in character and range, must be accomplished also through the vision and action of individual communities."

Employers, civic organizations, and planning groups are gearing especially to expand job opportunities for veterans. Indicative of the value of such planning and action, Mr. Marbury emphasized, is the fact that, through employer cooperation, the Employment Service in Alabama in 1945 led the Six Southern States in this region in the job placement of handicapped veterans.

1946 FARM INCOME MAY BE LOWER IN ALABAMA

Farming in Alabama in 1946 will not be quite as profitable as it was in 1945.

This is the conclusion of B. F. Alvord and Foy Helms, agricultural economists, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, after studying the present agricultural situation and the outlook for 1946.

Demands, however, will remain fairly high; price supports will operate if needed; and costs in general will not be much higher, they say in reporting that "the picture for 1946 seems fairly optimistic."

"Yet, in the situation are certain trends and factors that are less optimistic," they continue. "Specifically, two of these are the basic cotton situation and the rising level of land values. The nature of these is such that although their effects will be practically unnoticed in 1946, eventually the burden of the problems will be felt by all Alabama farmers."

"Thus, the fairly optimistic picture for 1946 should not lull the Alabama farmer into a feeling of false security. The year 1946 is the time to begin looking and planning in regard to farming operations a few years in the future."

Cotton yields in Alabama have been rising over the years. From 1929-33 average yield was 187 pounds per acre; 1934-38, 243 pounds, and the past five years, 285 pounds. The two highest years were 1944 with 339 pounds per acre and last year with 321 pounds.

1945 Milk Prices To Continue

Replying to inquiries of many dairymen, OPA State Director, Sam J. Watkins, said today that OPA had been advised by Stabilization Director, John C. Collett, that "the general level of returns to milk producers would be maintained through 1946 at the 1945 levels."

If present subsidies should expire without renewal on March 31, then Collett's office would authorize price increases to assure the approximate return now enjoyed by the industry, Mr. Watkins declared.

The OPA official pointed out, however, that it is administration policy to discontinue subsidy payments and allow price increases only when there is a compensating drop in prices of other essential items, so that the general cost of living will not be increased by the cancellation of subsidies.

White Shirt Tale

Sam J. Watkins, OPA State Director today discounted rumors that some shirt manufacturers have "tremendous" stocks of men's high priced shirts on hand that they are unable to market legally because of OPA maximum average price rulings.

Pointing out that a very small percentage of shirt manufacturers have let themselves get into difficulty over the maximum average price program, Mr. Watkins explained the only reason a small minority of firms cannot legally ship some of their higher priced shirts produced in 1945 is that they have been "careless or deliberately failed to comply with the maximum average price regulation."

The overwhelming majority of the firms in the industry have complied and are shipping all the shirts they make at a profit he said. The earnings of the industry as a whole are at record levels.

OPA has from time to time made adjustments to make allowances for current conditions, Mr. Watkins said. A relatively small number of manufacturers have gone above their OPA because of reasons beyond their control.

Mr. Watkins laid the shirt situation to a combination of three elements: The time needed to get civilian shirting back into normal production, labor shortages, and a double of normal demand. Where price actions can stimulate production OPA has made these adjustments, he said, but "merely-raising prices will not relieve basic textile and labor shortages. It will take time to bring shirt supplies back in line with the tremendous demand."

Sugar Price Up

Consumers will hereafter pay about one-half cent a pound more for sugar, OPA State Director Sam J. Watkins said today.

This advance is due to the increased price of sugar coming in from Cuba, Mr. Watkins explained. Since Cuba is our chief source of supply, this increase is necessary to assure a continued flow of raw cane sugar to the United States, he added.

More than 333,000 automobiles, trucks, taxicabs, trailers, motorcycles, etc., bought licenses during the first three months of the current fiscal year in Alabama. This was an increase of 7,000, with the biggest gain showing in trucks. Hearse-ambulances decreased by 19; and bus licenses dropped 44.

A total of 9,155 telephone instruments, formerly used by the Army in the Fourth Service Command, have been released to date and returned to civilian use in the reconversion program, Colonel Francis J. Magee, Signal Officer, said today.

Clanton Lady Spit

Up Acid Liquids For Hours After Eating

For hours after every meal, a Clanton lady used to spit up a strong, scidulous liquid mixed with pieces of half-digested food. She says it was awful. At times she would nearly strangle. She had stomach bloating, daily headaches and constant irregular bowel action. Today, this lady eats her meals and enjoys them. And she says the change is due to taking INNER-AID. Her food agrees with her.

No gas, bloating or spitting up after eating. She is also free of headaches now, and bowels are regular, thanks to this Remarkable New Compound.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County—Adv.

It's Time To Think About Bigger and Better Gardens

ONE OF THE OLDEST CLOWNS LIVING VISITED CLANTON LAST WEEK

(By Essie White)

Donald "Dad" Cavilla, age 97, one of the oldest clowns living, came by the office of the Chilton County News recently to see us. "Dad" has had quite an interesting life and he showed us his scrap book that he has been keeping since he has been in the show business. Ringling Brothers have featured "Dad" in their circus for 17 years. His main act is playing his "one man band." Dad plays the banjo and is one of the funniest clowns in this country. He is just as active today as he was 17 years ago when he began his career clowning.

"Dad" comes from a fine family of Charleston, S. C. His mother was the youngest sister of the famous John C. Calhoun and his father was Donald Cavilla, M.D., of Charleston. "Dad" went to the South Carolina State Medical College and was graduated from that college. But one day as he was viewing the billboards of a circus, a man asked him if he would like to see the show. "So, "Dad" went in to see the circus. After the show the man asked "Dad" how he liked the circus and he answered, "Shucks, they can't do anything that I couldn't do." So then and there he started his career as a clown... and has been one up until now at the age of 97. The reason "Dad" was in Clanton is because he plays schools during the winter quarters in Florida. He was booked for the Verbeena high school Monday at 2 o'clock. In his scrap book he had quite a collection of letters of recommendation from the Principals of the schools that he has played and from presidents of civic clubs for whom he gave his act. "Dad" is quite a nice old gentleman without his make-up and clown suit. He is a regular guy and his fellow trouper says he is swell to work with.

"Dad" has invited us to come to see him backstage when he plays in Birmingham next Fall.

Points On Fertilization, Planting Methods, Cultivation Given By Gardner

With Spring only a few weeks away, Chilton County farmers are beginning their garden work for the coming Spring.

County farmers are breaking lands, securing seeds, planning fertilization and making schedules.

Some pointers on better gardening were handed out this week by W. A. Ruffin, extension gardener at Auburn. Mr. Ruffin says:

"Gardens need to be cleaned out now. Old stakes should be removed, last year's vines chopped up, and grass and weeds left on the land — never burned."

"Next, broadcast eight to ten two-horse wagon loads of stable manure on the average garden—about one-half acre. Most gardens are improving by using, at the time of manuring, 1,000 pounds of basic slag or ground limestone. The latter is of particular benefit to most vegetables grown on sandy soils. Then turn soil to a depth of six to eight inches and level with a disc, harrow or drag."

"For early plantings lay off several rows and two weeks before planting put down 10 pounds of 4-10-7 or 6-8-4 fertilizer to each 100-foot row. There are, however, certain vegetables which should be planted now in the southern half of the state and the two-week waiting period cannot be observed. These vegetables are beets, carrots, English peas, radishes, lettuce, a mixture of turnips and mustards, cabbage plants, and onion plants or sets. In the northern half of the state, plantings of these should be made during the latter part of February," said Mr. Ruffin.

Duck Shoots Man, Wacky Accident Of Past Year

Big things happened in 1945. The year ended. The atom bomb burst. And Mr. Bonner was shot by a duck. Mr. Bonner is Stanley J. Bonner of Houston, Texas, as every duck now knows. On a fine October day he grabbed his trusty automatic pistol and ventured out into the back yard to shoot a couple of domestic ducks. Duck No. 1 fell at the first shot. But Duck No. 2, a more aggressive type, jumped at Mr. Bonner, jared his arm and caused the gun to go off. The bullet hit Mr. Bonner in the knee. The duck? Still alive and sassy.

Wacky? Sure. But no wackier than a lot of other odd accidents that happened in 1945. For a roundup by the National Safety Council reveals that come war, come peace, people go on having the darnedest things happen to them. To-wit:

Mrs. Edward Comfort of Brooklyn was driving through Virginia, her 15-month-old baby riding beside her in a basket strapped to the seat of the car. The child suddenly stopped contentedly drinking milk out of a nursing bottle, swung the bottle lustily and yanked Mrs. Comfort neatly on the head. Dazed, she let go the wheel and the car overturned in a ditch. Neither mother nor baby was hurt.

Not so allergic to a thump on the head is Charles Anderson, a hardy resident of Los Angeles. He was repairing a wall one day when a concrete block fell from a fourth-story scaffold and hit him smack on the head. He reeled into the street, just in time to be struck down by Police-man Jess Haene's motorcycle. He recovered satisfactorily from both accidents.

One of life's little mysteries to doctors and economists came when 17-month-old Larry Lingle of Harrisburg, Pa., swallowed a nickel and coughed up a penny.

Every year someone lets a train pass over him without serious results. In 1945 it was Jesse Spitzer, of Denver. Mr. Spitzer did it the hard way by throwing himself an auto accident, then he threw him through the roof of his car and landed him on his back in the middle of the track just as the train came along. Mr. Spitzer lay quietly and securely until the engine and long line of freight cars had roared over him, then found he had broken a leg—the auto accident.

Just to prove that America hasn't gotten on freak accidents, a wind storm in North Adelaide, Australia, blew a deliveryman's horse into running away, but also blew the deliveryman ahead of the horse in time to stop it.

Black in America, a mouse ran up steering wheel of an automobile driven by Hollis Lee Randolph, of Orange, Calif. Mr. Randolph, who wouldn't have been more startled had been an elephant, lost control of his car, ran it into a ditch and turned it right. Neither he nor the mouse was hurt.

Most farsighted plunger of the year is James Hearn of Seattle, who fell five floors down an air shaft to land safely in an easy chair. — (By Paul Jones, National Safety Council).

Mrs. T. I. Ward of Birmingham, former member of the local organization led the prayer service. Members drew for names of rosebuds, the identity of whom will be revealed at the annual "Rosebud Tea." PLANTED PINES 13 YEARS OLD AND THINNED FOR PULPWOOD
Thousands of acres of worn out farm land can be made as profitable as this plantation in Mississippi. In 13 years it grew 26 cords per acre or at the rate of 2 cords per acre per year. Properly thinned for pulpwood it yielded 7 cords per acre permitting the remaining 19 cords to grow into higher quality products at a growth rate in excess of 2 cords per acre per year. The pulp and paper industry through the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association recommends planting of pines for profit on abandoned lands.

"Methodist Hour" To Be Heard Over Networks

DR. WILLIAM F. QUILLIAN

The first South-wide radio broadcast of "The Methodist Hour" will be heard from Maryland to Texas, from Florida to the Middle West, Sunday morning, February 17th, at 10:00 a.m. Bishop Clara Purcell, president of the college of bishops of the Southeastern Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, speaks over an independent network of 36 stations. This program originates from WSB in Atlanta and is carried by radio stations in fifteen southern and western states.

Dr. William F. Quillian, Executive Secretary of the Southeastern Jurisdictional Council of the Methodist Church, announces that other "Methodist Hour" programs will be heard during May and June. "This broadcast by the Council is in cooperation with the South Central Jurisdictional Council and the Upper Room. The Council is a member of the Southern Religious Radio Conference, which is composed of the radio committees of the Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist churches and representatives of certain radio stations.

Bishop Percell will speak on "The Church That Is To Be." He is resident Bishop of the Charlotte Area of the Southeastern Jurisdiction, a member of the General Commission on Army and Navy Chaplains, and a member of the North Carolina Council of Churches.

"The Methodist Hour" will be heard on stations WBRC, Birmingham, and WSA, Montgomery.

ing the constitution and a committee was appointed to draw up proposed amendments. The Club members were asked to consider projects for the present year. Year books not being available before the February meeting, the subject, Churchill and Atlee was announced by the program chairman, Miss Sybil Langston. Members were asked to answer roll call with names of famous Englishmen.

Mrs. Leo Langston presented an entertaining book review of Ella Winter's "I Saw the Russian People." This account of contemporary Russia one feels is a judicious attempt to give a fair appraisal of the Russian people and should be of considerable help in understanding our ally.

Misses Sue Bratton, Alyce Jo Langston, Eloise Nash, Mary Edna Reynolds and Ann Turner, accompanied by Mary Catherine McNeill, presented a Valentine Drill in Waltz time, interpreting Strauss, "The Beautiful Blue Danube" and Tchaikovsky's "Waltz of the Flowers" from The Nutcracker Suite.

Delightful refreshments were served to club members.

In 1945 there were 17 cottonseed delinting outfits in Alabama which delinted 4,786 tons of seed. This compares with 12 outfits which delinted 3,515 tons in 1943.

HIGHWAY PATROL MAKE 1,014 ARRESTS DURING DECEMBER

The Alabama Highway Patrol is responsible for 1,014 arrests during December, the month that takes the highest toll in state traffic accidents, Clyde C. Sellers, Chief of the patrol, announced today.

"The large number of arrests may be attributed in part to the intensive efforts of the Highway Patrol to keep close guard over state roads during the holidays," Chief Sellers pointed out.

The total number of arrests in December rose slightly over November figures, and a decided increase was noted in reckless driving, accounting for 221 arrests during the month of December. November arrests totaled 1,006 and 206 of these were for the reckless driving offense.

On the December arrest report, the two violations of driving without a license and driving while intoxicated totaled 232 arrests each.

The three violations that stood highest among arrests, driving without a license, driving while intoxicated and reckless driving accounted for over two-thirds of the total number of December apprehensions.

Continuing the patrol's drive against improper lights, 90 arrests were made for that offense. Improper brakes accounted for 16 apprehensions. "Hit and run" drivers arrested by the patrol totaled 13, an increase of one over November figures.

Speeding trucks figured in 22 arrests, while violation of carrier laws accounted for 60 during December. Apprehensions for no flags nor flares totaled 12 in both November and December.

ZION RIDGE

All-day service will be held at Zion Ridge Church on Sunday, February 24th. Ministers especially invited. An interesting list of speakers will be on hand. Everybody come and bring well-filled baskets.—L. H. Powell, Pastor.

LOANS NOW BEING MADE TO FINANCE 1946 CROPS

Mr. John K. Spry, Field Supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office, stated today that loans are now being made to finance production of 1946 crops, or to finance the purchase or production of feed for livestock. Applications for loans are now being taken in the County Agents Office at Clanton.

Emergency Crop and Feed Loans are not restricted to selected Applicants, but are available to all farmers who own or can make arrangements for land to farm, who own or have the use of necessary work stock and equipment with which to farm, and who are unable to obtain financing from other sources of credit on reasonable terms. The only security required is a first lien on the crops to be financed or in the case of feed loans a first lien on the livestock to be fed. The maximum amount loaned to an individual is $400.00.

These loans, generally known as "Seed Loans," have been made in Clanton since 1931 and have proved a great benefit to farmers whose cash requirements are small. The borrowers are required to plant a garden for home use and are encouraged to carry out balanced farming programs and practices as recommended by the County Extension Agent.

Of the 844,000 soldiers discharged from the Army during January, 1946, 112,000 have been separated at the five separation centers in the Fourth Service Command, the Military Personnel Division at headquarters here announced today.

WARNING IS GIVEN ON "JOB SUBSIDY" BY VA MANAGER

Montgomery, Ala. — A warning against using on-the-job training benefits of the G.I. Bill of Rights as a work "subsidy" was sounded today by M. E. Head, Alabama Regional Manager of the Veterans Administration. "It has been brought to my attention that many World War II veterans have obtained employment with business establishments under the false impression that they would receive the benefits of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act without actually being enrolled in a training program. To pay subsistence for such employment would be merely a job subsidy and not training in any sense," the VA Manager said.

Mr. Head pointed out that certain firms and business establishments throughout the state had been approved by the Department of Education as suitable places for job training of veterans, but that in each instance it is necessary for the veteran to file an application with the Veterans Administration for training, to be certified as eligible by the Administration, and to be properly enrolled by a coordinator of the Department of Education before he will become eligible for subsistence payments.

Subsistence allotment is $65 per month for a properly enrolled veteran without dependents and $90 per month for a veteran with dependents under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, commonly known as the G.I. Bill.

"If a veteran is engaged in a full time job without directed training the employer has no authority to reduce the veteran's pay by the amount of his subsistence and thus put the federal government in the position of paying a part of the veteran's," Mr. Head continued.

"It is the purpose of the law to provide opportunities for training the veteran under definitely planned processes and the Veterans Administration will not tolerate subsidized employment which would mean only exploitation of the veteran's rights."

"I am afraid too many of our veterans who are engaged in straight productive work may experience a rude awakening when they learn that they have never been enrolled by proper authorities of the Department of Education for job training and for that reason will not receive subsistence payment."

IN MEMORY

In memory of our very dear grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Headley, age 87, who passed on February 6, 1946.

We wish to express our deepest thanks and appreciation toward everything every one did. We are all especially grateful to those people who helped her so much during her long illness. Her immediate surviving family is as follows: Five sons—Nathaniel and Clifford Headley of Maplesville, La., Charlie and Jessie of Bessemer, Ala., Larce of Repton, Ala.; two daughters, Mrs. Velma Adams of Maplesville, Mrs. Woodie Elrod of Burnstown, Fla.; three sisters and four brothers; 30 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

From the depth of our hearts we appreciate everything. Two of her very near grandchildren—Eloise Smith and Louise Headley.

IN MEMORY

In memory of my darling mother, Mrs. Martha Gibson, who died August 18th, 1945.

Gone, dear mother, gone forever; how I miss your smiling face, how I miss you to remember; none on earth can take your place. A happy home we once enjoyed; how sweet the memory still, but death has left a loneliness the world can never, never fill.

Sadly missed by — Pearl and Husband.

A Tuscaloosa, according to the report received by the Department of Conservation from one of its field men, had been out of the city for nearly three years and stored his furniture in the garage. When he returned, he found the skunk. Rock-throwing youngsters antagonized the skunk and the atmosphere was heavy. Officers Darnell and Fitts finally dispatched the smelly chap with a .22 rifle. It is understood they wished the hya dilled on District Game Warden E. K. Elledge to do the job.

A total of 8,856 veterans, wives or widows of veterans of World War I and World War II are employed by the Army as civilian workers in the seven southeastern states, according to the annual report released today by Headquarters, Fourth Service Command.

To test material for color fastness, fasten a scrap of the test fabric along with the colored trimming to be used, such as rick-rack or tape, to a piece of white cloth. Then carefully wash and iron the material. If the white cloth has picked up any color from the fabric or trimming, the fading will be the same when the garment is made.

Supplies of barbed and woven wire fencing this year are expected to be larger than in the past two years, and by the middle of the year there should be adequate supplies of nails, staples and bale ties.

When you can buy all the Turkish towels you want again—just remember that thick, heavy ones naturally wear better and longer, but thin, lightweight ones are more absorbent.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a blood medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, it thus helps build resistance for the "time" to come.
2. Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

BOY SCOUT WEEK OBSERVED BY NATION

The hopes of world peace for the next fifty years depends upon what happens in the lives of boys growing up here in America and in the countries of Europe. Walter W. Head of St. Louis, President of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America, said in a statement for Boy Scout Week, February 8 to 14, marking the 36th anniversary of the movement in America.

Mr. Head's statement follows:

"The theme of the Boy Scouts of America for the year 1946 is 'Scouts of the World — Building Together.' Regardless of what treaties or agreements may be made by the nations of the world, in the last analysis what happens to our hopes of world peace for the next fifty years depends upon what happens in the lives of boys growing up here in America and in the countries of Europe.

"If we can impress upon these boys principles of friendliness and mutual respect, we shall go a long way toward establishing a better understanding among the nations of the world."

"Here in America we have nearly two million members of the Boy Scouts of America. Throughout the world there are approximately three million Scouts and Leaders."

"The Scout Program seeks to train these boys for service to others and useful citizenship. With these millions of Scouts throughout the world we believe something truly magnificent can be done."

"We hope to develop a body of men who, because of their Scout training, will stand out in their native lands as our Boy Scouts stand out here in America, dedicated to the same ideals of Scouting as expressed in our Scout Oath and Law. Together they will, we believe, help to build a lasting peace and bring a better world for the future."

Kiwanis Club To Hear Guest Speaker

The Kiwanis Club of Clanton will be afforded the opportunity of hearing one of Alabama's most interesting speakers this Thursday night at their regular weekly meeting at the high school.

Mr. Earl Andrews, Lieut.-Governor of the Kiwanis of Alabama will be the featured speaker. Mr. Andrews comes to Clanton at the invitation of the local Kiwanis Club. Roy Roper, President of the Clanton Kiwanis, asks that all Kiwanis members try and be present. He says they will not want to miss this program.

When asked what Mr. Andrews' subject would be, Mr. Roper stated that he had no idea of the subject or just what Mr. Andrews would talk on. Then Mr. Roper said again, "Come on out, Kiwanis members, let's show Mr. Andrews he is welcome. You won't regret it."

At the meeting last week, the Kiwanis Club had as its guest speaker Miss Molly Megginson of the Public Welfare Department. Miss Megginson spoke on welfare work being carried out here in Clanton and Chilton County and discussed the classifications of assistance each group needs. After her talk she answered questions that were asked by members of the Club.

WINSTON BICE DESERVES GREAT DEAL OF CREDIT FOR 4-H CLUB WORK.

Winston Bice of Shiloh, deserves a great deal of credit for the good 4-H Club work he has done. He has a well balanced club program and has steadily increased since its beginning.

Winston started his club work by planting an acre of corn that was well fertilized. By doing this he was able to produce enough feed to feed out a beef calf last year. From his beef calf, Winston netted $113.00 and allowed himself ceiling price for all of the corn he fed his family. After selling his beef calf, Winston added a purebred Jersey heifer and a brood sow to his 4-H project work. In the Fall he sold eight pigs that gave him a nice cash return on his project.

This year Winston is feeding out two beef calves on corn that he grew as a club project. He also plans to add another purebred Jersey heifer just as soon as possible.

The beginning of a new crop year finds Winston making plans to get his corn and hay projects underway. This year he plans to try an acre of hybrid corn and use higher fertilization rates. By doing this he plans to increase his corn yield, and with high labor cost, higher corn yields are proving to be the cheapest corn yields.

In addition to corn and hay, Winston plans to improve his pasture and plant winter grazing to supply a cheaper source of winter feed.

To have a successful project, a club boy must find it profitable, as well as interesting. Winston has been able to realize a nice cash return from his club projects and the addition of new projects has shown that his work has been interesting. Club work can be what the boy wants it to be and Winston has certainly used it to his advantage.

News' Soldier Column Honorably Discharged

This week the News discontinues its soldier column, "Where They Are and How They Are." It is being "honorably discharged."

The column was started some four years ago when it seemed everyone was going to be drafted, and when the young men of Clanton and Chilton County were being dispersed all over the world to fight one of the greatest wars in the history of the world. It helped the home folks keep a little closer to the local boys by knowing "Where They Are and How They Are." The News watched this column with intense interest. We saw it grow and grow and grow. We saw it record deaths of local young men who paid the supreme price for victory. We saw it record paragraphs about "our" boys who were listed as "mission in action" or "wounded in line of duty."

We regret this column ever had to begin in the first place. Yet, we are pleased that we, through our columns, were able to do what we could to keep up with the men of the county, who were scattered to the four corners of the world. It was our duty, we felt, as a newspaper serving in Chilton County, in the interest of Chilton County.

Then we saw the column dwindle and dwindle as more and more of the veterans returned home. The column dwindled until there were only a few items about our uniformed men each week.

From here on out, news of servicemen will be handled as local news stories and news of our men still in uniform is always welcomed as well as news of some service man who has returned home.

With that the News writes "CO" to "Where They Are and How They Are."

STATE DIVISION OF FORESTRY

The State Division of Forestry, announced recently through Dan C. Royal, District Forester, that C. C. Gay, Jr., life-long resident of Chilton County, has been appointed Forest Ranger for the newly organized Chilton-Autauga Forest Ranger District.

Headquarters for the Ranger District have been established at the courthouse in Clanton and plans for an extensive program of public relations forest fire prevention and suppression have been developed and put into practice throughout the two county area.

Ranger Gay pointed out that the primary concern of the Division of Forestry is at the present time cooperation with timber and land owners in the prevention of forest fires, for prevention is far simpler than suppression.

Plans for intensive forest fire protection will develop with time and as circumstances permit, but at the present forest and land owners are assured of whatever assistance and cooperation his office can offer. The personnel is limited to the one Ranger in the two counties who is equipped to assist the landowner in fire suppression. Recommendations and plans for the prevention of forest fires are offered to any one who will contact him in his office or as he travels throughout the area, Ranger Gay said.

Ranger Gay, recently discharged from the Army, with the rank of Warrent Officer, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gay, Sr., of Stanton. He attended Dallas High School in Plantersville and was associated with J. T. O'Neal Lumber Company prior to his entrance into the Army in 1942. Much interest is being shown in Ranger Gay's appointment and his work throughout the newly organized Forest Ranger District.

FLUORESCENT LAMPS HELP HOME GARDENER PRODUCE OWN PLANTS

Using ordinary 30 and 40-watt fluorescent lamps as the source of light, home gardeners who do not have access to greenhouses can now propagate cuttings and seedlings in their own basements or storage rooms in an enclosed unit developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A unit six feet long, three feet high and three feet wide for use with a fixture containing two 40-watt fluorescent tubes is suggested.

"Fluorescent strips" as the source of light may be used instead of the two 40-watt tubes. If the unit is to be carried through doors or houses, the width may be two feet with only one tube. Two doors hinged at the top are provided for the front of the unit. Ventilation is unnecessary. Construction of waterproof composition board is suggested, especially if insulation is important.

The unit, as designed and tested has (1) a heated or warm air space below, (2) the rooting medium in a flat or trays with drainage, (3) fluorescent lamps and reflecting surface and (4) an air space above the lamps to prevent excessive heating. Relatively little watering of the rooting medium is necessary, but generous watering has not proved harmful. Temperatures of from 72 to 75 degrees are ideal for many cuttings.

Vermiculite, a mica-bearing material available at most building supply dealers, is recommended as the medium in which to grow cuttings.

During the war years, the 30 leading U. S. oil companies expended about $750,000,000 for facilities contributing directly to the war effort, such as aviation gasoline plants, pipelines and tankers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Younger were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. (Ben) Tucker and Mrs. Mark L. Tucker.

ALABAMA FARMERS SET NEW RECORD IN SOIL CONSERVATION WORK

Alabama farmers set a new record for 1945 in planning and beginning complete soil conservation programs in cooperation with the twelve soil conservation districts which cover all of the State, Regional Conservator T. S. Buie of the Soil Conservation Service recently reported.

"During the last 12 months 3,806 Alabama farmers received assistance from the Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned to the districts in starting complete programs for erosion control and good land use on 632,364 acres," the Southeastern regional conservator said.

Dr. Buie, who has headquarters in Spartanburg, S. C., said that another measure of the soil conservation progress of the past year is that more than one-fifth of the total number of Alabama farmers now cooperating with districts began this program in 1945. He said that, at the beginning of the new year, 17,941 Alabamians were cooperating with their districts in carrying out complete soil conservation plans on three and a quarter million acres. The Piedmont District covering Chambers, Clay, Randolph and Tallapoosa counties in 1939 was the State's first district to begin operations.

"The progress made last year is all the more remarkable because of the shortages or limited amounts of labor, equipment and materials as a result of the war," Dr. Buie said. "It could not have been possible without the active leadership of the farmers themselves, through their supervisors, nor could it have been possible without the great amount of support received from non-farm individuals and groups such as bankers, teachers, ministers, civic clubs, newspaper editors, manufacturers, business men and others living in towns and cities."

Dr. Buie predicted that in 1946 Alabama soil conservation districts would set another record. "In fact," he said, "if only the rate of progress during the last six months of 1945 is maintained during the next 12 months, more than 4,500 farmers will become district cooperators. But we confidently expect the soil conservation program to move even faster than that this year, because trained technicians are returning rapidly now from the armed forces and because of the growing interest and support of both farm and non-farm people."

But the regional conservator warned that "we should not feel complacent about the progress now being made, because Alabama is still losing more land through erosion than it is saving. Whatever progress we make in 1946 will not be enough; we must double and redouble our efforts until all the land of every farm is placed under a soil conservation program that uses all the land according to its capabilities and treats it according to its needs."

As an example, he cited a summary of reports made by 307 representative district cooperators in Alabama. "They reduced cotton acreage 34 percent but produced 2 percent more bales of lint. Although they planted 4,450 fewer acres to corn, they harvested a total of 4,800 more bushels. With the return of formerly idle land to use, with more feed and hay production, and with more and better pastures, these 307 farmers had 37 percent more dairy cows and 105 percent more beef cattle."

"Soil conservation farming can help Alabama farmers to make whatever production adjustments may be necessary during the reconversion period," Dr. Buie said. "A complete farm soil conservation plan shows the farmer what each field can be used safely to grow, and what treatment is required to protect the land from erosion damage. Soil conservation and diversified farming go hand in hand."

In commenting on soil conservation progress in the Southeastern region of the Soil Conservation Service, Dr. Buie reported that almost 30,000 farmers in 1945 were assisted through districts to start soil conservation farming on approximately five million acres. The region covers Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi, Tennessee and Virginia, in addition to Alabama.

"These records show substantial increases for all of the states, as well as Alabama," the regional conservator said. "In 1944, approximately 18,600 farmers obtained district help in beginning soil conservation practices on 3,200,000 acres. In 1946, we expect that at least 50,000 additional farmers in the Southeastern region will become cooperators with the soil conservation districts they have organized."

Dr. Buie said that landowners in the nine states, since 1937, have created 300 soil conservation districts which cover 78.2 percent of all the farms in the region. Alabama is one of the two Southeastern states entirely covered by districts.

Leaders in American Brotherhood Week are shown above, left to right: Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, sponsors of Brotherhood Week, Harold E. Stassen, general chairman of the observance, and James G. Farley, chairman for New York State.

Citizens of Alabama are being asked to join in the observance of American Brotherhood Week, February 16 to 24, through suitable programs in schools, churches and organizations and by living up to the spirit of brotherhood in the future.

Governor Sparks, through a proclamation, has joined with President Truman in urging all Alabamians to celebrate the week in keeping with the spirit it conveys.

"The slogan for Brotherhood Week, 'In Peace as in War' — Teamwork, clearly indicates the significance of Brotherhood Week at all times, but particularly this year, 'In Peace as in War,' we stand in need of the cooperation of all our people," the state's chief executive pointed out in his proclamation.

Brotherhood Week committees in every county in the state have planned community programs. Schools are taking a particularly prominent part in the observance. Dr. E. B. Norton, Floyd C. Bussie, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bursie who recently moved back to Chilton County, is on his way home from Germany.

DEMAND TO CONTINUE

Demand for farm products seems likely to maintain its present high level during 1946. There is a prospect that pressure of export demand on available supplies may be lessened later in the year.

Light fades the colors of canned food, making it less attractive and decreasing the vitamin content, advise extension specialists. If foods are stored on light shelves, an old window shade can be put in front of them to keep the light out, and the shade can be raised or lowered to get jars off the shelf.

One of the best ways to check water waste is to keep a careful watch on all faucets. See that none of them drip, for even one dripping faucet causes a great waste of water, and when it's hot water a waste of electricity too. It's gradual, and isn't always noticeable until much hot water has gone to waste.

Over 700,000 tons of fertilizer were bought by Alabama farmers last year—the largest amount on record. Less than 500,000 tons were used on cotton. In 1928, the second highest year in fertilizers purchased, 430,000 of the 692,000 tons bought were used for cotton. Farmers use more fertilizer per acre on cotton, but have less acres in the crop.

"Don't plant more than you can get harvested," J. B. Wilson, API extension agricultural engineer, advises Alabama farmers. Too much food, feed and cotton staved in the fields winter for lack of labor and harvesting equipment.

The nation's first "drive-in" filling station was opened in St. Louis, Mo. in 1935.

Farm wage rates in Alabama 1945 stood at an index of 252 compared to 240 in 1944 and 102 in 1940. AP extension economists predict higher wages for farm labor this year.

FAMILY RESERVE Insurance Company Increases in Size 7 TIMES in 5 YEARS

During the past five years, Family Reserve Insurance Company has increased in size seven times. Such rapid growth indicates strong public confidence and aggressive, efficient management.

However, a Company's financial strength is not measured by its size but rather in terms of the Company's ability to pay its obligations as they arise. Therefore it is significant that Family Reserve has one of the largest ratios of assets to liabilities of any insurance company in the United States or Canada. Family Reserve has $113 of assets for each $100 of liabilities.

Of the Company's total investments during the past five years, 98% has been invested in United States War and Treasury Bonds and first mortgage loans (principally F. H. A. Government Insured), all of which contributed to the war effort. Family Reserve has financed several entire housing projects in housing-shortage areas. Family Reserve policyholders, therefore, may have the satisfaction of knowing that the premiums they have deposited with their Company very materially contributed to the war effort and the winning of the Peace.

During the past five years, Family Reserve has made the following progress:

1. Reserves for protection of Family Reserve policyholders have increased 724 per cent to a total of three million, two hundred and twenty-four thousands, six hundred and ninety-five dollars and eighteen cents.

2. Assets of Family Reserve have increased 759 per cent to reach a total of three million, three hundred and fifty-six thousand, five hundred and thirty-one dollars and fourteen cents.

Family Reserve issues cash policies and funeral policies. The funeral policies are serviced by leading Funeral Homes in every section of Alabama.

Dr. Parrish Mule Clinic Schedule

We have been unable to have a clinic for two years owing to war conditions. Now medicine is available gasoline is not rationed and the mules and horses have had nothing done for two years. They will need checking. All horses and mules that have had any knot flies after them will need a treatment, most of them need the teeth looked after. Colic in the mules and horses has been much worse for the two years. They have had no treatments. Some do not know that this tooth treating and medicine giving almost eliminates colic in stock but it does. Ask your neighbor who has tried it on his stock.

Have your horses fairly empty (without feed for 12 or 15 hours) for best results. The medicine will be 75 cents and the tooth work will be $1.00 per head—cash.

Bring your horse out if you have any doubt. We will be glad to check him without cost.

Following is some of the places and dates, tell your friends and advertise it at your public gatherings:

Pleasant Grove, Hershel Spiveys Thursday, February 21, 8 to 10.

Temple Church, Vanis Mims', Friday, February 22, 8 to 10.

Clanton, The Veterinary Hospital, Saturday, February 23, 8 to 4.

CCC TO POOL 1944 CROP LOAN COTTON

The United States Department of Agriculture has announced that all 1944-crop cotton, including American-Egyptian, and all 1943-crop American Egyptian cotton still under loan on July 1, 1946, will be pooled for producers' account by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Producers meanwhile may repay these outstanding loans and redeem their cotton under the terms of the loan programs.

Based on the present market, farmers should be able to dispose of a large amount of this cotton at prices that will net them substantial profits above the loan and charges against the cotton. Producers may either sell their "equities" or redeem the cotton and sell it in the open market. Producers are urged to give serious consideration to marketing the loan cotton before it is placed in pools.

PUT "LOAFING" LAND TO WORK WITH KUDZU

"Why not put 'loafing' land to work with kudzu? J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist, says there are thousands of acres not now contributing to the farm income. These acres could be used profitably for grazing, hay, and erosion control.

Farmers can sell without going to town; use the Want Ads.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

On a pastoral call I stopped to see a lady who was a member of my Church. While we were talking a boy passed along the side walk and the lady seeing him said to me, "Pastor, there goes a bad boy." Being interested in the lad, I asked her why she thought him to be bad. "Saw him fighting another boy yesterday afternoon," she said, and that was proof that he was a bad boy. Like that lady, the most of us are too prone to give a boy a bad name. They are bad when we see them running around corners, going to picture shows, throwing ink about in the school room, spitting with other children and the like. Why call a boy "Bad" when his badness may be the fault of his parents or associates? Give a boy a bad name and ruin him. Before calling a boy bad, first learn who is to blame for his badness.

To be sure of no waste in their finances a young couple decided to have a budget for monthly expenses. She was to have a $100.00 a month and she was to balance the budget the last day of each month. After a few months the young husband told his wife that he would stay at home one night and audit her books. At the close of each month he found this "G.K.W.", charged up with a sum from two to fifteen dollars. Not knowing who this G.K.W. was, he called his wife for an explanation. "Oh," she said, "At the close of each month that much money was gone, and I could not account for it, and to make my books balance I charged it to G.K.W., and that man's name is Goodness Knows What." When we come to the close of a month like that bride, we have spent quite a sum of money on Goodness Knows What.

VERBENA W.S.C.S. MEETS

Members of the W.S.C.S. of the Verberna Methodist Church were guests of their chairman, Mrs. Charles S. Strock, Tuesday afternoon, February 12, 1946.

Mrs. Strock opened the meeting and Mrs. Sidney L. Gibson was program leader and read an interesting paper on Africa. Mrs. Charles Foshee spoke on Spirituals and played, "Swing Low," and "Down By The River Side," which was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

Mrs. Strock was elected delegate to the annual W.S.C.S. conference which meets in Montgomery March 12, 13 and 14.

The next Circle meeting will meet with Mrs. E. B. Comer.

After the business session a salad course was served by the hostess, Mrs. Strock, to the following members:

Mrs. James Emmer Mims, John Howard, P. F. Mitchell, A. R. Rutland, Excell Howard, Irby Deramus, James Fort, Sidney L. Gibson, William P. Cloughton and B. B. Comer of Montgomery.

key people won by a vote of twenty-two. One prayer meeting attendant lamented, "The whiskey force outnumbered us and we lost." "Not on your life," answered another who knew the situation. "We had sixty dry qualified voters who could have carried our community dry, if they had just gone to the polls, but they were too busy and failed us in the time of need." Then this man added, "I do not know how you feel but I had much rather have seen an X marked by the side of the dry cause, than to have had ten years of prayer meetings and church shines. It would have done more good for our little city." Religion at the polls is necessary.

VA OPPORTUNITY FOR PHYSICIANS

Physicians who are being released from duty in the Armed Forces have an opportunity for service with the Veterans Administration. M. E. Head, Alabama Regional Manager of the V. A., announced today.

Employment with the Veterans Administration, Mr. Head said, would "give doctors a chance to be of continued service to men who had put their lives at stake for our country."

The VA Manager explained that physicians could be used on both full-time and part-time basis. In Alabama, he added, there is an opportunity for hospital duties, for work as the medical member of rating boards at the Regional Office in Montgomery, or out-patient service at one of the seven sub-regional offices in the state.

The Sub-Regional offices are at Mobile, Dothan, Demopolis, Opelika, Birmingham, Gadsden and Decatur.

The rating boards, Mr. Head explained, decide the degree of disability of claimants for pensions. Part-time services of physicians can be used for rating board work, as well as full-time services.

New regulations permit the approval of doctors for employment without undue delay. Specialists are paid a differential for their specialized training.

Full information on this opportunity to be of service can be obtained from the Chief Medical Officer or Personnel Officer at the Regional Office in Montgomery.

LACK OF TRUCKS AND CARS

DELAYING EXTENSION OF

ELECTRIC SERVICE

To carry out our construction program for 1946, we will need 155 new trucks and automobiles. Some of these are to replace equipment worn out during the war—others will be additions to our fleet. Most of the trucks will need special bodies and equipment adapted to electric line construction and maintenance work.

More than half of our proposed construction program is in rural areas. Poles, wire and other equipment must be hauled to the locations where they are to be assembled. Workmen must have transportation to and from these jobs.

Thus, even though we had all the equipment and materials necessary, the lack of enough transportation would make it impossible to carry the construction program forward as quickly as you and we would like.

Orders for the needed automotive equipment were placed months ago. Only a few of the units ordered have been delivered. Delivery of others has been held up by strikes.

If you are an applicant for electric service, we want you to know that we are doing everything possible to get service to you as soon as conditions will permit.

FORMER RESIDENT

PASSES IN MONTGOMERY

Ralph Perry Bryan, age 61, died in a Montgomery hospital Monday night, February 11th, 1946, at 8:30.

Ralph, as he was familiarly known, had been ill since suffering a slight stroke in his right side 18 months ago at his home in Clanton, after which time he was in Montgomery receiving medical treatment, but Clanton continued to him to be home and upon entering the hospital immediately prior to his death he gave his home address as Clanton. To his friends from Clanton who occasionally saw him in Montgomery, he expressed the possibility that he would at some time be able to be back in Clanton, where he operated Royal Cleaners a number of years.

Besides the widow, Mrs. Beatrice Bryan, he left surviving a daughter, Katherine, a student at Alabama College, Montevallo, Ala.; and three brothers—Z. B. J. T. and J. M., all of Montgomery.

Funeral services were conducted at Memory Chapel in Montgomery at 11:30 Wednesday, February 13, by W. Graham Walker, Pastor of Cloverdale Christian Church in Montgomery, of which Ralph was a charter member. Burial followed with Leak-Belsler-Tucker of Montgomery in charge in the old family cemetery lot at Greenville, Ala., in a vault Ralph built more than ten years ago to receive his body. Pallbearers were his nephews and esteemed friends.

ROBERT CULP DISCHARGED FROM U. S. NAVY

Robert H. Culp, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Culp of Clanton Route 4, was recently discharged from the U. S. Navy after 36 months service. Culp served 27 months at sea in the Pacific area and has one battle star.

AGED VERBENA MAN TAKES OWN LIFE MONDAY

Cal. .38 Bullet Ends Life Of 80-Year- Old Verbena Man

An eighty-year old man, Mr. Lewis Franklin Hurt, of Verbena, took his own life last Monday afternoon about 2:00 o'clock, when he fired a .38-caliber bullet in his head.

According to a report from R. L. (Bob) White of Spigener Funeral Home who made the investigation, a neighbor reported as hearing the shot about that time, but thought nothing of it because Mr. Hurt was staying with Mr. and Mrs. Britt Champion. Mr. Champion is a night policeman in Clanton and has a gun. From reports it seems that while Mr. Champion was asleep Mr. Hurt slipped the gun and went out into the back yard, sat down in a chair under a Chinaberry tree. He had a cane between his legs and laid his pipe on the ground. He then placed the gun to the right side of his head and pulled the trigger thus ending his life.

The bullet entered his head just above his right ear and came out above his left ear. Mr. George Dillard and Mr. Joseph Penton, both of Verbena, happened to be passing by about 3:00 p.m., and noticed his body still sitting in the chair slumped backward.

The family reports that he has been in bad health for the past few years. Funeral services were held at 3:00 p.m. Tuesday, from the Verbena Baptist Church, conducted by the Rev. J. A. Rainer; interment was in the Verbena Cemetery.

He is survived by two sons, W. H. Hurt of Jonestown, Ala.; J. M. Hurt of Marietta, Ga.; two daughters, Mrs. C. B. Champion of Verbena, Mrs. C. G. Gallender of Montgomery, Ala.; 11 grandchildren; nine great grandchildren.

Spigener Funeral Home in charge.

Mr. Andrews, who came to Clanton at the invitation of President Roy Roper, had an awe-inspired audience when he had some sixty Kiwanis members and guests stand up as he repeated their names, business and their birthday without a mistake.

This was the first performance of this type for Mr. Andrews outside Montgomery. He says he can recall some 5,000 birthdays.

He used as his topic, "Happiness Through Memory," and gave pointers to club members on how to become a better citizen and how to have more friends through the ability to remember names, dates and the little things about their fellow members and fellow workers.

Ira Crowe For Sheriff; Gerald For State Senate

Qualifying time closes this week as two more candidates come in under the wire to try their strength in the coming Democratic Primary to be held May 7th.

First was Ira S. Crowe, one-time Deputy under J. R. Hardy, who announced for the office of Sheriff. Mr. Crowe is well known and has many friends in this section of the state and needs no introduction to the general public or to politics. He should have a first-hand idea of the game and may give his opponent, Mr. J. A. Nixens incumbent, a run for the office.

Lawrence F. Gerald, Jr., needs no introduction. Bad has been in Chilton County all his life except time out for college, and has a host of friends in Chilton, Autauga and Shelby counties.

The county line-up reads about like this today: For State Senator from this district, Lawrence F. Gerald, Jr. and Grover Walker; for State Representative, Charlie Cox and A. C. Wells; for Probate Judge, Dr. W. L. Parrish and Judge J. Lee Smith; for County Solicitor, A. B. Foshee; for Circuit Clerk, J. C. Pattillo; for Sheriff, Ira S. Crowe and J. A. Nixens; for superintendent of Education, Delos P. Culp; for Commissioner District One, Howard Roper; for Commissioner District Two, Hoyt Freeman; for Member County School Board, Pope Payne and Fred Smith.

This looks like the list of candidates that you will have to choose from when you go to the polls in May. The political front is still a bit quiet, but don't get discouraged. There will be plenty of news about candidates and their doings before the final speech.

The Defense of American Freedom is our First Consideration

THE DIRTY STREETS OF CLANTON

Recently we have heard several local citizens remark on the condition of the streets of our city.

Confidentially the remarks were not complimentary.

What Clanton needs is a concerted effort by the businessmen, as well as the citizens, to keep our streets and sidewalks clean. You know well that unless the City Department get cooperation from all, that it is practically impossible to keep things looking inviting to the visitor and the stranger. The way to accomplish this end is for all to think twice before we do anything to cause the streets and sidewalks to look "messy," or to be sure they clean up any trash that they cause to be on the public thoroughfares.

Think this over the next time you get careless about the looks of our city and see if you can't do your share in keeping it inviting to strangers.

First impressions in a city, as in an individual, mean much.

Any time we pick up a "news release" and down about the end of the first paragraph it says, "Stated Mr. Blah, Blah, Blah, whose offices are located at blah blah and who is blah blah blah, of the company or department or commission," we just file it in the waste basket. That fellow isn't trying to give you a news release, he's running a one-man publicity bureau.

James E. (Big Jim) Folsom will open his campaign for Governor at Oneonta next Saturday, March 2nd, with a big speaking and five-piece string band. It is our opinion and the opinion of umpteenth thousand other Alabamians that Big Jim is the man to place at the Helm of State for the next four years. Anyway, we believe that Mr. Folsom is the man that will have to be licked to be governor and Mr. Folsom is a big man to lick—in more ways than one.

WE RING DOWN THE CURTAIN

The time has expired for anyone to qualify in the Democratic Primary to be held May 7th. March first was the date and if you haven't—you can't.

Several of the county, as well as state officeholders, have opposition. It is your duty now as a voter and American citizen to study well the background as well as the platform of each candidate in the race and vote as sincerely as you can for the man who you think will serve his county or state best for the duration of his term.

Most of us take the responsibility of our vote too lightly. That is wrong. After all, you and I are responsible for the kind of officeholders we have.

WHAT? NO MONEY

It is reliably stated that the OPA say it does not have money enough to hire field men to break up the black market in the lumber business in Alabama, or in Franklin County as for that matter.

We guess that if the OPA had three times as much money as it needed it still would not have enough to waste as it is now doing. "There is no need of so many folks sitting down holding their hands," a man in the state said the other day. In Birmingham, there are more experts there still on the payroll than there are jobs for them to do.

All this statement about not having enough money is just pure and defiled OPA bunk. They want to appear starved and work like the devil to hold on after June 30th. Most any one would want such an easy do-nothing job.

We are certain the black market in lumber in this county and state is keeping many new homes from being built, especially for G.I.'s who have no place to live, as yet.

It is known that number three common and better pine lumber, dressed, is being offered right here in Franklin County in truck or car loads at $65 per M, dry and dressed. OPA regulations, as yet unforced, states when loads of more than 5,000 feet are sold and sold outside a radius of 25 miles, the seller must not charge more than $35 for the No. 3 Common 1" $27.50 for the No. 3, Common 2" and so on. Even the best grade should be sold for not over $63.

This newspaper demands that something be done. Fire some of the many loafers and experts, or better still expert loafers in the OPA and get something done about this matter. Perhaps Truman and Congress should hear about this—and they will.

FOLKS & THINGS

ABOUT TOWN

-By BEN

The United States of America is a rainbow: A blending of many colors and creeds and cultures; a promise that diverse peoples may live together happily and successfully with personal liberty and national solidarity.—Edwin R. Embree.

Congratulations to Johnnie Moon and Julius Foches on the opening of their new partnership. You know the two of them took over management of the Standard Service Station last week. Both have had wide experience in this type work and have many friends throughout the county. Our wish for them is much success in their undertaking.

Mrs. J. Lee Smith at the Probate Office is anxious for all the ex-service men in the county to bring their ASN (that's Army Serial Number) to the Probate Office so that she can qualify them for voting and get their name on the Registered Voters List that will be published within the next few weeks. Mrs. Smith also announces that should the veteran be unable to bring the necessary serial number to her office it will be alright for him to send it by his parents or a member of his family, provided he has registered previously. The point is to get your name in the pot if you want to vote in the coming Primary which will be held on May 7th.

Lambert Motor Company at the intersection of State 22 and U. S. 31 is getting the finishing touches and is looking better and better every day. Mr. Lambert will handle Chrysler and Plymouth automobiles and now has two demonstrators on the floor in his showroom. Mr. Lambert is a new comer to Clanton and the News, along with the other progressive merchants and business men of our city, welcome Mr. Lambert and wish him well.

Rice Howard in the Southern Democrat at Oneonta says: "Between trying to run a linotype machine and announce candidates we get all mixed up. So if you find something in your announcement that you don't believe, lay it on the linotype, and not on the editor. But there is one advantage of typing copy direct from the noodle, we don't have to try to read our own writing. In fact our writing is the reason we lost our last operation."

Tell you the truth, Rice, if we didn't have an operator that was exceedingly easy to get along with we would probably be back at the machine doing the same thing you are. However, knowing the weaknesses of newspaper editors, he just grits his teeth, goes to Webster and straightens things out for us.

Things happen when you handle type. Very often the word you used when you wrote the copy on the typewriter comes out something entirely different when it finally gets to the printed page. For instance one of the horrors of an editor is the one he writes about the young bridegroom and casually remarks that he has "sterling qualities," and it comes out "stealing qualities." You know it has been said that a newspaper's duty is to comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable. But that's getting off the subject. Take the one about the man who was beating his wife in church, the linotype machine had a different idea and wrote it: "The man was beating his wife in church." Things like that go for a lot of our grey hairs. Then there's the one that appeared in the Tri-State News, Elkhardt, Kan., "Jocelyn Mayberry was hostess at a yawn party at her home Monday."

And the one from the United Press report, "Mrs. Frank Scully, wife of the author of the best seller Fun In Bed, today gave birth to a seven-pound daughter." It's things like that, that one person can't possibly watch even though editorially a newspaperman always refers to himself as "we." We remember one time a notice in a New Mexico paper went something like this: "Mrs. Martin wishes to announce that the recent death of her husband will in no way affect the Mercantile Store. Mrs. Martin will marry on."

COTTON ISN'T ROBBER

Cotton removes less fertility from the soil than other major crops. Grown in rotation with soil improving crops, and with cottonseed feed products fed on the farm, cotton fits ideally into a soil conservation program.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

When I was a boy I would often play a game by locking my hands together and saying, "Here is the church," and then I would lift my front fingers and say, "Here is the steeple." Then I would swing my hands upside down and say, "I will open the door" and then looking at the ends of my fingers I would say, "And there are the people." Today I am playing the same game as a pastor, but when I open the door I am forced to ask, "Where are the people?" They are not in our churches. They are at water fronts, picture shows, places of amusement. The empty pews in our churches tell us the direction of our age. As God's people, and as God's nation, our church loyalty is on the decline.

A beautiful statue once stood in the market place of an Italian city. It was the form of a slave girl. She was so tidy, well dressed and clean. A ragged child of the street was playing near this statue, and looking intently into the face of the slave girl, she was seen to brush her hair and run away toward her home. Soon she was back with her hair well combed and she was looking again. Then she ran away to return with nice clean clothes and she looked some more. Day after day she was seen to stand before that statue and look upon it, and soon she became a transformed child. That one who produces the beautiful may not be aware of yielding a wholesome influence, but it never fails. A look at the beautiful and we are inspired to something better.

Hawthorne tells us of a great soul that had been formed in the bosom of one who looked upon a pile of rocks on the mountain side, that resembled the head of the ideal man. Earnest was the lad who watched that head day after day and year after year, all the time praying that he might be that man. He became a minister and one Sunday afternoon he was preaching to hundreds of people at the foot of the mountain, and as he spoke to them the sun rays fell upon the face on the man's head on the mountain side, and one in the audience shouted, "Look! his face is like the face of that stalwart man on the mountain."

SHORTAGES OF GRAINS, PROTEINS IS WARNING

P. O. Davis, API extension director, warns of serious shortages of grains and protein ingredients for livestock feed and advises Alabama farmers "to be certain they have adequate feed before more livestock or poultry are obtained."

"Present indications are that this condition will continue for weeks; and it may continue for months," he says. Millions of starving people in Europe is a major factor causing the situation.

"If farmers who plan to feed livestock or poultry on bought feed do not give first consideration to obtaining adequate feed before other steps are taken, they may find themselves with hungry animals and no feed," he concludes.

WORLD FACES SERIOUS 1946 FOOD SHORTAGE

The first six months of 1946 will be the critical period in the European food situation.

Over 125 million people in Europe will have to subsist on less than 2,000 calories a day. About 28 million—mostly city dwellers—will get less than half the average American diet of over 3,000 calories. In some parts of Europe, the figure will go down to 1,000 calories or less.

The chief causes behind the present grave world food problem are these: (1) Total world food production in 1945 was down 12 per cent a person below the prewar level. (2) The distribution of food in war-torn nations was seriously disrupted.

During the war, 11 Alabama counties increased in population and the remaining 56 decreased. Mobile led in increase with 61 per cent from April 1940 to November 1945. Baldwin, Talladega, Calhoun, Russell, Etowah, Colbert, Dale, Montgomery, Madison and Jefferson also increased. Those that decreased over one-fifth were Cherokee, Fayette, Lamar, Marion, Autauga, Marengo, Perry, Conecuh and Monroe.

"It was true, the boy of the valley had kept his eye on the rock head that was so inspiring, and he had grown to be like unto the face that was the ideal man."

for Distinguished Service in the Fields

HAD AWARDS been given for distinguished service on the home front, the overall of many a Southern farmer would today be decorated with service ribbons.

Handicapped by shortages of labor and machinery, he produced record yields of food and farm crops in the critical war years when they were needed most! He did this by working harder and longer—and by care of machinery which could not be replaced.

Peace has come—but new tractors, trucks and machinery are still hard to get. You'll very probably have to nurse your old machinery through another trying season.

Your Standard Oil man can help you with this. Not alone by supplying you with dependable lubricants that will give longer, more useful life to your machinery—but by furnishing you with a Lubrication Chart tailor-made for your own make and model of tractor.

You'll find the Standard Oil man serving your community a good man to know. He's friendly and helpful. Like the dependable products he sells, he's been a "Stand-by" to thousands of Southern farm homes for many, many years.

FREE LUBRICATION CHARTS AND FARM ALMANAC

Ask your Standard Oil man for a copy of his new 1946 Farm Almanac... and for a Lubrication Chart — tailor-made to your own model tractor, that takes care of your tractor's lubrication.

RATION CALENDAR

Sugar — Stamp No. 39 — good for five pounds — expires April 30.

OPA Violations Come High

Infractions of OPA pricing regulations came high for the 26 individuals and firms who made settlements during the past week in the sum of $12,89.84. In addition to the settlements the Office of Price Administration filed suit against one firm for $30,554.00, which is said to involve the largest amount asked by the pricing agency against a retail firm in this state since the inception of controlled prices. The suit was entered against Louis Sokol, Jasper, who operates a furniture business in that city.

Among those who made settlements during the week were: The Montgomery Motor Co., Montgomery, $3,554; E. C. Meeks, Gadsden grocer, $750; The Fruit Distributing Co., Mobile, $753; Hammond Food Store, Mobile, $300; Duke Bros., Furniture Store, Birmingham, $831; R. B. Berman Mercantile Co., Birmingham, $512 and The Jefferson Davis Hotel, Anniston, $4,246.

Other sanctions for amounts ranging from $25 to $100 were settled by several other business firms in various parts of the state.

Sugar Books Must Bear Names And Addresses

Grocers and others engaged in the sale of sugar to consumers have been notified by the Office of Price Administration that they cannot legally accept stamps from such books unless they bear the name and address of the holder.

Because of the fact that all new sugar books are issued from the State Office in Birmingham, they are mailed to users without the name and address of the user written on the face. Accordingly, consumers who receive such books are warned that they must affix the name and address of the person to whom the book is issued, before merchants can legally accept the stamps in exchange for sugar.

Draft Boards are out after the 4-Fers again. Selective Service, 75,000 men behind in their draft quotas last week, ordered draft boards to cut physical requirements to the minimum. Selective service officials finally decided that men that were able to list jobs in a civilian capacity were suitable for the army. In other words, 4-Fers who do not stutter, who do not have partial paralysis, a hernia or a crooked spine or mental deficiencies had better start farming or else getting on the good side with the draft boards.

Every week brings something new. As always contended, anything can and usually does happen in and around Clanton. What are we talking about? Well, if it isn't some guy plowing with a tractor at one o'clock in the morning it's some cute dandel getting herself pushed down the street in a wheelbarrow just to get her name in the paper. But, we are stubborn about publishing names. And that isn't all some guy's two goats each had triplets less than an hour apart in one day. Now Bill Stanley told that one. But just listen to this yarn:

A few years ago a farmer in Clifton County lost his arm. He buried it and a few days later had to dig same up to scratch the ants off. Now that is what we are told and must be a legend or sumpin'.

Returned GI's are finding it hard back in civilian life. Last week a vet told us he was in search for a ball and chain to fasten himself home nights to keep from laying out so much. Now just ain't that some. . . .

Clifton County fishing weather is returning now. Makes us want to go down on Hatchet Creek and tie up at our favorite willow. Last week saw some crappie weather.

Clifton County has gone on a flour-buying spree. Recent talks of flour rationing have emptied the stores. Some stores are completely out of flour as people began flour-hoarding. If the papers announced rationing of castor oil and salts you couldn't find a dose in Clanton in a week.

THIS N'THAT — Ben (The Boss) Tucker says we are going to have to change the name of our column. But, we're stubborn. . . . The Parrish Hospital last week had a monkey to dictator on. . . . The VFW (Veterans of Foreign Wars) is growing by leaps and bounds and it's rumored they have something in store for Clanton. . . . The veterans of the county have not organized and got behind any candidates as yet. . . . There was a big singing at the courthouse last Sunday afternoon. . . . There is one honky-tonk open in the county. . . . There are a few vacuum cleaners and radios coming back on the market but no new cars or tires. . . . Prices on new suits are very reasonable—from $60 up. . . .

Cpl. Christopher Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Campbell of Thorsby, was recently discharged from the army after serving in the ETO with the First Air Force.

A good rule to follow as to the time of planting cotton is given by J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist: "Plant a week or ten days before the usual planting date in your community."

IRA CROWE WRITES COUNTY VOTERS

This is to advise the people of Clifton County who have an interest in the selection of the county officers that I have officially qualified and am entering into the May Primary as a candidate, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary of May 7th, for Sheriff of Clifton County.

As I make this statement, I am well aware of the fact that I am not asking a little thing of the good people of Clifton County when I ask that they vote to turn the responsibility of enforcing the duties of County Sheriff over to me. I am well aware of the responsibility and promise to faithfully uphold the duty of the office.

Perhaps all or most of you know me personally, probably learned to know me while I was serving you as a deputy sheriff during the J. R. Hardy administration, at which time I learned to realize the fact that a man who is to successfully serve his county as an enforcement officer must of necessity be an honorable, sober, kind and humble servant.

I shall strive to make it my esteemed privilege to see all of you in the future and talk the thing over with you as much as you might care to, still I shall try to be quiet conservative of your time and patience.

Should I not see you, personally, before the Primary date, I believe that if I possess the qualities which I have just spoken of you will easily learn of them from a friend or neighbor to the extent that you can determine with satisfaction to yourself whether or not you care to vote for me.

I have been serving the public in various ways for the past twenty years and during which time I had more than two years experience as deputy sheriff of Clifton County.

The experience I have gained thus far in life. The fond regards I have for the people of the county and the earnest solicitations of friends from various parts of the county have prompted me to ask this of you.

I assure you that your vote and influence for me shall be greatly appreciated.

IRA S. CROWE.

YOUNG MEN WANTED IN THE NAVY

Chief F. B. Erwin, Navy Recruiter in charge of the Montgomery Recruiting Office, pointed out today the opportunities which are available to young men who have not decided upon their career, commenting that they are "as good and better than opportunities that are available in most any walk of civilian life."

He listed as basic opportunities (1) a steady job with good pay (2) education, including an opportunity to learn almost any trade and to travel all over the world (3) a career with retirement benefits at the end of 20 years (4) free medical and dental care (5) all G.I. Bill of Rights Benefits assured. "There are no depressions, no layoffs and no unemployment in the Navy," he said, "and Navy ships go all over the world, to every continent and ocean, thus providing world-wide travel which could be had only at great expense otherwise."

He also stated that men enlisting now have an option on the length of time they wish to serve. Enlistments can be made for either 2, 3, 4 or 6 years. Men who are registered for the draft can enlist in the Navy up to the time they receive their final induction notice. The age limits are from 17 to 30 years.

Mr. Erwin also announced that a Navy Recruiter will visit Clanton each Monday and will be at the Local Draft Board from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. for Recruiting purposes. Anyone desiring information on Navy enlistments may see him there.

"GUIDE" PROGRAM IS ISSUED FOR VETS

A 10-point "guide" program for returning veterans was issued today by M. E. Head, Alabama Regional Manager of the Veterans Administration who emphasized that the VA is determined to process applications for benefits as speedily as possible.

Mr. Head said one of the purposes of the "guide" was to clear up what might be misunderstanding of benefits.

The VA Manager's message to veterans follows:

1. If you want to enter training on the job be sure it's training you get and not subsidized employment. Do not overlook the importance of furthering your education by enrolling in a recognized school or college.

2. There is no hurry about taking advantage of the loan provisions of the G.I. Bill. You have 10 years after the official termination of the war to make up your mind, and prices may be in your favor a little later. A loan is not a gift from your Government. It must be repaid with interest at four per cent.

3. Don't apply for readjustment allowance if you can possibly get a job. The readjustment allowance assistance might mean more later when an emergency arises.

4. No Government aid is a substitute for individual initiative.

5. Hold on to your National Service Life Insurance by paying the small monthly premium.

6. Exercise your right to vote by registering as a veteran.

7. If you were disabled in service and need treatment for a service-connected disability, get in touch with the Veterans Administration for free medical service.

8. If the Veterans Administration fails to give you prompt service write the Manager of the Regional Office in Montgomery and mark your letter "personal attention."

9. If you have a C-Number use it on all your correspondence with the Veterans Administration. If not, sign your full name and include your service number, rank and organization at the time of discharge.

10. If you draw a pension for a service connected disability, it will not be reduced because you earn money. Don't be afraid to work.

EN ROUTE HOME

Kenneth Ray Buxton, GM 3-C, son of Mrs. E. V. Buxton, formerly of Maplesville and Clanton, has landed in Los Angeles, Calif. Ray has been a crew member of the U-S-S Springfield since January, 1945. He is a gunmount captain on this ship. Ray also had an active part in the Okinawa and Iwo Jima invasions and was in Tokyo Bay ready for action when war came to an end. He saw seven ships hit, including the popular Enterprise, while in Tokyo Bay.

Since that time Ray has done service in several points in China, such as Tsingtau, Korea, Chinwaungtao and Shanghai.

Ray writes that Shanghai is very rough. He had patrol duty there and in one night he had settled seven fights.

Ray writes he will be glad to return to his own native land and be himself once again.

To prevent a child from taking things which belong to others, give him possessions of his own and respect his rights to them.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Quite a large number of cooperators of the North Central Soil Conservation District are going to plant sericea and kudzu this Spring to be used for hay and grazing. A very high percentage of this sericea and kudzu will be planted on critical slopes and in meadow outlets or water disposal areas.

Two cooperators are going to plant a large acreage this time in sericea and kudzu. Mr. J. J. Headley is going to plant twenty-five acres of sericea and 10 acres of kudzu. Mr. Headley plans to use his sericea mostly for early Spring and late Summer grazing.

Mr. Eli Borden is going to plant fifteen acres of sericea and twelve acres of kudzu. Almost all of Mr. Borden's sericea will be planted in meadow outlets which will be used to empty terrace water into after the sericea has been established. He also expects to maintain and use these areas as a source of hay. The kudzu will be used for hay and temporary grazing throughout the Summer.

Now is the time to plant kudzu. Co-operators that are going to establish areas in kudzu should do so as soon as possible. Sericea should be planted on a well prepared seedbed that has been allowed to settle. Sericea can be planted as early as the latter part of March and the first week in April.

Thomas Bazzel Returns Home

Major Thomas R. Bazzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bazzel, of Clanton, returned home last Sunday on terminal leave after five years service in the Army Air Corps.

Thomas established quite a record in the army. He was commissioned a second Lieut. in the Air Corps at Turner Field, Ga., in October 1941 and left there and went to Puerto Rico where he spent two years. While in Puerto Rico, he flew submarine patrol and was escorting convoys.

In January 1944 he returned to the states and was sent to Columbia, S. C., where he was a flying instructor for seven months.

In September 1944 Thomas was sent to the Pacific where he was flying a B125, two-motored bomber. He went to Kiak Island first and worked from there on up through the Philippines and on to Ie Shima.

One duty Thomas recalls was that of flying the Japanese Emmissaries from Japan to Ie Shima on their way to the Philippines to sign the surrender terms drawn out by General MacArthur.

Forty-two combat missions are shown on his record and his last duty was that of Squadron CO and Group Operations Officer.

RECRUITING FOR PEACE-TIME ARMY ENCOURAGED

Recruiting for the peace-time Army was most encouraging the first fourteen days of February, according to Capt. Marion J. Brodnax, commanding officer of District 6, Recruiting Service of Alabama.

Capt. Brodnax reports that there were 254 applicants enlisted at the seven recruiting stations and substations in the state up to and including February 14. Capt. Brodnax broke this figure down as follows: Birmingham 67, Florence 22, Gadsden 39, Huntsville 42, Montgomery 27, Dothan 29, Mobile 28.

In making this report, Capt. Brodnax stressed the importance of more of our young men enlisting and veterans re-enlisting in order to build our peace-time Army to guard the victory that we have just won in Europe and Asia.

To the young men who are facing making a decision as to their future career, Capt. Brodnax extends a very cordial invitation to them to drop into their nearest recruiting station and talk with the recruiting officer there in regard to the advantages of a life in our Peace-Time Army. These recruiting officers are in a position to help these men compare wages and opportunities in the Army with comparative civilian wages and opportunities.

KING JAMES VERSION OF BIBLE RE-WITTEN

The King James version of the New Testament has been re-written into modern, easier-to-read English. The work was accomplished by and sponsored by some forty denominations and embodies eight years of work. The work was headed by the Yale Divinity School, Yale University.

The new edition of the world's most widely read book is supposed to be in a more modern English which makes it easier to read aloud. To explain this, look at the samples of the three versions of the New Testament: (These samples are taken from Mark 10:14.)

KING JAMES: "But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, 'Suffer the little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not: for of such is the Kingdom of God.'"

AMERICAN STANDARD: "But when Jesus saw it, He was moved with indignation, and said unto them, suffer the little children to come unto Me, forbid them not; for to such belongeth the Kingdom of God."

REVISED STANDARD: "But when Jesus saw it, He was indignant, and said to them, 'Let the children come to Me, do not hinder them; for to such belongs the Kingdom of God.'"

TREAT COTTON SEED FOR HIGH YIELDS

Urging Alabama farmers to treat their cotton seed before planting season, J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist, points out that the rainy weather which prevailed during the cotton picking season caused cotton seed to become loaded with seed-borne diseases.

"Unless cotton seed is treated with Ceresan or some equally effective material to kill these seed-borne diseases, stands will be poor next spring and the average yields will be down considerably," he predicts.

"Treatment of seed not only makes a better stand possible, but the treatment increases the health and vigor of the plants, enabling them to produce maximum yields. The cost of treatment is small and the seed can be treated any time between now and planting time."

YELLOW SWEET POTATOES BETTER THAN PALE ONES

The sweetpotato, long valued as an excellent food, may also be important to the vitamins-A and C.

Among the most of Vitamin A, choose the yellow-skinned varieties that are rich in carotene (pro-vitamin A). Recent tests show that the red or yellow skinned varieties are remarkably good sources of Vitamin A, but that the pale-skinned kinds provide less. Sweetpotato varieties differ much less in Vitamin C than in Vitamin A.

Upset Stomachs Yield Inches Of Gas And Bloat

"I was so full of gas I was afraid I'd burst. Sour, bitter substance rose up in my throat from my upset stomach after meals. I got INNER-AID, and it worked inches of gas and bloat from me. Waistline is way down now. Meals are a pleasure. I praise Inner-Aid to the sky."—This is an actual testimonial from a man living right here in Clanton.

INNER-AID is the new formula containing medicinal juices from 12 Great Herbs; these herbs cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. Don't go on suffering. Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County.—Adv.

Many loyal alumnae retrace their steps to the campus of Alabama College for the 44th annual homecoming activities held on last Friday and Saturday, February 22 and 23. The highlight of the program occurred at the Saturday Alumnae luncheon when one of the College's distinguished alumnae is named "The Alumna of the Year."

Homecoming activities are arranged by the Alabama College Alumnae Association of which Mrs. Alton B. Parker (Martha Scott '31), from Birmingham, is President, Mrs. J. Howard Jones, from Mobile, is Vice-President, Miss Louise Lovelady, Montevallo, Secretary, and Miss Ethel Harris, Montevallo, Treasurer. Honored guests at an Alumnae tea on Saturday afternoon were forty-four students whose mothers attended Alabama College. Classes of 1905, 1915, 1925, 1935 and 1945 had meetings during the afternoons of the two-day event. Students and faculty members of several departments plan to entertain graduates of their respective departments. Business meetings were held Saturday morning.

In keeping with a forty-four year old tradition, the Alabama College Alumnae Association met in historic and beautiful Reynolds Hall, built in 1853.

The Future of
SERVICE
in ALABAMA

We're working mighty hard these days on a big job we've got to deliver—our $300,000,000 expansion program. It's an all embracing program that will provide better telephone service and telephones for all who want them.

The job ahead of us is one that must be handled with care. The vast sum of money involved places a heavy responsibility on both management and employees. It will be spent wisely and cautiously and with the same care that has always characterized your Telephone Company's operations.

There is also the responsibility of maintaining adequate earnings so that the funds needed to build more telephone facilities can be secured. The money will have to come, as it has in the past, from thrifty people putting their hard earned cash in the Telephone Company. But unless they have confidence in the safety of their investment and feel assured of a reasonable return on that investment, now funds for expansion will not be forthcoming.

So it is easy to see that telephone earnings have a direct bearing on the future of telephone service.

How women and girls
may get wanted relief
from functional periodic pain

Cardul is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like aches and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
2. Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardul. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Text Of Address Delivered By Congressman Pete Jarman

Below is the text of a radio address made by Congressman Pete Jarman over station WSGN, Birmingham, on Sunday, February 24th:

There was a time when moments were required to cross the Atlantic. During World War I, I spent 14 days en route to Europe. However, conditions have greatly changed. Only 33½ hours were required for Colonel Lindbergh to pioneer the 3,600 mile air-lane to Paris. I flew from Casablanca to New York in 24 hours in September. In June and July I flew around the world. Not only could we not fly a straight course, but many side trips were necessary to accomplish our mission which caused us to proceed from 39 degrees above the Equator at Washington to 34 degrees south of it at Sydney, Australia. Therefore, the distance was 34,489 miles, about 9,000 miles more than the circumference of the earth. Only six weeks and a day were required.

The shrinking of the universe which has resulted from the progress of science, particularly aviation, is one outstanding reason why no future war can be permitted to occur. Once isolated by the thousand miles of water to the east and west, the size of these oceans has been so reduced that it would be complete folly for us to hope to avoid participation in any consequential war of the future.

Therefore, the most important event of January, 1946, the most compelling one, the event which will most greatly effect the future of mankind was not the one of which many of us thought most. No, it was not the unfortunate labor-management strife. While those strikes greatly retarded reconversion and were most damaging and regrettable, their results were at worst temporary, passing fleeting matters. The most important occurrence of that month and, if our hopes are fulfilled, the most important one of this year; yes, if our generation and of all time, was the first meeting of the General Assembly of the United Nations Organization, in London on January 10th. As illustrative of its transcendent importance and my opinion of its possibilities, I quote from a speech I made on the floor of the House on April 25, 1945, a few hours before the San Francisco Conference convened:

"During the last war the most terrible, the most heinous, the most deadly new weapon that was produced, I suppose, was gas. When that first gas attack came at Ypres on those British soldiers who did not know what it was and were not at all prepared to defend themselves against it, it was simply not only murder but annihilation. So far as I know, chemical warfare has not been indulged in during this war. Why? Is it because the Germans and the Japs have become more human than the Germans were 26 years ago? Certainly the horrors of Manila and of these concentration camps which have liberated during the past few weeks in Germany answer that question most emphatically and resoundingly. No; that was not the reason. The reason was, my colleagues, that those Japs and Germans, knowing that the Allies were thoroughly prepared to send the gas back to them if they started it, having been well warned by Churchill and others, were unwilling to subject their own people, particularly their civilians to such horrors. With the progress of science and the efficiency of war making, the increased efficiency of aviation, the invention of the jet bomb, and the custom of mass murder of peoples, I tell you that if the world is ever subjected to a future war, the horrors of those gas attacks at Ypres and elsewhere will fade literally into insignificance when compared to those of the next war which simply, therefore, and for many other reasons, must not occur."

This statement, similar to several I had previously made on the floor, occurred less than four months before the atomic bomb, which abundantly fulfilled my prediction much sooner than I anticipated, concluded World War II.

As the Dumbarton Oaks Conference convened on August 21, 1944, I said in the House: "It is true that similar conferences have unfortunately failed in the past but I am convinced that the science of war has progressed to such an efficient and terrible stage that the people of the world will this time realize that we must in some way find an avenue of approach to a permanent peace if civilization as we know it is to survive."

The most heroic and noblest of these efforts were sponsored by a great American whose heart and body were broken by the failure of the United States Senate to realize the importance and possibilities of his brainchild. It is human to err, and Woodrow Wilson made two tragic mistakes. They were doubtless considered of small import by such a high-minded statesman with such an otherwise clear and prophetic vision, as they should have been by those offended by him. Their occurrence and the resulting offense was, in my opinion, destined to influence history more and cause more death suffering and expense than any other misunderstanding between the Executive and a branch of the Legislature. The first and most deadly was his failure not to follow the suggestion that Senator Lodge, who so soon became Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, accompany him to the Peace Conference in Paris. The second was his failure to consult the Senate before committing our country to participate in the League of Nations. These mistakes were not repeated in 1945 when another great President, Roosevelt, sent Senators Connally and Vandenberg to the San Francisco Conference, thereby greatly influencing the ratification of its handwork by the Senate. President Truman also wisely sent them to the first United Nations meeting in London which happily functioned so auspiciously as to justify great hope.

The circumstances perhaps caused another mistake, to be unavoidable, that of combining the effort to create permanent peace with the Peace Treaty which concluded World War One. Though unavoidable then, it was avoided this time by our invitation to Great Britain, Russia and China to discuss permanent peace plans at Dumbarton Oaks while the war was still in progress. The ground work was there laid for the United Nations Charter which was agreed upon in the full-dress San Francisco Conference participated in by all peace loving nations, between VE and VJ Days. It became operative on October 24, 1945, after ratification by the so-called "Big Five" and a majority of the other signatory states.

As I, in September, strolled through the stately, spacious, vacant, silent buildings and grounds of the League of Nations' plant in Geneva, which incidentally has now become the property of the United Nations Organization, I was made sad indeed by reflection on the tragic result of the failure of that very worth while organization which, as I have indicated, I think resulted largely from our failure to participate therein, "tragic indeed though I realize this statement to be. When one thinks of the millions of casualties, the billions of dollars, the destruction of property, the terrible dislocations and other tragedies it cost, he can but conclude that no leader, no group, no nation can possibly afford to refrain from cooperation in doing whatever is necessary to prevent World War Three.

There is in progress now a pioneering endeavor which will considerably influence ambitious war-like leaders of the future in this respect. Following the last war the Kaiser merely left Germany and was isolated during the remainder of his life in Holland, and only a very few of the numerous war criminals who were arrested were convicted. Not only did no one pay with his life, but 10 months was the severest sentence meted out by these German courts. The new concept of international law now being established at Neurenburg, in Manila and in Japan, which for the first time makes national leaders responsible for war crimes committed under their direction, and because of which many will hang, is not only quite proper but should, and I believe will, have a very salutary effect. Furthermore, these war criminals are being tried by Allied Army courts.

Having briefly given you my idea of what we may expect in international relations and of the goal toward which it behooves everyone of us to diligently strive, it occurs to me to conclude with an illustration of how an insignificant occurrence may change one's whole course in the Germans or anywhere else, by telling you why I have been my privilege and pleasure to have a ringside seat in the consideration of international affairs during these tragically important days. The Foreign Affairs Committee is a major or select one. In the summer of 1939 during my second year in Congress, I knew that I would become Chairman of the Printing Committee the following year and that it was not customary for a majority party member of a major committee to serve on any other committee. Therefore, while I had casually considered applying for membership on Foreign Affairs also, I doubted seriously the possibility of gaining it because of this custom. While listening to one of Hitler's tirades against Czechoslovakia just before he swallowed that brave, fine little country, I became convinced that during the next five or ten years particularly, and probably throughout my Congressional career, the Foreign Affairs Committee would be the all-important committee of the House and that I should secure membership on it if at all possible. Consequently, I applied for this assignment which it was my good fortune to receive. Naturally, I have never regretted that decision which has placed me more or less in the forefront during consideration of Neutrality legislation, its piece-meal repeal after we learned it would not accomplish the laudable purpose for which we hoped; Lend-Lease, which probably contributed more toward winning the war and undoubtedly saved more American lives than any other occurrence during it; UNRRA, the outstanding humanitarian endeavor on the part of uninvaded countries, particularly the United States, and finally our participation in the United Nations Organization. Closely allied with the latter are Bretton Woods; the International Food Conference, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, and probably considerable other legislation of which we are now unaware.

As I continue to represent you in this position, it will be my constant endeavor to exert my best efforts to prevent your son, your grandson, or your great grandson from undergoing the recent experience of a young man in practically every family in Alabama by materializing my strongly felt conviction that, regardless of discouraging occurrences of the moment, or of the future, permanent peace IS possible and MUST occur. Let us all have and pray for the success of our combined efforts toward this end.

POWER MACHINES WILL AID ALABAMA FARMERS

A better job of farming in Alabama will result from increased mechanization, predicts J. B. Wilson, API extension agricultural engineer.

Through the use of more power equipment, farmers will need to: (1) Farm more acres at less cost, (2) Increase the use of winter legumes and terracing, (3) Turn all land in the spring, eliminating fall plowing, (4) Turn under all organic matter on the fields, eliminating burning or raking off stalks and litter, (5) Do all farm jobs "on time." (6) Harvest more rapidly, resulting in less loss of crop.

BULLETIN AVAILABLE ON TURKEY RAISING

"Turkey Talk," a practical guide for raising turkeys, has recently been published by the API extension service and is available to Alabama farmers.

Written by John Ivey, extension poultryman, this bulletin should be valuable to both new and experienced turkey raisers. Suggestions for housing, brooding, feeding, sanitation and general care are given.

Copies may be obtained without cost from county extension agents.

Farmers can sell without going to town; use the Want Ads.

USDA clothing specialists offer some timely hints about hosiery care which should help prolong the life of your hose until more are available:

(1) For mending snags and runs the best results are obtained by raveling yarn from an old stocking. Stocking yarn is of lighter weight than ordinary mending thread and will be less conspicuous. Thread from old nylon stockings is best, of course, if you have it, but heavy rayon stockings also give excellent thread for mending.

(2) Most girdles now are made with tape instead of elastic garters. If you can find elastic by the yard, it's wise to substitute elastic for the tape. It will increase the "give" and cut down on runs from the top of the stocking. Also, it's worthwhile to check the garter grips, and if they appear likely to cut hose, it is often wise to replace them with better grips from old girdles.

Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Brown leave tomorrow for a few days visit with their daughter in Mobile.

NATCHEL NITRATE IS JES' NATCHELLY GOOD!

Sonny will get to be a right good hand with an axe, soon as he's learned to handle it natchel-like. The quickest way to learn things, I always figure, is to take nature into your calculating! Us farmers, specially—with nature as our partner—has to think things out the natchel way. Now take fertilizer. It seems the natchel kind generally works the best. At least, for the last hundred years farmers round here has been growing mighty good crops with it. Natchel Chilean Soda comes right out of the ground where Mother Nature put it. And it leaves the land sweeter every time you use it. That's why we like to use Chilean Nitrate of Soda on our crops. Just being natchel seems to make it different from any other kind.

Will Gullege Announces For State Senator

Mr. Will A. Gullege of Verbena has announced for the State Senate to represent the Fifteenth Senatorial District comprising Chilton, Autauga and Shelby counties.

Many of his Chilton County friends are pleased with his announcement because of his untiring efforts in getting for this District better roads, better bridges; his work in the schools of the county and his long fight for the bridge over the Coosa River linking the counties of Chilton and Coosa.

Having been in the mercantile business practically all of his life and being a land owner, he is in a position to know the farmers' problems. Being in public life, he has kept abreast of the time and its progress.

In the coming race Mr. Gullege will oppose G. C. Walker and Lawrence F. Gerald, Jr., who have previously announced. Mr. Walker is a member of the Legislature from Chilton and Mr. Gerald is a prominent Clanton attorney.

Mr. Gullege's political career started before he was married when he was first elected Trustee of Chilton County Schools. He has served the past eight years as a Member of the County School Board.

He is interested and active in road building and stated Monday that if elected would use his influence in getting more paved roads.

To direct an active campaign in three counties would take a lot of time and he said that he would depend on his friends to lend their support and influence to his cause.

JIMMY BELL BUYS
OLD THOMASON HOTEL

A real estate transaction of interest was completed here this week when Jimmy Bell, prominent hardware man of Clanton, bought the Old Thomason Hotel from the Rev. Guy Shields. It is understood that Mr. Bell will use the bottom floor of the hotel as a store room for hardware and the upper stories will be converted into apartments.

MR. CHARLIE COX IS SORE

Jack House, State News Editor for The Birmingham News, has made our Mr. Charlie Cox good and sore. Tuesday the News published one in a series of features, "Know Your State." In this feature they write the new businesses, give a little history, etc., of an Alabama Community. This week when they wrote about Clanton they completely ignored Mr. Cox's concrete block business and his plumbing business. What gets Mr. Cox is the fact that they named all the little businesses around him and his place, that covers about a city block, was left out. And overlooking a thing as big as Cox & McKenzie and Cox Concrete Products looks deliberate. If we were Mr. Charlie we would be sore too.

Wrestling Matches New Weekly Event Here

Weekly wrestling matches are now in the offering to Chilton County sports fans to be held in Clanton each Saturday night at 8:30 at the high school gymnasium.

This weekly mat card is brought here under the Local Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and top-notch wrestlers of the south and southeast will be the performers at each weekly event. The matches that will be seen in Clanton are under the over-all direction of the State Athletic Commission and are promoted by Joe Gunthier, of Birmingham, a former light-heavy weight wrestler. Wrestlers that appear here will be the same performers seen in Birmingham on Monday nights and Montgomery on Fridays.

In opening wrestling matches for Clanton, Promoter Gunthier is sending down four of the best grapplers in Alabama. They are all light-heavy weights and have proven themselves to be favorites in other cities in Alabama and the south.

In the main bout, this week's program calls for Mike Chacoma, a 200-pound grappler from Oklahoma to meet Nick Carter, of Oneonta, Ala. Chacoma is light-heavy weight champion until a few weeks ago. He lost his title to Sailor Watkins in Birmingham.

ham, Carter, a younger bruiser, is liked by fans everywhere and always gives his opponents trouble. The main bout is for two falls out of three with a 90-minute time limit.

In the preliminary bout Charlie Keene, a 200-pounder from St. Louis, Mo., will have his hands full when he tackles V. Cacoma, 190 pounds of trouble from Mexico City, Mexico. This preliminary bout will be the best two out of three falls with a 60-minute time limit.

Tickets will go on sale at 7 o'clock at the auditorium. Advance ticket may be bought at the City Grill, in Clanton, any time this week.

Dear Joe . . .

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

Do you remember when you and me and all of us were overseas sweating it out and we said time and time again: "Just wait until we get home. We'll change things." Sure you do. We all said it, but did we mean it? It seems that a little of this seemingly far-sighted thinking remained.

When the overseas veterans started pouring back into Chilton County it didn't take them long to organize for action. They, the overseas veterans joined up and formed a local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. T. H. (Horton) Walker was voted to be the Post Commander.

Under the aggressive leadership of Mr. Walker, it didn't take the VFW long to get started. One of the first things the VFW realized was the lack of entertainment in Clanton. The VFW in a few weeks was geared for action and voted to bring to Clanton a new form of entertainment—wrestling matches. Permission was granted by the State Athletic Commission, the County Board of Education and all was set. This Saturday night, this long drawn-out plan comes to a head. We say congratulations to the VFW for providing some form of entertainment for Clanton that has so long been neglected. But the VFW is not through with this. It is understood they have something else in the making. What will it be this time? There is one sure thing: It'll be of community and county interest.

We know there wouldn't have been

"I call you leaders of today, because these days we haven't time to wait overlong for tomorrow to arrive."

Ensign Kliner has been active in student affairs. During the training period at Georgia Tech, he was a member of the following organization, Phi Eta Sigma honorary academic fraternity.

any sleep lost, but this week "Dear Joe" almost missed the press. Why? Brother, with wrestling matches coming up and a boxholder special edition of the News in the making "poor" Joe had his hands full.

Senator Hill Tells People Of Progress On Coosa Project

IN MEMORY OF MRS. E. S. CARROLL

On February 19th, God saw fit to take our loving mother from this world of sorrow to Heaven where sorrow is unknown.

Mother has been home-sick for Heaven since dear old dad was taken 12 years ago. Although it was Will to keep her here for us to love for a long time, mother's fate registered God's great love for everyone, bubbling over with kindness. Although she was 75 years old, we could never get ready to give her up, but our loss is Heaven's gain.

All the good things we could say or do would never equal what she has meant to us.

To all the children I'm sure if mother could speak, she would say, weep not, dear children, for all is well and Heaven is so beautiful. Come along with me where we'll never grow old; never no more tears, all the former things have passed away and everything has become new.

New we children are left behind to weep, but have a new interest in Heaven it gives us a greater desire to live closer, pray more, love more and some day meet around that Great White Throne in Heaven rejoicing forever more.—Mrs. E. B. Carroll, Box 78, Aliceville, Ala.

FLOUR EXTRACTION FLOUR MAKES GOOD BISCUITS

Alabama homemakers need not worry about the change to the new 80 per cent extraction flour—they'll like it. So states Elizabeth Forney, API state home demonstration agent, in pointing out that the flour has a slightly darker color. "But, the flavor is more 'wheaty' and the food value the same as in enriched flour, with an improvement in protein quality," she said. "The new flour is much finer and lighter than whole wheat flour, but no change in method of making bread will be necessary."

"Homemakers can make a real contribution by using this flour, called for in President Truman's order to make more bread available to the starving Europeans. This order requires that the extraction of flour from wheat be raised from 70 per cent to 80 per cent. It means that for the duration of the emergency, 48 pounds instead of 42 pounds of flour will be milled from each bushel, or 60 pounds of wheat."

"By finding new uses for left-over breads and letting none go to waste, women can further help the critical wheat situation," said Miss Forney.

FULL FEED STEERS FOR STOCK SHOWS

Steers now being fed out for Spring and Fall fat stock shows by Alabama 4-H Club and FFA members should by this time be on full feed, advised W. H. Gregory, AI extension livestock marketing specialist.

Use home-mixed feeds, such as eight pounds of cracked corn, two pounds cracked oats and one pound of cotton seed meal. This ration mixture is the preferred, but if oats are not available, feed ten pounds of corn and cob meal with one pound of cotton seed meal.

Gregory explained that "full" feed means keeping feed before the steer in a trough about 14 inches above the ground with a box containing loose table salt along side.

High quality seed are always the best. Sometimes they may seem expensive, but in buying planting seed it is unwise to hunt bargains, says J. C. Lowery, API extension service agronomist.

Great progress is being made on the development of the Alabama-Coosa River project. This week Senator Lister Hill of Alabama reports on this progress. Senator Hill's statement follows:

We are now well on our way toward the construction of the Alabama-Coosa River project. The Senate has just passed the bill which authorizes the section of the River and Harbor Act prohibiting appropriations until six months after the official end of the war. This means that the initial money for the Alabama-Coosa project can now be appropriated.

The War Department Civil Functions Appropriations Bill, providing an allocation of $316,000 for planning and preliminary steps in the development of the Alabama-Coosa Project, having just recently been passed in the House of Representatives, is now pending before the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate. The passage of this appropriations bill will be a real step toward the final consummation of the sixty-million dollar project which will be an epochal event in the life of Alabama. The Senate Committee begins hearings next week and I am doing these initial findings within my power to get the earliest possible date.

For over 100 years the people of the Coosa-Alabama Valley have sought the development of the Coosa-Alabama Rivers. The development will require time but its consummation is assured.

Alabama and particularly the people of the Coosa-Alabama Valley can look forward to a nine-foot channel from Rome, Ga., to Mobile. This means water transportation and the resultant reduction in freight rates. It means increased land values and a market for the rich minerals and natural resources of the Valley.

It means protection from floods and the development of a huge amount of hydro-electric power. This power will greatly speed the development of industry and the establishment of the plants and mills so necessary to give Alabama a proper balance between agriculture and industry. Such a balance means local markets for the farmers' products, better and more stable farm prices, more and better jobs for Alabama men and women and a better, better and more prosperous economic life for all the people of the State.

A new freezer locker plant will open shortly in Mobile. It will have 1,000 lockers and complete processing and freezing facilities for meat, vegetables, and frozen foods. Also, it will have a large room for storage and a large room for processing facilities will be provided.

Man Had Brick In His Stomach For 10 Years

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking INNER-AID and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man. INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County.—Adv.

LAND OWNERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETINGS

Sixty-four former tenants who have purchased farms through the Farm Security Administration are busy preparing for their annual meetings. Every group has a picnic and a picnic up a prize.

This group of former tenants is now out details for the project. The morning meeting is devoted to a business discussion led by a chairman selected from the group. This year considerable time will be devoted to discussing improvements which can be made in operations of the farm and home, and also ways and means of increasing incomes on the farm. During the day, Mr. C. O. Norton, Soil Conservationist, and Mrs. Minerva O'Rear, County Public Health Nurse, will use motion pictures to illustrate phases of the program.

Three such meetings will be held over the county and are scheduled as follows:

County Training School—March 11, at 10 o'clock a.m. This meeting is for the negro farm owners who have purchased farms through FSA.

Liberty Hill Church—March 12, at 10 o'clock a.m. This meeting is for farm ownership borrowers from the northern section of the county. Mr. Cleo Cofer will act as chairman.

Enterprise School—March 13, at 10 o'clock a.m. This meeting is for farm ownership borrowers from the southern section of the county. Mr. George H. Ham will act as chairman. The meeting will be under the direction of the county agent.

One way to prevent bread waste is not to overbuy. Because bread becomes too stale for many people's taste, it should be purchased in small quantities. At home keep bread in a cool, dry place. Do not keep bread in a warm, moist place.

CHILTON COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.

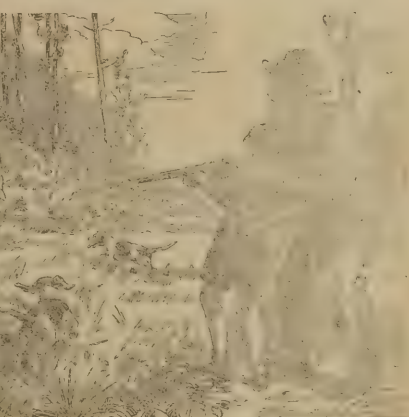

M. D. FOSHEE, Manager

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the Title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages and judgments or other liens, affecting the Title, which an Abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an Abstract of Title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an Abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

FIGURING THINGS OUT

"Natchelly"

Awahle back I was learning Sonny how to handle a shotgun so he could figure out where Br'er Rabbit natchelly was going to be on his next jump. Sonny got the idea mighty quick for a boy his age. Maybe it's because he's noticed how us farmers always tries to do things the natchel way. For instance, it just comes natchel to use Chilean soda to give our crops a quick start and keep 'em growing strong and healthy.

Us farmers has been using natchel soda for more than a hundred years. Seems like just being natchel makes it different from any other kind.

Maybe folks won't be able to get all the soda they want this season, but if we're careful with what we get it may do.

THORSBY CIVIC CLUB

Spring cleaning fever struck the Thorsby Civic Club on Monday night. Cars and cans have lately been appearing from the center of town and now the community wants to make a thorough job of it. The third week in March has been designated for "Clean-Up Week." The Civic Club is calling on the schools, churches, Scouts and all citizens to join in the campaign. A truck with volunteers will gather trash from vacant lots. Last Saturday afternoon a Sunday School class of boys started cleaning the center of town and will plant flower beds after the cleaning has been finished.

The town park has been landscaped, labor volunteered and next Wednesday afternoon has been set for the shrubbery planting. Committees reported on membership, town markers, traffic lights, milk plant, medical service and musical concerts.

The need for wholesome motion pictures developed a general discussion. A proposal was made that the Civic Club initiate the purchase of a 16mm sound projector which would be used by the schools, churches and clubs for a regular program of high grade pictures. A special committee was appointed to study the need and recommend a plan.

A Message Concerning Telephones For Farmers

One of our most important peccettime activities, supplying telephones in farm areas, has been resumed and is being expanded as rapidly as equipment and materials are available.

Considerable time and equipment will be required to build the lines and install the facilities necessary to extend service to all areas.

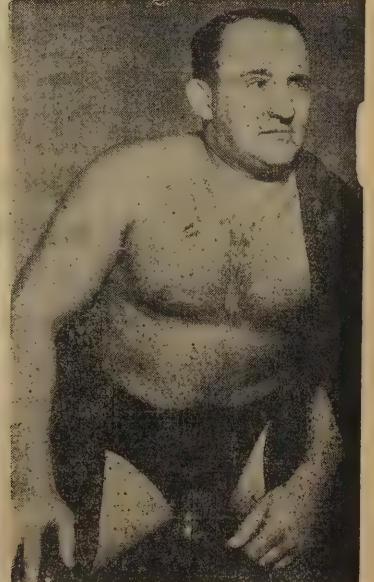

You will be glad to know, however, that we have started our rural development activities and are expanding the work to bring telephones to additional farm communities just as fast as we can.

EDWARD de GRAFFENRIED

To The People Of The Sixth Congressional District:

Four years ago the people of Tuscaloosa County were kind enough to elect me Solicitor over strong and capable opposition. I have justified their confidence in me by conducting the affairs of the office in such a manner that I can apparently have the office again without opposition. However, several younger members of the bar have expressed a desire to run for Solicitor in the event I am not a candidate. I have finally decided to answer a greater call for service. For several weeks I have been urged by representative citizens from all over the Sixth Congressional District to offer as a candidate for Congress. The call has been too great for me to turn down.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for congress, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary of May 7, 1946.

If elected, I will pursue the duties of the office with the same vigor that has characterized my 12 years service as Solicitor of this Circuit.

I will appreciate your vote and influence.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Now is the time to start putting out kudzu crowns and seedlings. Many cooperators of the North Central Soil Conservation District prepared their land and put the fertilizer in during the months of January and February and will now set their plants out by hand on a well prepared bed at the rate of 500 plants per acre. Spacing between rows will be approximately seven feet and planted about six feet apart on the bed. Under normal conditions this method of preparation and planting produces an excellent plant survival and a rapid rate of growth.

Method of planting kudzu by hand is the best method used throughout the district. In most cases the plants are set out in rows both times.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to our friends and loved ones for every kind deed shown us during the illness and death of our dear daughter, Mary Ann, who passed away February 26th. Especially do we thank Dr. Golden, Miss Gardner and her nurses; and Mr. Martin, the Undertaker; also the beautiful floral offering.—Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Smith.

Don't put too much water in the washing machine. It will cut down the efficiency of the washer and cause excessive splashing.

MANURE EXCELLENT GARDEN FERTILIZER

Highest vegetable production is made by using animal manure, though turned legumes greatly boost yields.

This was one of the conclusions reached by API Experiment Station horticulturists after six years of observing the effects of manure and turned cover crops on the yield of vegetable crops grown on light garden soils.

Experiments conducted on loamy or sandy soils resulted in yields of 70 bushels of tomatoes and 8,176 pounds of sweet corn where manure was used. Where vetch was turned yield were 467 and 7,394 for the two crops. In each case 1,000 pounds of 6-10-6 fertilizer per acre were used. This amount of fertilizer used without either vetch or manure gave 369 bushels of tomatoes and 2,281 pounds of sweet corn.

Among other studies the experimental results showed:

(1) Manure plus 1,000 pounds of 6-10-6 gave better yields than 1,500 pounds of 6-10-6 alone. The respective yields when applied to lettuce were—6,676 and 2,919; beets—5,387 and 1,170; carrots—11,085 and 3,005; and cabbage—12,851 and 5,875.

(2) Vetch turned gave 161 bushels of snap beans; no vetch—3 bushels.

LUTHER BROADHEAD

Luther Broadhead, age 56, passed away February 25th, at a Tuscaloosa hospital. Funeral services were conducted at Mt. Nebo Church at 3 o'clock on Wednesday; internment in the adjoining cemetery. The Rev. Joe Gibson officiated.

Pallbearers were: M. D. Broadhead, Yolon Broadhead, Jim Baker, T. J. Headley, Crawford Williams and Clyde Headley.

Flowers were: Mrs. Fannie Belle Smith, Mrs. Glennie Baker, Miss Etta Baker and Mrs. Rora Williams.

Cowpeas gave 13,681 pounds of tender greens; no cowpeas—3,187. On hot vegetables 1,000 pounds of 0-16-6 were used.

BOOST LOCAL PROGRAMS
THEME OF NATIONAL 4-H CLUB WEEK MARCH 2-10

The first peace-time observance of National 4-H Club Week in the rural youth organization's history will be held March 2-10. Its main theme will be, "The Local 4-H Club in a Changing World." Significantly, its chief objective will be to encourage 1,700,000 club members to strengthen their own local 4-H programs to help in solving home-front problems of peace as effectively as they did those of war. Ten 4-H "guideposts" and a new goal of "3,200,000 members by 1950" will be emphasized in the week's program.

Prominent business and professional men and women, as well as leading industrial organizations long interested in furthering 4-H Club work, are cooperating in the program by offering incentives for outstanding 4-H records of achievement. These include merit awards of medals, U. S. Savings Bonds, National 4-H Club Coupons, trips, college scholarships and special trophies, on county, state, sectional and national levels.

"VOTE for a New MAN for GOVERNOR of ALABAMA on May 7th"

ELBERT BOOZER

ELBERT BOOZER

A PROGRESSIVE BUSINESSMAN and FARMER

"The People's Candidate For Governor"

He Will Return Your State Government Back To The People To Whom It Rightfully Belongs

Democratic Primary, May 7th, 1946

ELBERT BOOZER was the first Candidate for GOVERNOR to make known his Position on Public Matters in this Campaign.

Assistance to War Vets—Aid to Our Old-Age People

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE SOUND BUSINESS AND WORKABLE PLATFORM ELBERT BOOZER IS OFFERING THE PEOPLE OF ALABAMA FOR THEIR APPROVAL MAY 7, 1946:

USE OF SURPLUS INCOME TAX: (A) 40% to be earmarked by constitutional amendment to increase the salary of Alabama's teachers. (B) 40% to create a trust fund to begin monthly payments to Alabama's disabled war veterans and widows of deceased veterans. (C) 20% to be earmarked for old-age assistance purposes.

TAXES: If elected Governor, Elbert Boozer will oppose any increase in taxes.

MERIT SYSTEM: Judge Boozer is the only candidate for Governor who has had the courage to publicly denounce and call for the abolishment of the so-called state Merit System. This has no application whatever to any city or county merit system or civil service.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES: Elbert Boozer favors and if elected Governor will advocate a state-wide referendum to determine whether or not the present liquor law shall or shall not be retained.

WAR VETERANS: Repeal of the so-called merit system will give Alabama's War Veterans an opportunity they do not have now, namely, to be employed by their state government without having to comply with needless red tape and endless delay. Judge Boozer favors the creation of a five million dollar trust fund to be earmarked for aid to disabled Alabama veterans.

LABOR: Elbert Boozer's past record as a business man will show that he has been fair to capital and labor, and if elected Governor he will appoint a State Labor Commissioner from the ranks of Alabama's laboring men.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION AND TELEPHONES: Judge Boozer will cooperate with public and private agencies to make the services of electricity and telephones available in every rural district of Alabama.

Headquarters Address: Greystone Hotel, Montgomery; Boozer Bldg., Anniston

New And Modern Water System Planned For Jemison; Preparations Have Begun

A complete water works system is in the making for the town of Jemison, according to Mayor A. A. Langston and recent announcements from Washington.

In a telegram from Washington last week, Senator Hill and Representative Jarman, informed the News and Jemison that $1,250,000 had been approved by the Federal Works Agency. Mr. Langston stated that this money was to be used in a preparatory manner—such as surveying, planning, etc.

Jemison at present has no public water system but heretofore has relied on electric pumps and other home water fixtures. One hundred users have subscribed to use water from the new system when completed.

According to Mr. Langston, approximately $37,000 in bonds will be sold to meet the expenses of drilling a well, erecting a tank and laying the mains. The total cost will be around $38,000.

With a water system in Jemison, it will enable the town to have a modern fire department. In anticipation of this, the newly planned system calls for the installation of seven fire plugs located at strategic points over town.

The new system will also supply water to the Jemison High School, presently relying on an electric pump.

The water tank, probably a 3,000-gallon capacity size, will be erected on the hill west of the railroad on a lot belonging to Walter McNeal. This is on Patton Street just in the rear of Mrs. Bean's lot. An eight-inch water main will lead from the well. The work will be done by the Goodwin Engineer Works of Birmingham.

Work has not begun as yet other than preliminary plans and arrangements. Mr. Langston didn't know just when work would begin.

Securing a modern water system for Jemison is being accomplished through the efforts of the Town Council. The Council members are: H. G. Jeffers, Irbey McNeal, Julius Simmons, C. H. Robinson and Fred Smith. A. A. Conway is City Clerk.

Isaac A. Dennis, a good Christian gentleman, is trusted and respected by all who know him.

Eric A. Johnson Writes About Cancer Society

What Eric A. Johnson, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society writes about cancer:

Between Pearl Harbor and V-J Day cancer killed 607,000 Americans, more than twice the number killed by Germans and Japs.

Cancer is the greatest killer of women between the ages of 35 and 55; the second greatest killer of men. Nearly 2,000 children die of it yearly.

Some 17,000,000 Americans living today are destined to die of cancer unless we do something about it.

April is Cancer Control Month. At that time the American Cancer Society will launch its drive for 12,000,000 to speed up cancer research, extend public education, provide more and better hospitals and clinics and train more specialists.

Citizens of Chilton County, let's do our part in this great cause.—Mrs. L. E. Dieffenberger, County Commander; Mrs. J. W. McGinnis, Co-commander; Mrs. Horsley White, Treasurer, Field Army American Cancer Society.

Cleve L. Smitherman, husband of Meg, Cleve Smitherman of Clanton has been honorably discharged from the Army after serving nine months.

Charlie Cox Writes To Voters

I am writing this personal message to all my friends in Chilton County because I will be unable, I know, to see all of you before the Democratic Primary is held on May 7th, 1946.

As you know I am experienced in the office that I am seeking and I feel that I can do more for Chilton County than can my opponent, who has had no experience at all.

I am not boasting when I say that I am well known around the State Capitol and have many friends there who can do our county a lot of good. As in everything else, experience plays a big part in our State Government.

Because of business ties I will be unable to cover the county as I would like to but I am asking my friends to understand my position and assist me in my race for this office.

Thanking each and everyone of you for your assistance and cooperation and assuring you that I will, if possible, see and talk with you before election day, I am,

Your friend,

CHARLIE COX.

Folsom Promises To Ditch Tokens

In a speech at Muscle Shoals, Ala., recently J. E. (Big Jim) Folsom promised abolition of the sales tax tokens, a minimum salary of $150 a month for school teachers. He also promised "elimination of clique rule" in Alabama.

Folsom also promises state pensions to all Alabamians over 65 years of age of elected governor.

Mr. Folsom said he would stop the "Goat Hill Clique" and the "Big Industrialists Clique" at Birmingham from what he asserted was the swamping of state affairs every four years.

The lanky candidate for governor also promised hard surface roads on the state's important farm-to-market roads.

A hillbilly band furnished music for the address there.

One Woman Dies After Accident

A number of accidents occurred in Chilton County last week and last week end, taking the life of one woman and injuring several others.

Mrs. Horace Rutherford died in the Central Alabama Hospital Sunday afternoon at three o'clock from injuries received when the truck in which she was riding was hit by a train in Thorsby last Sunday morning about 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Rutherford was riding in a pick-up truck with her husband and their son, Dewey. When they started across the railroad tracks at Thorsby the South Wind, fast L. & N. passenger train, hit the truck. Mrs. Rutherford was seriously injured. Mr. Rutherford sustained a severe hip injury. The attendants at the hospital now report his condition as fair. Their son, Dewey, received severe facial lacerations, but has been dismissed from the hospital.

The truck in which they were riding was all but completely demolished. The train hit it at the center crossing and smashed the vehicle into three pieces. (For funeral arrangements of Mrs. Rutherford, see notice elsewhere in the News.)

WHY NO "PLAY DAY?"

Because so much has been said about the calling off of Chilton County Schools planned "Play Day," we will be forced to take the question, why?

We think that the party, or parties, responsible had very little to do.

As we understand it, a petition was signed by many patrons who no doubt were conscientious in their stand, but only misinformed or led to believe there was wrong where no wrong could be.

To us, calling it off because of a "May Poll" dance, a Virginia Reel or a Minuet, is just plain silly. The Virginia Reel and the Minuet were danced in schools and at "May Day Festivals" by our mothers and our grandmothers. We do not believe that our mothers or our grandmothers are any worse off participating therein.

We do believe that someone made a "Mountain out of a mole hill." We believe that much more constructive work could have been found to do than stopping our "Play Day."

One of the things that stand out sharpest in our memory of childhood is the "Play Day" when we dressed as Robin-hood and with several dozen other boys of our age performed a bow-and-arrow drill.

We believe that such school activities are a part of childhood and it is only narrow mindedness on the part of anyone who sees harm in it.

HELP THEM TO LIVE

Over 65 and under five years of age account for one-fourth of the accidental deaths in the home. Two out of three killed in this group are people in the 65-year mark.

From these figures, declares the National Conservation Bureau, accident prevention division of the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives, it is evident that the older people are the most vulnerable. And it is this group that should be given the most careful attention. The characteristics of age, such as poor eyesight, lack of mobility, and carelessness, make them particularly susceptible to accidents.

It is the duty of the family to take special care of the older ones. It is the duty of the community to take special care of the older ones. It is the duty of the government to take special care of the older ones.

FIGHTING INFLATION

Someone once asked Calvin Coolidge whether he had any opinions on the subject of sin. "I'm agin it," he said.

Today, on the subject of inflation, it is safe to say that most American people feel pretty much the same way. They are "agin" it.

But being against anything isn't necessarily the best way to do anything about it. And talking about what ought to be done isn't necessarily going to get that necessary something done.

Actually, the best place to start fighting inflation is right at home, in one's daily life and in the community in which one lives.

There are certain things that every citizen must do if we are to avoid the evil of skyrocketing prices and dropping dollar values. It is worthwhile remembering what some of these simple rules are:

Avoid buying black market products at black market prices.

Keep savings intact.

Help reconversion along by working at a useful job.

Help production along by seeing to it that nothing happens to block the free flow of peacetime goods to the American buying public.

In this last respect the people of this and similar communities have a special obligation. The pulpwood produced here and elsewhere goes to make paper and paperboard for packaging and shipping the products of reconversion, to make newsprint for advertising them, and to make stationery for business correspondence, business records and all the other stepped-in business needs. Without a sufficient supply of this critical material the smooth movement of products from producer to buyer could be seriously crippled, opening the way for inflation.

It is of vital importance that mills in this area be provided with all the top quality pulpwood so urgently needed by them NOW.

FOLKS & THINGS

ABOUT TOWN

-By BEN

A shrieking crash: the car is junk. The fenders fold in creases. . . Don't bother with the Doc, my friend. He rests in many pieces.

The beauty of Chilton County peach blossoms in March is unsurpassed. Azaleas of Mobile have nothing on our "Peach Trail." The only thing is that the Azalea has been more publicized than the peach. A good argument for the peach bloom is that you can eat the result of the peach bloom but who ever heard of eating an Azalea. We have both beauty and value. But seriously speaking, if you haven't journeyed over the county recently do so before the peach blooms go away. They are beautiful and you will not be sorry you made the trip.

The serious accident at Thorsby last Sunday morning only serves to remind us the value of more careful driving. The Central Alabama Hospital and grounds were crowded all day with friends and relatives of the injured parties. Accidents happen fast. It is just up to you and you alone to be on your toes at all times and give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt. It is much better to be wrong and alive, than to be right and dead. Death is so permanent.

You can get a girl who is interested in getting your name or picture in the next edition that will be published in the next two weeks. We had better get you now. In NOW. As we told you last week it looks like it will be the biggest thing ever published in Chilton County and will go to every household in the county. It is a chance to get your name or picture in the paper.

Anybody want to lend Jimmy McDow a candle? Jimmy, with his mis-small son have moved into a new home on Mapleville Road but the Alabama Power Company won't give them any lights. So Jimmy has a holdup is a meter. If you own a candle or two, but do have a light meter that you are not using, just take the meter to the McDow Motor Company, and we are very sure that Jimmy will appreciate it very much and you will have the consolation of knowing that you were the one who threw a little light on the subject.

Clyde Mims stopped in to ask the other day if anyone who wanted to could wrestle with those lady wrestlers who will be here this Saturday night. We wouldn't tell him but if one of those lady wrestlers ever got a hold of him he would wake up next morning looking like a pretzel.

Boy, we could give away several thousand dollars in advertising right quick if we listened to all this "junk" we receive each day in our mail. We will always wonder what it is that makes a candidate think that the fact that he is trying to be elected to a public office is news. Ninety-nine percent of the copy they send us is pure advertising. But we shouldn't kick—we always file it in the waste basket.

Something else has been worrying us for the past several weeks. It is these signs of Mr. Handy Ellis. They state that Alabama Needs Handy Ellis for Governor. That is an exaggeration. Mr. Ellis and his friends are the ones who want "Handy" for Governor. Handy Ellis needs Alabama is the way the sign should read.

Jimmi Bell thinks that we better have some more police help at the wrestling match this Saturday night. Seems that last Saturday night a Mexican and an American were fighting and a young fellow sitting behind Jimmi just couldn't stand to see the Mexican get the better of his kinsman so he wanted to go down into the ring and take part in the festivities. The fellow's wife had quite a time restraining him. "Tis a funny thing about these professional fighters—we think that they are about the only ones in the house who don't get excited or mad."

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

I heard a prominent minister say that man was the only living thing that had the intelligence to ask a question. Even if this minister did say that, I doubted it then and I doubt it still. I had a little dog and he would discover something, and he would come running to me and ask me what he must do about it. His eyes fairly blazed as he looked into my eyes and I knew that he was asking if he might go. In answer to his question if I said, "Go Clip" he would off as fast as his little legs would carry him. I had a faithful old buggy horse and many a time did he come to the forks of the road and stop and then look back at me. He was asking me which road he was to take. Man is rather bright, but he is not the only living thing that has sense enough to ask a question.

A young wife whose husband had been overseas for four years, was talking to him over long distance. He had just landed in San Francisco and was on his way home. I was sitting near the phone and heard him ask this question, "Darling, what have you been doing?" Her voice trembled as she replied, "Nothing, my precious one, but waiting for you." We had all served this bride for weeks as she waited, and knew how she was waiting. She had doted on her apartment, she had redecorated her room, she had even placed a wedding cake for him. Sure, she was waiting for him and every moment, day and night, she was doing something for him. Jesus is coming for us some sweet day, and He is going to ask before He comes, "What are you doing?" Can you truly say, "Nothing much, my Lord, but just waiting for you." Yes, we are just waiting for the coming of our Lord, and all the time we should be doing the things that we know will please Him.

A relative wrote me just before Christmas and this is what he had to say about his granddaughter, "Little Ellen is with us. She is just three and a half years of age, and she is a bundle of questions." That is what every child is—just a bundle of questions. Our children find themselves in a mysterious world, and they suppose that we know everything and they ask us to give freely of our knowledge. They look to us for information, for support, and for guidance. You cannot afford to fail a child.

Dear Sir:

I've moved again; this time its the University of Pennsylvania, and I'll appreciate it if you will start the News coming to my new address.

I might say that the News is much better than ever, especially since Clark Headley got back. I enjoy reading his column, but that gives you no excuse to slack up on "Folks & Things About Town." The important thing is, just keep the News in my mail call.

Dear Joe . . .

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

Have you a battle star? Brother, if you have one, or two or five, don't go strutting around. Why? Here's a guy who will probably laugh in your face or congratulate you for missing so much action.

John T. Sexton, seaman I-C, came home from the Navy this week. Did he see active duty? His record reads something like this:

Number of major engagements—13
Number of invasions—13
Number of battle stars—13.

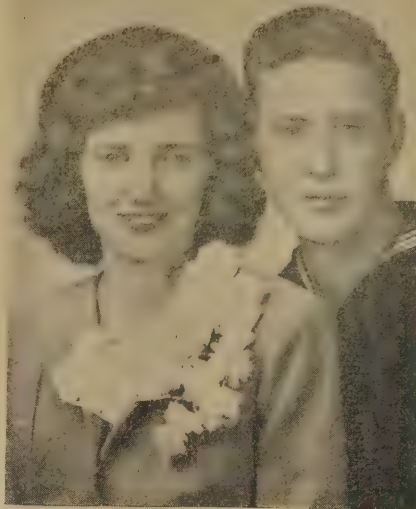

The number, 13, is not unlucky for John. Anyone going through all that hell and stench of the Pacific for 26 months and live to tell about it, can figure himself lucky with the unlucky thirteen.

John was in the service for a total of 26 months.

"What do the veterans want to see in Washington; what are they doing and how are they going to do it? That question, maybe not exact, was put to us recently. This candidate seems to caught us napping. We told him without hesitation we thought a lot of us were too pleased to be home to give much thought to politics. Of course, he told us in a round-about way we were wrong and we had to hold our throat to keep from telling him to go ahead and issue his platform. Action speaks louder than words. The polls will reflect the veterans feelings. You can bet on that.

Candidates should be interesting subjects for psychologists. Before they are elected they know everyone by their first names; your business and there have even been tales about candidates rocking the baby while the Missus chops cotton. And Joe, Chilton County these days would provide, that psychologist with a field day. Candidates are thicker than fleas on a mangy dog's back. Oh, brother, but wait until they are elected and start drawing your tax money. Of course then they join the aristocratic class.

Quest Club

The Quest Club met at the home of Mrs. Lake Thompson with Mrs. Fred Smith co-hostess.

The program subject was "English Literature." Members answered roll call with the names of famous Englishmen. The Club voted to undertake certain projects suggested by the president, including a Club Institute. Mrs. J. R. Ekblad was received as a member of the Club.

Mrs. Joyce Howard presented an excellent paper on the life and work of Winston Churchill, paying particular attention to Churchill—the orator. Mrs. George Naish's paper on Clement Attlee was designed to give Club members a greater insight into the personality and capability of England's present Prime Minister. At the conclusion of the program the hostesses—assisted by Misses Mary Jo, Dot and Doris Thompson—served excellent refreshments in the Club colors to the members present.

The Quest Club will have its March meeting at the home of Miss Rose Watkins, with Miss Mary Clements co-hostess, on March 15th. The program topic is "Contemporary Drama" and members will answer roll call with the names of current or recent Broadway plays.

Long Distance Lines Are Busier Than Ever

More people are making more long distance telephone calls than ever and you may experience delays on some of your calls.

We are doing everything possible to expand facilities. This year thousands of miles of new long distance circuits are being added—additional long distance switchboards are being installed in many places and hundreds of young women are being employed and trained as operators to help meet the increasing demand for more long distance service.

It's a big job and will take time. Until the job is done we will continue to need your help when circuits are overloaded by using the service only for necessary calls. Your continued cooperation is appreciated.

FIGURING THINGS OUT

"Natchelly"

Awhile back I was learning Sonny how to handle a shotgun so he could figure out where Br'er Rabbit natchelly was going to be on his next jump. Sonny got the idea mighty quick for a boy his age. Maybe it's because he's noticed how us farmers always tries to do things the natchel way. For instance, it just comes natchel to use Chilean soda to give our crops a quick start and keep 'em growing strong and healthy.

Us farmers has been using natchel soda for more than a hundred years. Seems like just being natchel makes it different from any other kind.

Maybe folks won't be able to get all the soda they want this season, but if we're careful with what we get it may do.

RED CROSS WORKERS URGED REDOUBLE THEIR EFFORT

Mrs. Hugh Jones, Chairman of the Women's Division of the Red Cross Drive for funds, requests that all campaign workers redouble their efforts at once and to bear in mind when soliciting funds that this Red Cross Campaign is much more than a roll call, and that a usual membership fee is not sufficient to meet wartime needs.

The Red Cross serves all the people, and the people should have the privilege of serving the Red Cross.

Call the attention of your prospect to the fact that this campaign is the activity that makes all Red Cross services possible and that under its congressional charter, the Red Cross is the official American agency responsible for disaster relief.

The above instructions were mailed from headquarters to all workers. Make yourself responsible for your own street. boost its contributions. The material support of every citizen. THIS MEANS YOU.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S ASSOCIATION HAD SUPPER

The Crippled Children's Association of the county had a supper meeting at the High School lunchroom March 8th, presided over by Mr. D. P. Culp, Superintendent of Education.

Mrs. Patricia Blalock, District Secretary for the Crippled Children's work reported that Chilton had 225 children who had been serviced by the Association this year. There are 11,000 crippled children in the State of Alabama. The work of the Association is made possible by the money given by individuals and the sale of Easter Seals and the fact that this money is matched by State and Federal funds.

Mr. E. H. Gentry from the State Department of Education who works with crippled children and crippled children was present. He stated that the Crippled Children's Foundation had raised that all money spent for polio in a county would be paid out of the fund which the county had collected from the March of Dimes. Mr. Gentry stated that twenty per cent of the crippled children was due to infantile paralysis. Mrs. McKee, manager of the luncheon, with the help of Mrs. J. Hardy, Mrs. Bessie Goodgame, Miss Hazel Powell, Margaret Hamilton, Estelle Foshee, Joyce Hardy and Emma Frank McKee, cooked and served the supper.

A permanent chairman for the County Association was elected with a county committee to work with him. The chairman and committee are as follows: Mr. Doc Levine, chairman; Mr. Will Gullede, Verbera; Mrs. Anna Phalin, Thorsby; Mrs. Jewel Peterson, Jemison; Mr. J. W. Graham, Maplesville.

SEN. HILL SPONSORS BILL TO ENCOURAGE PUBLIC LIBRARY SERVICE IN RURAL AREAS

Senator Lister Hill, (D.) of Alabama, joined with Congressman Emily Taft Douglas, (D.) of Illinois, today in simultaneously introducing in the Senate and House legislation providing for demonstration of library services over the nation, chiefly in rural areas.

Senator Hill stated that the bill would provide a federal grant of $25,000 annually to each state over a period of four years for use by state library administrative officers to demonstrate the value of library services by stating, expanding or publicizing the value of books, educational films, newspapers and other material normally distributed by libraries. Senator Hill stated that bookmobiles and other forms of traveling libraries may be used. Senator Hill stated that an additional $25,000 to $50,000 would be available to the states on a matching basis.

In commenting upon the need for the bill, Senator Hill pointed out that: "More than 35,000,000 persons, nearly all of them in rural areas, have access to libraries. Six hundred counties in the United States do not have a single public library in their borders, and as many other counties have only one or two small libraries which do not serve the rural population at all. Eighty per cent of the people without library service live in rural areas."

Senator Hill stated that of the 67 counties in Alabama, only 18 have county-wide library service and 23 counties are without any public library service at all.

1,526,607 of the State's 2,832,281 people have access to free public library service, meaning that 47 per cent, almost half, of Alabama's people are without such service.

Senator Hill stated that, "In a democracy such as ours we insist that the ordinary citizen participate in decisions affecting our major problems yet these problems are becoming so grave and so complex that even experts cannot realize the consequences of their decisions without serious study. This country must provide some means by which the ordinary citizen can obtain all the pertinent information on all sides of the problems which he must consider. Libraries have worked out effective methods for obtaining, organizing and making such information available."

Under the bill, states will qualify for the funds by preparing plans and submitting them to the United States Commissioner of Education, and Senator Hill stated that the administration of the funds and the program within the states would be entirely in the hands of the state and local officials and that there would be no federal control.

QUOTES OF THE WEEK

"I ain't got no plans."—Harold L. Ickes, after resigning as Secy. of Interior.

"Tastes just like home-made bread!"—Secy. of Agriculture Anderson, sampling new "wheat conservator" bread called "Truman loaf."

"There's no truth in it."—Chairman Hanes, denying Pres. Truman said he wouldn't choose to run in '48.

"For Government to expect or attempt to require that business enterprise be carried on with no hope or incentive other than to break even is sheer folly."—Senators Capper, Wilson, Wherry, Bush, Capper, attacking OPA "cost absorption" policy.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Mr. J. B. Hicks and his son, Willard Hicks, of Route 2, Maplesville, Ala., find kudzu to be quite a profitable cash crop in addition to its use for soil erosion control, hay and temporary grazing.

In 1937 the Soil Conservation Service made a complete farm plan on the farm of Mr. J. B. Hicks. Among other practices planned at that time to be established on his farm within the next five years to follow was a sizeable acreage of kudzu to be planted on his steepest slopes and be used for erosion control and as a hay and temporary grazing source. The draws of the place were also to be planted to kudzu to control the erosion caused from the run-off water within each field. The first year Mr. Hicks planted 11 acres to kudzu and has increased this acreage each year until he now has a total of 34 acres in kudzu on his farm.

In about 1941 Mr. Hicks decided to dig and sell a few two year old kudzu crowns from some of his oldest plantings on a small area not quite so steep as some of the other plantings on the farm. From this area of about three acres Mr. Hicks dug approximately 100,000 two year old plants. At that time Mr. Hicks used a team of mules and a turn plow to do the digging. Mr. Hicks has repeated this practice each year since that time using three different three acre fields. He digs from one 3-acre field one year and moves to the next field the following year, allowing the old diggings two years to re-establish itself before being dug again, and at the same time he gets a limited amount of hay and grazing from the dug area.

Mr. Hicks and his son, Willard, are now digging crowns with a one-row tractor, using a 26-inch single disc plow and claims it to be very successful.

Mr. Hicks states he is digging an average of about 22,000 plants per day now and has already dug and sold approximately 104,000 plants this year, some of this number being dug on neighboring farms. Mr. Hicks states that he has averaged approximately 100,000 plants each year from his 3-acre fields since he first started this practice. At this time kudzu crowns are selling for $10.00 per thousand. Mr. Hicks refuses to dig plants from his real steep and eroded areas for fear of weakening the stand on those areas; these areas are used for hay and grazing only. At this time Mr. Hicks has a barn full of very good kudzu hay which he has been feeding all winter and has more than enough to last until the next crop is harvested.

Paschall Asks For Election As Farm Head

Perry Countian Opposes Paterson In Contest For State Post

Mason M. Paschall, of Uniontown ginners, farmer, cattle raiser and prominent in state agricultural circles for the past 20 years, announced in Selma Saturday that he had filed his announcement of intention to seek the position of Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries, at Mobile on Friday. Mr. Paschall filed with Gessner T. McCorvey, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee at Mobile, and qualifying papers were sent by McCorvey to the Secretary of State at Montgomery.

He becomes the only opponent to Haywood Paterson, who is seeking a second term for the position which Joe Poole relinquished when he entered the governor's race.

In a statement to the Times-Journal, Paschall said that he would devote his entire time, if elected, to the job of aiding the farmer and developing Alabama's infinite agricultural resources, which have been neglected in the past.

Interested in all phases of Alabama's agricultural and livestock progress, Mr. Paschall became an outstanding figure in the South in aiding to promote Uniontown's successful Turkey Carnivals through which many thousands of pounds of fancy Black Belt turkeys found their way to the nation's markets. He is a

By mid-month the siege, brought on unusually early by warm weather and heavy rains, had claimed 54 dead and upwards of 150 hospitalized, records indicate. Thousands of families in rural areas of 11 midwestern and southern states were affected.

Red Cross chapter workers who last year helped their communities through 260 disasters have again worked 'round the clock. Assisting them have been doctors, nurses, and others rushed by the Red Cross to stricken areas. Surveys for the re-furnishing, rebuilding, and repairing of damaged or destroyed homes, barns, and other buildings began immediately. Rehabilitation will be completed in March. Undoubtedly new disasters will strike during the spring months and will keep the organization working at top speed in this humanitarian parade which never ends.

In providing food, clothing, shelter, medical and nursing care, varying problems confront the Red Cross, particularly in rural sections.

In flooded Mississippi valley areas, Red Cross has obtained a priority release of house trailers to supplement tents used in sheltering farmers' residents from flooded areas. When evacuation of farm families and livestock has been necessary, coast guard and navy boats have assisted. Recent coal shortages in disaster areas were relieved when Red Cross action resulted in diversion of fuel to critical sections. An hour after surveys have been completed, the Red Cross has obtained priority release of lumber and other building materials. Included has been screen wire to help prevent the spread of disease in malaria affected areas.

breeder, and owner of fine saddle horses.

A World War I veteran, he is past president of the Perry County Post, American Legion; he is at present a director of the National Cotton Ginners Association and the present president of the Alabama Cotton Ginners Association. He also is a past president of the Perry County Farm Bureau.

Paschall states that his filing in announcing for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture was due to the fact that he was called to Washington two weeks ago by the National Cotton Ginners Association in the interest of legislation vitally affecting the cotton industry of the South. He returned to his home in Uniontown the day before the deadline for filing—Selma-Times Journal.

January Disasters Bring Quick Red Cross Action

Destructive floods and tornadoes beginning in early January were grim reminders that more Americans died in home-front accidents and disasters during World War II than as war casualties.

By mid-month the siege, brought on unusually early by warm weather and heavy rains, had claimed 54 dead and upwards of 150 hospitalized, records indicate. Thousands of families in rural areas of 11 midwestern and southern states were affected.

Red Cross chapter workers who last year helped their communities through 260 disasters have again worked 'round the clock. Assisting them have been doctors, nurses, and others rushed by the Red Cross to stricken areas. Surveys for the re-furnishing, rebuilding, and repairing of damaged or destroyed homes, barns, and other buildings began immediately. Rehabilitation will be completed in March. Undoubtedly new disasters will strike during the spring months and will keep the organization working at top speed in this humanitarian parade which never ends.

In providing food, clothing, shelter, medical and nursing care, varying problems confront the Red Cross, particularly in rural sections.

In flooded Mississippi valley areas, Red Cross has obtained a priority release of house trailers to supplement tents used in sheltering farmers' residents from flooded areas. When evacuation of farm families and livestock has been necessary, coast guard and navy boats have assisted. Recent coal shortages in disaster areas were relieved when Red Cross action resulted in diversion of fuel to critical sections. An hour after surveys have been completed, the Red Cross has obtained priority release of lumber and other building materials. Included has been screen wire to help prevent the spread of disease in malaria affected areas.

In floods and hurricanes, local Red Cross disaster units, through advance weather bureau advisories, have warned residents in time for safe evacuation; in remote sections, they have effected rescues. In all disasters, tornadoes, fires, floods, hurricanes, train wrecks, they have quickly sought out injured, given first aid, and arranged hospital care. Hundreds of thousands of homeless have been sheltered, clothed, and fed.

In Paterson, New Jersey, a new chapter disaster chairman successfully tackled problems of the worst flood in that city's history. Two days after a Red Cross disaster conference in Montgomery, Alabama, a tornado ripped through the city. Outstanding care given the injured went a bright page in the year's disaster history.

In states where polio outbreaks occurred, Red Cross chapter volunteers hurriedly improvised hospital articles. In Salt Lake City, Disaster Service supplied face masks, children's nightgowns, hospital shirts, surgical gowns for nurses, blankets, and sheets. When flannellette could not be found for hot packs, Red Cross supplied 1,000 diapers for the purpose.

Whether disaster or any of many other Red Cross services, all are available to people in rural communities no less than in large cities. Home nursing, farm accident prevention, assistance to families of men in uniform and to veterans—these services continue year-in, year-out. During March the Red Cross is appealing for $100,000,000. It needs every bit of that amount to meet obligations to the armed forces and civilian population. "We all have a share in the American Red Cross," said Basil O'Connor, Red Cross Chairman, when announcing the appeal. "Let's all maintain the share by contributing generously to the 1946 Fund Campaign and keeping our Red Cross society the strongest in the world."

SMITH AND VANDERSLICE ENLIST IN NAVY

Chief G. G. Kitchens, Navy Recruiter of the Montgomery Navy Recruiting Station, announced today that 13 men had been enlisted in the Navy through this office during the week of March 3rd to March 9th. Two of these men came from the Clanton area. Their names are Vasser A. Vanderslice, Route 5, Clanton, and Wilford J. Smith, Route 1, Jemison.

Mr. Kitchens pointed out that the Montgomery Navy Recruiting district, of which Chilton County is a part, consists of 11 counties. Regular trips are made to all County seats for recruiting purposes. The trip to Clanton was made each Monday, he said, and the office is in the Local Draft Board from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. Regular trips are also made to Rockford, Ala. These trips are made on the 1st and 3rd Mondays of each week, the recruiter said.

PLANT CASH CROPS, CORN ON BEST LAND

In planning their farm programs this year, Alabama farmers should plant cash crops and corn only on land which will produce at a profit and poorer land into soil-building crops, J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist, advises.

"If seed, fertilizers and labor are concentrated on the more profitable land and poorer land is left out of cultivation, total crop production will be just as high as when both are cultivated," he asserted.

Higher yields secured by planting on land to which crops are adapted

For cooking rich mixtures, such as fruit cakes, use heavy brown greased paper or a heavy wax paper in the baking pan. Greased paper is the best protection for mixtures baked at low temperatures for a long period of time.

One of the biggest steps in a better farm program. For example, good per acre-yields of feed crops play an important part in determining acre yields of livestock and livestock products on the farm.

Land that is put in soil-building crops will gradually be improved and then may become a part of the cropping system.

HIGHLAND

We wish to announce that Bro. Jimmie Bice will speak on Sunday School work at the church at seven o'clock next Sunday night.

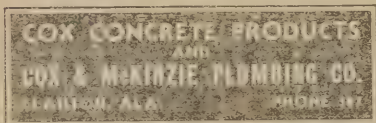

We had a large attendance at Sunday School Sunday. We are glad to have the boys who have been discharged from the service back with us.

Remember our Sunday School at 10 o'clock every Sunday and preaching every fourth Sunday and Sunday night. Let's every one attend the services and bring someone with you.

ON THE JOB

If you are looking for ready mixed concrete, phone 387 for prompt service and quality materials.

FREE COTTON CLASSING AVAILABLE TO FARMERS

Free cotton classification and market news services will be available this year to organized cotton improvement groups in Alabama.

To secure these services, made available by the Smith-Doxey Act, groups must organize, adopt a variety of cotton, file applications, and meet certain other requirements. Group applications must be filed with county agents immediately after members have planted their cotton, but not later than July 1.

Groups may secure applications from their county agents.

Tomato juice may be substituted, measure for measure for tomatoes in soups, sauces or baked dishes. When using commercial tomato juices, be sure to examine the label to see if it says "tomato juice" before you add more seasoning.

Which means you'll get a nice red color, but not have quite the same color as a dish made with tomatoes. The color will usually be more of a light orange than the bright red of tomatoes.

While the country as a whole plans to reduce the number of turkeys grown this year, Alabama farmers plan to increase turkey production by 2 per cent.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardul is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like aches and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

- 1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
- 2 Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try Cardul. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Hardy McAdams of Route 1, Elmore, collided with a car driven by Tom C. Waller.

Accompanying McAdams were Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Aldridge and Miss Ida Watts, all of Marbury. Miss Watts received a broken leg and ribs. Mr. and Mrs. Aldridge received only minor cuts and bruises.

Child Hit By Automobile

Three-year-old Wayne Sanders was hit by an automobile Sunday afternoon about 4:30 on U. S. 31 south of Clanton. Driver of the car was James Judkins, salesman from Montgomery. Little Sanders is believed to have a fractured skull. Following the accident he was carried to the Central Alabama Hospital and later transferred to Birmingham for further observation and treatment.

It is reported that little Sanders and an eight-year-old boy by the name of Creighton Patterson were about to cross the road when Patterson saw a car heading north. Patterson caught Sanders by the arm until the northbound car had passed. Then he pulled loose from Patterson and ran in front of the southbound vehicle driven by Judkins. Little Sanders' mother had just left by bus for Childersburg.

Wreck At Maplesville

Last Saturday below Maplesville a truck belonging to the Belcher Lumber Company and driven by Clayton McGee collided with a pick-up driven by Willie Blevens, a negro. The pick-up was almost demolished, yet Blevens, the negro driver, escaped uninjured. McGee, driver of the other truck, was seriously injured and carried to a Selma hospital. Meeks and Garner, who were in the truck with McGee, escaped uninjured.

Last week the auditorium was jammed and packed to the rafters. The local post of the VFW request fans to please buy tickets in advance if at all possible. This will avoid the stampede for seats like was witnessed last week. See an advertisement elsewhere in the paper for further particulars.

Students of the Concord Junior High School who recently lost their school building due to fire, are back on the campus, according to the County Superintendent of Education.

These buildings actually provide more space than the old building. Mr. Culp says these buildings will suffice until a new building can be erected.

Before the temporary buildings were erected, the students attended school at Walnut Creek and Temple churches.

To The Voters
Of The Fifteenth
Senatorial District

When I announced my candidacy some time ago for State Senator from the Fifteenth District, I did not know that Mr. W. A. Gullede of Verbena would qualify. I felt that the voters of this District should have a choice of selection for their Senator and when Mr. Gullede qualified, I reconsidered this matter. Mr. Gullede is an older and more experienced man than I am, and is a man of high intelligence and unquestioned character and integrity, and has been a life-long friend of mine. Feeling that he stands for the principles that I do, I am unwilling to engage in a race with him and I have therefore withdrawn as a candidate in this race and wish to express the hope to the voters of this District that they may support Mr. Gullede in the May 7th election.

I wish to take this occasion to thank my many friends, who have pledged me their support.

March 21st Brings Back Memories of Tornado of 1932

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

To the people of Thorshy, Union Grove and Collins Chapel communities March 21st isn't just another day. March 21st is a day that brings back the grim memories of March 21st, 1932, when one of the most disastrous and death-dealing tornadoes ever known in this section struck Chilton County, leaving in its wake many, many dead and scores of wounded.

Between six and seven o'clock on that date a black cloud—hung over Chilton County. A little wind was blowing but nobody thought much of it.

At about 7 o'clock a twister bearing, death-writhing tornado plowed through Cane Creek, Collins Chapel, Union Grove and Thorshy and the north and northeastern part of the county. A hundred homes were swept from the map.

All this happened about 7 o'clock in the evening, just at dark. Peaceful Chilton County had never witnessed anything like it before.

Ambulances were overburdened. Hospitals were jammed and packed and had more than they could possibly handle. Even the Red Cross from Birmingham and Montgomery and ambulances were called in to assist in caring for the dead and the wounded.

No estimate of the number of lives lost could be ascertained on that Monday night. No estimate in dollars of the damage done could be made. Homes were wrecked and demolished and crops were spoiled for the year. Even strawberry plants around Collins Chapel and Union Grove were picked, twisted and ruined. Fences were blown away; livestock scattered; upward of 100,000 people were left homeless with loved ones killed, their homes separated, divided, lost and scattered forever.

The twister first struck at Leno where it claimed the lives of two. It continued in a north-easterly direction through the county in approximately half-mile wide strip dealing death and destruction in its path.

These communities today are mostly rebuilt. But the scars of that terrible day will be revealed forever. Truly, March 21st, 1932, will never be forgotten by this section of the State.

CANCER CONCERNS ALL

We dread cancer above all other diseases. Cancer stands first among the cause of suffering and death of all diseases. It is man's Number One enemy.

Every year scientific advances make it possible to save more people from cancer. Every year we grow older cancer increases as a personal danger. The race between these two factors is the vital thing which concerns us.

The death rate due to cancer is high even in children between the ages of 5 to 19 years.

Early treatment naturally involves early diagnosis and early diagnosis involves familiarity with the symptoms of this disease. Members of the local Field Army are doing all they can to make those symptoms the common knowledge of the people of Alabama and the nation. That knowledge and the ability to act upon it promptly, constitutes the first line of defense against cancer.

A persistent bump, or thickening on any part of the body; any sore that cannot be healed in a reasonable time. Especially is this true of one about the face, lips or mouth. Persistent and unexplained indigestion. Sudden and unexplained change in the size or color of a mole or wart. These are a few of the things you should see your physician about. The Cancer Campaign starts in April. Do your part in this drive.

Your contribution may save a life.

HOW FAR THE CRY!

"I hope everyone who tried to electrocute me burns in hell."

Those were the last words of a condemned slayer who died last Friday in the electric chair at Kilby Prison.

Can one think of a thing so horrible as going to meet your Creator with those words on his lips. Whether the convicted man was guilty or innocent we could not know. We do know that he was given every chance to prove his innocence even to the highest courts in the land—and failed. We do believe that an innocent man would never have left this world with such hatred in his soul.

IS OUR SCHOOL BAND APPRECIATED?

Clanton High School has one of the nicest small bands in the state, or shall we say, country.

Sometimes we wonder if the patrons really appreciate the band. Everyone seems to appreciate the band, but do not want to be bothered with helping promote it.

According to Mr. Burton, Band Leader, the CCHS Band is the only high school in existence, to his knowledge, that hasn't a sponsor. What the band has accomplished, it has accomplished on its own.

We must say that Mr. Burton and the band have done a fine job. It is a band that all the county can be proud of. It is in its fifth year and the thing to do is for Clanton and Chilton County to show more appreciation of its band and help behind it in its activities.

Now that vacation season is upon us, it is a good time to get a new metal set, can on your car. It will protect the safety of your car and the passengers and give you peace of mind.

FOLKS & THINGS

ABOUT TOWN

-By BEN

"I'm sorry," said the elevator girl. "Did I stop too quickly? Oh no," said the passenger, "I always wear my pants down around my ankles."

Hurrah for Ira Crowe. He was the first candidate to come in with his copy for our special edition that will come to you within the next two or three weeks. Dozens of the candidates and the business people of Chilton County have dropped in to tell us they wanted space in the edition but Ira was first to come in with the copy and the spondulic. Oh, yeah, Ira is a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Chilton County.

Mr. and Mrs. Holliman down at the Yellow Front Store are two honest people. Last week they found a purse on the floor of their store containing $166.00. Searching the purse they found no name or identification of any kind. They locked the purse in the safe. Monday morning a gentleman came into the store and said he had lost his purse somewhere in Clanton the Saturday before and wondered if he had lost it at the Yellow Front Store. After a few questions the Hollimans knew beyond a doubt that the purse belonged to the gentleman and returned it to him. Their good turn for the day. But come to think of it the Hollimans do a lot of good turns every day.

Mr. E. P. Culver of Verbena Route Two came in to see us last week. Mr. Culver is one subscriber to the News that we know we will never lose. It happened like this: Several years ago when our dad was living Mr. Culver came into the News office and put a five-dollar bill on the counter and said: "I am seventy-two years old and I will give you this five dollar bill to send me the News the rest of my life." Well, dad being about the same age and in a spirit of fun more than anything else, accepted the proposition. Mr. Culver comes around now and then he says to let us know he is still alive, so we won't stop his paper. He has been receiving it six years off his five-dollar bill already—we hope he lives as long as he wants to—and wants to as long as he lives.

Looks like the Wrestling Show is going to prove very popular here. For the past four years everyone has been saying, "Just wait 'till the boys come back and things will pick up again and things will begin to happen." No matter who said that—they must have known what they were talking about for things have started happening. The Wrestling Show proves our point. And the best part of it is, the folks seem to be enjoying it.

Well, we always said folks could use a little entertainment and it never hurt anyone to unfix once in a while.

You know, speaking of relaxing and taking things easier, had you ever stopped to think what little money will buy. We spend the greater part of our life trying to make it and it will not buy any of the really important things of life. It will not buy health, friendship or love. With these three things, man needs nothing more; yet, money will buy not one of the three.

EXAMS OPENED FOR CONSERVATION JOBS

Merit system examinations for positions in the Department of Conservation are scheduled for the near future. The examinations will be for positions in the forestry, parks and game, fish and seafoods divisions. Announcements for the examination dates, eligibility requirements and applications may be secured from any U. S. Employment Department or the Personnel Department, State of Alabama, The Capitol, Montgomery 4, Ala.

In urging that all interested persons take the examinations, Conservation Director, Ben C. Morgan, said: "We are anxious for every one interested and qualified to apply for and take these examinations. The program now underway will require considerable expansion of the various divisions over a period of two years. The positions thus opened will be filled with persons certified for the eligible register established as the results of the merit system examinations."

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

The belongings of a wealthy French lady was being sold at an auction, and a poverty-stricken niece attended the sale that she might bid on something that belonged to her aunt. Most of the articles were beyond her purse, but finally an old shabby devotional book was offered. The niece was the only bidder and the book was hers for almost nothing. On turning the faded pages she came across a neatly folded paper. On opening the bundle she found a will of Madam Chevalier, in which the loved aunt had willed everything that she had to her. She found herself to be sole heir of an eighty thousand dollar heritage. Love has a reward, it matters not when and where applied.

I was to speak to a "Hard-Of-Hearing Club" and I had a feeling of helplessness as the hour approached. I wondered how I could be heard by those who were almost without hearing. When I was introduced I observed that all of the Club members lifted a phone to their ears. I spoke into the mike and the audience heard me distinctly. It is wonderful what Science is doing for the human race. It makes the lame to walk, the sick to be well, the blind to see the deaf to hear. Science is God's way of revealing Himself to the world. When men can unlock the door of nature, they never fail to find God within that door.

Suppose that you take a day old chick and a day old baby and put them side by side, and then study them closely, and see which one has the advantage for survival. The chick can walk and eat its food without help, while the baby is dependent for everything. The chick holds its lead for a year, but then the baby is showing signs of gaining. In five years the baby is in the lead. The chick remains a chick, but the baby becomes a man and he masters land and sea. In early life the advantages for survival are against us, but in the passing of years we rise to the heights, and master the things that once held us in mastery. How like a god moves man as he older grows. In his beginning he is helpless, but watch him as he finds himself and marches on to mastery.

Always watch where you throw lighted matches. Matches cause fires. Fires costs millions.

There's Money Today... and Tomorrow... in Your Woodlot

"Son, that woodlot of yours will give you more spot cash right now than any other part of your farm... and keep on paying you year in and year out. "Pulpwood can be depended upon when other crops are poor. And, its extra income comes in mighty handy when times are good, too. "Your county agent or forester will tell you how to get the most out of your woodlot. By wise cutting, you can guarantee another cash crop. "Let's get busy now and collect a cash pulpwood dividend."

Dear Joe . . .

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

We have been asked many times to write about our experiences overseas and especially to write about "them Indians." So, with your indulgence in this week's "Dear Joe," we will attempt to say a little something about "them Indians."

It is impossible to describe India in words. That has been tried time and time again. India is a complexing multitude of people speaking many different languages and dialects. It is a nation half the size of the United States with twice as many people—poverty stricken people.

Now we are home. It is easy for us here in the U. S. to relax in plenty and forget the multitudes of people in other countries that know not what a full stomach and warm clothing mean. Are we too far away? Or, haven't we been closely enough associated with these unfortunates? We prefer the latter.

While in India we GI's who were stationed there called the Indians everything but human beings—everything uncivilized.

The Indian is an umble people. They have been under rulers so long they know not what freedom (democracy as we call it) means. They are just servants of a greater power, governed and dictated to by that higher power, and they, the Indians, have not the strength within themselves to shake loose from that power. It is unthinkable what would happen should they get out from under that imperialistic power.

The Indians are uneducated. That is a harsh statement due to the fact that some of the Indians have more education—more book sense—than a lot of Americans. But, the Indian has a greater moral problem to combat than that. He has never had the responsibility or obligation of self-government like our constitution set forth for us Americans to go by. To get back to the high school teacher's old saying: "Practical experience is worth more than all the book learning." That is true. The Indians have never had the responsibility of ruling themselves.

There are four hundred million Indians. There are numbers of different castes, or breeds, or races, or types of Indians. There are the Hindus, the majority; the Moslems, Mohammeds, Sikhs and others. They all have different religious beliefs; different moral belief; and by that they do not associate with each other as closely as the Methodists and Baptists or the Presbyterian and Catholic in everyday life. They are, we believe, the most religious people on earth. Their religion governs and controls their very life—their existence. An Indian would never think of doing anything against his or his family's religious beliefs—he would starve first. That is what they are doing. We have seen in actual practice and all you GI's who have been there know it to be true. The Indian is indeed a queer animal. His problem, like millions of other Asiatics, is more of a social problem than an economic one. Without some cure to their social problem there can be no raising of their living standards and no cure to their economic ills.

Asiatics are different from the westerners. The contrast is hard to put into words, but noticeable. Centuries may see a change. Then again we wouldn't gamble on it.

The Beta Club Convention for the State of Alabama was held in Birmingham over the past week end. All of the sessions of the convention were held in the Tutwiler Hotel.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Last year Mr. A. B. Milford of Baker Community established two meadow trips in series to be used for a water disposal area and a source of hay. Last week terrace lines were run on part of his field. Next year some more terrace lines will be run. Mr. Milford has his terracing program divided up over a period of years. He began the right way last year by establishing the planned water disposal areas in a sod crop.

Many cooperators have bought sericea seed to plant this time. This sericea, if possible, should be planted in water disposal areas. Sericea should be planted on a well prepared seed bed that has been allowed to settle. If you are going to establish water disposal areas, consult your land-use map or see your soil conservationist; and get Mr. O. H. Lawrence of New Cedron Community has the land prepared to establish all of his field borders in sericea this spring. He is also reterracing a twenty-acre field this spring.

Mr. A. L. Lenoir of Vermont Community is establishing about two acres of wildlife areas. The areas will be planted to Lespedeza bi-color and sericea. The bi-color will furnish food for birds, and the sericea will furnish protection from bad weather.

Cincinnati Man Felt Like Swollen Balloon; Full Of Stomach Gas

Recently, a Cincinnati man stated that he used to feel like a swollen balloon after every meal. He would bloat full of gas and spit up acidulous liquids for hours after eating. Was terribly constipated. This man is one of the hundreds in this vicinity who now praise INNER-AID. He states he was amazed at the results when he took this medicine. Now he eats what he wants without gas or bloating, and bowels are regular for the first time in years. He feels like a new man.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering. Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County.—Adv.

BOMB INGREDIENTS CONVERTED INTO SOAP

Naplam, or gas-jelly, the stuff contained in the bombs dropped in the first all-incendiary raid on Tokyo, is being converted into soap to keep Army barracks, kitchens, pots and pans clean, according to Lieut. Col. Samuel A. Denton, Chemical Warfare Service officer, Fourth Service Command.

Manufactured at Huntsville Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., the bombs were about 20 inches in length, octagon-shaped metal tubes some three inches in diameter. They were dropped from planes in clusters of 38. Guided nose-down by a cloth tail, these bombs automatically fired upon contact, the gas-jelly igniting from the propulsion charge and sticking against walls of buildings where they set fires disastrous to the enemy.

Estimates in Colonel Denton's office state that vast stocks of this Naplam now can be converted into soap within a few months. This means, the officer said, that the liquid will not be destroyed, but will be turned into soap at a tremendous saving to the government. As yet it is not being used commercially.

$1,628,541.00 APPROPRIATED FOR SCHOOL LUNCHEES

More than $1,628,541.00 in assistance had been provided by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the school year through January to help provide nutritious and well-balanced mid-day lunches for Alabama school children. It was disclosed this week by William R. Sewell, assistant state director of the Production and Marketing Administration.

Mr. Sewell said approximately 143,729 children, in 567 schools, availed themselves of hot lunches in January, records indicating a total of 3,063,438 individual lunches were served. Through many schools otherwise eligible are not availing themselves of school lunch program assistance, he said the program is now in successful operation in all of the state's 67 counties.

These figures compare with the following a year ago: Number of children participating, 127,348; schools participating, 493; individual lunches 2,774,467; number of counties participating, 65.

The school lunch program, sponsored at the state level by the U. S. Department of Education, is operated locally by non-profit sponsoring groups. Each lunchroom is a community project, and sponsoring groups are reimbursed up to designated amounts for each meal served.

Sponsors, Mr. Sewell explained, receive up to nine cents for each Type A meal served. Such a meal provides at least a third of a child's daily nutritional requirements. A Type B meal, slightly less complete, is reimbursable at a smaller amount, and a still smaller reimbursement is made for Type C, which consists of a half pint of milk.

Mr. Sewell pointed out that the school lunch program in serving agriculture by giving farmers a local day-to-day expanded market for their products, and also is making excellent use of seasonally abundant farm products purchased by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to support prices to farmers.

CONSERVE, PRODUCE FOOD FOR STARVING

Alabama farm and urban families are being urged to help conserve and produce food and feed to help starving people of other countries.

State agricultural leaders, through the Alabama State USDA Council, join in recommending conservation and production measures aimed at helping the critical situation.

Under conservation they suggest:

- (1) Use all the food cooked; waste nothing.
- (2) Each person is requested to eat at least one less slice of bread, or one less biscuit at each meal.
- (3) Cafes, restaurants and other public eating places can effectively participate in this program by serving only one piece of bread or one roll per meal per person unless more is requested.

(4) As a substitute for the reduction in white bread, the following are recommended: Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, corn bread, grits, oatmeal and roasting ears, either fresh or canned.

(5) Substitute fruits for cakes and pies.

(6) All housewives and cooks are urged to exercise extreme care in saving all bacon drippings and other kitchen fats for cooking purposes. Any fats which become too rancid for this purpose should be turned in to the usual fat salvage collector.

(7) Poultrymen are urged to cull and sell immediately all low producers from their laying flocks to conserve grain and increase profits.

(8) Dairymen are urged to utilize pastures, grazing crops and roughage to the fullest extent and reduce the feeding of concentrates to dairy herds.

(9) Market hogs when they weigh 250 to 275 pounds.

Under production they suggest:

- (1) Plant Irish potatoes where this is still feasible.
- (2) Increase production of sweet potatoes throughout the State.
- (3) Make successive plantings of sweet corn and other roasting ear corn in all areas of the State.
- (4) Grow gardens as never before and conserve all food produced.
- (5) Grow cowpeas, lima beans and edible soybeans.
- (6) Increase the production of grain and forage crops.
- (7) Grow every bushel of corn possible by utilization of all available nitrogen for increased yields.
- (8) Plant more grain sorghum, especially following oats and legumes harvested for seed, to utilize fertilizers that may be available later, to spread available labor over a longer period, and to increase the total grain supply.

VICTORY GARDENS CONSTITUTE DEFINITE AND POSITIVE WAY TO HELP STARVING PEOPLE

Victory Gardens constitute "a definite and positive way" in which countless Americans can help relieve the suffering of the starving people of the world, Chester C. Davis, organizing chairman of the Famine Emergency Committee, declared today in appealing for more home planting this year.

"In releasing more wheat, fats, oils, and other critically needed foods for shipment to starving people abroad," he said, "we recognize the essential part that the Victory Garden production will play in helping to provide food for the people of America. An abundance of nutritious, home-grown food will permit much greater shipments of the food items so critically needed abroad."

"The President and the secretary of agriculture have called for full effort again this year by the Victory Gardeners of the nation. The Famine Emergency Committee considers the Victory Garden production one of the most important parts of this entire emergency food program."

DEMANDS FOR MEATS TO CONTINUE STRONG

Production of meat will be slightly larger than in 1945 and more than 40 per cent above the 1935-39 average, but do not expect to get the type and grade of meat you desire each time you go to market. The demand for meat will continue very strong because of the high level of consumer purchasing power and because of large exports.

Alabama's net loss exceeded 480,000, 90 per cent of whom had already reached working age. The minimum cost of rearing and educating a person is $2,000, according to economists. Thus, simple arithmetic shows a net loss of about $900,000.

"JES' SQUEEZE NATCHEL, SONNY!"

This is a drawing of one of the eight fine paintings by Ily Hintermeister

A LOT OF GOOD COMES FROM THE EARTH

Sonny was sayin' that ol' bossy cow is jes' a natchel factory for making milk out o' fodder. But I tell him that making good milk begins when mother nature gave us the fertilizer to help the fodder grow. I was referin' to the natchel soda us farmers uses on all our crops.

Natchel soda comes right from the earth. Nobody knows for sure quite how it got there. But they does know the wonderful things natchel Chilean soda does for crops.

Seems like jes' being natchel makes Chilean soda different from any other kind. Maybe folks won't be able to get all they want this season, but if we're careful with what we get, it may do.

Red Cross Drive Lagging

The Annual Red Cross Drive started a few weeks ago is doomed to failure if more interest is not taken by the citizens of Chilton County.

There is no need to explain to the people of Chilton County the value of the work done by this organization. It has not been many years since a great storm hit the county and killed and injured scores of people and the Red Cross moved in immediately and worked untiringly and spent thousands of dollars aiding the sick and the wounded.

Unless the good that is done by this great organization is remembered by those who have seen and benefited by it, then the present drive is doomed to failure.

Your help is needed. Contact the Red Cross headquarters or one of the solicitors today and give your share.

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS BOX-HOLDERS EDITION DATE CHANGED TO APRIL 11TH

Due to the fact that we will be unable to carry the Registered Voters List until our issue of April 11th, we have decided to postpone our Box-Holders Edition that was planned for April 4th to April 11th. We believe that the political advertising as well as the other advertising carried will get better results if we carry the Registered Voters List in the same edition.

April 15th is the deadline for publishing this list and in order to give all who are eligible a chance to get their name published in this edition we have decided that it would be to the benefit of all advertisers to make our big Box-Holders Edition Thursday, April 11th.—THE EDITOR.

In the preliminary bout, Nick Carter, of Oneonta, Ala., returns to Clanton to tangle with Mike Chacoma, a former light-heavyweight champion. Carter is always a favorite with fans.

Food Handlers May Be X-rayed

A move is under way to have all food handlers—cane and dairy employees—X-rayed, sponsored by the Clanton Kiwanis and carried out by the County Health Department. This is to check on any tuberculosis cases that might occur. Nothing is definite on this drive as yet but it is being worked on by the Kiwanis Club. It is understood that the X-raying of employees would not be compulsory but advised. As stated, nothing definite is ready for publication on this, but will be given later.

Recently some 1,256 school children of the county were X-rayed. Of this number six pictures were spoiled, 20 were classified as "suspicious," four were listed as "non-tubercular pathology," and the remainder were negative. In other words, 20 of the 1,256 need further checking. This is what the Kiwanis Club is after. A check of the food handlers of the county would be beneficial to everyone. More details will be explained later.

Mother of Two Children Held In County Jail

Mrs. Douglas Patterson, age 25, mother of two children, is being held in the Chilton County jail charged with first degree murder. Mrs. Patterson, who has two children, one aged four and the other two, is alleged to have beat her mother, Mrs. Henryetta Lett, to death with a piece of oak stove-wood last Tuesday a.m. at the home of her mother about six and a half miles southwest of Clanton, according to reports from the Sheriff's office.

The exact cause of the trouble is not known at present but according to reports gathered from the Sheriff's office and that of Coroner Martin, it all occurred because of domestic troubles.

The Pattersons with the two children were living in the home of her mother, Mrs. Lett, wife of Reverend Lett, who preceded her in death by several years. About seven a.m. Tuesday, March 26th, a quarrel developed between Mrs. Patterson and her mother. A fight ensued. Mrs. Patterson picked up an oak piece of stove-wood about 18 inches long and three inches in diameter and started beating her mother.

When the quarrel began Mrs. Patterson's four-year-old daughter ran from home to the home of Houston Coggins, a neighbor. She told the Coggins her mother and grandmother were quarreling.

Shortly after Mrs. Patterson is supposed to have gone to a neighbor's house and told them she had wounded her mother to death. A few neighbors made up a party and went out to investigate. They found Mrs. Lett lying on the ground near the back door of her home. She was not dead but in a critical and dying condition. Her head was badly beaten, mangled and disfigured. The neighbors spread a quilt over the dying woman and rushed to town for the Sheriff. The Sheriff's office sent investigators out and Coroner Leroy Martin hurried out to find the woman in a dying condition. She was rushed to the Central Alabama Hospital but her life could not be saved. She died at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Patterson was arrested and is being held in the Chilton County jail charged with first degree murder.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lett were held at Mt. Pisgah Church at 3 o'clock Wednesday p.m.

She is survived by two sons, Thomas Lett of Clanton Route 2 and Henry Lett of Sylacauga; two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Patterson of Route 2, Clanton, and Lola Cleckler of Route 2, Clanton; one sister, Mrs. Stella Haywood of Sylacauga, and nine grandchildren.

Spigener Funeral Home was in charge of funeral arrangements.

"HAPPY EASTER" OVERSEAS

The War Department's request this week that overseas Easter greetings be mailed early brings to mind a thought which is sometimes overlooked these days. With the war over and millions of our boys home, there is a natural tendency on the part of most of us here at home to place less emphasis upon the overseas aspect of our holidays than we did in the past. Most of us have our husbands, sweethearts, sons or brothers home with us—but the War Department's release comes as a timely reminder that there are still millions of American boys overseas and that, although the war is over, the distant separating them from home hasn't diminished. . . Tokyo and Berlin and the other areas of occupation are still a long way from home.

In some respects, the job of an army of occupation is almost as trying as that of a wartime army. A year ago this time our GI's were occupied with the grim business of waging war with our enemies—in Europe, two weeks previously, the Rhine had been crossed, and in the Pacific our superiors were hurling death and destruction upon the Japanese homeland. The tempo of the war was approaching a climax, and time was a matter of days. Today, most of the GI's who were fighting this time last year are home, but others are still over there, with new men arriving all the time. Fortunately, there is no longer the danger, the fear, and the fox-holes of last year, but there is the monotony, the loneliness and the yearning for home.

Easter, like Christmas, is a holiday closely associated with home. And thoughts of home will certainly be uppermost in the minds and hearts of those GI's when Easter Sunday comes around next month. Next Easter most of them will be home. Until then, "Happy Easter" to them means an envelope and a stamp and all the love that both can carry. Send all three today.

WE COULD TAKE A LESSON

A sixty-eight page booklet comes to our desk this week published by the Santa Fe Railroad. It is attractively done and devotes its entire space to describing agricultural conditions in the Southwest.

Seems that Alabama and the Southern states could use such a booklet to tell the rest of the world the conditions here and give them an idea of just what a Garden of Eden the South really is.

CLANTON NEEDS A BAKERY

It would be hard to see just how many of the returned servicemen have come to see us about starting this and that business in Clanton.

Why one of them have never noticed the lack of a bakery here we do not understand. Can you think of anything that we need more than a good bakery?

The opening is here; the field is certainly here, and the need is great.

The next time someone suggests a new business for Clanton, how about you suggesting a bakery.

Whether you like it or whether you don't like it, the OPA is the best thing that ever happened to this country. If the powers that be in Washington fail to recognize the fact and let it die it will be the worst calamity that could befall us.

Grover Hall, Jr., in the Montgomery Advertiser, says that he has discovered why "Big Jim" Folsom gets such big crowds wherever he goes without the benefit of advertising or advanced publicity — he is so big that they can see him coming three or four counties away.

Leonard Eiland at Mims Studio really gives a guy some service. Last week we were badly in need of some prints for a cut to be made from. Well, we took the negative to Leonard and, "presto," before you knew it they were back on our desk. Mr. Mims has added roll film developing and is equipped to take care of your photographic, (is that a good word?) needs. Visit them the next time you want your "picture struck."

An editor had cause to admonish his son because of the lad's reluctance to attend school.

"You must go every day and learn to be a good scholar," said the fond father, "otherwise you can never be an editor, you know. What would you do, for instance, if your newspaper came out full of mistakes?"

"Father," was the reply, "I'd blame the printer."

And the father wept with joy, because he knew he had a successor for the editorial chair.

We think that Tom Burdette and Ben Studdard both ought to pay for that ad we ran last week on the VFW page. The way it came out was "Sinclair Refining Company, B. N. Studdard Distributor." Of course everybody knows that Tom Burdette is the Sinclair Dealer and B. N. Studdard is the Gulf Distributor. But what we are getting at is, they both got so much publicity because of us getting it wrong that we are just mailing them both a bill on the first. Don't get us wrong, we're not going to carry it out — we might get thrown out on our ear.

You know, Mr. E. G. Caldwell, our State License Inspector, is a go-getter. When they get ahead of Mr. E. G. they have to get up before breakfast. Last week, however, one of our merchant friends did that very thing. He really gave Mr. Caldwell a "brush off." But on second thought, why tell off on the guy. That's one story we are going to let you find out about yourself.

As you know one of our favorite people is Mrs. Mamie C. Smith. Mrs. Smith had occasion last week to take the family Bible to Mr. Scott, the photographer and have a photostatic copy made of one of the pages. Well, the work turned out beautifully — that is for everybody but Mrs. Mamie. Her birth record was on the opposite page and when Mr. Scott made the print, her page showed up too. Now, according to Mrs. Mamie, it isn't anybody's business what her age is or the date she was born — so there. But seriously speaking, the copy was made by Mr. Scott from an old family Bible and the work did turn out remarkably well. We were just kidding Mrs. Mamie C. about her age, etc.

Never say, "That lady sure is fat." Just say, "Look, she comes in the large economy size."

Mrs. E. E. Upchurch came by last week and invited us up to her home to see her beautiful flowers. Her yards and gardens are a veritable wonderland of pretty flowers of every description. Especially are her azaleas good to look at. If you could just drive by the Upchurch home and imagine every yard in Clanton with such a display of beauty then Clanton would truly be the wonder spot of Central

Alabama.

Mrs. M. L. House comes in this week to inform us that she plans to pay her subscription up for life as soon as the strawberries and the peaches, etc., start bearing. However we are afraid that Mrs. House is a little too young to let by with that kind of a proposition. We always like to flatter the ladies, but it isn't a case of flattering there—we're just plain cautious.

500 PERMITS WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR BANKHEAD HUNTERS APRIL 1

Five hundred hunters will be given an opportunity to outwit the wily turkey gobbler during the spring hunting period of April 1-15, inclusive, in the Black Warrior wildlife management area of the William B. Bankhead National Forest. It was announced by Conservation Director Ben C. Morgan and U. S. Forest Supervisor Frank W. Rasor that the 500 permits to be issued at $1 each will be good for the entire hunting period of 15 days.

The permits will be issued by the Game, Fish and Seafoods Division, Department of Conservation, on a "first come, first served" basis.

One gobbler will constitute the bag limit. After bagging his gobbler, the hunter must report the kill to one of the three checking stations and surrender his permit. Checking stations will be maintained at each of the following intersections: Cheatham and Ridge roads, Kinlock and Cranal roads and the Cheatham and Hickory Grove roads.

Hunters must possess proper state licenses and give the number when applying for permits. They will be restricted to the use of shotguns. Hunters may enter the area—except in the sanctuary itself where no hunting will be permitted—at any time after 12:01 a.m. of each hunting day beginning April 1 with shooting to begin at daylight and closing at sundown.

As a precaution against forest fires, hunters will not be allowed to smoke while walking through the woods. Camp and warming fires will be permitted only at designated places. Information on designated camping areas may be secured at any of the three checking stations.

REESE MULLINS HONORABLY DISCHARGED

Reese G. Mullins, formerly with the Post Office in Clanton, has been honorably discharged from the army after serving 24 months.

Reese was in the Post Office Department in the Army. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Reese Mullins of Clanton and the husband of Sara Colley Mullins of Clanton.

Bowel Cleaning Power Of Inner-Aid Medicine

One man recently took INNER-AID three days and said afterward that he never would have believed his body contained so much filthy substance. He says his stomach, intestines, bowels and whole system were so thoroughly cleansed that his constant headaches came to an end, several pimply skin eruptions on his face dried up overnight, and even the rheumatic pains in his knee disappeared. At present he is an altogether different man, feeling fine in every way.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach; act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering. Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County.—Adv.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haske, D.D.

The next time you take a crab out of the water on your hook, make him secure and then examine his armour. You will find that he carries a sword-like weapon at his tail, and that his head is covered over with a sword-like helmet. The crab is assigned the task of purifying the sea, and he is well armed for the task of his life. He battles against the foes that would destroy him, and is ever on the job of purifying the water. In writing to the Ephesian church Paul instructed its members to, "Take upon them the whole armour of God." The everlasting task of a Christian is to purify society, and his eternal task is to battle against the forces that destroy. Stand fast O child of God and fight on.

We are told that scientists are nearing the discovery of a bullet-proof substance and that this metal is very light, and that it can be made into bullet-proof breast-plates that can be worn in the midst of machine gun fire and there will be no harm to the soldier. At the distance of a hundred yards the man on the inside of the armour will be as safe as if he were being fired upon with peace makers. When the Christian is all covered over the whole armour of God, he can face the barrage of the devil's army, and still be preserved and protected. When God is within our hearts, and He is all round about us, with His preserving strength, then it is well with us, it matters not how thick the bullets may fly. "If God be for us, who can be against us?" In life's warfare put on the whole armour of God.

The story is told that one day one of David's trusted generals came back from the battle field. He was tired and exhausted from the fighting of the day, and as his body-guard was taking off his armour, he discovered many places where the armour had rubbed off the skin, and that the general was sorely hurt from the rub of his armour. And yet, the man was unaware of the injury that he had received from his armour. When a true Christian becomes engaged in the warfare against sin, he becomes so absorbed in his task, until he forgets himself. His armour may rub him here and there, but he fights on unconscious of any injury that might come to him. Blessed is the man who can be injured in the fight for the kingdom and not know it.

"JES' SQUEEZE NATCHEL, SONNY!"

This is a drawing of one of the eight fine paintings by Hy Hintermeister

A LOT OF GOOD COMES FROM THE EARTH

Sonny was sayin' that ol' bossy cow is jes' a natchel factory for making milk out o' fodder. But I tell him that making good milk begins when mother nature gave us the fertilizer to help the fodder grow. I was referin' to the natchel soda us farmers uses on all our crops.

Natchel soda comes right from the earth. Nobody knows for sure quite how it got there. But they does know the wonderful things natchel Chilean soda does for crops.

Seems like jes' being natchel makes Chilean soda different from any other kind. Maybe folks won't be able to get all they want this season, but if we're careful with what we get, it may do.

ALABAMA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE IS COMPLETED

Auburn, Ala. — Articles in current issues of two national magazines compliment Alabama Polytechnic Institute on its methods of handling applications of veterans and its Department of Aeronautical Engineering.

In an article entitled, "Snafu on the Campus," appearing in the March 30 issue of LIBERTY, the author, Arthur S. Postle, Dean of Men, University of Cincinnati, says: "Alabama Polytechnic Institute, already training more than 1,600 veterans (now up to 2,200) and unable to house more, in helpful fashion ran a telegraphic poll of other schools in the state and refers rejected veterans to other Alabama colleges."

The February issue of National Aeronautical Magazine carries an article "More About Less," written by Dr. Edgar S. Fuller, in which API is complimented as follows:

"A state college of agriculture and mechanical arts, normally enrolling about 3,500 students, Alabama Polytechnic Institute has expanded its offerings in aviation far beyond the scope of the CPT and WTS programs."

"It has a Department of Aeronautical Engineering which is organized on an extremely liberal basis. Directed by a professor of aeronautical engineering, the department owns and operates its own airport and airplanes, and has a fine background of experience extending back to 1932. The curricula offers aeronautical engineering, aeronautical administration, airport management and pilot training and aviation activities are influential in the life of the college generally."

The pollinating job done by bees is figured to be worth 10 to 20 times as much to farmers as the value of the honey and beeswax the bees make.

The State Planning Board, in cooperation with the State Department of Education and the Alabama Educational Association, has undertaken a study of the physical needs of Alabama's educational system. The first step announced is to forecast as nearly as possible the school age population in 1950 and compare it with present facilities and those contemplated under the State building program. This information is expected to make possible a fair estimate of what capital outlay will be required by 1950 for an adequate educational plan.

APRIL — CANCER CONTROL MONTH

This is Chilton County's second year to have a cancer drive. Last year we reached our educational quota. This year let us strive to reach our overall quota which is $620.00. We are becoming more cancer-conscious than ever before. Since we do not have a cancer clinic in Chilton County, we are very fortunate to have four so very close, two in Birmingham and one in Montgomery and one in Selma. Each one of us is entitled to go to these clinics by securing a certificate from our health doctor.

"Two years ago while the March of Dimes collected $350.00 for each polio case in the country the American Cancer Society collected fifty cents for each case of cancer. Four times as many children died from cancer as from infantile paralysis. We appreciate what has been done for polio. Let's do the same for cancer.

The time has come in the fight against cancer to strike and to strike hard. Make your gift to cancer in 1946 a really vital contribution. French Speed Up Rail Rebuilding Tremendous Damage Is Being Repaired Rapidly.

PARIS.—Despite the tremendous damage suffered by France's railroads during the war, reconstruction has been proceeding rapidly.

Officials in charge of the program are pointing to 1946 as the year which should see a near turn to prewar normalcy.

Gains have been made despite the fact France has been suffering from the most acute shortage of coal in its history, besides a shortage of almost every kind of material needed in the reconstruction job.

In September, 1944, the railroads seemed almost beyond hope of repair. Not a single phase of the system had escaped damage.

Locomotives, freight and passenger cars, tracks, stations, freight yards, bridges, repair shops, sidings—all had been seriously damaged.

Out of a total of 17,000 locomotives which France had in 1939, 11,800 remained following the liberation.

Only 2,900 of these were usable. Today there are 12,800 engines in France, 8,100 of which are in running order.

Damaged locomotives are being repaired at the rate of 100 per month.

To rebuild further their depleted stock of engines the French have placed orders in America and Canada for 1,340 engines, with delivery expected during 1946.

Before the war there were approximately 460,000 freight cars. Only 230,000 remained following liberation. But today the French are repairing their damaged cars at the rate of 2,000 per month.

Stations are to be considerably enlarged, while repair shops will be substantially increased throughout France and furnished with the latest equipment.

About 40 of the big rail yards were destroyed up to 90 per cent or more during the war. Today these yards are approximately 75 per cent repaired. Some of them are actually handling more cars today than they did in 1939.

Throughout their repair of all installations, especially destroyed stations, depots and repair shops, the French are modernizing.

More Pupils Than Text

NEW YORK. — Schools and colleges will be short of textbooks at least until the end of 1946, book publishers predicted.

The unprecedented urge for education has swamped the textbook publishers, already running behind due to paper shortage and inadequate press facilities. They say the peak demand in September cannot be met.

G.I.s are pouring into any college with room for them and if the draft ends in May the 18-year-olds who now expect to go to camp will also be lining up for the scarce books.

Publishers are diverting paper from other books normally printed in an attempt to supply textbooks for veterans in high schools, vocational schools and colleges, particularly in the engineering and technical fields, a member of the national conference of business paper editors said recently.

As a result, the shortage is being felt in the secondary and elementary schools, too, although enrollments there are foreseeable, a spokesman of the American Textbook Publishers institute said.

GLAD TIDINGS

Dear Editor and Readers:

There will be prayer service Thursday evening at Glad Tidings of this week. Sunday School and preaching Sunday morning, March 31; services at 7:00 p.m. Come and be with us and bring a friend.

Our crowds have been a little smaller than we would like but the Lord still meets with us and will recognize what is being done. The Eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good.—Prov. 15:3.

We had a wonderful day at Oak Grove last Sunday and Sunday night and a real good service, using for a text Mark 15:37 — And Jesus cried with a loud voice. Subject, "He Cried for the Sinful, Unbelieving, Fun-makers, Hateful, Mockers, Self-willed and such like. What class are you living in."

Come to Glad Tidings Sunday and enjoy the Lord with us.

There will be cottage prayer meeting at Mr. Quincy Minor's next Tuesday night and are expecting a good crowd, and above all a wonderful service.

Friday night of this week we will have cottage prayer meeting at Gaston Minor's near Oak Grove. We are expecting a wonderful outpouring of the Holy Spirit and are praying for an unusual service. Watch for further announcements.

Prayer is welcome. Those who live near, come and bring a lamp to enlighten the night. Don't disappoint us. H. Shaw, Pastor Oak Grove and Glad Tidings.

S. and World War I food administrator, now head of commission established to obtain more food for starving war victims, is shown conferring with Clinton Anderson, secretary of agriculture, and Chester Davis, center, chairman of the Famine Emergency commission, right, as they met at the agriculture department to complete plans for aiding the starving world.

GET READY FOR BATTLE AGAINST GARDEN PESTS

So that the garden you are making this year won't be harvested by insects you'd better plan a warm reception for them.

W. A. Ruffin, API extension entomologist, says the insecticides which will do the trick are cytolite and 75 per cent rotenone for chewing insects such as bean beetles. Rotenone and nicotine sulphate will kill sucking insects like aphids.

A suitable sprayer or duster is essential for proper application of the insecticides. A plunger-type duster selling for less than $2 gives excellent results in a garden.

RFC Seeks Large Hole

For Its Leftover Scrap
KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The reconstruction finance corporation is looking for a hole—say the size of Union station.

It wants to bury 6,000 tons of rapidly deteriorating rubber, fabric and metal left over from the wartime scrap drives. The lease is up on the ground where the scrap is now stored.

One suggestion has been that the RFC just ease the stuff into the Missouri river come the spring floods and let nature take its course.

Reserve Board Is Firm

On Installment Buying
WASHINGTON. — The Federal Reserve board opposes any easing, even for veterans, of its present regulation that one-third down must be paid on many articles bought on time, it was disclosed recently, contending that it would be inflationary.

The board's views were set out in a letter by Bray Hammond, its assistant secretary, in reply to a communication from the Consumer Banking institute, Washington, which released the correspondence.

He's Prize Donator

Of Washington State

Last year Alabama farm women in 48 counties made 14,313 handbags for a cost of $10,000 and at a saving of $35,000. Materials used were felt, bengaline, faille, ticking, oserberg and feed sacks.

Lowndes County farmers last year harvested some 350,000 pounds of Cay-le peas, 60,000 pounds of blue lupine, 20,000 pounds of vetch, 200,000 bushels of oats, and 3,000 bushels of good planting cotton seed.

Where a gambling device has been seized, condemned and forfeited as being in violation of law, the officer making the seizure is entitled to one-half the money taken from it. Attorney-General McQueen ruled recently. The attorney-general held that in such cases it is immaterial whether the officer is on a salary or a fee basis.

COTTON TEXTILES

The cotton-textile industry has spearheaded factory growth in North Carolina from 1880 to the present. Centered in the Piedmont area, coarse yarns were spun at first but now medium and fine textures are turned out. It is a $5 million dollar business. All the world will need these products which will add to the Nation's wealth to back the Savings Bonds you buy.

The farmer's share of the consumer's dollar spent for farm food products averaged 54 cents in 1945, a new high point for the period on which records are available. Before 1943 the highest recorded farmer's share was 51 cents in 1918.

ARRESTS BY HIGHWAY PATROL INCREASED TO 1,177

Montgomery, Ala. — Arrests made by the Alabama Highway Patrol increased to 1,177 during the month of February, Clyde C. Sellers, Chief of the patrol, announced today.

The "no drivers license" offense, highest on the list, accounted for 285 arrests. The same offense during January listed 290 out of a total 1,166 apprehensions.

The greatest increase in February arrests was shown in "driving while intoxicated," listing 250. In January, 194 arrests were made for that offense.

Violation of carrier laws, involving trucks, reached 84 arrests, a rise over the previous month's list of 55. Speeding trucks accounted for a total of 27 apprehensions.

Arrests of "hit and run" drivers during February jumped to 13 from a clear record the previous month. An increase from 19 in January to 37 in February was noted in apprehensions for passing a loading or unloading school bus.

Continuing their program against improper lights on Alabama roadways at night, patrolmen made 124 arrests for that offense in February. Passing a "stop" sign was the violation listed in seven apprehensions.

Last year D. L. Horn, Escambia County, planted 12 acres to blue lupine and combined 1,800 pounds of seed per acre. Following this crop he planted Ogen soybeans which yielded 28 bushels per acre. He made a gross return of approximately $100.00 per acre from the two crops.

Spring and summer clothes of light weight fabrics usually suffer most from buttons that pull out, often taking the fabric underneath with them. Clothing specialists of U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest a simple way to prevent such damage—stitch tape on the inside of the garment under the button line. This reinforcement does not show when the garment is buttoned, and the strain is relieved on the small area of cloth to which the buttons are attached. Stitch down the edge of the tape, then sew buttons through the center part of the tape.

Electric irons always should be disconnected properly after use to keep them in good working order, say rural electrification specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Pull on the plug that fits into the wall outlet, never of the cord. Pulling on the cord may loosen the connections in the plug or even pull out the wires. A loose connection may result in a blown fuse or cause excessive heat, which in time will ruin the plug. The iron cord should be disconnected at the convenience outlet rather than at the iron.

Plans for Return Of War Dead Told Expect to Begin in Spring If Army Approves.

SAN FRANCISCO. — The army has detailed plans for bringing home America's World War II dead, beginning this spring, if congressional authorization is granted, the San Francisco Chronicle said.

The Chronicle did not disclose the source of its information, except to state the details were contained in documents now being submitted to high war department officials.

A bill dealing with return of war dead has passed the house and now is before the senate military affairs committee. Other points included in the Chronicle story:

The dead will be returned from 454 sites in 88 countries and islands. New York will be the major receiving point for dead from Europe and the Atlantic area; San Francisco for those from the Pacific area. The first burial ship is scheduled to leave San Francisco April 1 and hereafter one ship a month will leave both San Francisco and New York.

The project is expected to take at least 18 months.

Cost has been estimated unofficially at $500,000,000.

If next of kin desire, the dead will be left where they are now buried. Liberty ships, painted white with a purple band around the hull, will carry the dead.

The coffins will be walnut stained, each covered with an American flag.

Each burial ship will carry from 6,500 to 7,000 bodies.

Specialty converted trains will carry the dead to distribution points.

Because present plans call for no military cemeteries in isolated areas, all dead will be arbitrarily returned from China, Burma, India, the Malay States and the Dutch East Indies; from Central and South America, except the Canal Zone; from Africa, except in the North American theater; the Middle East, and from all islands in both the Atlantic and Pacific, except Hawaii, the Philippines and Puerto Rico.

Porker Pricing

OPA's recent price changes on live hogs in relatively small southeastern markets should maintain more equitable distribution through customary marketing channels, OPA District Director Sam J. Watkins said today. None of the changes will affect the retail price of pork, he explained.

From time to time, with changing marketing conditions, Mr. Watkins pointed out, it becomes difficult for some markets to get their customary share of hogs. The change in ceiling prices was aimed at correcting this situation in the following markets: Birmingham, Alabama, was reduced from $14.55 per hundred pounds to $13.55 and changed from a terminal market to a market classification. Montgomery, Alabama, a terminal market, was increased from $14.50 to $15.55.

There is sufficient evidence to accompany applications for sugar. The birth certificate issued by the department of health or vital statistics is unnecessary and should not be sent as there is always the danger that it may be lost in the mail.

This clarification on the part of the OPA is made as the result of a claim by the mother of a new born child that she sent the birth certificate to an OPA office and failed to get it back. A certified copy of the original or a letter from the state will be accepted as evidence of birth when applying for sugar rations.

The increases on hay and feed grains were made to reflect parity to producers in accordance with legal requirements and to provide a cushion to allow a possible advance in parity, Mr. Burton said.

Canning Sugar In Short Supply

Because of the short supply of sugar for home canning use, consumers are admonished to hang on the Spare Stamp No. 9 until they actually need the sugar for canning. Not more than ten pounds per person will be issued for canning purposes this year and accordingly home canners are warned that sugar used for any purpose other than for canning, cannot be replaced.

The first validation designated as Spare Stamp No. 9 became valid on March 11 for 5 pounds. A second stamp will probably be validated in June or July for an equal amount. Stamp No. 9 will be good until October 31.

MAKE PLANS NOW TO SEED ALFALFA IN LATE SUMMER

Alabama farmers moust successful with alfalfa will be those who begin now to prepare for the crop.

J. C. Lowery, PI extension agronomist, says that now is the time to select land where alfalfa is to be seeded. If possible, choose land now in winter legumes. Where oats are combined or winter legumes are permitted to make seed, alfalfa will not do well.

Do not try to grow a crop on the land chosen. Land should be followed during the summer to kill weeds and to make a good seed bed. Alfalfa requires liberal amounts of phosphate and potash. Tests should be made to determine the lime needs.

"Seeding must be done in late August or early September for best results, but farmers who wait until that time to get ready for the crop stand a good chance to fail," says Mr. Lowery.

NEW INSECTICIDE FOR FIGHTING BOLL WEEVILS

A new insecticide, benzene hexachloride, is now appearing over the horizon of the cotton grower's world.

It seems to outshine DDT in some respects, so far as cotton insects are concerned. Boll weevils are not readily killed by DDT, but benzene hexachloride is sure death for them, small-scale tests reveal.

In preliminary tests by the U. S. Department of Agriculture benzene hexachloride killed more boll weevils quicker than the old stand-by calcium arsenate, and it also killed more cotton leafworms, plant bugs, cotton fleahoppers and cotton aphids than the standard insecticides. It is the first insecticide ever found that gives promise of destroying the boll weevil, cotton aphid and other sucking insects at the same time.

Benzene hexachloride, as a cotton insecticide, apparently has one weakness, as far as entomologists have discovered. It is not as effective as calcium arsenate or DDT for the control of bollworms.

No ill-effects to the cotton plants have been noticed when the new insecticide has been used in low dosages, but much experiment work remains to be done on its effect on plants and soils.

Only small amounts of benzene hexachloride are being manufactured in the United States now. About enough is available to supply the scientists for use in further tests this year. However, if the insecticide proves to be as effective for controlling cotton pests in large field experiments as the results of last year's small tests suggest, and other serious shortcomings do not come to light, it may become available to cotton growers within a relatively short time.

The farmer's share of the consumer's dollar spent for farm food products averaged 54 cents in 1945, a new high point for the period on which records are available. Before 1943 the highest recorded farmer's share was 51 cents in 1918.

GOVERNOR SPARKS ENDORSES—

The State wide "Check and Tell" Motor Vehicle Accident Prevention Campaign inaugurated by the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee wins the endorsement of Governor Sparks.

This organization of oil men is mailing direct to Alabama oil men 10,000 "Drive Safely" signs and 3,500 signs to remind service station operators to check brakes, lights, tires and steering gear and tell their customers—DRIVE SAFELY.

Governor Sparks said, "I addressed an open letter to the oil men of Alabama on January 7, 1946, asking their cooperation in Motor Vehicle Accident Prevention. They responded immediately by mailing my letter to several thousand oil men and have followed through each month with additional safety reminders.

Ten thousand "Drive Safely" signs prominently displayed at service stations and garages should serve as a constant warning to motorists.

The motorists should bear in mind that traffic accidents are expected to claim the lives of 38,000 people in 1946, according to the National Safety Council.

I am calling on all service station operators in Alabama to cooperate in this campaign to prevent Motor Vehicle Accidents by warning their customers to drive safely and checking motor vehicles for defective brakes, lights, tires and steering gear."

TURKEY GOBBLETS TO BE SOUGHT IN OAKMULGEE

Hunting of wild turkey gobblers in the wildlife management area of the Oakmulgee District of the Talladega National Forest will open April 1 and continue through April 15, it was announced jointly by Conservation Director en C. Morgan and U. S. Forest Service Supervisor Frank W. Rason. One hundred and fifty permits, each costing $1.50 and good for the entire 15-day period, will be issued by the Game, Fish and Seafoods Division of the Department of Conservation. They will be issued on a "first come, first served" basis.

A bag limit of one gobbler has been set. After bagging his gobbler, the hunter must report his kill to one of the three checking stations and surrender his permit. Checking stations will be operated at the Pondville look-out tower, Payne Lake game warden station and the Elliott Creek work center.

Hunters must possess proper state licenses and give the number when applying for permits. They will be restricted to the use of shotguns. Hunters may enter the wildlife management area at any time after 12:01 a.m. of each hunting day beginning April 1 with shooting to begin at daylight and close at sundown.

Smoking will not be permitted on the part of hunters while walking through the woods. As a further precaution against forest fires, camp and warming fires will be permitted only at designated areas. Information on designated camping areas may be secured at any of the three checking stations.

Joe Poole Spoke Here Monday

Joe N. Poole, Commissioner of Agriculture, and candidate for Governor of Alabama, spoke here in the courtroom Monday afternoon in behalf of his candidacy.

"Barring those unpredictable calamity, there will be no new taxes levied during my administration," Poole stated in explaining his tax program, and he promised, in addition, a 30 per cent reduction of all property taxes. He would use the $7,000,000 income tax surplus which he estimates will be in the treasury next January, for paying off the old carpetbagger bonds and thereby saving the interest on this debt. After this has been done, future income tax surpluses would be used to property taxes.

Devoting a greater part of his speech to agriculture and education, he pledged himself to exert every effort to raise the income of the small farmer and to give the teachers higher salaries.

"Our farmers must have parity. By parity, I mean that the compensation the farmer gets for what he grows must provide him an income equal to that which other groups receive for their labor or manufactured products," Poole said.

Mr. Poole cited that the national income is approximately seven times the farm income and when the agricultural income drops the national economy becomes upset.

More farm-to-market roads; agricultural research and experimentation; a stepped up, dairy, livestock and poultry program in Alabama; expanded marketing facilities; more rural electrification; encouragement of industries to locate in the state and employment of some member of the farm family in a factory to supplement the living of rural families on sub-marginal lands; and development of the state's natural resources to attract more tourist dollars in Alabama were all promised in the Poole program.

Poole advocated continuance of the Minimum School plan, at least a nine months school term for high school and eight months for elementary schools, adequate and safe transportation for school children and expansion of vocational educational activities.

He proposed to limit the sale of liquors to state stores and to abolish the licenses of all liquor dealers in Alabama as soon as he is elected. Then he would set up an agency to teach temperance. Recognizing the right of the people to vote on the question if they desire, Poole maintained that he would use his influence

CULLED BIRDS TASTE JUST AS GOOD AS ANY

The poor layers and unneeded roosters being culled out of Alabama chicken flocks make just as good eating as any bird.

Because of age, fricasseeing and roasting are the best methods of preparation. If the chickens are very old, stewing is suggested by Mary Hulsey, API extension foods specialist.

Chickens from four to seven months old, with a thick pad of fat on the back and a plump well rounded breast are excellent for roasting. If too old for frying and too lean for roasting, but not quite in the stewing class, fricasseeing does well.

How women and girls
may get wanted relief
from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic pain. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "blues" to come.

2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

'I believe in putting my store right in my customer's home'

The telephone is more than convenient communication. It is a means of doing business, a way for the merchant to put his store in his customers' homes.

In serving business, the Telephone Company accepts a great responsibility—the obligation to meet every need of the business man who depends on the telephone.

With the Company—as with the corner drug store—earnings are vital to continued success. And because the telephone has become a part of everyday life, telephone earnings are a subject of importance to all.

In 1945, telephone earnings were the lowest in the past 23 years. For 1946, the outlook is for even lower earnings. In keeping with the general trend throughout the country, wages have recently been increased. The cost of everything else going into the furnishing of telephone service is also climbing.

Adequate earnings are a basic necessity to the American way of life. Earnings must be sufficient to enable industry to maintain high standards of service and to attract capital for expansion. As for the Telephone Company, they are indispensable if the full usefulness of the telephone in carrying on the business of the community is to be safeguarded.

STRAWBERRY SEASON OPENS IN COUNTY

First Berries Sell For $10.00 Crate; $10.56 Ceiling

It's strawberry season again in Chilton County with a ceiling price on the farmer's sales — a shortage of pickers, and farmers paying their own price for picking.

J. N. Dennis, president of the Clanton Berry Growers Association stated Tuesday night that prospects for the 1945 strawberry crop in Chilton County were bright for this year. At the same time he stated that he believed the coming year's crop would be much larger as the farmers were returning to strawberry growing.

The first shipment of berries through the Berry Growers Association were sold last Tuesday. They were sold to the Crew Brothers for $10.00 a crate. Twenty-eight crates were sold.

The OPA has placed a ceiling on the berry growers sales and the growers cannot receive more than $10.56 per crate.

The shipping of berries is now under way through the association. The berries from Chilton County this year will be sold to bidders and it is believed that they will bring a good price throughout the season. Most of the berries will go away from Clanton by truck.

Mr. Dennis added that the Association had left it up to the growers to pay the pickers what they pleased. He further stated that there seemed to be plenty of crates and cups for everyone.

According to all reports this year's berry crop will about equal that of last year. Last season county farmers shipped some 6,200 crates bringing in about $52,000.00.

Carter - Chacoma Tangle Saturday Nite

Nick Carter, the Ononta mail carrier, who has proved to be a favorite among wrestling fans in Clanton, will again appear here on the VFW's weekly mat card.

Next Saturday night at the high school auditorium, Nick will wrestle Mike Chacoma, a former champion. Carter asked for this return match after last Saturday night's tussle. There will be no time limit, no holds will be barred. In fact, anything goes. Chacoma used rough-house tactics last Saturday and was disqualified giving Carter the match. Carter, a clean and clever wrestler, is one of wrestling's front-rank men. He was once a school teacher, a baseball player, is married with two children. He was also a football coach before becoming a professional wrestler.

Chacoma, who has made two appearances in Clanton, was light heavyweight champion for four years and just lost his title recently to "Popeye" Watkins. He will have his hands full next Saturday night when he tangles with Carter.

In the preliminary Jack Purdin, a 200 pounder from Texas, will make his first appearance here. He will wrestle Rex Mobley, who needs no introduction to Clanton wrestling fans. Rex defeated "Bad Boy" Brown last Saturday night when he kicked Brown through the ropes where Brown was counted out.

The match begins at 8:30. Tickets go on sale at 7 o'clock. See the advertisement elsewhere in the News for further particulars.

CITY PURCHASES PROPERTY FOR CITY PARK

Park, 3 Ball Diamonds Gridiron; Other Facilities

After more than a year the City Fathers have been able to purchase the property known as the McKee Place and will erect a City Park and Recreation Center.

On Third Avenue North the park will be only three blocks from the business district, and according to information received from the City Hall the avenue will be paved immediately.

The plot contains twenty-three acres and plans are for a swimming pool, recreation building, tennis courts, a football gridiron, three baseball diamonds and many other facilities for pleasure including of course a playground with all accessories for the children.

Complete plans have not been worked out and at the proper time the Mayor stated Tuesday, full plans will be brought before the people.

Glee Club Prepares For Concert

The 140 members of the C.C.H.S. Glee Club are working strenuously in preparing for their concert April 26th, in the School Gymnasium, sponsored by the C.C.H.S. Parent-Teachers Association. This concert is to raise money toward the purchase of a concert grand piano for the school.

Mrs. Raymond P. Mims, director of the Glee Club, attributes a great part of the Club's success in learning a great amount of music in a short time to the section leaders. These leaders, people with good voices who can read music easily, rehearse all new music before hand so that they know their parts prior to the entire Club's rehearsal. Their function is similar to those occupying the first chairs in an orchestra. Each section leader is responsible for his group's knowing the Club's entire repertoire, and he may call special rehearsals of his section.

The section leaders are as follows: Sally Gowan, first soprano; Helen Hayes, second soprano; Inez Cox, Alto; Henry Hefflin and Donald Marcus, tenors; and Joe Mullins, bass.

Of the Boys' Glee Club, Thomas Patterson is the president and Lelwyn West, secretary-treasurer. Fay Zimmerman Coggins is president of the Girls' Glee Club and Melba Studdard is secretary - treasurer. Rosalind Owens and Mary Clyde Mims are the accompanists. The boys and girls practice 45-minute periods each week.

Tickets for the concert will be 35c each. Misses Eleanor Lewis and Myrtle Wesson, faculty members of C.C.H.S., are in charge of the sale of tickets.

Clanton Looked Different Seventeen Years Ago -- Oldtimer

(By CLARK HEADLEY)

There was one paved street in Clanton; that was U. S. 31. There was no modern post office like Clanton has now and there was no modern school building. The county roads were narrow and peach and strawberry growing in Chilton County was unheard of. Clanton, in 1929, was not big enough to think about a big recreation center for its young people and the city boundaries ran inside that of today.

But, that was seventeen years ago. That was the last time James M. Connell visited Clanton.

Last week James Connell paid a surprise visit to Clanton—his old home town. He is 69 years of age, slightly feeble, retired, gray but still lively. He recalls that forty-eight years ago it was when he left Clanton. He was picking cotton down on the old "Puss" Easterling place on the Higgins Ferry Road. One of his brothers said, James, let's go to Columbus and work in the cottonmill. There James laid his pick-stick in the middle and there he left Clanton. Just the other day he retired after working in cottonmills in Columbus, Ga., and Tallahassee, following his trade, for forty-seven years.

James was born down on Walnut Creek, near the mouth of Walnut. He was raised in that section of the woods, as he calls it, with the Bates, Robinsons, Tacketts and Parishes; there is a branch near the head of the backwater on Walnut Creek named the James Connell Branch. He attended school at Providence — what school they had in those days.

Last Saturday he paid a surprise visit to Clanton. He got off in Clanton knowing no one. He walked down the street. He asked if anyone knew of Clint Connell, one of his relatives.

He was informed that there was his brother, Newt, standing right over there. Then and there James got on his way to seeing all his old chums and relatives.

Last Sunday he visited the graves of his father and mother at Walnut Creek and Providence. At Providence he struck many old acquaintances, among those were Little Tom Bates, Monroe Parrish and the East-

He and Little Tom Bates had quite a conversation. James bragged that he had retired. Little Tom also bragged that he had retired. Little Tom said he hadn't made a drop of corn likker in years, but also said he could fool the best in likker jiggers.

Monday James came to Clanton and went up to the courthouse and attended the trials. There he jabbered and talked and asked questions and struck up old acquaintances. He talked and talked and talked. He then wrote his wife a letter that he would be back to Tallahassee soon. He didn't write his eighteen children.

If James Connell got a plug of chewing tobacco he is probably spitting snicker on Chilton County soil yet.

NOT ALL TEACHERS WILL FOLLOW

Months ago, secretly, in Montgomery a trade was made by the powers that be and Handy Ellis, that the teachers of Alabama would support him for Governor, in an exchange for certain pledges to education. The teachers of the state, the majority of them, knew nothing of this transaction at the time. It was decided for them.

This is such a well known method of leading the teachers of the state around with a ring in their nose that many of them are backing out of this pledge by the higher-ups in education, and voting according to the workings of their own consciences and wills.

The teachers of Alabama have been led around with a ring in their nose long enough by the higher-ups who have but one purpose in mind, and one only. The higher-ups are looking for something for the higher-ups. Don't the heads of the Department of Education usually fall into something good like the head of the teacher's colleges, etc., etc., etc.? We are just asking the question. . don't they?

The answer is. . . they do.

Would they perhaps be more interested than in their college than in the backwoods rural school? The answer is. . . they would. Isn't this a perfectly natural instinct? The answer is. . . it is.

Therefore we propound a reasonable question to the teachers. Why should they follow the advice of the higher-ups who made this deal months ago without their knowledge or sanction in Montgomery, rather than their own inclination and their own natural instinct for improving themselves in their own surroundings? We don't know the answer to that one.

We do know however, and some teachers have talked to us, that many of them will express their own choice at the polls in May instead of following the advice of the higher-ups in Montgomery. . . who are obviously, instinctively and customarily looking out for themselves.—Covington County News.

APPALLING STATISTICS

According to Clyde C. Sellers, chief of the Alabama Highway Patrol, traffic accidents last year caused 378 deaths in Alabama.

Chief Sellers reported that of the total number of victims, 125 were drivers; 151 passengers; and 87 pedestrians. Sellers estimated when city police department figures are added to those of his department, the total number of traffic deaths may exceed 500.

The highway patrol chief revealed that 2,569 accidents were reported to the Department of Public Safety last year. Of this number, he indicated, nearly 2,000 involved a violation of traffic regulations.

These are appalling statistics in view of the fact that almost four-fifths of the accidents involved might have been averted by careful driving practices. Even more appalling is the prospect of larger losses during the period that will be required to replace wornout motor vehicles with new ones now coming off production lines.

Unless the motoring public of Alabama awakens to the threat of death and costly damage in careless and law-violating operation of decrepit vehicles, the months just ahead are likely to be bloody ones on state highways, and officers of the Patrol are justified in the application of any reasonable means of curbing a needless harvest of lives and property. — Selma-Times Journal.

FOLKS & THINGS

ABOUT TOWN

-By BEN

In gloomy tones we need not cry, "How many things there are to buy." Here is a thought for you and me: "The best of things in life are free." The air, the sunshine and the sea, All gladness, beauty—these are free. Our faithful friendships, sympathy, The joys of living—these are free. The budding blossom, stalwart tree, God's open country—these are free. The more we look, the more we see. How many precious things are free! The heart will find more than the eye. Of things we do not have to buy. —The Links, Auburn.

We are really worried. Every day we pass by Cox Concrete Products Company and the stack of cement blocks grow bigger and bigger. Frank Cox, who is in charge of the production, is making the blocks faster than they can dry and be carried off. Every day we get more anxious and more worried. The wall of blocks at this time is reaching a tremendous height. First thing you know that wall is going to be so big that those poor employees are going to get locked in behind them and starve to death before we can dig them out.

We tried to go motoring Sunday afternoon on our county roads. Need one say more? Don't misunderstand us. We are not criticizing our County Commissioners. The weather has been awful for the past few months and it has been impossible for the roads to be worked. But—looks like we are in for a lot of favorable weather. Now we can catch up on a lot of road work and we know of no better way for our already popular Commissioners to make themselves more popular than by getting in behind their crew and giving we citizens something to travel on.

Here is copied a telegram written by Joe VanDerweert to his father, J. M. VanDerweert, Sr., and received Monday morning:

James Carl Martin, who has been in service for the past three years, returned home Monday night. Mrs. Martin (Elaine), met him in Selma. James Carl has been in Korea for the past six months serving in a government hospital. He will take his place back at J. M. Martin & Sons, with Leroy Martin, who has been carrying on alone since the death of Mr. J. M. Martin. Folks & Things, along with James Carl's many friends, welcome him home and wish for him much success in his return to civilian life.

Alabama farmers have been asked by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to increase 1946 soybean for beans acreage goal by 20 per cent and to decrease the number of turkeys produced by 4 per cent. This will call for 30,000 acres of soybeans and 148,000 turkeys.

Indications are that ten or more carloads of registered dairy heifers from Canada will be brought into Alabama in early April for 4-H Club members and adult farmers.

$5,000,000 LOST BY SWEETPOTATO GROWERS

Use of poor quality seed, mismanagement and bad handling of the crop cost Alabama sweetpotato growers about $8,000,000 last year, according to figures released by Lyle Brown, API extension horticulturist. Farmers received only about $5,000,000 from a business worth potentially $13,000,000.

A program has been started in Alabama which is designed to correct the seed situation for growers who want the best. In line with the Crop Improvement Association work in the state, several sources have already been developed where the best grade seed can be obtained. These are from foundation stock of seed selected in the field from high yielding hills of clean potatoes of high color and good shape. "These are grown under close supervision, and when all details are worked out they will be available under the name Alarico, the same brand as our top grade market potatoes," says Brown.

Better seed, better field handling storage and grading are sure to improve yields and markets. Alabama grown copper skin Porto Ricas are bringing top prices now when good quality is offered to the consumer.

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the Title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages and judgments or other liens, affecting the Title, which an Abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an Abstract of Title be furnished. MEETING OF THE CHILTON
COUNTY WELFARE BOARD

Chilton County's public welfare program will be increased during April, May and June, as a result of the authorization by Governor Sparks for release of $375,000 for public welfare, according to information discussed by the County Welfare Board at its regular meeting Friday, March 29. This county's share of the new money is $1,859.49, most of which will be matched by State and Federal Funds for aid to needy people.

This new money will enable assistance to be granted to all families now known to be eligible and approved, but for whom no funds have been available, and to increase assistance payments by a small amount to all assistance recipients in this county. Although this will not result in adequate grants, it will mean the relief of acute distress among the needy of Chilton County.

Miss Molly Megginson, County Director of Public Welfare, expressed gratification over release of this additional money, but added that this additional assistance would not be available until April. Had this money not been released, Miss Megginson continued, it would have been necessary for us to reduce grants and to reduce the number of recipients.

Miss Megginson recently attended a meeting of county directors of public welfare in Montgomery at which time policies were discussed governing expenditure of these additional funds.

Dr. R. L. Johns has resigned his position with the State Department of Education to become head of graduate work in the school of administration at the University of Florida and director of the University's field studies. He expects to leave for his new post in Florida about the middle of April.

Lady Nearly Choked
While Lying In Bed ---
Due To Stomach Gas

One lady said a few days ago that she used to be afraid to go to bed at night. She was swollen with stomach gas, which always got worse when she went to bed, and the gas would rise up in her throat after she lay down and would nearly choke her. She couldn't lie flat. Had to prop herself up on pillows. Recently this lady got INNER-AID and now says gas is gone, stomach feels fine, bowels are regular and she can go to bed and sleep soundly.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County.—Adv.

To All Chilton County
Absentee Voters

Write at once to Mr. M. D. Foshee at Clanton, Ala. State in your letter your name as it appears on your registration certificate, your home address, your occupation and the name of your employer, the beat and name or number of the box where you vote, while at home.

Ask him to send you at once an election ballot application blank, sign your letter just as your name appears on your registration certificate. As soon as you receive your ballot make a cross mark before each name you wish to vote for. Be sure to use ink and not pencil, mark it heavy so it cannot be tampered with, go before a Notary Public or a Justice of the Peace and have him sign it then seal it well and mail it yourself.

If you cannot fix your own ballot, get some one who you can trust to fix it for you, but after it is fixed, look it over carefully to see that it is just as you wanted.

If some one brings you an application blank and a ballot, sign the application and give it back to them but you keep the ballot and fix it and mail it yourself. Do not trust any one to mail your ballot. — C. E. Gullefuge, Verbena, Ala. — Adv.

Stooping is the cause of much wash-day fatigue, and much of it can be eliminated. Instead of sorting the clothes on the floor and then stooping again to pick them up, try using a large, high table or counter that allows the worker to stand erect and work without strain. If washing machines, tubs and baskets are raised to a comfortable height for the worker, much of the drudgery will be removed from washday.

RED CROSS WORKERS
CONTRIBUTE $2,555.790

In 1945, Alabama's 501,500 Red Cross members contributed $2,555,790 to the work of their organization, according to Frank McGurk, Red Cross State Relations Officer. He pointed out that although the Red Cross is the official welfare agency of the Army and Navy, and operates with them around the world, in addition to its relief work at home, it is financed entirely by voluntary contributions.

LABELING EXPLAINED
BY API NUTRITIONIST

Enriched — restored — fortified — are words seen on food labels these days. Many homemakers think these words all mean the same thing. But actually each one has a different meaning, says Mary Hulsey, API extension nutritionist.

Enriched is a word properly used only on bread and flour. Definite standards, set up by law, of certain food values must be reached. Iron and two "B" vitamins, niacin and thiamine, are put back in about the amounts lost in milling wheat flour from the whole grain. A third B vitamin, riboflavin, is added in even larger amounts than are found in whole wheat.

Restored foods contain only the vitamins and minerals that have been lost in processing. For example, says Miss Hulsey, the most common use of restored is in white rice, which has lost its natural vitamins and minerals.

Fortified is a word used on products that have had vitamins and minerals added to them. A good example is fortified flour, which has had iron and two "B" vitamins added to it.

VETERANS WILL GET OLD JOBS BACK

That Uncle Sam does not intend to forget the law requiring employers to give returning veterans their jobs back was indicated when the U. S. District Attorney's office here filed petition in federal court seeking to compel an employer to give a veteran his old job. The petition was filed against the Becker Roofing Company of Chicago, which maintains a branch office in Montgomery, and which it was charged, refused to rehire H. S. Salter, after discharge from the Navy. The case was certified to the district attorney for action by Col. James T. Johnson, Jr., State Selective Service Director, who said that he acted after failing to reach a settlement with the company.

Meat Actions On Upgrade

Court actions at the rate of 20 per week are being brought against south-eastern slaughterers and meat packers in an OPA drive against black market operations which are diverting much of the short supply of meat from legal channels, Sam J. Watkins, OPA District Director said today.

Simultaneously the Office of Economic Stabilization has begun a policy of withholding subsidy payments to slaughterers guilty of making over-riding payments for live cattle, he said.

The action taken upon the recommendation of OPA, directs the Reconstruction Finance Corporation automatically to withhold subsidies from slaughterers who, during an accounting period beginning April 1, purchase live cattle above OPA's maximum prices, Mr. Watkins explained.

Actions developed against slaughterers include criminal indictments, treble damage suits, injunctions to prevent further violations, and subsidy withholding, he added.

Sugar Applicants Must Show Address

Because of inadequate addresses shown on applications for lost ration books containing sugar stamps or for initial issuance of such rations to new babies and returning service people, approximately 200 books are being returned each month to the District Office of Price Administration.

These rations are returned by the postoffice marked "unknown" or "no such number" and indicate carelessness on the part of the applicant when sending for needed sugar supplies. Many of the books so returned are allocated to veterans and doubtless many such persons are wondering why they have not received their legal supply of sugar coupons.

Applicants who have not received their books after a reasonable length of time should contact the Price Control Board, Phoenix Building, Birmingham.

Auto Service Establishments Must Register

Veterans who have opened garages since their release from the Armed Services were reminded today by King W. Snell, Alabama OPA Veterans' Advisor, that they must file a schedule of repair charges with their local Area Price Control Board.

This reminder came as a result of the fact that many garages are being opened in the state by veterans who are not familiar with the regulations having been out of the states for some time.

Mr. Snell said that he did not want any veteran operating a garage to get into trouble through ignorance and therefore, cautioned them to file repair charges with the nearest Price Control Board.

Violations Expensive

As indication that OPA is striking at manufacturers' price violations to prevent later overcharges in retail stores, the agency last week filed suits involving nearly a quarter of a million dollars against two North Carolina furniture manufacturers, OPA District Director Sam J. Watkins said today.

In one suit the agency seeks $150,000 from Irwin A. Morgenstein and the Great Lakes Industries, Inc., High Point, for alleged over-ceiling sales of furniture and toys, Mr. Watkins said.

In filing the suit for three times the amount of over-charges, he added, OPA contends that the total amount of over-riding charges received by the

Rich Uranium Deposit Is Discovered in Australia

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA. — T. Dougherty, general secretary of the Australian Workers union, said recently at an A.W.U. conference that the richest uranium deposits in the world have been found in southeastern Queensland.

Dougherty said the deposits were found near the small town of Stanthorpe.

Uranium is an essential element in atomic energy research.

Dougherty said the Stanthorpe deposits "contain the highest percentage of uranium of any deposit in the world," adding that "samples sent to Britain yielded up to 3 per cent uranium."

In Canada, a deposit containing .018 per cent uranium is being exploited, Dougherty said.

defendants was approximately $50,000. OPA is also asking judgment of $74,433.79 against the United Furniture Corporation, Lexington, for alleged violations of OPA regulations, the Director said.

"By stopping one violation at the manufacturing level, we prevent countless violations later on at the retail level," Watkins explained, adding that this technique has already saved millions of dollars for retail customers.

In Alabama approximately $15,000 was collected in price action settlements during the past week.

Clothing Shortage Due For Easing
OPA's additional leeway granted apparel manufacturers in meeting their maximum average prices during the first half of 1946 should bring more essential clothing into stores, OPA District Price Executive, B. B. Burton said today.

The action was deemed necessary by the intensified fabric shortage and other factors, Burton said, but explained that no increase in ceiling prices to consumers will result from this action.

Men's and boy's shirts, shorts and pajamas are among the apparel items for which higher exemption prices are set, Mr. Burton pointed out. Others are men's neckwear, women's nightwear, women's foundation garments and women's and girls' playsuits and sunsuits.

"After these essential garments are made price control will see to it that they reach consumers at prices they can afford to pay," he said. "This speeding up of production, in addition to price control will help break both the clothing shortage and threatening inflation."

"Surplus" Buyers Urged To Check On Prices

Buyers of surplus war goods for resale were urged today to check with the district OPA office in Birmingham for the specific dollar-and-cent ceiling prices on these items.

Resale ceiling prices at all levels, of trade have already been set by OPA on approximately 500 different war surplus commodities according to B. B. Burton, OPA Price Executive.

With the heavy flow to the market of many surplus commodities made scarce by war, OPA's establishment of definite ceiling prices on each item makes it easier for both wholesaler and retailer, Mr. Burton explained.

Consumers may readily ascertain the proper price of these commodities since OPA requires all surplus materials to be price-ticked at the retail level, he said.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskeew, D.D.

As I was entering a church there was a man standing at the door, and he touched me on the arm asking me this question, "Whose church is this?" I knew what the man wanted to find out and I promptly replied, "This is the Methodist church." As I walked in to take my seat the man's question was still ringing in my mind, "Whose church is this?" and I started answering his question in more ways than one. To be sure it was built by people of the Methodist faith, but it was the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ. It was the church of every man. It was my neighbor's church. It was my church. If you will remember all of these things when you enter the Sanctuary the next time, you will surely become alert to the needs of the church.

It was the day before Christmas and I stood in the lobby of an Old Folk home. Seventy-five aged men and women sat before me and I talked to them about God's Christmas Tree.

The management of the home had placed a beautiful Christmas tree and had it decorated with gifts and graces that pleased the eye. The faces of these aged saints beamed with joy as they waited for the coming of Santa Claus. With this as a background I told them of God's gifts that He had on His Christmas Tree for each of them. The Tree was lifted at Bethlehem and the star shined above it. Each one had a package of love, a package of salvation, a package of peace and a package of eternal life, hanging on that tree. These packages are hanging on God's Christmas Tree with your name on each of them, and God is offering all of these to

RED CROSS TO PRODUCE CLOTHING FOR EUROPE

The American Red Cross will again produce clothing for people in war-devastated areas of Europe, according to announcement today by Frank McGurk, Red Cross State Relations Officer. Chapters all over the nation have been asked to accept quotas of suitable garments, to be produced by hand, by volunteer workers. Emphasis will be on children's clothing, McGurk said. The output will be shipped to countries where privation is often more serious now than during the war. The Central Committee of the Red Cross recently authorized purchases of suf-

you. "God so loved the world—" and will you not accept His gifts to you?

I saw a servant of God as he lifted a basket of groceries and fruit from his car and hugged it down fifty steps to where an old washer-woman lived in a one-room cottage by the side of the Bayou. He sat this Christmas basket on the steps and then lifted his hat and said, "Merry Xmas, Old Santa is remembering you with Christmas joy." Then he bowed his head and prayed for the old servant of God and was seen at his ear on the street level. If that man had gone down these steps and murdered that old woman, all the papers in the city would have let the public know of the crime, but no one ever heard of that deed of kindness. One reason why we think that there is but little good in the world is because good deeds are not published.

Candidate for Governor

"YOUR boy or girl comes first of all things in the world with you."

"Whether you are poor or wealthy, the greatest gift that you can make to them is a good education."

"Good educational facilities cannot be cut from the cloth of campaign promises."

"For 30 years I have fought for the welfare of schools."

"In 1927 I led the Senate fight to put on the 'big mule' taxes that raised $8,000,000 for our schools. This saved them from wreck and ruin."

"My opponent, then in the legislature, fought this school aid program to the bitter end."

"In 1937 I led the House fight for greater aid to education."

"As Governor I will keep up the fight to see that your boy and girl receive the educational advantages that you want them to have."

"My platform and the program of the Alabama Education Association are practically identical."

"Educators throughout Alabama are backing me because they know that—"

• "JES' HOL' IT NATCHEL, SONNY!"

"DISCOVERING" UNCLE NATCHEL

One day back in 1934, an artist, driving leisurely along a country road in the deep South, heard the sound of banjo music floating toward him through the trees. He left his car and followed the sad-sweet strains until he found a clearing in the forest where, on a little cabin porch, sat an old dorky, a red-headed boy of twelve, and a dog—in the middle of a music lesson! All unseen, the artist set up his easel and soon, upon the canvas, appeared the boy, all thumbs, his face screwed up in earnest effort, manfully struggling with the stringed instrument; the dog looking on in painful apprehension; the old man patiently urging: "Jes' hol' it natchel, Sonny—thataway, natchel!"

This beautiful painting by Hy Hintermeister was featured on the 1935 Uncle Natchel calendar, and introduced to a million people the familiar figure of "Uncle Natchel", the kindly old man who has appeared ever since as the symbol of Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda.

Uncle Natchel is really a rare and lovable character. Grown old in the employ of Sonny's family, he is known to everyone for miles around for his inexhaustible supply of stories about the wonders of Nature and his belief that the best way to do anything is the "Natchel" way. And that, of course, is how he got his name.

HILL SEES MORE HOUSING FOR VETERANS ON THE WAY

Senator Lister Hill (D., Ala.) today express confidence that our World War II veterans would soon have additional relief in the housing situation. Senator Hill expects that the President will momentarily sign the authorization for 102,350 additional units of emergency housing for World War II veterans and their families in schools and colleges and congested areas. As one of the Senate Conferees on the housing measure, Senator Hill was able to assist in getting the authorization approved by the Senate and the measure went to the White House for the President's signature.

Senator Hill stated that pursuant to the authorization the House recently approved an emergency fund of $253,727,000, to carry out its provisions. The Senator expressed the hope that action by the Senate Appropriations Committee would be taken today on the emergency fund, and make the additional housing immediately available. The Senator pointed out that this was the second phase of a program started recently to make available removable housing for veterans and their families and for the conversion with government funds of military barracks for use either where presently located or by removal to school and college campuses and into congested areas.

MODERN BEAUTY SHOP WILL CELEBRATE ITS 11TH ANNIVERSARY APRIL 5TH

April 5th, 1935, eleven years ago, the Modern Beauty Shop opened its doors to the people of Chilton County, for service in beauty culture. At that time the shop was operated by only three operators, Mr. Grady Mills, Miss Doris Guin and Miss Ludy Espy. Since this date the Modern Beauty Shop has increased in size and operators and has built up excellent clientele.

On the morning of our opening we set amazed, waiting to see, who our first customers would be to ring the telephone for an appointment. The first to ring was Mrs. Horsley White, and second Mrs. Hance Alred (both of which received shampoos and sets). Since that day, on this particular day, the Modern Beauty Shop has called and given these two customers free shampoos and sets, as a token of appreciation for being our first customers.

At the present date the Modern Beauty Shop has six regular operators. They are as follows: Miss Ruth Horton, Miss Annie Ruth Johnson, Miss Dorothy Bossinger, Miss Marie Robinson, Mrs. Lota Mae Marcus and Mrs. Louise Knox. Helping on week ends as extras we have: Miss Mary Lee Gray, and Miss Mary Lane Cobb.

The Modern Beauty Shop is, too, very proud of the work that our students are giving us, along with the help of their Instructor, Mrs. Lola Nelson. The school has turned out hundreds of girls who are now holding responsible positions in some of the biggest beauty shops in the State. Mrs. Nelson has an average of 7 to 15 students who are training in beauty culture and who in later years will be the future operators of Alabama.

The Modern Beauty Shop is, top, very fortunate in having Miss Zonie Robinson, our receptionist and cashier. She is always ready to do her "bit" in making the customers feel comfortable and happy.

Mrs. W. C. Robinson, owner of the Modern Beauty Shop, is always on the job looking out for the latest styles and latest in new equipment for her shop.

"Anniversary Specials" start FRIDAY, APRIL 5th. Ask for our special prices. Location: Above the A & P Store. Phone 168.

Eighty-five Fat Beef Calves On Display Here At Fat Stock Show

CLANTON, 76 YEARS OLD, GROWING RAPIDLY—Clanton, Ala., in Chilton County, is only 76 years old, and today is growing rapidly. There are a number of new buildings going up to add to the city's growth. Above are some scenes taken at Clanton.

1. The Clanton Baptist Church, one of the finest buildings in the town.
2. A scene of downtown Clanton, showing part of the town's business district.
3. The Clanton Postoffice.
4. A victim of the war? No, the building shown above was a victim of circumstances. When the Montgomery Highway was shortened just outside of Clanton, this once-thriving barbecue stand was left off the main route, and it later was forsaken.
5. A new automobile agency building, one of many new construction jobs, is completed.
6. The Chilton County Courthouse, one of the stately landmarks of the county.
7. The Chilco Quick Freeze Plant, another new business in Clanton.
8. The Chilton County High School building, the latest thing in architecture.

City Is Monument To Chilton County's Progressiveness

BY JACK HOUSE
Birmingham News State Editor

Clanton, Ala., March 4 — A small tombstone in Clanton Cemetery is the only reminder today of the man who started what today is one of the most thriving communities in Alabama—Clanton. The tombstone, obscured by much larger ones, is on the grave of Alfred Baker, Sr., who with a surveyor, George W. Floyd, laid out the streets and avenues of Clanton in 1870.

At that time, there were only a few streets and avenues, but today Clanton, in the rich agricultural section of Chilton County, and on the direct route from Birmingham to Montgomery, there are quite a few streets and avenues, all blessed with thriving businesses or adorned by beautiful residences.

Clanton now, only 76 years old, is in the midst of a post war building boom that promises to make it one of the leading agricultural towns in the state. It has a population of more than 4,000 now, and is steadily growing.

In fact the "Duke of Clanton," Mr. Baker, wouldn't recognize the place now, it has grown so much. In 1871, when Mr. Baker was post master, there was only one house here, and that one Mr. Baker built. The handsome marble-columned Chilton County Courthouse now stands. The only store was located where McCain stables now stand, and later Mr. Baker built Clanton's first hotel, a frame building, where a drug store stands today.

Mr. Baker became the first Mayor of Clanton, he built the first railroad depot, which he later sold to the railroad, and he operated a farm in what now is the Cowan addition. Just about everything that was Clanton, was built by Mr. Baker back in those days, but since the middle 1870's others have stepped in to speed up the town's progress.

The "Duke of Clanton" sold all of his remaining land here in 1892, buyers being members of the Wilson, Newton and Bell families, and in 1892 the duke and family left Clanton and moved to Indian Territory. Longing for the land he loved, the duke returned to Clanton in 1893 and died February 9, 1896.

Today only a small tombstone in Clanton Cemetery reminds the community of its founder, but everyone is grateful for the confidence the old fellow put into this town and his efforts are bearing fruit.

The safest distance at which to follow another car is one car-length for each 10 miles of speed, says the National Safety Council. At 30 miles an hour, for example, the safe "following" distance would be three car-lengths.

According to an announcement from J. R. Kirkpatrick, Assistant County Agent, about eighty-five fat beef calves will be shown at the 4-H - F. Fat Stock Show in Clanton on April 12.

The show, Mr. Kirkpatrick says, "People of the county will be interested in the show, and the calves will be shown at the 4-H - F. Fat Stock Show in Clanton on April 12.

The prizes in itself will go a long way toward making the show more attractive for club boys and girls. The prizes will be given to the club members who will take their calves to Birmingham where they will compete with club boys and girls from other counties. Last year club members from a dozen counties took over 60 percent of all prizes given at the Birmingham Show.

Again I come to you, the voters of Chilton County, asking your support, which includes your vote and influence, for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court. I have held this office for two terms and have done my best to serve fairly, courteously and impartially, all of the people who have had business with the office and I promise to do as well, and better if possible, in the future if you should favor me with another term.

I am not asking your vote on personal grounds, but solely as an endorsement of my services of the past and that I may have the privilege and honor of rendering even better service in the future. I am leaving it entirely with you, the voters, and will humbly and meekly submit to your verdict at the polls on May 7th.

TRAILERS TO RELIEVE HOUSING SHORTAGE

Approximately 400 dormitory and trailer units have been assigned to Alabama municipalities and normal schools to relieve the housing shortage, Haygood Paterson, chairman of Governor Sparks' surplus property procurement committee, announced Monday.

These dormitory units are built for two families and will be moved to Alabama from Mississippi and set up without any expense to the towns and the institutions receiving them. The federal government estimates that these units, if constructed privately would have cost $4,000,000.

The dormitory units are being taken down and they will be set up again in Alabama. Each unit will be completely furnished, but the towns and the institutions will have to locate the units and the trailers where they will have access to city facilities such as water, sewage, electricity, etc. The following towns and institutions are announced by Mr. Paterson as being to receive these housing facilities:

Uniontown, 16 trailers; Centre, 18 trailers; Attala, 40 units at Camp 5000 which is adjacent to Brewton, 40 dormitory units; Livingston, 30 dormitory units; Jacksonville, State Teachers College, 24 trailers; Florence, State Teachers College, 24 trailers; Tallapoosa, State Teachers College, 20 trailers; Montgomery State Teachers College, 25 dormitory units; Alabama School of Trades at Gadsden, 50 dormitory units; A. and M. Institute for Negroes, 24 trailers; Tuskegee Institute, 42 dormitory units; Birmingham Southern College, 30 dormitory units; Sead Junior College at Boaz, 20 trailers.

Paterson has already announced additional housing facilities for the University of Alabama and Auburn. E. T. Davis, of the Atlanta-based Federal Housing Administration, announced that the federal government has agreed to build 100,000 new units of housing in the next five years.

ORGANIZATION

Chamney P. Logan, of Long Beach, California, national president of the Association of World War II Pilots and Aviation Specialists, was a recent visitor to the capitol, and called on Governor Sparks. His organization is boosting development of commercial aviation, to find use for the services of veterans of the air forces, who would like to continue in the field of aviation, and also for thousands of government planes now in storage. One plan sponsored by the association is to have all first class mail, and parcel post, carried by air. Governor Sparks expressed his approval of the organization's objective of securing utilization of unused military aircraft which can be used in commercial work. "I think we should capitalize on the training of our veterans as well as the utilization of the facilities which can be integrated with our re-conversion and future economic and commercial development," Governor Sparks said.

A local unit or "wing" of the Association of World War II Pilots and Aviation Specialists was organized in Montgomery in connection with the visit of the national president.

Although only 7 per cent of the population of the United States is over 65 years of age, 64 per cent of the victims of falls are in this age group, according to the National Safety Council.

CHILTON COUNTY WILL RECEIVE $1,859,49

Chilton County will receive $1,859,49 from the $375,000 public welfare funds released by Governor Sparks for the quarter beginning April 1. The 1945 legislature made an appropriation to welfare of $750,000 conditioned on state of the treasury and approval of the Governor, and one-half of that amount has been released for the next quarter. Of the $375,000, three-fifths or $225,000 goes to the State welfare department, and two-fifths or $150,000 to the counties, as provided in the act. The counties' share is divided one-half equally among the counties and one-half on a population basis. This additional money for welfare will be increased by matching with Federal funds.

Miss Loula Dunn, Commissioner of Public Welfare, expressed gratification over release of the money because of what she described as acute need now existing among Alabama's needy people. She pointed out that at present about 4,000 families in the State, of whom about 3,000 are the aged, are known to be in need and eligible for assistance, which they are not receiving because of insufficient funds. Miss Dunn said she anticipated "that the $375,000 authorized for release to the county and State public welfare program, will when matched by Federal funds, make it possible to aid those known to be in need and to make some increase in present monthly financial assistance payments."

FOLEY SETTING EXAMPLE FOR OTHER ALABAMA TOWNS

The town of Foley has taken an interesting step in the direction of equalization of ad valorem assessments, according to Revenue Commissioner H. G. Dowling. "The Chamber of Commerce and the town council are making up an appraisal or valuation of all businesses, homes, lots, and other properties," Dr. Dowling said. "This appraisal will be presented to the County Board of Tax Equalization, with the request that all assessments be adjusted on a fair percentage of the values found. This is a voluntary aid to the tax board, which in other counties works without such accurate information."

Subs May Operate
Under Arctic IceNavy Working on Scheme to Aid Weather Forecasting.

WASHINGTON. — The navy is studying plans for developing submarines capable of penetrating floes to obtain weather data and other information on unexplored Arctic areas, it was learned here.

The proposal calls for construction of large underwater "houseboats" outfitted with retractable conning towers. The smooth top sides of the submarines would allow them to cruise beneath the Arctic ice.

The retractable conning towers, as proposed, would have special heating devices enabling them to melt holes through the ice when they are extended. Crews could then make weather observations and secure other data about ice formations, sea currents and unexplored Arctic regions.

Army, navy, commerce, civil aeronautics board and weather bureau officials have been considering in secret the proposals for development of the new submarines.

From other sources, however, it was learned that the air co-ordinating committee—composed of officials of the five government agencies—is investigating the possibility of using for Arctic exploration two subs that already are under construction at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Some naval officers, however, have expressed the belief that the radically designed submarines should be built from the keel up.

As tentatively planned, the submarines would be located in an area approximately 500 to 600 miles north of Point Barrow, the northernmost tip of Alaska.

Use of the submarines in the Arctic would supplement weather observations and other information on unexplored areas to be obtained by a squadron of 12 army B-29s.

Chief U. S. interest in Arctic-obtained weather information stems from the knowledge that weather on the North American continent originates in areas northwest of Alaska.

Also, army air force officers have pointed out that long-range bombers and future aviation developments are transposing the Arctic waste areas into a new world crossroads—and possibly a new front line of U. S. defense.

Slidding was a factor in 3 per cent of all the 4,800,000 traffic accidents in 1944.

MILITARY PERSONNEL
REDUCED BY 40,592

Operating personnel, military and civilian, at Army Service Forces installations in the seven southeastern states was reduced by 40,592 in the four months period ending January 31, 1946, according to a report released today by Headquarters, Fourth Service Command.

The report shows that on September 30, 1945, a total of 123,337 military and civilian men and women were employed in this command and that on January 31 the number had been sliced to 82,645. More than 30,000 of this number represented the cut in military personnel with about 10,000 being the reduction in civilian employees.

The general program of personnel reduction wherever possible as an economy measure, as well as the closing of some installations was outlined in the report as the reason for this drop of nearly one third.

During the same period the number of German prisoners of war working at Army ASF installations was reduced by 8,854.

Radar Base Blown Up in Palestine by Saboteurs

JERUSALEM, PALESTINE. — Saboteurs recently blew up an RAF radar station on Mount Carmel at Haifa, which has been used to detect ships landing Jews illegally in Palestine.

Jewish extremists were believed responsible for the explosion. Two RAF noncommissioned officers were injured seriously and six other RAF men hurt slightly. The radar station was smashed.

A small group of saboteurs approached the station through an adjacent compound without being observed. They planted the explosive charge and fled while guards opened fire.

Apparently none of the saboteurs was hit.

Through the vision of a far-seeing banker, Roy Pilgrim Otwell, the small southern community of Cumming, Ga., has attained a new standard of living. James W. Campbell tells the story of "The Town That Chickens Saved" in the April Coronet.

Seven years ago the town and its surrounding rural area were living in a hand-to-mouth existence. Cotton was the only cash crop, and it was too cheap to provide a decent living. But Roy Otwell started a campaign in his newspaper, the Forsyth County News, urging farmers to go into chicken-farming. To help them get started, he made loans totaling $40,000 from his own pocket (all of them have been repaid).

The problem of transporting chickens was solved by "Big Foot" Roy had an automobile agency and a commercial truck line. He sold his cars and trucks and got their fowl to the markets in Birmingham, Atlanta and other cities. And in 1943 he talked the city into buying the Wilson Packing Company. A year later he was selling his chickens to the city of Canton.

Crippled Children Living in Palace

Prince Umberto Provides Home for Stricken.

ROME. — Thirty children — once healthy and normal, but today blind or crippled refugees from Cassino and other Italian towns where the Allies fought the Germans—have found a home in Rome's royal pal-

Boys and girls, 4 to 12 years old, some without legs and arms, others with faces marked with powder burns from mines and bombs, are living in the Quirinal, the palace of Prince Umberto, lieutenant general of the realm.

More than a year ago the prince assigned the children a building facing the principal garden of the Quirinal.

The children are wards of the Italian Chapter of the Sovereign Order of Malta, organized in 1099 to take part in the Crusades. Today the order supports hospitals, child clinics, and other welfare projects in many European countries.

Found by American, British and Brazilian soldiers in the battle area during the fighting for Central Italy, they were given first aid and hospitalization and later brought to Rome.

"The greatest difficulty," said Prince Umberto recently, "was to remove the traces of nervous shock from which they were suffering."

The prince described how the attentions and care of five Sisters of Charity, members of the blue-garbed order of hospital nuns founded by St. Vincent de Paul, have helped the children.

Because of their frequent visits, the prince and his children are well known to most of the children.

When, during a recent visit, seven-year-old blind Vittorio called him over to show him a toy, the prince explained that Vittorio was in his mother's arms when a German bullet killed her, grazed the child's temple and cut the optic nerve.

Umberto pointed out little Italo, aged 10, who lost not only his sight but also both arms below the elbow. "While most of the children who have lost their sight are learning to feel things with their hands," the prince said, "Italo is doubly handicapped, but still has the spunk to take a lively interest in everything."

4-H CLUB BOYS PURCHASE
PUREBRED JERSEYS

Ten 4-H Club boys have recently purchased purebred Jersey heifers as club projects. These boys plan to use these animals as foundation stock and through good breeding and selection replace their grade animals with purebreds.

The boys who have purebred heifers are off to a good start with their projects, and are making plans to plant enough feed crops and pasture for their heifers. This is a much sounder practice than getting a livestock project with no thought being given to the production of feed.

Plans are being made to bring more dairy heifers in the county as 4-H Club projects. There is a place for one or more good purebred cows on every farm so why shouldn't a club boy make the start by taking a nice Jersey heifer as a club project. The boy that has a quality animal develops a great deal of genuine interest and pride in his work that might never come out of just claiming a calf.

Frank C. Gark, Red Cross State Relations Officer, has been notified of the appointment of Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute as member of an advisory committee of 27 citizens from all sections of the country to study the structure of the organization of Red Cross. The objective of the committee was described as "to make certain that all the American people who constitute the American National Red Cross have adequate representation in shaping the policies of the national organization, and to review the corporate structure of the American National Red Cross to insure the most effective handling of programs." News of Dr. Patterson's appointment was received in announcement from Basil O'Connor, national Red Cross chairman.

The following boys and girls have purchased purebred Jersey heifers as 4-H Club projects: James A. Bice, Elaine Edwards, Barney Henderson, Clyde Henderson, James Henderson, Calvin Jones, Akton Moore, Benny Owens, Perry Sorrell and Hoyt Thrash.

MECHANIZATION OF FARMS DUE RAPIDLY WITHIN NEXT FEW YEARS

Mechanization of farms in the Southern states will come at an increasingly rapid pace during the next few years, agricultural engineers and representatives of the farm-equipment industry agreed at closing sessions of the industry-research conference at Auburn.

More than 50 agricultural engineers and industry representatives heard investigators from over a dozen South-eastern states describe research already under way to develop machines for producing and harvesting such Southeastern crops as sweet potatoes, peanuts, sugar cane, tung nuts, cotton and tobacco.

"In the United States only three major crops have not been mechanized," P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service, told the group. "These are cotton, peanuts and sugar beets."

J. K. Park, U. S. Department of Agriculture engineer in charge of sweet potato machinery investigations at Clemson, S. C., described the developmental work under way to mechanize that crop.

A rapidly growing interest in the potential possibilities of the sweet potato crop in Southern agriculture, he declared, is due to "first, reduction in labor requirements by mechanization, and, second, development of methods for effectively utilizing the entire sweet potato crop, including vines and culls."

One of the most significant contributions of research work on sweet potato machinery, Park said, is the vine harvester developed by Dr. O. A. Brown, of Oxford, N. C.

The new machine consists of a mechanism for cutting vines loose from the hills and adjacent rows, and a mechanism for collecting and elevating the vines, he explained.

The engineering problem in the flue-curing of tobacco was described by Dr. Brown. There are approximately 5,000,000 tons of green tobacco being handled at least eight times by hand during and after the curing process, he pointed out, adding that tobacco is still being cured in barns being designed as they were 75 years ago.

"Tobacco growers are beginning to think in terms of modern equipment," he said, "and a looking to the engineers for help."

Mechanization of cotton in the Yazoo-Mississippi Delta country was described by T. I. Baggett, of the Delta Branch Mississippi Experiment Station at Leland.

The Delta area was described by Baggett as well suited for mechanization of the crop. Flame cultivation is showing promise when used supplementary to the normal methods of cultivation, he asserted.

New developments in sugar cane production are underway at Homestead, Fla., R. M. Ramp, head of the U. S. Department of Agriculture investigations there, said. A continuous-type sugar cane loader which lifts from the backs of workers much of the heavy labor now required in harvesting has been developed, he added.

"The organized research program at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute has one major objective," Dr. Russell S. Poor, director of the Auburn Research Foundation, said in describing the work of the foundation. "It is the training of talented personnel among our Southern people. . . . With the inevitable shift of agriculture toward greater mechanization and less devotion to a single-crop system, with a Southern migration of chemical and other industries, with ever-increasing needs for social changes due to these material developments, and the migrations of populations, the South stands in a particularly precarious position. To go forward, it must do more than furnish its physical resources; it must also furnish its share of trained personnel."

Six per cent of all drivers involved in fatal traffic accidents in 1944 were youngsters under 18 years of age, the National Safety Council reports.

Accidents kill more persons from 2 to 28 years of age than any single disease, reports the National Safety Council.

LAND BANK RECEIVED 442 APPLICATIONS FOR FARM LOANS

Farmers in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi applied for nearly twice as many bank loans in January, 1946, as they did during the same month a year ago, R. L. Thompson, president of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, reported today. During January the bank received 442 applications for a total of $1,348,415 in loans.

During the first six months of the current fiscal year, the bank received 2,856 applications for $9,215,000 in loans. This compared with 1,904 applications for $6,201,000 during the same period of the previous year, Mr. Thompson reported.

Farmers in the three states last year paid $10,581,763 on their land bank and land bank commissioner loans. In addition, they had accumulated $481,945 in future payments accounts to meet future maturities on loans.

During the year the land bank decreased its indebtedness for borrowed money $19,121,800; paid dividends amounting to $340,000 to its stockholders; and ended the year with $47,792,035 of loans and contracts on its books, $5,755,581 in cash and $3,632,090 in Government bonds.

The land bank, which is owned by 126 national farm loan associations and a few direct borrowers, has capital stock of $3-140,000 and surplus and reserves of $17,890,696.

Mr. Thompson has been reelected president of the bank for 1946. Other officers, all reelected, are John L. Ryan, senior vice-president; Warner W. Fussell, vice-president and treasurer; L. S. Shamblin, vice-president and secretary; L. C. Pigford, assistant vice-president; W. D. Jones, Jr., assistant treasurer; and Miss A. C. Tighe, assistant secretary.

Ten-Year-Old Gunman Robs Restaurant Cashier

NEW YORK.—A 10-year-old boy, small for his age, was held by police as a juvenile delinquent after attempting to rob a hotel dining room, wild west style, with two toy pistols.

Blond and dirty-faced, he stalked the 16-story hotel with a toy pistol in either hand. When he approached the desk of Miss Rennie Diamond, who had been cashier in the dining room only a week, he slammed one pistol on the desk and shouted: "This is a stick-up."

The cashier jumped back in astonishment and as she did so the boy grabbed $22 out of the cash drawer and stuck it in his pockets.

Just then a waitress, Miss Mona Smith, came over to the desk, patted the boy on the head and asked the cashier: "This your little boy, ma'am?"

"Cut that out!" cried the boy, furiously. "This is a stick-up."

He jammed a pistol into Miss Smith's side. She shook him by the shoulders until both pistols dropped to the floor, one breaking into four pieces.

When police came they recovered the $22 and sent the boy to the city youth center as a delinquent.

Approximately 192,000 civilians now are registered pilots, the board said, compared with 132,432 on January 1, 1945. In 1939 only 31,264 pilots had certificates.

County Welfare Work Is Explained

For the past ten years, the Chilton County Department of Public Welfare has endeavored to serve the people of Chilton County who needed its services. This Department was organized in 1935 for the primary purpose of administering Old Age Assistance, aid to needy blind and aid to dependent children programs as provided in the Federal Social Security Act passed that same year. It operates in accordance with the State's public welfare laws. A Board of seven members, appointed by the County Commissioners Court acts in an advisory capacity and appoints the director for the Department under the State Merit System. Finances for the public welfare program are from Local, State and Federal funds. Local funds consist of monies from the incorporated towns of the county as well as from the county governing body. Federal funds are provided to states on a dollar for dollar matching basis for Old Age Assistance, aid to needy blind and aid to dependent children, but funds for other types of public assistance are from local and state funds only.

Approximately 30 per cent of the aged in Chilton County receive assistance through the Welfare Department. Alabama's Old Age Assistance Act conforms to the Federal Act and provides that residents of Alabama over 65 years of age who are in need may receive aid. The law defines a needy person as one who does not have sufficient income or resources to supply his needs. It further provides that a person over 65 years of age is not eligible for assistance if he has an income of $480 or more a year, or if he has disposed of property in order to qualify for aid. In addition, these needy aged may not receive assistance while in a public institution. A lack of funds has made it possible to provide only about one-half of the minimum needs for food, clothing, shelter and medical care. Besides helping provide financial assistance for these needy persons, the Welfare Department renders other needed services such as assisting in securing boarding homes and medical and nursing care.

The needy blind in Chilton County are few in number. Not only is financial aid given this group, but through the cooperation of the Vocational Rehabilitation Service, they are given job training and assisted in securing employment.

Child welfare services are rendered through the aid to dependent children program and aid to children in foster care. When a home is deprived of the support of the father, either through death, illness, or continued absence from the home, and there are insufficient income and resources, the family can be kept together by assistance from the Welfare Department. Before such assistance was available, many homes were broken and brothers and sisters were separated. Even though less than half of the basic needs of the family can be provided, this aid supplements what the family can do for itself, and the children are able to obtain an education. When temporary plans have to be made for a child outside its own home or that of relatives, boarding home care is one solution to the problem. These boarding homes are licensed by the State Welfare Department and meet the standards set up by the Bureau of Child Welfare. It is not always necessary for the Welfare Department to give financial assistance, but the cost of board is paid by the family, and the Welfare Department supervises the child in the boarding home. Other services to children are through adoptions. The Welfare Department studies the homes of foster parents wishing to adopt children and works with the State Welfare Department in the placement of children when an application is approved. The Welfare Department also acts as probation officer for the Juvenile Court and gives service to delinquent and neglected children.

There are other needy persons in Chilton County who cannot receive aid provided by the Federal Social Security Act. These are the handicapped and those who need aid during serious emergencies. Only State and Local funds are available to assist these groups. Because of the limited funds, no grant matched by State funds can exceed $18 per month. Many are chronic invalids and require constant care from others. A lack of public and private nursing homes makes the problem even greater. Amendments to the Social Security Act now before Congress provide Federal matching for these types of assistance.

The Welfare Department serves many people who do not need financial assistance but only want advice and counseling. Such problems involve marital discord, unmarried mothers nursing care for sick relatives, delinquent and neglected children and many others.

Cooperation with all agencies who serve people is another function of the Welfare Department. It cooperates with the State Health Department in the cancer control program and with the Alabama Sight Conservation Program by determining whether applicants are able to pay for treatment. A continued war related activity is cooperating with Selective Service in the medical and social survey program and in making dependency investigations. Through cooperation with the Crippled Children's Service, Vocational Rehabilitation Service and other agencies, the Welfare Department is able to secure services for the people that the Department itself is not able to provide.

The increase in public assistance grants as well as in the number of persons and families assisted mark the progress of the County Welfare Department during the past ten years. Eligibility requirements have been liberalized and more funds have been made available for those less fortunate. Security for all people makes a better community and a better county.

Report Power of A-Bomb Is Now Thousandfold

SAN FRANCISCO. — Charles E. Moore, San Francisco industrialist, said General MacArthur had told him in Tokyo that America is equipped with atomic bombs equivalent to 20 million tons of TNT, or a thousand times more powerful than the one dropped on Hiroshima.

Moore, in a talk before the Commonwealth club, related his conversation with MacArthur in the general's Tokyo headquarters as follows: "The general said warfare is no longer warfare—it is a question of civilization. This is what he said with no restrictions as to secrecy: 'The finest explosive in the world is our TNT, but that bomb dropped on Hiroshima was equal to 20,000 tons of TNT. It is already obsolete. We are now ready with one that is equal to 20 million tons of TNT.'"

MORAL ECHOES
Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

Bud Robinson, the great American evangelist, had a Texas cowboy converted in one of his revivals at a ranch town in the west. The Saturday following the young man's conversion the evangelist was standing on the sidewalk and he saw the new convert ride up to a hitching post in front of a saloon across the street from where he was standing. Immediately he walked over to the dismounting young man and this is what he said: "Say, buddy, if your conversion is to amount to anything, you have got to get you a new hitching post." Any man who is truly converted must get away from his old ways, and find a new hitching post for his thoughts and influence. A true conversion will make a man to change his hitching posts.

Do you tell me that the human soul cannot be changed? Suppose that you leave your ink bottle open and sitting in the sunshine. A few days later you go back and your ink bottle is dry. Where is your ink? Look up into the sky tomorrow and you will see it in the rainbow. The laws of nature have lifted that ink, divided up its colors, and purified each one. Now those colors are circling the rain cloud and you see a miracle of nature. Even nature can perform a miracle of transforming and transfiguring that which is dark and muddy. Tell me not that God cannot transform and transfigure a human heart that is dark and muddy with sin. To be sure every conversion is a miracle of God's grace.

An agnostic observer stood with a host of others who believed in God, to witness the coming out of Balley's comet in the night hours. Silence was so deep and fervent until there was a feeling of worship as the comet moved across the sky. A loud cry was heard and to the astonishment of all they saw this Agnostic with his arms lifted toward heaven and he wept as he cried, "There must be a God; there is a God, and from now on I believe, and I am going to live as a Christian."

Years afterward this man would relate his conversion experience, and he never failed to refer to Balley's comet. To see the heavens is enough to convert any soul. If you are a sinner, just look up at night and you will be shot through with an arrow of conviction that should drop you to your knees.

Snowmobile Caravan Travels to Arctic Circle to Study Problems.

WASHINGTON — The new snowmobiles developed for invading Norway. The technique of large scale air support. New and improved methods of navigating and surveying near the north magnetic pole where magnetic compasses are useless. The latest arctic clothing made of textiles, so that the killing of caribou for fur clothes is unnecessary.

U. S. Shipbuilding Firm Armed 4 Huge Troopships

NEW YORK. — The Allies' four largest troop transports—the Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mary, the Aquitania and Mauretania — were armed and converted in New York harbor, the shipbuilding division of Bethlehem Steel company revealed.

The company disclosed for the first time it handled 37,778 ships during the war years, totalling 302,224,000 tons, more than five times greater than the world's prewar merchant fleet and more than 25 times larger than the American merchant marine in 1939. The ships included almost every type of warship in addition to merchantmen.

The Queen ships alone were reported to have moved 800,000 American troops to Europe.

Musk Ox Arctic Force Moves 6 Miles an Hour

CHURCHILL, MANITOBA. — The Canadian army's motorized musk ox force has set a six mile an hour pace on the first leg of its 3,100 mile arctic tour. A radio report filed six hours after the 12 snow vehicles started from here said the party was 36 miles north of Churchill. The journey will take the force, near the magnetic pole.

French Sign Pact Giving Autonomy to Cambodia

PARIS. — Autonomy in administration was granted to the French colony of Cambodia in Indo-China, according to a treaty signed recently by the king of Cambodia and Thierry d'Argenlieu, French high commissioner. The treaty specified that administration will be transferred to native hands and that only a skeleton staff of French officials will be retained in the capacity of advisers.

"GOOP" BEING TESTED FOR USE IN FORESTS

"Goop," a Chemical Warfare Service incendiary material that was used extensively by Air Forces to burn out Japan, is currently getting a peacetime use by the United States Forest Service in the control of forest fires.

The Fourth Service Command headquarters, said today Forest Service men had already tried out the burning agent in logging slash and results were more than favorable. The tests are taking place in areas where logging has left fire hazards such as brush and tree laps, ideal for starting forest fires.

The Chemical Warfare Service, the report said, has some 50 million pounds of "goop" on hand and so far no peacetime use for it has been devised. It is a thick mucky mass, something like peat, and has a sustaining burning power. It will burn under any conditions and no means as yet have been found to extinguish it. Composed mostly of magnesium shavings and generating its own oxygen supply "goop" can be spread out and ignited even with a match. Since the only other fitting disposition of the stuff is to dump it in the sea, CWS is turning the fire material over to the Forest Service free except for freight charges to delivery point.

When planning your new home, remember to place your kitchen range so that the open flame is 12 to 13 inches from the kitchen window, says the National Safety Council.

Coast Guard Radio Scores

Assist in Maternity Case

NORFOLK, VA. — The coast guard was asked to radio instructions on how to deliver a baby and the result was successful—mother and child are doing nicely.

The radio call for aid was received by coast guard headquarters here from the SS Richard K. Call, about 400 miles southeast of Cape Henry, which said that a passenger was about to give birth to a baby.

Instructions were obtained by the coast guard from the U. S. marine hospital and radioed to the vessel. Later the ship messaged that the infant and mother, whose name was not given, were safe.

Navy Secret Guarded By Ingenious Device

ALBANY. — An ingenious alarm which kept intruders away from the General Electric company's secret "dungeon laboratory," where navy anti-submarine equipment was developed during the war, has been revealed.

Safety regulations prohibited locks being used on a wire gate which closed off the basement laboratory from other sections, so a special alarm was devised to give warnings that the gate was being opened.

If anyone other than the engineers who had passkeys to still the alarm opened the gate, a large horn sounded a deafening blast within a few feet from the ear of the intruder.

Attacks on Allies In Mail to Germany

FRANKFURT, GERMANY. — U. S. army headquarters disclosed recently that Americans in the United States had written letters to Germans criticizing the Allies, praising the Germans, attacking the U. S. government and lamenting the bombing of German cities. The army said the letters were intercepted.

This issue of Chilton County News contains the registered voters list. This year the list has more than six thousand names, and if the interest already shown in the various races continue one of the largest votes ever cast will be cast on May 7th. ## Boxing Match Here Saturday Night

Last Saturday night at the high school gymnasium, Nick Carter protested to some of the tactics employed by his opponent, Mike Chacomma. Carter challenged Chacomma to a 10-round boxing duel (with gloves) and Chacomma accepted. The boxing match will be the main event, instead of the usual 90-minute wrestling tilt.

A masked or hooded wrestler whose name is unknown to wrestling fans will also make his first appearance in Clanton. This wrestler, who has never removed nor had removed his mask in the ring is known as the "Blue Streak." He has appeared in Birmingham and hasn't lost a match yet. He promises to remove his mask when he loses. All that is known about the "Blue Streak" is that he is a top-notch wrestler. Better informed circles, or he was picked as a All-American football player. Opposing this unknown wrestler will be Charlie Keene, who fought ju jitsu in the army. And, if he can be unmasked Keene should be the man that can do it.

The preliminary, the wrestling match between Keene and the "Blue Streak" will begin at 8:30 p.m., at the high school auditorium in Clanton. For further information see an advertisement in the second section of this week's News.

These programs are by Post 3192 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Wrestling or boxing matches are now staged weekly in Clanton. They have proved to be very popular from the crowds at the gym.

RECORD CROWD HEARS FOLSON

The largest political turn-out of the campaign gathered at the courthouse last Saturday afternoon to hear "Big Jim" Folsom discuss his program for Alabama.

Talking to a near capacity house the six foot eight inch giant from Cullman, Ala., laid the cards on the table and told the voters of Chilton County just what was needed at Montgomery and from the applause following each statement it appeared the crowd agreed with him and were for Folsom all the way.

Following, in short form, is his program for Alabama:

Aim And Object

As Governor of Alabama it will be my ambition to better the lot of every man, woman and child in this State. I will be Governor of all the people. Our State has unsurpassed resources. They need development in the interest of all. I want to be instrumental in making it possible for our people to live a happy, joyous, contented life for the four years following my inauguration.

The Farmer

A large majority of our population is rural. We must raise the earning power and the spending power of the Alabama farmer.

Our Extension Service, Farm and Home Demonstration Agencies, Farm Bureau and Co-Operative Associations are of affirmative, immediate and lasting benefit to our rural life.

Better living conditions for the farmer is imperative. To schools, health and roads, we must add and expand electrification and telephones. I favored rural electrification in 1936 and I advocate light and power for every rural home in Alabama.

I favor home-to-market roads. Our trunk highways are in good condition, but it must not be for a man to live

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Until last week we had planned this special box-holders edition of Chilton County News for Thursday, April 4th. Circumstances over which we had no control arose and we were unable to get copy on the Registered Voters List until this week. Therefore it was necessary that we change our date of publication of this big edition.

On page three of the Third Section there appears a page ad for "Big Jim" Folsom's speaking that was held last Saturday. This section was published with the intention of being sent out on April 4th—that is, before we knew we would be a week behind schedule with this political edition. We hope you will overlook this error and understand our position in the matter.—THE EDITOR.

SCHOOL CAMPAIGNS

Aren't the school heads and the various fund raising committees depending too much on our school children to raise money?

Hardly does one drive for money finish before another begins. Crippled Children, Easter Seals, Cancer, Red Cross, etc., etc., etc.

We cannot see how a school child could possibly keep his or her mind on studies and be drilled each day upon the necessity of reaching a quota for this or that drive.

We are sure the school officials and teachers are weary of having this job take time from their class-room duties week after week. We imagine it is as trying on them as on the pupil—if not more so.

Then can't the grown-ups redouble their efforts in the work that is to be done in future money raising campaigns and let the children concentrate more on their books?

We believe they would benefit immeasurably from such a course.

"BIG JIM'S" SPEECH

Many hundreds of votes were garnered by "Big Jim" Folsom, candidate for Governor, when he spoke here last Saturday. The speech was well delivered and well received.

The court room was filled to near capacity and the loud speakers on the outside of the buildings carried the message to several hundred more on the streets.

Our prediction is that 1946 will be a big year for "Big Jim" in Chilton County.

ABOUT THE HOSPITAL

On page three of this issue of the News you will read two letters from prominent citizens regarding the new hospital for Chilton County.

Don't fail to read these letters. One is from Dr. V. J. Gragg, now of Magnolia Springs, but for half a century prominent in the life of our county. The other is from Patterson Hicks, Principal of the Chilton County High School and highly interested in the public life and well being of Chilton County.

Mr. Hicks asks: "Where is the hitch?—Is it the City of Clanton or the County of Chilton?"

That is the $64 question.

EASTER CANDY

Reports from all over are that Easter Candy is to be scarce in the nation's stores this Easter. From the looks of the counters in our local drug stores the condition is just reverse. There seems to be more of the usual bunnies, eggs and other novelties as well as the finer candies.

REAL ESTATE IS BOOMING

The prices of town, city and rural real estate are booming and zooming, unannounced. The charge has been made by several authorities in Washington that there is an active and effective real estate lobby that has such power that it has practically flattened out the veteran housing bill. It is explained that efforts were being made to place ceiling prices on existing homes for veterans, but that the real estate lobby defeated the measure.

Looking at the matter from another angle one finds in Washington a repeat of the real estate situation as it existed after World War I. Today there are no one thousand dollar fabricated houses. They are three thousand dollars and more. The houses in cities that one could buy for three or four thousand dollars are now listed on the markets at about three times that sum. Farm lands in all parts of the country have also gone up in price. It took a depression and a crisis to flatten out the real estate booms of World War I, and it looks as though the zooming prices will fall flat "sooner or later." A few people get very rich out of these real estate booms. A great many go broke. We are now on the upward curve. But watch your step, for the time when real estate goes down is not far off.—J. E. Jones, Alexander City Outlook.

Now don't say we didn't tell you, but Delos Culp and Hoyt Freeman will win beyond the shadow of a doubt in their race for Superintendent of Education and County Commissioner respectively. These are the only two that we are going to say definitely will win in the May Primary. Both are competent office holders and deserve your support. And by the way—if you hadn't noticed—they have no opposition.

A card comes from our good friend, Mr. E. G. Caldwell, from Fletcher, informing us of an error in our report of the Beat 15 Red Cross report last week. He says that last week's paper showed the report as $15.78, and this week's issue shows it as three dollars, he wants to know if they are kind of "losing ground" over there. All we can tell Mr. E. G. is that even though we made a terrible mistake in publishing his Beat quota, we are certainly glad to know that the folks in that section read the Chilton County News well enough to catch our mistakes.

SIGN OF THE TIMES: A sign in a local store window contains this message: "Hole Milk."

Henderson Furgerson at Western Auto Associate Store has more rabbits. The other week he decided he would go into the rabbit raising business. He had a buck rabbit but he needed a doe, so he ordered one. In due time the doe that he had ordered arrived safe and sound. But in the box with the doe were seven little rabbits. She was probably trying to make a good impression on the new owner.

Stanley Davis called to us the other day down on the streets: "Say, Ben, did Big Jim go in office today?" Now, that was foolish. Any darn fool knows Big Jim won't be elected until May 7th. And, anyway, Stanley is one of our biggest assets in the Folsom Camp.

It could be so but we do not believe this one about Claud Craig. Seems Claude was going to flip a coin to decide whether to go to church or play golf—you know Claud is quite a golf fan. Anyway, they tell that he had to flip the coin 23 times to get it to turn up golf.

A beautiful girl was being tried for killing her husband. The jurors had retired. They knew she was guilty, but they didn't want to sentence her because of her beauty—yet, they feared to face their wives if they didn't. Finally one of them happened to remember that the dead man was a member of the Elks. The problem was solved. They passed this sentence: Twenty dollars fine for killing an elk out of season.

George Mosely who was manager of the local Goodyear Service Store BSS is back. (That BSS means before Selective Service.) George will take over the management of the store beginning next Monday. We're really glad to see him with us again. While writing about Goodyear Service Store we think an orchid is in order for Mrs. Tom Johnston who so ably managed the store during the past two years. She certainly did a wonderful job under trying circumstances. We understand she will remain as bookkeeper.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

A story is going the rounds that a Kansas farmer deemed a railroad fifty miles long very necessary to the growth of his section, and he tried hard to interest moneyed men in the project, but had no success. Then the farmer took his one mule and scrape and started this tremendous job alone. As he worked he was indifferent to the jeers of his neighbors and even scorned the idea of failure. He went to work with what material he had and he put all that he had into his project. Needless to say that this farmer knew how to get what he wanted! I have always admired a man who knows what he wants and is willing to pay the price for its possession. Many a good thing in life is labeled: "Pay the price and take it."

In preaching to a vast congregation at First Church Houston, I heard Bishop Frank Smith make use of this statement, "The time has come when we need a revival of common American courtesy. I want to see the day come when I can go into a Cafe and get out without being insulted by some little Whipper-Scraper who thinks that she owns the world." The time use to be when a customer entered a store, he was met with courtesy and attention. In too many cases today he is met as if he were a dog prowling in the back yard. As I go in and out of the big chain stores, as well as other places of business, courtesy is the exception to the rule. Yes, we do need a revival of true American courtesy.

My brother and I were hunting the horses in the pasture. We whistled and called, and had no answer. I decided that I would climb a hill and from its elevation I would call the horses. My brother followed the lowlands and soon he had located the animals sought. Too many of us have our eyes on the uplifted places in life. We think that if we can climb to great prominence, get high up in distinction, then we can speak and the world will hear us and heed our call. The man who is really worth while in the field of action today, is the man who lingers where men live, and who is in the hunting game without ambition to be prominent. It is not the high ups today who have the ear of the world. It is that one who is walking side by side with us, and the one who really speaks our language.

EDITORDr. Gragg Writes
Regarding HospitalEditor Chilton County News, Clanton, Alabama.

Dear Sir:

It is gratifying to know that some member of your staff holds me in high esteem to invite an expression from me regarding an up to date hospital for the section in Central Alabama of which Chilton County is the hub, or immediate center.

First, I would call attention to the fact that the present hospital was built about a quarter of a century ago. And that babies born in that institution in its earlier days, now are grown up, married and have families of their own. That being the case, you can readily see that times have so changed, and the needs and present requirements are so different in all things that, of necessity, the hospital needs are now different in common with every day needs of improvements along all lines of progress.

True, at the time the hospital was in potential process of building several of us, some of whom are not now living, made trips to Montgomery, Selma and other points, including New Orleans, in order to get the very latest ideas as to the most complete and modern way to build a hospital which would be in our financial reach and at the same time fill our every need. In that, I think we did an extraordinary good job. The hospital was a success, in as much, as it kept going while others that I might mention, in other and larger centers, failed and folded up, or changed hands. Certainly there might have been much greater success if all concerned had been in a cooperative spirit. Not only the hospital, but those who suffered the lack of cooperative spirit might have been a greater success.

But all that is water over the dam. Let us, in the future profit by the past and present experiences of us and others.

In comparison with now and twenty five years ago, when we look around we see the farms of that time are entirely changed. Perhaps peaches or strawberries or fax stock are now growing where cotton grew then. Business concerns of that day have changed hands or been entirely revamped. The largest and most commodious hotels have been replaced by larger and more modern hostilities.

So, also, have hospitals changed, almost everywhere. Fair examples of this are the Jefferson in Birmingham and the Charity in New Orleans. When I first knew the Charity and worked there as a medical student the front building was a two-story structure, a relic of the eighteen hundreds. That was being added to on both sides, then later, when I was doing post graduate work there, still more buildings were being added on adjacent grounds. And, in recent years, when the W.P.A. came along; then the New Orleans people saw their opportunity. It had knocked at their door, and they did not wait for it to knock again. They said to Uncle Sam, "Give us all you will." They insisted on more and they received more. The final result being a $12,500,000 hospital. One of the most outstanding medical structures in the United States, providing the most modern of hospital facilities, twenty odd stories high. Has nearly three thousand beds. There were forty odd thousand patients admitted there last year. There were 4986 babies born there last year, and there were more than a quarter of a million out-patients last year. These people not only accepted what the government offered, but they asked for still more, and got it. It is a great and lasting monument to the memory of those New Orleans people who were open-minded enough to see their own interest when the tax payers money of the entire United States stood ready to do their bidding.

So, in like manner, every place that is fortunate enough to be selected as a hospital site, may benefit in a great measure by the provisions of the Hill Hospital Bill. Clanton is very fortunate in being one of the locations selected by the State Planning Board; and thereby, would be given three-fourths of the cost of the building and equipment. This would not be a small affair, stintingly equipped and just big enough to meet the needs of Clanton. Probably the present building and equipment could meet that need; but it is to be made large enough and equipped on an adequate scale to supply Chilton, and part or all, of the adjoining counties.

Its immediate site, or exact location, seems to me, is a matter of secondary importance. The main thing is to get the hospital. Make it a certainty for this area. Then make the best of a "good bargain" by letting its exact location rest on its merits; not picking a place that will best suit Jones or Brown, or be more pleasing to George or John; but get the location that is most valuable for the purpose intended. And that will best serve the people, and not the politicians nor doctors. But the main thing to be kept in mind is that the Federal and State Government are making the people of this area a gift of three-fourths the cost of building and equipment, and are not putting any strings on it. As I understand, it is yours; and your local hospital association will have complete authority as their disposal. Also, I am further told that the one-fourth part of the cost assumed by the local governing bodies, may be secured by a governmental grant or loan without interfering with their local funds.

The main thing is to act now, and make all your plans complete; so that when the starting signal is sounded, you will be ready to go, and not delay your start until the other fellow is half way around the circle. A late start often loses the race even for the best horse.

Thanking you for the invitation, I am,

Yours very truly,
V. J. GRAGG.

PROVIDENCE — BEAT 13

Our Sunday school seems to be improving quite a bit and we are thankful, but there is lots more we would like to see come.

pose of setting in motion the machinery for obtaining a seventy-bed hospital for Chilton County. As the writer recalls the statement was made at that time that it was expected that the federal government would provide half of the money for this project, the state a fourth and the local community (Chilton County) a fourth. It was stated at this meeting that the necessary legislation for the state had already been put on the law books, and that it was expected that laws providing this service would be passed by the United States Congress some time during this Spring.

I have been informed that such legislation has already passed the United States Senate, and is now pending before the House of Representatives. At this meeting here in the courthouse it was pointed out that the local community that got its plans made and was ready to go to work when the federal government made funds available, would be the first community to get a hospital.

Where is the hitch in Chilton County? Is it the City of Clanton, or the County of Chilton, whose officials are not doing their duty toward this project? It certainly will be a most unfortunate thing should Chilton County lose the opportunity of getting this much needed asset to our community through the negligence, or indifference.

PATTERSON HICKS.

LAWLEY NEWS

Our Sunday School is gradually improving. We had 31 present Sunday. The most of these were young boys and girls. We would like so much for the fathers and mothers to come with their children.

Next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock we will have with us Bro. Stuckey. He is coming to help us build a good Sunday School. We would like for every one in this community to come give Bro. Stuckey a big welcome and do everything we can to build a good Sunday School.

The farmers of this community are really getting things done with the Lord's help. Lots of them have already planted cotton.

We still have a few on our sick list. We wish them a speedy recovery.

Betty Joyce McAfee fell last Friday an dent a place under her arm. The doctor had to sew it up, taking five stitches. She is getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Smith had as their dinner guests Sunday Mrs. Lonnie Bell and children from Centerville. Mrs. Dorothy Lenoir had as her company Sunday afternoon Miss Dixie Smith and Glenn Gentry.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Latham had with them Sunday Dr. Wayne and Mrs. Wayne and little daughter, Pat.

We are glad that Dan Junior Maddox is getting along nicely. Sorry he has to wear the cast three more weeks.

We are sorry Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hale have moved from this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAfee and family spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lawley Sunday.

New Salem

Sunday was our regular preaching day. There was a good attendance and everyone enjoyed the message.

Thursday, April 18th, will be the next meeting of the W.M.S. All members are urged to be present and bring a new member with you. Plans are being made toward improvements of the church. Don't forget the date—Thursday, April 18th, at 2:00 o'clock, at the church.

Everyone remember our singing on Friday night of each week. Come if you want a blessing from good singing.

Broiler Project Pays
Avery Family

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Avery on Jemison Route 1, are not convenient to market so they sell their broilers on foot. Mrs. Avery claims the chickens as her project. Since they are buying their home through the Tenant Purchase Program of the Farm Security Administration, she felt the need of several sources of income from their farm, so she started growing into the broiler business. Just Summer, she sold her first batch of 130—this was her "learning hunch" as she called it. She kept 40 pullets and figured she made $11.00 profit besides. From the next 200 she put in, she raised 173 and cleared $33.00 on them at 10 weeks. The third 200 turned out well with 195 raised, and selling for a net profit of $42.00.

Mrs. Avery keeps a laying flock of 50 hens which pays the grocery bill in eggs sold. She thinks good healthy disease free chicks pay the best returns in both low mortality rate and in growing off faster.

Final figures released by the state office of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation reveal that 6,640 farmers in the lower half of Alabama have cotton crop insurance for 1946, an increase of more than 6,000 over last year. No final tally for the northern half of the state is available; the closing date for filing applications in this area was April 10.

Woman's World

Tailored Slacks and Vests Are Easily Made from Men's Suits

By Erta Haley

IF YOU can persuade your son or husband to part with that old shiny suit, you will have the makings of a nice slack suit right in hand. So often suits may become ill-fitting for the men folk. Sleeves may be too short, trouser legs not quite long enough. In some cases, the vest loses all use because it is too tight to wear.

With expert cutting and fitting, many of these old suits can be successfully remodeled into a smart slack suit for the teen-aged girl.

If there is a great deal of fitting to be done, it would be best to buy a pattern to assure accurate cutting. If you are expert at cutting and fitting, make up a pattern of your own. If there is little fitting to be done, rip the trousers out completely and trim them as necessary.

In woolen fabrics it is essential to allow a generous half inch for seams on all edges beyond the stitching lines. Mark the paper patterns to indicate the sections to be cut from lining fabric and mark to show the lengthwise thread.

In making the slacks or trousers, it is especially important to have them hang properly. By no means should they be too tight, as this will not only give a poor appearance, but it will cause the fabric to pull apart easily.

Remodel a man's old suit...

Lay the pattern on the fabric correctly, making sure that both are on a smooth surface. The machine will need some adjusting too, before you attack the sewing problem. Men's suits are made of thicker material than you ordinarily use for sewing and the stitches will have to be adjusted to the weight of the fabric. When you stitch over three or four thicknesses, try the stitch on scraps before actually beginning.

Tailoring the slacks is a real challenge as it requires a different technique from the sewing on ordinary fabrics. Be generous with pins and bastings. It's hard to rip out stitches on material of this type, and it's a good idea to be right before you put those finishing stitches in the slacks. The slacks will have to be

TEA GIVEN IN HONOR OF KATHERINE BELL

A lovely tea was given in honor of Miss Katherine Bell last week in Birmingham preceding her wedding Sunday, April 7th. The hostesses were Mrs. J. E. Oliver, Jr. and Mrs. P. R. Bennett of Birmingham.

Martha Bell and Louella Oliver received the gifts. The music was furnished by Misses Rosalind Owens and Sallie Gowan.

Into a trim vest.

machine-stitched at all points, and the stitches should be as short as is practical.

If the seams on the inside of the slacks are made as neatly as possible, the garment will hang well and look well. Work on a flat surface and press each seam before it joins another. The seams should come together without stretching or pulling.

I can't stress pressing too highly when working with wool. All the seams need constant pressing to assure good fit and workmanship, and the final finishing touch to the slacks should be a complete pressing.

Cutting and Making

The Vest From a Suit

If you are making a vest for a girl's slack suit from a man's suit vest, it will be necessary to cut the vest apart at shoulder and underarm seams. Then fit the front and back best to the figure. The second button from the bottom should come to the waistline.

The seams are then pinned directly on top of the shoulders so that the waistline is in the above position. The vest will extend away from the figure at the front armhole. Draw this excess down to the underarm seam and make a dart into the underarm seam.

Shoulder seams should be marked after taking the vest off the figure, and also the side seams on the front vest. This is done with bastings. Underarm darts both in the vest and lining should be marked. Pin both fronts together. Cut off at the shoulder and sides allowing generously (about an inch) for seams.

The darts in the vest and lining should be stitched separately. Slash darts in the vest and press open.

Turn under one-half inch on vest and lining at shoulders and underarm seams, ripping back outside the stitching when necessary. Baste the edges together and press. Stitch close to the edge on the machine.

A knitted back for this type of vest does not take much work and will make a very attractive outfit for the girl. If desired, a collar can also be made for the slack and vest suit, in the same color as the knitted back.

How to Reclaim Wool

When hand-knit wool sweaters are no longer usable, the wool from them can be easily reclaimed if the garment is washed and dried thoroughly. Do not try to unravel a sweater which is knit too closely. Use the following method for ripping hand-knit sweaters.

1. Wind the strands of wool around a board, making sure that the end is always visible. Continue until you have a long enough piece, and then break off the wool.

2. Tie the starting and finishing ends together on the board. At four equal distances apart, tie a white thread around the wool strands on the board, and then remove the wool from the board. Repeat these steps until the sweater is completely unraveled.

3. Dip the skein of wool into warm water until thoroughly soaked and then squeeze excess water out carefully. Tie a weight to the bottom of the wet skein to remove kinks, and then hang skein to dry. Do not expose to sun; dry in any place. When dry, wind into balls. It is then ready for knitting.

Final figures released by the state office of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation reveal that 6,640 farmers in the lower half of Alabama have cotton crop insurance for 1946, an increase of more than 6,000 over last year. No final tally for the northern half of the state is available; the closing date for filing applications in this area was April 10.

O. H. Lawrence And Son Making Money With Poultry

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Lawrence and his married son and wife, Harold and Myrtle Catherine, living on Route 1 Billingsley, are both convinced that chickens as a source of income on their respective farms are well worth the time and effort involved.

Mr. O. H. Lawrence said, "We have been in the chicken business eleven years. In 1944 we decided we were trying to do too many different things on our place, so we sold our hens down to a family-size flock and went out of the chicken business. We realized in a very few weeks we had given up the wrong enterprise and last year we went back in the chicken business for keeps. We like the regular income from eggs and broilers. Last September we had 178 April-hatched pullets to start laying. During a 5-months period from September through January, we sold 970 dozen eggs from them for $500.00 and since our feed bill for that period ran about $250.00 besides grain and green feed raised at home, we figure a 50 percent net profit."

Mr. Lawrence also raises broilers which he sells to his son, Harold, who specializes in dressed fowls at the Montgomery Curb market.

Last December Mr. Lawrence bought 500 straight run New Hampshire Red chicks. He raised 475 of the lot, ate 22 at home, sold 453 which weighed 1,042 pounds for $520. Total expense for the lot was $296.00. Eighty of this lot were sold at eight weeks old at an average weight of 2.4 pounds for $73.72.

Both Mr. O. H. Lawrence and Harold Lawrence are buying their farms through the FSA Farm Ownership Loan Program. Mr. Harold Lawrence and wife are just getting settled on their own farm and they figure their chicken business will help them pay the Farm Security Administration for their farm. They have been selling dressed chickens at the Montgomery curb market since February, 1945. During that time, their records reads as follows: Averaged 60 dressed fryers and 30 dressed hens each week, or for one year they have sold 3,120 fryers, average weight two pounds; average price 63c per pound, or $1.26 per bird; gross sales, $3,931, averaged

"THE ADVENTURES OF TOM SAWYER"

With Tommy Jelly in the role of Mark Twain's most famous character, this first-rate production brings to life the richly humorous pages of one of the world's best read books, says one of the reviewers. All the realism of Tom's life has been preserved, making this picture immensely valuable for students of literature. Pupils and parents will enjoy this picturization of 30c net on each bird, or $624.00 for the year. 1,560 hens, average weight, four pounds; average price 53c per pound, $212 per bird; gross sales, $3,297, average net per bird 75c, or a total of $1,170 for the year.

Harold operates two brooder houses of 400 and 600 bird capacity. He also keeps an average of 200 white leghorn layers. These were raised during 1945 and started laying in September. For the first three months of their laying period, $382.00 was the gross income from the egg sales with a figured net income of about $100.00 per week from eggs.

Both Mr. Ollie H. Lawrence and Mr. Harold Lawrence have learned from experience that good management and good disease free chicks shows the greatest net profit.

To My Friends In

CHILTON COUNTY

I wish to express my profound appreciation to the great number of people in Chilton county who have indulged in voluntary expressions of continued support and interest. I am equally grateful for the attitude of those who call my attention to the fact that they have not heretofore supported me, and am delighted to welcome them as friends and supporters.

Particularly appreciated is the fine spontaneous and unsolicited work so many of you are doing. Since no public official is stronger than the people back of him, your interest and efforts are especially important at this crucial time. So keep up the good work.

The necessity of dividing my time between the campaign and the performance of important duties in Washington causes it to be impossible for me to contact many of you personally, and I hope you will consider this as a friendly greeting and message of thanks to each of you. I feel confident that through your efforts, Chilton county will continue to benefit by the experience and contacts in the Nation's Capitol that have proven so valuable. These assets will ever be used to the best of my ability in your behalf.

Yours sincerely,

PETE JARMAN

Palm Sunday derives its name from the ceremony of the day, which commemorates the triumphant entry into Jerusalem, of Christ, our blessed Lord. The multitude, bearing palm and olive branches in their hands went out to welcome Him with cries of Hosanna. The Gospel of the day is the Passion of Christ according to St. Matthew. All stand during the reading of the Gospel and hold palm branches.

As the Passiontide draws to a close during the solemnities of Holy Week, the Gospel of the Passion of Christ according to each of the four Evangelists is read.

COOPERATIVE BASKET FACTORY

The Cooperative Basket Factory in Thorby has been operating on a very limited scale due to lack of veneer material. A severe shortage of baskets is in prospect. With this situation in view the cooperative board voted on this last Tuesday night to raise funds for a veneer mill. About ten thousand dollars will be necessary. Those who see the need should send in their pledges at once. It has been proven that we can make good baskets, efficiently, for less than one dollar per dozen. We have hundreds of thousands of idle dollars in our banks. The sooner we raise this small amount in large volume and be certain of taking care of our crops. Do not wait for some one else to ask you to do your part in securing this veneer mill.

CLEAN - UP PROGRAM SAVES ACCIDENTS

A farm clean-up campaign may save serious accidents. J. B. Wilson, API agricultural engineer, points out that many farm accidents result from hazards that could be removed.

Loose materials, unused lumber tools and equipment stored carelessly overhead in the farm shop or left lying around the farm are serious hazards. Accumulations of barbed wire, broken glass and discarded lumber and machinery increase the accident hazard.

Check lightning rod points, groundings and connections to see that they are in proper condition. Burn trash and waste materials, but be sure this is done on calm days so fires cannot get out of control, cautions Mr. Wilson.

EGG SALES PAY THE FAMILY EXPENSES

Mr. and Mrs. Devey Hill from Billingsley Route 1, keep 150 white leghorn hens to pay their family expenses, and their Farm Security Record Book reveals the following figures: At present they have a flock which were hatched a year ago, this April. They started laying at six months and have averaged 60 dozen eggs per week since then. The eggs have been sold for an average price of 55¢ per dozen for a total gross income of $838.00. A net profit of $384.00 has been figured from these birds. This allowed an average of $1.00 per bird

The value of Pike County agriculture in 1945 was over $7,000,000, accounted for by peanuts (26,300 tons) $4,208,000; cotton and seed (11,157 bales) $1,394,000; hogs (40,000) $700,000; cattle $400,000; miscellaneous (pecans, sweetpotatoes, dairy products, poultry, etc.) $300,000.

ILLEGAL TO SHOOT GAME FROM BOATS

Hunters who are taking advantage of the present high waters in the river areas of Southwest Alabama and other sections to shoot wild turkeys from boats are violating a State law, it was announced by Game, Fish and Forests Chief Graham Hixon of the Alabama Department of Conservation.

Regulation 10 of the 1945-46 hunting laws makes it illegal to take, capture, kill or attempt to take, capture or kill any wild bird or animal from a motorboat, power boat or sail boat or from any floating craft or device drawn or propelled by such boats.

"We have received many complaints that pothunters are taking advantage of this unsportsmanlike means of bagging game. Our wardens have been instructed to apprehend and prosecute such violators. It has also been called to our attention that some of these boat-hunters are trespassing on ridges bluffs which protrude from the swollen streams and killing the turkeys taking refuge thereon. The law of Alabama makes it mandatory that a hunter have the written permission of the owner of the lands upon which he hunts," Chief Hixon warns.

Mrs. Minor, Mrs. Fiquette and Mrs. Jones gave talks. Circle Chairman, Mrs. A. B. Wilder, presided over the business session.

The W. A. Williams' farm located on the Billingsley Road in the Baker Community was cited today by B. N. Ivey, County FSA Supervisor, as an outstanding example of the farm development done under the FSA Farm Ownership program.

In 1940 when the farm was bought by Mr. Williams with the aid of an FSA Farm Ownership Loan, there was no annual lespeche or other cover crops planted on the farm. The terraces needed repairing, and there were no protected water disposal areas established. Today Mr. Williams' farm is in the process of having "a face lifting." The water disposal system has been planned to include meadow outlets, the terraces have been rerouted so they would empty into the meadows.

Kudzu and sericea have been planted on the eroded land and on the slopes. This furnishes a permanent seed to check erosion and also permanent hay crops and grazing areas. By using these permanent hay crops, Mr. Williams not only checks erosion, but cuts down on the expense of planting larger areas to annual hay and saves work preparing land for the planting of these crops.

Mr. Williams has also set up a crop rotation system which is built around annual lespeche and winter legumes. By using this system plus commercial fertilizer and utilizing land most suited to cash crops, Mr. Williams' crop yields have steadily increased from year to year.

"The farm had good possibilities," Mr. Ivey said. "It needed some fixing up, and sound planning and hard work on the part of Mr. Williams has done the job."

With the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service, the Williams' farm has been set up under the five-year SCS development plan and when time permits, more work will be done on pasture development and the seeding of permanent pasture grasses.

Out of the 64 farms now being purchased in this county under the FSA Farm Ownership Program, 56 have agreements with the Soil Conservation Service. These farms have been mapped similar to the Williams' farm as to the correct running of terraces, water disposal systems, establishing of permanent pastures, annual hays, crop rotations and the best use of each acre on the farm.

"This is a service we urge each farmer to take full advantage of," Mr. Ivey

Clanton Lady Spit Up Acid Liquids For Hours After Eating

For hours after every meal, a Clanton lady used to spit up a strong, acidulous liquid mixed with pieces of half-digested food. She says it was awful. At times she would nearly strangle. She had stomach bloating, daily headaches and constant irregular bowel action. Today, this lady eats her meals and enjoys them. And she says the change is due to taking INNER-AID. Her food agrees with her.

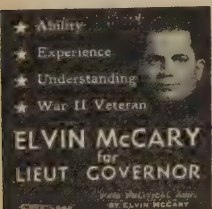

No gas, bloating or spitting up after eating. She is also free of headaches now, and bowels are regular, thanks to this Remarkable New Compound. INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering!—Sold by all drug stores here in Chilton County. — Adv.

ALABAMA PARKS ARE OPENED FOR SUMMER
SEASONNature's Own Springtime Flower Show Is Added Attraction To Recreation Areas

Alabama's state parks, which served as havens of rest for hundreds of thousands of war-weary citizens, are open for the 1946 season. The state's six major areas—Cheaha, Chewalla, DeSoto, Gulf, Monte Sano and Oak Mountain—resounded to the rap-rap of hammers and the swishing of pint brushes during the winter months and are ready to take care of a bumper crop of day, overnight and week end guests. The minor areas—Chatahochee and Fort Morgan with day facilities and Valley Creek with some cabins—are likewise prepared to cater to vacation-minded Alabamians.

The long closed lodge at DeSoto State Park will reopen April 16 to serve sandwiches and soft drinks. The casino at Gulf and the tavern at Monte Sano are now serving meals to patrons while the hotel at Cheaha will open May 4 for both room and meal service.

Every cabin at Chewalla, near Auburn, received a face-lifting while those in the other parks were also renovated. Down at Gulf State Park on the shores of the Gulf of Mexico, a 25-boat harbor has been built, with the help of the State Highway Department's skilled crews and machinery, to provide better boating and fishing opportunities on Big Lakes.

DeSoto State Park, near Mentone and Fort Payne, will be a mecca for flower lovers within the next few weeks as the rhododendron and wild azaleas turn May's Gulf, the "Little Grand Canyon of the East," into a riot of color. Spring flowers, dogwood, redbud and other flowering trees and shrubs are the prize exhibits in nature's own flower shows at Monte Sano, Oak Mountain, Cheaha and Chewalla State Parks.

Parks Chief James L. Segrest asks that Alabamians wishing to vacation in the state-operated parks make their reservations as early as possible with the managers of those areas.

HUNGRY TO BE AIDED
THROUGH 4-H CANNING

By canning more food Alabama 4-H club girls will be able to play an important role in helping the starving millions in other countries. "Each quart of food canned by these girls this year will release an equal amount of food for shipment abroad," reminds Lavada Curtis, API extension food preservation specialist.

If each of the state's 61,000 4-H club girls cans a minimum of 12 quarts the total would be 732,000 quarts of meats, vegetables and fruits. This amount of food would give almost 4,500,000 servings valued at about $300,000.

A worthy slogan for each club girl

C. R. CHILDRESS IS IMPROVING SOIL

Mr. C. R. Childress, of Pleasant Grove Community has started on a plan of conserving and improving the soil on a farm he recently purchased. Two meadow outlets or water disposal areas have been planned. One of these will be established in sericea this Spring. The other will be established next year. For a cropping system, Mr. Childress is planting every other terrace in Kobe Lespedeza. The terraces in between the lespedeza strips will be planted in a row crop. Small grain will be drilled in the lespedeza stubble this fall. This striping is an added protection against erosion.

Mr. D. M. Avery of Jemison had a meadow outlet staked out last week. It will also be established in sericea. He also has set out about fifteen-hundred Kudzu plants this time. This kudzu was set on critical slopes and along gullies for erosion control. It will also be used for hay and grazing. Lonnie Deramus, who lives east of Verbena, had two meadow outlets staked out for establishment of sericea. This is Lonnie's first time to sow sericea.

Mr. J. L. Messer of Verbena says that his stock started grazing sericea about the first of March. He is planting three-hundred pounds of seed this Spring in water disposal areas.—R. L. High, Jr.

NINE POINTS LISTED FOR SAVING FOOD

Nine ways Alabama housewives can help save food for starving Europeans are given by Mary Hulsey, API extension food specialist.

She suggests:

- (1) Cut down on the wastage of bread in every way possible. Present estimates are that one slice out of every loaf of bread goes into the garbage can.

- (2) Reduce the amount of bread used at each meal through substitutes such as potatoes and oat cereals. Use fruits, for example, instead of cakes and pastries for desserts.

- (3) More use of alternate foods—use less wheat cereals for breakfast.
- (4) Save cooking oils by using meat drippings for cooking and seasoning food.

- (5) Hold down the number of fried foods that are served.

- (6) Save and re-use fats and oils for all cooking purposes.

- (7) Hold on to bacon grease for cooking and render excess fats or meats.

- (8) All fats that cannot be re-used should be salvaged and turned in to the butcher or grocer.

- (9) Take it easy on oils and salad dressings.

GLEE CLUB NEWS

The spotlight falls on the Boys' Glee Club this week. It has won the respect of all the school with its recent achievements. New arrangements of old songs, along with the beautiful voices of the boys, bring music to C.H.S. that has never before been equaled. In two years the Boy's Club has come from unison singing to four part arrangements of songs such as "Road to Mandalay" and "Carry Me Home," in addition to three part arrangements of songs like "Stout-hearted Men," "Riff Song" and "My Buddy."

The Glee Club consists of 40 members. They are as follows:

Bass — David Arnold, Hershhal Blacklock, Milton Mims, Joe Mullins, Chas. Taylor and Matthew Thomaston.

Baritones — Charles Bean, Virgil Glenn, Robert Lane, Byron Lowery, W. B. McCain, Vernon Payne, Hubert Thompson, Lelyn West and Harry Williams.

Second Tenors — Allen Billingsley, Verdie Glenn, Melvin Headley, Donald Marcus, George McCain, Thomas Patterson, Douglas Todd, O. L. Wells and John Zimmerman.

First Tenors — Fred Ciekler, Connie Mac Connell, Henry Hefflin, Morris Moats, Frank Parrish, Cooper Speaks and James Hefflin Taylor.

The section of boys with unchanged voices that sing with the girls are as follows:

Alto — John Deramus, Marvin Jones, Otis Deloach, Robert Owens, John Broadhead, David Wingard, Charles Bradford, Du Wayne Deaton and Bobby Davenport.

The school is proud of the work and fine music of the Boys' Glee Club. We are looking forward to the time when they appear in full concert, April 20th, in the school auditorium.

MONTGOMERY WRITES
IT'S FARM PROGRAM

Publication of the Montgomery County Farm Program, written by farm leaders and county agricultural extension service workers, was announced recently by County Agent Lem A. Edmonson. Printing of the program was sponsored by the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, the First National Bank of Montgomery and the County Board of Revenue.

The 64-page publication is a comprehensive study of all phases of agriculture in the county, including farm tenure and size, land use, crops, livestock, processing plants, marketing, building, and machinery. Each farm problem is dealt with in detail and methods of further improving agriculture in the county are outlined.

KEEP ONLY BETTER
LAYERS IN FLOCK

For better poultry profits, now is the time to separate the layers from the players. In giving this advice John E. Ivey, API extension poultryman, says that hens showing signs of slowing down production should be sold or eaten.

Records reveal that hens lay more eggs during their first laying year than any other. They lay fewer eggs with succeeding years, although there is a minority exception. So, Mr. Ivey recommends that only hens which have proved themselves good layers be retained in the flock longer than one year. Poultrymen have found that the best practice is to replace 50 to 60 per cent of the flock each year.

About 200,000 bales—25 per cent—of Alabama's cotton was classed the past year under the free Smith-Doxey classing service. J. T. Belphe, API extension cotton specialist, estimates that from 30 to 50 per cent will be classed this year.

A good gardener, says W. A. Ruffin, API extension gardener, always has a job to do. Preparing the soil, fertilizing, planting, cultivating and fighting insects must be done over and over again. The object is to do them just a little better each time.

FIRE PREVENTION MOVIES SHOWN

Programs of Forest Fire Prevention have been held throughout Chilton County under the sponsorship of the State Division of Forestry, it was announced today by Ranger C. C. Gay, Jr. These programs of fire prevention, protection and suppression were held in schools and communities through the cooperation of County School Superintendent D. P. Culp.

Three programs were presented during the day and one night.

The State Forestry Division movie truck, operated by James P. Shirley, is bringing such subjects as Trees and Homes, Stop Forest Fire, Burn Brush Carefully, Pinch Way to Profit, Forest Fire or Game, A Heritage We Guard and many others. Whenever possible, Ranger Gay pointed out news and comedies are shown along with the other films.

The movie truck carries its own electric power, black-out curtains and other necessary equipment for these meetings, which enables the programs to be presented anywhere in the county whether electric power is available or not.

Over 3,000 persons have enjoyed these programs in Chilton County, and expressed a desire to do all they can in the prevention of forest fires on their farm land and in their communities.

Fine interest and cooperation is being shown in the forest fire prevention program now in operation in over 75 percent of the counties in the state, Ranger Gay, stated, and the wholehearted support of all citizens of Chilton County is needed to make the program succeed. Landowners have been assured of all that he can do personally and that the state can do in this work on their forest lands.

FOLSOM

on a trunk highway in order to live on a paved road in Alabama. Rural homes must be served by paved highways and electric power that will provide running water, lights, sanitation and the conveniences enjoyed by people who live in town. Life in the country must be made increasingly attractive and profitable.

The Veterans

The veteran wants only treatment as an average citizen. That I propose to do as follows: As Governor of all the people I will need the help and cooperation of every veteran.

I favor taking full advantage of all legislation enacted by Congress respecting a Federal Housing Program. I will press for legislation that will not only show Alabama's willingness to cooperate, but will insure that we get our fair share from Washington. This is the immediate need of the new family veteran.

Labor

The labor laws of Alabama should be administered by a department of labor under supervision of the Government. This department should be headed by a man respected in the ranks of labor for his sound judgment and his sympathy with the problems of the worker.

The present allowance to injured workmen under the Workmen's Compensation Act is wholly inadequate. The allowance must be increased.

It will be my purpose to promote interest, understanding and co-operation between management and labor.

Education

Education is the foundation of our civilization. I favor free school books through Grammar School. I favor increased, adequate salaries for school teachers, more and better school facilities and a program that will make our educational system the equal of any in the country.

Alabama's greatest asset is not its forests, streams or mines. It is her human minds. These must be trained and developed to the limit of our resources.

Revenues

The sales tax token should be abolished. The burden of sales tax book-keeping should be shifted from the retail merchant.

I have a program for conserving revenues and resources. That program does not call for any increase in the present tax rate. It will be discussed fully in a separate campaign speech.

Old Age Pensions

I favor a minimum of $50.00 per month old age pension to every person 65 years of age or over, to be raised by the State and the Federal Governments. We are paying our share of the tax for old age pensions, to the federal government, I will see that we get our share of the benefits.

Health

A paramount duty of the State is to safeguard the health of its people. An adequate and efficient Public Health Department is of vital concern to our people and will be maintained—this service is indispensable and will have my full support.

Constitutional Convention

Alabama needs a new Constitution. Our present Constitution is an obstacle to progress. Veterans, who have returned from a world-wide experience, and others must re-write our Constitution from top to bottom. I favor a Constitutional Convention and will do all in my power to bring it about.

Conclusion

I will make a separate speech on every phase of State Government. I will discuss them in detail by speeches as follows: Farm Program, Old Age Pensions, Labor Legislation, Highways and Public Construction, Home-owned Industry, Education, Health and Welfare, Local Self Government, Veterans' Affairs, Merit System and Beverage Control. I will show the need for a new constitution in every speech.

I have no platform. I have a program—a program for which I have always worked. I solicit your co-operation in working it out for Alabama. Let's have four years of happiness and contentment.

FAT STOCK SHOW

tional Breeds Associations. In the event an Aberdeen Angus is declared Grand Champion and additional $10.00 will be paid.

The largest gathering ever to attend a Chilton County Stock Show is expected. Not only will there be Chilton County people, but there will be many out of county visitors who will attend. Those planning to attend the show have a real treat in store as it would be hard to find a nicer exhibit of fat cattle than will be in Clanton April 29th.

Following close on the County Fat Stock Show club boys and girls will enter their animals in the Birmingham Fat Stock show which is being held at Legion Field May 2 and 3. Approximately 1,000 4-H and F.F.A. members will enter this show and sale. In connection with the Fat Stock Show the largest rodeo in the world will give performances April 29th through May 4th.

To most of us who have never attended a rodeo this in itself will be an important and exciting event. 4-H and F.F.A. members entering animals in the Fat Stock Show will be given a free pass to the rodeo.

Chilton County boys and girls have done a splendid job with their feeder beef calves this year. In recognition of the fine work they have done, every effort has been made to make both the County and Birmingham Fat Stock Shows the best and most enjoyable ever to be held. Under the able sponsorship of the Clanton Kiwanis Club the Chilton County Fat Stock Show will be a show that any club member would be proud to enter.

The Chilton County Beef Club members are proud of the work they have done and to every person in the county they extend an invitation to attend the Fat Stock Show. It is seldom that as many good club members and club projects are brought together in any county.

Remember: WHAT: The Chilton County Fat Stock Show.

WHEN: April 29th, 9:30 a.m.

WHERE: High School, Clanton.

WHY: To see the best group of fat calves ever to be exhibited in Chilton County.

MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY

The Music Appreciation Club will meet Tuesday, April 16th at 3:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Herbert Kliner. All members are urged to be present. It is a very important meeting and officers will be elected for the coming year.

PAULEY WITHDRAWS... The nomination of Edwin W. Pauley, Beverly Hills, Calif., as undersecretary of navy, was withdrawn by President Truman, when it became apparent that the oil man's nomination would be rejected.

I have no platform. I have a program—a program for which I have always worked. I solicit your co-operation in working it out for Alabama. Let's have four years of happiness and contentment.

Unused Dresses Will Make Attractive Blouses, Jumpers

By Ertta Haley

AS YOU thumb through your closets preparatory to spring cleaning, you'll probably come across at least two dresses that are sadly worn and unwearable. With the clothing shortage and also the expense of buying new clothing, you would do well to consider the prospect of remodeling this clothing into something distinctly attractive and new looking.

One garment that has plenty of calls for wearing is the jumper. When it's tailored, the jumper is ideal for business wear or sports. If it's made of velvet or another of the more decorative materials, the jumper makes an attractive date dress.

Before any remodeling is attempted, the dress should be cleaned or washed thoroughly and ripped apart completely. Take care while ripping so that no threads in the material are pulled, and material so made useless. If you want to change the color of the dress, remove the old dye first. If, of course, you are dyeing it a darker color, the original shade does not have to be removed.

For the classic jumper, trim off the sleeves and cut the armholes, making them fairly large. If you are uncertain as to the exact shape you desire, consult a pattern. Trim down the neckline, too, into a square or round shape.

Find an unseparable dress...

If the original skirt is flared, this may be retained in the jumper, but it will add a note of smartness to make wide, deep pockets out of the sleeves. In some tailored materials, these pockets take on new interest if they are stitched in contrasting thread.

In some jumpers, a capped sleeve treatment is used. This is easily done simply by recutting the sleeve, leaving enough material to fold under for finishing; or, the sleeves may be ripped out and the capped effect achieved through the use of wide bands of grosgrain or faille ribbon. This is done after the dress is redyed.

And make a chic jumper from it.

At the beginning of this article I spoke about the possibility of your finding two dresses in the closet. Thus far, only one of the dresses has been mentioned. The other dress might well be made into a blouse to go with the jumper so that you will have a complete costume.

Select Jumper Blouse

In Contrasting Color

The blouse for the jumper should be contrasting in color to the jumper, itself, or it may blend with that garment. With so many new prints out this season, a worn print, provided it looks well with the solid color you have used in the jumper, would be highly desirable.

If, however, the jumper is of a rather conservative dark shade, the blouse can be a solid bright color that blends with the jumper. Bright red goes beautifully with navy blue, or cerise is a lovely foil for aqua.

You'll find ample material in most worn dresses for a blouse of almost any style and design. The most popular type for jumper wear is the blouse that ties in a bow at the neck, or one that has a neat collar treatment and buttons down the front. The sleeves may be long or short depending upon your taste and the material available.

If the dress is tailored, it may not be necessary to rip the complete garment. Sometimes the bodice of the dress just needs trimming from the skirt and finishing to make the complete blouse.

If you do want to make a brand new blouse, rip the dress and start as you would with new material. Recut the sleeves and make them long or short. Add a new collar if the dress has one that is too fussy, and do bear in mind the type of jumper when you are making the blouse.

Ayes for Eyelets

Men returning from overseas expect to find their girls wearing pretty but not high style things. Deep, white eyelet embroidery set in the wide yolk of a black dress is flattering to the face. Note the eyelet motif carried out in the hat.

PROSPECT BRIGHTER FOR FEDERAL AID TO SCHOOLS

Agreement on the final form for a Federal Aid to Education bill reached last week by Senator Robert Taft (R., Ohio) and Senator Lister Hill of Alabama has launched the bill on the final lap of its move through the Senate.

Senators Hill, Taft and Elbert Thomas Federal Aid to Education bill. Senator Hill stated that the bill as amended would mean $19,000,000 a year to Alabama in federal funds for the public schools, funds administered and controlled by local school officials.

Senator Hill stated, "Under this bill Alabama would be allowed a larger grant for her schools than in any previous piece of legislation seriously considered."

Two forms of the bill were placed before the Senate Committee on Education and Labor some weeks ago.

Mending Pointers

Men's worn-out shirt cuffs may be cut off and turned. Soft collars can sometimes be purchased at a notions counter, or they may be taken off other shirts that are not usable.

Never stop stocking runs temporarily with nail polish as this frequently damages the thread of the hose permanently. Reinforce weak spots by darning carefully before the holes appear. This is especially true for hose that tends to wear in the heels or toes or on top of the stocking.

Strip patches that wear out underneath the armholes. If the straps are worn, replacements may be purchased and sewed on easily.

Heavy linen thread is recommended for button sewing. Buttons will stay on better if they are sewed with a thread shank that permits the iron point to get closer to them without snapping off the button.

Hooks and eyes are best sewn with double thread and an over and over stitch through holes. Sew over hook near top to hold it down. The straight metal bar or thread bar worked with a blanket stitch is placed on the seam line. The curved eye extends slightly beyond edge of the opening.

To mend a diagonal tear, darn with small running stitches parallel to lengthwise thread but in the direction of the tear. Over these stitches work another set of right angles to the first.

Behind Your Bonds Lies the Might of America

CIGARETTES

From the day that sweeter, brighter tobacco, adaptable to cigarettes, was discovered in Caswell County in 1822 and Washington Duke installed a Bonsack machine in his Winston-Salem, N. C., plant for making them, the cigarette business has expanded tremendously. A half billion dollar industry when World War II opened, it will continue to enrich the Nation and add resources to guarantee Savings Bonds.

U. S. Treasury Department

Senator Hill was named Chairman of a special subcommittee to achieve a satisfactory form which combined the Hill-Thomas bill, and the best of the best elements of his own proposal, the competing Mead bill.

Senator Taft, who is Chairman of the Republican Steering Committee of the Senate, was a member of the subcommittee as ranking representative on the Senate Education and Labor Committee. Agreement of the two men upon an amended form of the Hill-Thomas bill is expected to result in a favorable report by the full Committee shortly.

Within three years after passage some $250,000,000 would be allocated annually across the nation to bring sub-standard schools up to the national minimum level. The national minimum goal has been set at $40 per child each year in every state by the new agreement.

"The allocation," Senator Hill states, "will be made on the basis of per capita income and the child population of the state. The bill leaves the expenditure and the administration of the funds in the hands of local school officials, as well as all control."

States would be required to make a reasonable effort toward building up their schools and the education of their children in order to qualify for the funds.

The amount of state effort would be estimated mathematically, just as would the allocation, on the basis of per capita income and percentage of total income earmarked for education.

"The situation looks definitely more favorable than it has ever looked before," Senator Hill stated. "This bill has the full approval of the National Education Association."

The grants would be made to public school systems to be spent for teachers' salaries and current operating expenses.

DOUBLE BEARDED WILD GOBBLER KILLED

Lavigne Berglin, Fairhope sportsman killed an unusual wild turkey gobbler during the last week of March. It was reported by the Department of Conservation. Not content with the usual beard of better than 10 inches in length, nature provided his gobbler with another hirsute adornment. The second beard was not as fully developed as the "main" beard. The gobbler, killed in Calhoun County, tipped the scales at 20 pounds.

WHY ORDER BABY CHICKS

When you can buy first quality chicks at JONES' HATCHERY, Chilton County's finest and fastest growing hatchery. This hatchery was begun in the Fall of 1939, with a capacity of 4,980. Now, with additions at various intervals, has a capacity of 17,430, almost four times its original size.

From the very beginning the owners, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Jones, have made every effort to give their customers the best chicks possible. This is attained by using selected pullets and mating with R.O.P. cockerels; the personal supervision of the flocks by the flock owner; hatchery man and members of the State Department of Agriculture. In addition to these tasks the owners of JONES' HATCHERY do all the traying and handling of Eggs and the boxing of baby chicks.

CHILTON COUNTY USDA COUNCIL FOR CONSERVING, PRODUCING AND SHARING FOOD

Millions of people abroad face the prospect of starvation and they look to this country as their principal hope for food. Their only hope is the VOLUNTARY SHARING of food by the people of this country.

To render effective assistance to starving countries we must export 1 1/2 million tons of wheat per month for the next three months and at least 35,000 tons of food fats and oils during this calendar year.

So that Chilton County may actively participate in helping the world suggested the following voluntary food unit, the County USDA Council has production and conservation measures

Conservation

1. Use all the food cooked; waste nothing.
2. Each person is requested to eat at least one slice of bread, or one less biscuit at each meal.
3. Cafes, restaurants and other public eating places can effectively participate in this program by serving only one piece of bread or one roll per meal per person unless more is requested.
4. As a substitute for the reduction in white bread, the following are recommended: Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, corn bread, grits, oatmeal and flaking oats, either fresh or canned.
5. Substitute fruits for cakes and pies.
6. All housewives and cooks are urged to exercise extreme care in saving all bacon drippings and other kitchen fats for cooking purposes. Any fats which become too rancid for this purpose should be turned in to the usual fat salvage collector.
7. Poultrymen are urged to cull and sell immediately all low producers from their laying flocks to conserve grain and increase profits.

8. Dairymen are urged to utilize pastures, grazing crops and roughage to the fullest extent and reduce the feeding of concentrates to dairy herds.
9. Market hogs when they weigh 200 to 225 pounds.

Production

1. Plant Irish potatoes where this is still feasible.
2. Increase production of sweet potatoes throughout the State.
3. Make successive plantings of sweet corn and other roasting ear corn in all areas of the State.
4. Grow gardens as never before and conserve all food produced.
5. Grow more cowpeas, lima beans and edible soybeans.
6. Increase the production of grazing and forage crops.
7. Grow every bushel of corn possible by utilization of all available nitrogen for increased yields.
8. Plant more grain sorghum especially following oats and legumes harvested for seed to utilize fertilizers that may be available later, to spread available labor over a longer period, and to increase the total grain supply.

—Chilton County USDA Council.

Calculator Is Fast As Light

Robot Electronic Machine Solves Hard Problems Like Lightning.

PHILADELPHIA.—"The world's fastest calculating machine" has been unveiled by the war department. It is said that the robot possibly has opened the mathematical way to better living for every man.

Better communication and transportation, improved industrial products, superior weather forecasting and general advances in science and engineering may be made possible, the army said, from the development of the first all-electronic general purpose computer.

The army described the machine as 1,000 times faster than the most advanced calculating machine previously built and declared the apparatus makes it possible "to solve in hours problems which would take years" on any other mathematical machine.

The machine, which can add, subtract, multiply, divide and compute square roots and do most complex calculations based on those operations is called the "Eniac"—short for "electronic numerical integrator and computer." It also has been nicknamed the "mechanical Einstein."

Designed for Army.

It was dedicated at the University of Pennsylvania, where it was designed and constructed for the army ordnance department at the university's Moore school of electrical engineering.

Maj. Gen. G. M. Barnes, chief of the ordnance department's research and development service, told reporters prior to the dedication that the new machine would be removed to the army's proving ground at Aberdeen, Md., "to be used in the development of ballistics (the mathematics of weapons) for the safety of this country."

But the army also announced that similar machines could be constructed for the use of industry and science generally as a new mathematical tool in the design of products or the analysis of complex scientific data.

As an example of Eniac's speed, the army said the machine can take a five-digit number, like 63,895, and add it to itself 5,000 times—in one second. If you did such an addition with pencil and paper you'd fill space equivalent to two full pages of a newspaper.

Eniac weighs 30 tons, occupies a room 30 by 50 feet, has 18,000 vacuum tubes and looks like a giant switchboard in a telephone company office, even to tiny lights that flash on and off when a complex brain-teaser is getting the works.

Uses Electronics.

The machine cost $400,000—including all research and development work—but the army says "future machines of this type can be produced much more cheaply."

While Eniac does its figuring through the magic of modern electronics—actually counting on "electronic fingers"—it employs, basically, the principle of a primitive computing machine known since ancient times.

In effect, Eniac is an electronic big-brother of the "Abacus," an apparatus which utilizes bead-like counters strung on parallel rods or wires as a means of counting, still in use in the Orient.

Eniac begins computing when punched cards, containing holes corresponding to arithmetical numbers, are fed into the machine.

Inside the machine are thousands of tiny neon light bulbs—arranged in rows of 10, and as the problem is being worked, these lights flash on and off in the proper combinations. Answers come out on other punched cards.

Warships Face
Big Atom Test

Steel Armor Plate Is Not Expected to React as Buildings Would.

NEW YORK.—The warships will be facing the greatest gamble in their existence in the atomic bomb tests in Bikini atoll in the South Pacific. But not all the cards run against the navy.

Steel ships and armor plate will not react to atomic bombs in altogether the same manner as buildings. They possess greater resistance to most of the atomic bomb effects.

After the first atomic bomb test in New Mexico, 800 yards from the center of the crater there was a large iron vessel six feet or more tall shaped roughly like a milk bottle. This object, just beyond the area where the ground itself was completely denuded, apparently was not even tilted by the force of the atomic explosion, according to the Associated Press science editor. It bore no signs of damage. It was used for some test that still is a secret.

Pot Had Six-Inch Walls.

The walls of this pot were about six inches thick, much thicker than a great part of the armor on warships but not as heavy as some of the armor plate of battleships. A ship is not a structure like an iron pot; a warship should be easier to deform in an atomic blast. But the pot gives an idea of the powers of resistance in heavy metal structures.

The power of the first atomic bomb was never stated. By the official figures the last bomb, at Nagasaki, was about twice as powerful as the Hiroshima bomb. The navy reports have said that the bombs at Bikini will be of the Nagasaki type. However, twice as powerful does not mean that the destructive force of a blast extends twice as far. This force diminishes very rapidly, and the rate at which it falls off is the cube root of the increased power.

The New Mexico bomb was a big one. How much less powerful than the one at Nagasaki is a secret. But it is possible that the Nagasaki-type bomb will not extend its radius of total destruction many hundred yards farther than the burst in New Mexico.

Danger of Radioactivity.

In the New Mexico crater, near the foot of the steel tower which vaporized in the heat of many millions of degrees, some chunks of iron were picked up a month and a half afterward. They had not vaporized and recondensed. They were original pieces and their origin was not explained. They showed little evidence of melting. The chunks ranged in size from a man's thumb to a fist. At least one of them had not been made radioactive by the explosion. Another was still emitting enough X-rays weeks afterward to take a dim X-ray picture through a pocketbook.

These chunks probably represent an added hazard of warships in atomic combat. In some cases where the ships are very close to the center of the explosion, provided they are not destroyed, some of their steel may become temporarily radioactive, and might continue so long enough to become a hazard.

Most everything that happens in the Bikini tests this summer will be absent in the underwater atomic explosions planned next year. Then the principal destructive force against ships will be underwater blast or pressure. This may be more destructive than the air explosions, because the underwater blast travels faster and farther. The radioactive effects on the water should be worse, but not to the extent of damaging warships.

I have a desire to represent the people of Autauga, Chilton and Shelby Counties in the State Senate during the next administration. I represent the people of Chilton County in the Legislature at the present time.

Under a long-standing agreement between the three counties, it is Chilton's time to furnish a Senator. I feel that by education, observation and experience, I am able to vote for and support legislation that will be to the best interests of all the people of the three counties.

I volunteered for service in World War I, and was discharged at Camp Pike, Arkansas. I am a member of the American Legion, Post No. 6, at Clanton. My only child, a son, volunteered for service in World War II, and after almost one year's service, was discharged at San Diego, California, on the 14th of September, 1945.

I will appreciate your vote and support in the Democratic Primary on May 7th, 1946.

Roper Addresses Thorsby Civic Club

The town hall was filled Monday night for the monthly meeting of the Civic Club. The discussions dealt mainly with agricultural production and marketing. It was decided that members of the Club would visit the surrounding neighborhoods to find out how farm people felt that Thorsby could best serve their needs.

Mr. Roy Roper, prominent farmer and co-owner of Chilco Freezer, told of his experience in marketing farm produce. He repeatedly stressed the importance of high quality products. "You must pack quality—nothing else will do," said Mr. Roper. And he showed how farmers have often short-changed themselves and their whole community by packing low grade, rotten and wormy fruit and vegetables under a nice looking cap. From AAA figures Mr. Roper showed that fruit and vegetables are rapidly taking the place of cotton in Chilton County.

There are still twice as many acres in cotton, but the fruit and vegetables acres produce a total cash income for the county that more than doubles that received from cotton. Mr. Roper also called attention to millions of idle dollars in our county banks that could be put to profitable use in agricultural production and marketing.

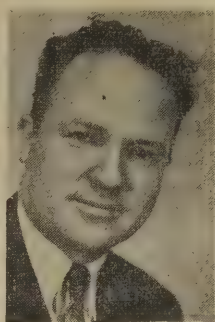

A progress report was made on improvements in the town park. Plans were discussed for game equipment and lights. On recommendation of the motion picture committee, the Club voted to match dollars with the churches and schools for a sound, motion picture equipment.

SOYBEANS FOR HAY

Otootan soybean usually produces in Alabama the best yields of quality hay. However, its failure at times to make much seed may justify the choice of some other suited variety.

In tests by the Agricultural Experiment Station, the Otootan variety has produced more hay of good quality than any other variety. On the other hand, this variety sometimes fails to make seed, or it does not make enough seed for planting the following year. For this reason, there are not large

RUG FACTORY IN THORSBY

Chenille rugs will soon be going out of Thorsby. The machines are being installed in the Wade Building by Troy L. Henderson, Jr. of Siluria. Mr. Henderson lately returned from service in Europe where he piloted a B-24. He will be the owner and manager of the rug plant. Only ten or twelve people will be employed at first. It is reported that in other plants employees are making from forty cents to a dollar per hour. Mr. Henderson believes in small industries and is of the opinion that labor will be more steady and dependable in a small town.

supplies of Otootan planting seed, and prices are high.

The wisest course would be to choose some other good hay variety, in view of seed costs and the chances of seed crop failure. Such varieties as Tanner, Avoyelles, Laredo, and Matthews make fairly good yields of quality hay, and produce fair seed crops.

There are several other varieties that make large hay yields, such as Biloxi, Mamloxi, Tarheel Black, Mammoth Yellow, Tokyo and Woods Yellow. However, the cured hay of these varieties is too coarse and stemmy to be fully used by livestock. The best quality hay is produced by the Otootan and Laredo varieties.

The production of the oil-type soybean is limited to those areas that have crushing facilities and that produce good seed crops. In variety tests of this Station, soybeans produced more consistently and made large seed yields in the Tennessee Valley, Sand Mountain, and the Gulf Coast areas than in the Black Belt or Coastal Plain regions.

J In the areas adapted to the production of oil beans, it has been found that the Ogden variety is the best. It produces well, has a high oil content, and is resistant to shattering and lodging. Some other varieties that make as good yields are Mamloxi, Palmetto, Missou, Volstate and Monetta. These varieties, however, have some undesirable characteristics. Palmetto and Monetta are low in oil content, shatter badly and lodge. Mamloxi is low in oil content, while Missou and Volstate have a tendency to lodge.

Arrangements Made For Business People To Attend

Pre-Easter preaching services will be held at the Clanton Methodist Church beginning Palm Sunday, April 14th, and extending through Good Friday, April 19th, according to an announcement from Rev. Carlisle Miller, pastor.

It is announced that Rev. W. O. Calhoun will be the visiting minister and will deliver the devotionals. Rev. Ovie W. Mathison, singer, will be in charge of the musicals.

Both morning and evening services will be held. The morning worship services will begin at 11:35 and last until 12:05 o'clock. This is to give the business people of Clanton a chance to attend the service. The evening services will begin at 7:30 and last until 8:30 p.m.

The public of Clanton and neighboring communities have a cordial invitation to attend these services.

SOIL CONSERVATION POINTS THE WAY TO BETTER FARM YIELD

Alabama agriculture, determined to hold its war-expanded markets by maintaining quality production, has placed more than 32,000,000 acres of cropland under soil conservation service.

"This growing emphasis on care of the soil promises not only to keep in full service the acreage which contributed so much to the war effort but also to produce foods of a quality that will up-grade the American diet," said Harvey A. Baum, head of produce-buying operations for A & P Food Stores, distributor of Alabama potatoes, corn, cabbage and cucumbers.

"In many soil conservation districts during the war our field buying offices found production of fruits and vegetables up as much as 20 per cent. Much of this improvement was due to pre-war soil-saving practices."

Baum pointed out that at the present time more than half of the nation's agricultural land — nearly 800,000,000 acres on 3,592,000 farms in 45 states — is under such planning, more than 231,000 Alabama farms being enrolled.

Besides improving the quality and increasing the volume of farm production, cropland conservation coincides with a growing efficiency in the distribution of food, he said. The war emphasized the need for better packaging, speedier shipment, more effective refrigeration and a concerted war on waste.

Combined with such improvements in distribution, the efforts of farmers to produce more efficiently will mean a general reduction of the nation's food bill and an increase in farm income, Baum added.

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT

April is Cancer Control Month, Dr. B. F. Austin, State Health Officer, reminded Alabamians today.

"Cancer caused 2,173 deaths in this State last year," he said in urging the people of Alabama to cooperate with the Alabama Division of the Field Army of the American Cancer Society in its annual enlistment and intensive features of this observance. "There are few families to which this disease has not brought sorrow, and many other homes will be invaded by this sinister enemy within the lifetime of the present generation. There is need for a concerted effort on the part of all against this dreadful disease."

All of the foundation stock will come from the nationally recognized high quality breeding sources of the Indiana Co-operatives. We will be supplied with White Rocks, White Leghorns and New Hampshire Reds.

The State Health Officer listed the five main symptoms of early cancer as:

1. A persistent lump, especially in the female breast.
2. A sore which does not heal promptly.
3. Discharge of blood from a natural body opening.
4. Persistent and unexplained indigestion.
5. A sudden change in the size or color of a mole or wart.

"When any of these appear," he urged, "see your physician at once to find out whether you really have cancer."

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

As I stated in my announcement, we had on hand in the County Treasury, Two Hundred Seventy-Seven Thousand, One Hundred Ninety-Two Dollars and Ninety-Two Cents ($277,192.92), in cash and United States Bonds. And I make this statement to you, if I continue in office, I pledge to you that this money will be spent for the best interest of Chilton County, and each district will get its prorata share.

Heretofore, we have spent much of the County money on State roads in order to get the State Highways paved through our County. Through the efforts of the Association of County Commissioners and Probate Judges, we got the Legislature to enact a law, whereby, the State would set aside one cent of the State's part of the gas tax for the paving of farm to market roads, provided the County or Counties were in a financial condition to match it. We are in a position to match every dollar of State and Federal Aid made available, and then have a surplus.

There has been a bill passed in the United States Senate and now pending in the House of Representatives to appropriate money for the building and equipping hospitals. Your Commissioners and I are going to do everything we can to get one of these hospitals located in Chilton County.

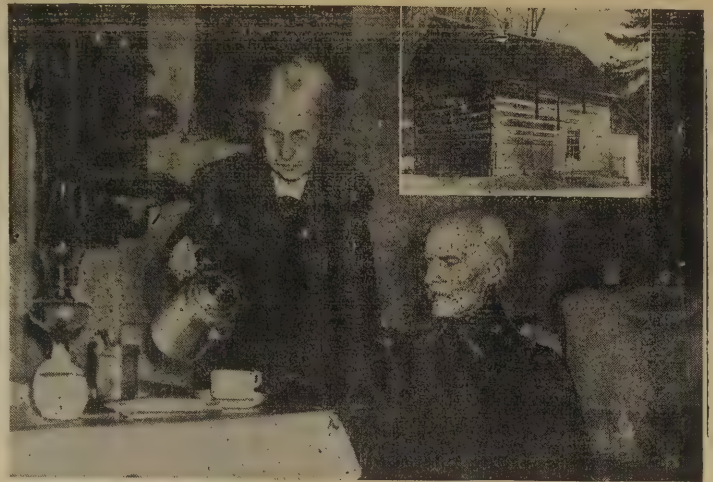

In campaigning over the County I have had a number of our good citizens to ask me this question. If there had been a large sum of money contributed to my campaign. I wish to make this statement to you that I contributed one dollar to my campaign when I was running for Mayor of Clanton or Probate Judge of Chilton County. And no one has offered me any money to induce me to run for the Probate Office. And, if re-elected, I will only be obligated to ALL the people of Chilton County and will be free to work for their best interest.

We need the best trained business men we have at the head of our National, State and County Governments. A good record made by a public official is better than campaign promises. On this record I solicit your vote and support.

Yours very truly,

J. LEE SMITH.

WE CAN DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT!

Cancer deaths are now occurring among the American people at an average rate of approximately one every three minutes. In Alabama they are occurring at an average rate of about one every four hours.

However, there is happily a more cheerful side to the cancer picture. There is good, sound reason to believe that its end as an unchallenged killer is in sight. It will of course take time for that to be accomplished, but the fact is that leaders in the cancer control field are looking forward with hope to such an accomplishment.

The intelligent and informed cooperation of the men and women of Alabama and the United States is necessary to the miracle of effective cancer control, however. There is a tremendous need for the education of the general public regarding cancer. An important fact which the field army of the American Cancer Society is trying to get into the consciousness of every Alabamian and every American is that EARLY cancer is curable.

There is need, too, for funds to carry on the great and important work of education and research. During April, designated "Cancer Control month" by Act of Congress, the American Cancer Society, through its field Army of volunteer workers, will seek to raise $12,000,000 by popular donations throughout the United States.

The response of Americans to this appeal may determine whether you or some of your loved ones will eventually fall victim to cancer, or whether medical science can detect the disease in time, control it, and prevent another death.

Let your contribution be inspired by this thought: "The most vital fact about cancer is that we can do something about it. Doctors and scientists are ready to do their job—are you?"

MY MESSAGE TO YOU

C. B. COX

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

When you go to the polls on May 7th to cast your vote for the man to represent you in your State Legislature for the next four years I feel that you should know his stand on a few of the more important questions of the day.

FIRST: I want you to know my stand on the Sales Tax question. I believe that the token should be done away with. It is a nuisance and a worry to all who have to contend with it and I will support any legislation to take this extra worry off the people.

SECOND: I am in favor of using the surplus monies now in the State Treasury in paying off old State debts. This should be done first and then any money left over should go to lowering property taxes—the purpose it was meant for in the first place.

THIRD: I will be opposed to passing any local bill until it has been submitted to the people and their decision shown at the polls.

FOURTH: I believe that the farmers have had the least consideration by our governing bodies than any other group, and it will be my pledge to support any legislation that will benefit the farmer.

FIFTH: Having a son in service who went through Europe with Patton, it is understood that my stand will be to do all in my power to aid Veteran legislation. It is my opinion we cannot do enough for the boy who offered his life for his country. Especially, am I interested in the soldier who was wounded, and will do all in my power to make his load easier for him.

In conclusion, let me say that with my connections in Montgomery and my experience in the State Legislature, I believe that I can do a better job than a new man could possibly do. I am personally acquainted with seventy-five percent of the candidates now running for the Legislature, and if elected, will be associated with old friends with whom I can work and get things done.

I will deeply appreciate your support in my behalf.

Sincerely,

C. B. COX.

DATES WITH UNCLE SAM

Sugar Stamp No. 39—good for five pounds—expires April 30.

Spare Stamp No. 9—good for five pounds of sugar for CANNING—expires October 31, 1946.

Canning Sugar Stamp Validated

This year's home canners will not have to fill out application forms for canning sugar, OPA State Director Sam J. Watkins reminded Alabama housewives today. OPA District Offices, which now handle sugar rationing, are not equipped to process the millions of requests that would result if users were required to make formal application for canning sugar, as was formerly the case, he said.

Canning sugar this season will be obtained through use of spare stamps contained either in Ration Book Four or on the sugar ration sheet now being issued in lieu of a complete ration book, according to the OPA announcement.

First spare stamp to be used especially for canning sugar is No. 9, which became valid Monday, March 11, for five pounds and remains good through October 31, Watkins pointed out. This and another stamp to be validated some time in June or July will provide this year's allocation for home canning sugar, he said.

"Our national sugar supply is still extremely tight, with no signs of immediate improvement," Mr. Director said. "It is still uncertain how much of the Cuban sugar crop will be available to us; and this, along with the requirements of war-stricken areas makes it impossible to be very optimistic about the outlook on sugar," he explained.

Those who customarily sell home-canned fruit butters, jams, jellies and other foods, however, may file an application with the Birmingham OPA State Office for the necessary canning sugar. Watkins said. The amount granted will be either the amount requested, or the total used by the family for this purpose in 1945, whichever amount is smaller, he said, adding that the previous limitation of a total insurance of 250 pounds to a family unit will still apply. A record of the

RECRUITING OFFICER REPORTS MANY ENLISTMENTS

From the Headquarters of U. S. Army Recruiting Service of Alabama, Capt. Marion J. Brodnax, the Commanding Officer, stated today that during the month of February, recruiting for America's peacetime Army was most encouraging.

Capt. Brodnax reports that there were a total of 630 enlistments and reenlistments during the month. This figure compares favorably with the other months of the recruiting campaign which has been going full force since September 1945.

In making this report, Capt. Brodnax reports that the various stations and sub-stations over the state accounted for these 630 enlistments as follows:

Birmingham 178, Florence 45, Gadsden 104, Huntsville 86, Montgomery 76, Dothan 77, Mobile 53. These figures include both white and colored enlistments.

Under the new ruling that permits former members of the Women's Army Corps to apply for reenlistment, Capt. Brodnax reports that the Birmingham Station accepted four applications.

Capt. Brodnax wished again to urge the young men of our state to fully consider a career in the Regular Army as they face the decision of what the future holds for them. Regular Army opportunities and pay compare most favorably with most civilian jobs and it is worthwhile for our young men to call by their nearest recruiting office and kind of foods put up with this sugar must be kept by persons doing home canning for sale, he said.

The use of spare stamps for canning sugar makes no change in the regular consumer sugar rations, which remain at five pounds for each four-month period. The next regular stamp becomes valid on May 1.

"The critical state of our sugar supply makes it necessary for every housewife to budget her use of sugar carefully," Watkins said, and appealed to homemakers to see that their canning sugar is used only for the purposes for which it is intended.

110,000 in War Service Have Become Citizens

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Over 110,000 servicemen were naturalized during the war, including 13,500 in overseas areas.

From Iceland to Suez and from Iran to Christmas Island, citizenship was conferred on members of the armed forces, the immigration and naturalization service said recently.

Seventeen soldiers and sailors became American citizens aboard the USS Chateau Thierry in the north Atlantic on the way to Iceland on February 19, 1943.

fice for full particulars.

Capt. Brodnax again reported that many of our veterans are choosing to return to the Army instead of remaining in civilian life. They are finding that their chance of advancement and retirement in most civilian jobs is not as good as it is in the Army.

To those veterans that have decided against returning to the Army, Capt. Brodnax had this word: The Army has liberalized enlistment in the Enlisted Reserve Corps and our Armed Forces are anxious that a large reserve be built up. Veterans now being discharged have six months in which to enlist in the Reserve Corps, provided they are fully qualified, and veterans having already been discharged have six months from the 13th of February 1946 to enlist in the ERC. Pointing out that in this manner, veterans will have their rank and other privileges, Capt. Brodnax shows to the veterans that it is to their advantage to align themselves with the Armed Forces, even if it is in an inactive status as a reservist.

MILITARY AREAS ALONG COAST ABOLISHED SINCE WAR

Military areas along the Atlantic coast and the Gulf of Mexico, established during the war to prevent espionage and sabotage, have been abolished according to an announcement from Brigadier General Kenneth P. Lord, acting commanding general of the Eastern Defense Command.

Tennessee Military Area No. 1, covering the atomic bomb plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and the Eastern Military Area, which in part includes the seven southeastern states comprising the Fourth Service Command (North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee), are retained. All wartime restrictions and regulations within the Eastern Military Area, however, are abolished with the exception of those which permit continuance of protective zones around a few vital military installations.

The Eastern Military Area was established in May 1942 when authority to organize such military areas was granted designated military commanders under Presidential executive orders. Within these areas A, or prohibited, zones, and B, or restricted, zones were set up. Forts, arsenals, airfields, navy yards, munitions warehouses, war plants, beaches, communications facilities, rail yards and terminals were among the vital installations and utilities which were especially protected in the interests of national defense.

A-Zones were posted with warning notices and all persons were prohibited from entering except by appropriate military authority. Presence in a B-Zone did not require a permit, but anyone entering such an area was required to furnish upon request a satisfactory explanation of his presence.

Later on additional restrictions were considered necessary to the nation's safety. These included control of civilian flying, artificial lighting, the possession of cameras and binoculars on beaches, and the power to exclude potentially dangerous persons from the Eastern Military Area. All these restrictions, however, have since been removed.

Other military areas were established by the Central and Southern Defense Commands, but they were later absorbed by the Eastern Defense Command, which now includes all the United States with the exception of eight Western States.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

A small lad out of a Christian home was eating dinner in a neighbor's home. When the family had assembled at the table the boy bowed his head for the blessing, but no one said a word. Then hearing talk and the clank of dishes, he lifted his head and opened his eyes to see that the plates were being heaped. Then he looked at the father in the home and said, "Don't you all have a blessing before eating?" "No," replied the man, "We do not have the time." Then with an innocent look in his face the boy said to the man, "You know, Mr. Smith, my little dog is just that way about his dinner. He will not eat, thank you, but just jumps right into eating." "I am not mistaken that little boy gave a perfect picture of the situation in that home. A dog eats without thanksgiving."

In some of the Southern Islands the natives live mostly on bananas and many of them eat as many as 85 bananas a day. This fruit is low in vitamins and large in bulk and as a result the natives have extended waist lines and skinny bodies and limbs. They consume large quantities but gain but little strength. I heard a man boasting about his church loyalty. He never failed to be present when the church door was opened. His church loyalty waist line was extended, but his real spiritual life was dwarfed beyond the healthy size. When you go to church be sure that you feed on the strength producing feed of the Gospel.

One day Dr. George Washington Carver was seen to enter his office with a bag of peanuts. He closed the door behind him. The light was seen to burn all night from his window. The food left at his door was untouched. For more than a week this great man of God begged the simple peanut to unfold its mysteries to him. When the door to his office finally opened, this Scientist, born a slave, gave out to the world a well balanced diet to feed the world. Of course the rood doctor needed food for his body.

Army to Make Tests to Learn About Space Ships

WASHINGTON.—Tests to determine whether "space ships" can be made a reality will be conducted by the army this summer.

An army ordnance officer said 15 Nazi V-2 rockets will be fired straight into the air as part of the tests.

They will be equipped with various scientific recording instruments which, it is expected, will be freed and parachuted to earth before the projectiles explode.

The officer said that "many other factors will be tested with the launching of the Nazis' terror weapon at White Sands, N. M., far from human habitation."

The rockets were assembled, he said, from parts found or captured in Europe.

He said the rockets are expected to reach "a minimum height of 30 to 35 miles."

Army Planning National Guard of 425,000 Men

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Army plans for a postwar national guard with initial strength of 425,000 enlisted men were disclosed recently by members of the house military committee.

While the initial objective of the guard has been set at 425,000—exclusive of officers—committee members said the army hopes eventually to increase the personnel to a total of 750,000.

NEW DAILY MAY START IN MONTGOMERY

Reports that a new daily newspaper will be started in Montgomery are being heard in increasing volume. There has been talk of such a venture here for some time, but according to more recent reports, work of financing and organizing is now under way, with publication predicted to start within two or three months. Details as to ownership and operation will of course await formal announcement, assuming that plans for the new paper go through in accordance with current but so far unofficial reports.

but that was forgotten in his search for truth. Some men live to eat, while others eat to live. Some eat like a horse, and lo around like an alligator. Some eat sparingly like the eagle, but they live in the sky. Which are you? A great eater, or a great liver?

Shell Action Is Seen by X-Ray

Radio Specialists Shown How Shrapnel Breaks Bone Without Contact

NEW YORK. — Pictures of a pressure wave breaking a bone, of a supposedly armor-piercing shell defeating its own purpose, and of anti-personnel bombs in the act of exploding, were shown to members of the Institute of Radio Engineers at its meeting here, says the Herald-Tribune.

The pictures were taken with an x-ray machine that can operate in one-millionth of a second—20,000 times faster than a blink of the average eye. The machine was developed before and during the war by Dr. Charles M. Slack, assistant director of the lamp division research laboratories of the Westinghouse Electric corporation, and Donald C. Dickson, a Westinghouse research engineer. It was used extensively during the war by army and navy ordnance experts and by scientists working on the atomic bomb.

Pressure Wave Breaks Bone. One of the uses to which the machine was put helped to solve the wartime mystery of how a small piece of shrapnel can break a human bone without touching it. The leg of a small animal was placed before the machine, a tiny piece of shrapnel was shot into the leg, and the picture was taken at the proper moment. Although the shrapnel stopped in the flesh some distance short of the bone, the picture showed a pressure wave sent ahead of the fragment with shock enough to break the bone.

The machine was especially useful to ballistic experts, who were able to study the behavior of bullets and shells moving through the muzzles of guns, in flight, or striking targets. The story of the frustrated armor-piercing shell was shown in slides recently by Mr. Dickson. Pictures taken by the swift x-ray showed the armor-piercing cap breaking from the shell under the impact of the firing, followed by the two broken pieces in flight, and caught the main body of the shell in the act of catching up with and shattering the cap.

Tells Peacetime Uses. Mr. Dickson, who read a paper prepared by Dr. Slack and himself, said that the peacetime uses of the x-ray device include the study of machinery used in refrigeration and electric appliances, and in arc welding. X-ray penetrates smoke and flame, and pictures may be taken of the rapid transfer of metals during welding, he said. The heart of the super-speed machine, he explained, is a tube designed especially to jerk electrons out of a cold metal cathode at a rapid rate when a high monetary voltage is applied. A vacuum metallic arc is created, supplying the electrons which crash into the anode at 100,000 miles per second, pouring an x-ray barrage through metal to make the exposure.

Other technical papers read during the final session included one on the development of a system for radio transmission of instrument readings in radio-controlled aircraft. The system, known as radio telemetering, was explained by David W. Moore Jr. of the Fairchild Camera and Instrument corporation. It consists of magnetic devices which may be fitted over dials on the instrument board of the remotely controlled plane or missile to transmit continuous readings over conventional radio equipment to the receiver, which may be mounted in another plane or on the ground.

LOAN AGENCY BRANCH OFFICE OF RFC IN BIRMINGHAM

"The Birmingham Loan Agency holds a near top ranking among the 31 Reconstruction Finance Corporation agencies throughout the Nation in Blanket Participation Agreement loans, yet your office is among the smaller ones," M. J. McGrath, Chief of the Examining Division for RFC in Washington told Fred H. Foy, Acting Manager for the Agency in Alabama, today.

Mr. McGrath was completing a periodic visit to the local office and said that he was especially pleased with the fact that 105 loans in participation with Alabama banks, aggregating $5,200,000, had been made since April 1, 1945.

"RFC Loan Agencies throughout America have authority to make direct business loans up to $100,000 on their own initiative," Mr. McGrath said. He added that in cases where banks participate, these Agencies may approve commitments up to $350,000.

Mr. McGrath also stated that he was particularly pleased with the "friendly and cooperative relations" existing between the Birmingham Loan Agency and banks throughout Alabama.

"This cordial working together has resulted in loans to veterans, small and large businesses, and should be a vital factor in speeding reconversion in Alabama," Mr. McGrath said.

Explaining the BPA plan, Mr. McGrath said that it "is simple, requiring no red tape to any consequence." The agreement permits banks to make loans in the regular manner, reaching their own decisions as to collateral. The RFC automatically shares up to 75 per cent within the $350,000 limit.

He said that the "RFC service charge or fee is altogether nominal," the lending bank retains the interest paid on the entire loan except the RFC fee.

"In short," Mr. McGrath asserted, "BPA makes it possible for commercial banks, working with RFC, to make loans which would be unable to make wholly on their own account."

In this BPA activity, as in all others at RFC, the Agency supplements, but does not compete with commercial banking institutions, Mr. McGrath pointed out.

Speaking of the Blanket Participation Agreement with banks, Mr. Foy also emphasized that this agreement does not replace, but is a part of the other RFC lending policies. Unlike the BPA plan, other agreements require formal RFC approval before the Agency can complete the loan, he said.

Liner Queen Mary Now Is Floating Nursery

SOUTHAMPTON, ENGLAND. — Britain's Queen Mary was transformed into an 81,000-ton floating nursery for G.I. Joe juniors who are sailing for America with their English war-bride mothers.

Complete with a baby carriage "garage" near the promenade deck and rows of diaper driers along the drained swimming pool, the vessel sailed February 3 with 2,400 brides and babies.

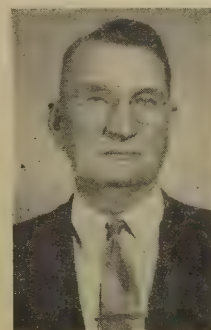

Special baby lifebelts hang from every cot in the first class luxury cabins which the mothers occupy. Eight bunks and two cots now fill the suite once used by Winston Churchill.

600 EX-WACS OFFERED EUROPEAN POSTS, OLD STRIPES

Fourth Service Command today launched a campaign to reenlist 600 former enlisted personnel of the Women's Army Corps for assignment in the European Theatre.

Part of a Nation-wide campaign openings are available for women in five specialist categories. Wacs who reenter the service will be given the grade they held at the time of discharge while those women now in uniform may volunteer for the positions if they elect to remain in service beyond their scheduled time of discharge. All applications for reenlistment must be filed in local Army Recruiting Stations by midnight, April 30.

Categories eligible for the assignments at the present time are stenographers, clerk-typists, general clerks, telephone switchboard operators and typewriter operators.

Lieutenant Colonel Harry O. Smith, who heads the Service Command's current recruitment drive, declared that "In addition to the 600 Wacs earmarked for Europe, there is an urgent need for skilled Wacs in personnel centers, hospitals and headquarters installations in this country."

Hospital, N-R, and laboratory technicians, and even cryptanalysts and communications technicians are especially in demand as well as clerical workers and stenographers. Former

ARMY SAVING FLOUR IN SOUTHEAST

The Army in the seven southeastern states is rolling up a tremendous saving in flour, breakfast cereals, bread, canned vegetables and leading fresh vegetables in the nation-wide food conservation program emphasized by President Harry S. Truman.

Two methods are being used effectively, says Colonel Matthew H. Jones, Quartermaster, Fourth Service Command. They are: 1—exercising greater care in the issue of critical food items to each mess on every Army post, amounting to reductions in rigid inspection in the preparation and serving of food, the use of leftovers and issuing rations for only the number of men who will actually eat at any mess on a given day.

enlisted women may reenter the WAC for these duties, at which time, they will be given the grade they held when discharged. No closing date has yet been announced for such applications, but it is expected to be determined soon.

Priority for the overseas assignments, added Colonel Smith, will go to those women who have not served overseas. If this plan proves satisfactory, those who have had overseas service will have the opportunity of again serving overseas.

SELLING OF SERIES E, F, AND G SAVINGS BONDS IN PEACE TIME EXPLAINED

The six-fold aim of the Treasury in continuing to sell Series E, F, and G Savings Bonds in peacetime was explained today by Vernon L. Clark, national director of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division, Treasury Department, in an official communication to Marc Ray Clement, State Director for Alabama.

The Treasury's six aims in continuing to promote the sale of bonds after the successful conclusion of the Victory Loan, as stated by National Director Clark, are:

1. To combat inflation by urging Americans to save for bond investment instead of bidding up prices for scarce goods with their surplus cash.
2. To keep the savings bond investment total around its present $48,700,000 peak while money is plentiful and goods scarce in order to hold a reserve of spending power for new homes, equipment for better living and at the same time to provide a backlog of financial security for all thrifty Americans. It is not the object of this program to increase the public debt.
3. To foster the national thrift habit millions have acquired through patriotic buying of war bonds. (From May 1, 1941, to March 1, 1946, Americans invested more than $56,000,000 in Series E, F and G bonds, more than $41,000,000,000 in E Bonds alone.)
4. To carry on the payroll savings plan at the request of 90 per cent of the 27,000,000 wage and salary earners who invested regularly in bonds during the war. (Firms are continuing this service to their employees without cost to the Government.)
5. To establish a thrift and national finance educational program in the schools for the 25,000,000 pupils who by 1945 were regularly buying savings stamps and bonds.
6. To keep ownership of the public debt spread among as many Americans as possible so the interest may go to them as holders of savings bonds rather than to a comparatively few banks, corporate or individual investors. (Widespread holding of government bonds is a powerful factor for national unity and a strong stimulant of interest in affairs of government.)

In the first quarter of 1946, Mr. Clark added, the American people without wartime pressure, invested more than $2,100,000,000 in these savings bonds, or three-quarters as much as they put into bonds in the first quarter of 1945 ($2,811,300,000) with the war still on against both Germany and Japan.

Savings bonds of Series A, B, C and D, similar to the currently popular E Bond, which sells at three-quarters of its face value and matures in ten years, were sold by the Treasury before the war, beginning March 1, 1935, and continuing until the Series E was issued, May 1, 1941, first as a "defense savings bond" and, after Pearl Harbor, as a "war savings bond," Mr. Clement explained. Thus the practice of selling savings bonds to the American people in peacetime is already eleven years old. All of the outstanding Series A Bonds matured during 1945 and their holders received four dollars for each three invested.

In these days of world food shortages, extension specialists have joined the universal appeal for saving food. Here are some ways in which you may help. Use less bread at each meal. Use potatoes, for example, in place of bread. A serving of oatmeal equals two slices of bread in food value. Fruits and other desserts can be substituted for pastries and cookies.

WE are enlarging our rural telephone expansion activities just as rapidly as equipment and materials become available.

At many places we have to install more equipment at the central office, in addition to building telephone lines out into the rural areas, before we can furnish service.

At other places we even have to construct or enlarge buildings before we have space to install the central office equipment.

Much depends on how rapidly manufacturers can supply the necessary equipment and materials. However, we will continue to go forward with our rural telephone work as fast as conditions permit.

Save And Improve Chilton County's Wealth

(By R. I. High, Jr.)

The main source of income of the people of Chilton County comes from agricultural products. As long as there is good soil there is wealth; but when erosion has taken its toll, as a result of leaving the land naked and bare to be ravaged by the forces of nature, usually there is nothing left for profitable farming. Good soil that has been saved and improved produces high yields; but poor soil caused by very poor or no soil conservation practices at all produces very low yields. A person does not have to analyze the soil to find out whether it is fertile, poor or submarginal, because the appearance of the surrounding churches, schools, and homes of the people give the true answer. Churches and homes that were once beautiful and stood out as monuments to the fertility of the soil and the prosperity of the farmers now stand in many cases only to show people what once was because of improper land use. The cream of the earth has been carried away by sheet and gulley erosion.

A few months ago Mr. C. L. Wilkins of Enterprise Community showed me a gulley in a field which was caused by a broken terrace. In just six or seven years this gulley has grown until it is ten feet deep and fifteen to twenty feet wide in some places. But the story of that gulley hasn't ended, because it is still active; and it will continue to be active and eat into the field and take the good soil just as a cancer eats into the flesh of a person's body and slowly but surely destroys him. There are thousands of gullies in this county too.

This would not be such a tragedy if we were the only people that have to depend on this land for a living, but generations and generations of people after we are gone will have to depend on what soil we leave to them for a living.

Then, if we become curious and interested enough, we might ask this question: What can we do about it, and what is the first thing we should do? A complete water disposal system should be planned for the whole farm. This system should follow the pattern or system that nature laid out on the land through the process of thousands and thousands of years of geologic erosion. Any other system is inefficient and risky. After this system is planned and laid out by some farm planning technician, the next step is to establish all meadow strips and water disposal areas in some sod crop such as kudzu or sericea. With a sod crop growing on these disposal areas terraces can be changed so that they will empty into these areas. Surplus water from the cultivated fields flowing over a sod will not start a gulley, but a concentrated flow of water over naked and unprotected soil will very quickly form a gulley. Unprotected and improperly planned water disposal areas are the causes of all the gullies that we have.

A good cropping system should be planned for each field that will adequately furnish the necessary protection. Row crop land that usually furnishes the main source of income too often is neglected by using poor cropping systems. On many farms cropping systems can be improved simply by rearrangement of crops that are being grown. On other cases small grain can be substituted for corn as a source of grain. Winter legumes can be worked into the cropping system to follow row-crops and annual lespedeza can follow small grains. Crotalaria can be grown as a summer legume.

Many farmers cooperating with the North Central Soil Conservation District in the Chilton Work Unit have made a start toward farming the conservation way. Kudzu and sericea have been planted in water disposal areas, gulleys are being stabilized with kudzu, row crop are followed by winter legumes, and small grains are followed by annual lespedeza.

A complete soil conservation plan means putting each acre to its best use and treating each acre according to its needs. This is a goal that should be everybody's goal.

Pacific Island Ruler

Wants to Join the U. S.

PEARL HARBOR. — Sixty-eight thousand dark-skinned dwellers on four million square miles of tiny, primitive Pacific islands have eaten U. S. navy chow, have farmed as Uncle Sam instructed, have got acquainted with American-established schools.

So now King John Sigrav, ruler of Kusale in the sprawling Carolines, has written to President Truman asking that the United States formally annex his coconutting kingdom and his 2,300 subjects.

Another group of Central Pacific folk staged an informal sit-down strike on their airfield jobs—until the navy agreed to teach them English in their off-duty hours.

Their reactions are those of many other islanders across the Pacific, whose livelihood was smashed by the hungry Japs but is being restored by American civil government units.

Marshall islanders months ago loosed a barrage of sketchily written appeals to the Americans to stay.

The navy can handle farming and school teaching, but annexation requests, says fleet headquarters, definitely will have to await U. S. and United Nations determination of future policy.

Most of the islands are former Jap mandates.

Ira S. Crowe Writes To Voters

Ira S. Crowe says, thanks; yes, a thousand times for the kindness you have shown me since I made my formal announcement for Sheriff of Chilton County. Certainly, I have not seen all of you but I am truly grateful to all of you whom I have contacted, because you have been so very nice in expressing your political views and so many of you have so freely offered that necessary encouragement that makes a candidate feel that he is wanted. You may be one of those persons whom I have met and talked with since I announced my candidacy for Sheriff. Then, on the other hand, you may be one of those persons whom I have not yet been privileged to contact, but whatever the case, I wish to say this to you:

In my announcing statement I mentioned the fact that I felt that the experience I gained serving you as Deputy Sheriff, with the added experience I have gained while serving the public for the past twenty years, does qualify me for the duties of Sheriff of your county.

It was my desire in the beginning and still is to see each of you, however, whether I do or do not, I am taking this privilege of asking for your vote and influence.

I suggested to you in my announcing statement that if you do not know me well enough to determine with satisfaction to yourself whether to trust me with your vote, to please ask your friend or neighbor who does. I have also told many of you that if I am a stranger, as yet to you, that if you would ask some one other than myself what my everyday customs are I shall be willing for you to determine your voting action by their suggestion or advice. It is my honest opinion that every community of this county has a normal or perhaps more than normal amount of civic pride.

It is also my opinion that the task of cultivating and guarding such pride rests equally as heavy as your Sheriff and his representatives as it does on any one member of any community. Therefore, I suggest that your Sheriff must of necessity have enough interest in your community to actually feel that he is a member of it regardless of location, size or wealth—and this I am sure I can do.

It is therefore my opinion that every citizen of Chilton County should avail themselves of the privilege of selecting those officials, or better said, servants, who are to help cultivate and guard those precious prides and customs which are so essential to the progress of any country.

On May 7th. of this year, you will have the opportunity of exercising your right by ballot in nominating many of your county and state officials. So as a candidate for Sheriff of Chilton County, I am again asking you for your vote and influence.

Yours for a government of the people, for the people and by the people of Chilton County.

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Montgomery, Ala.—Considerably fewer deaths were attributed to typhoid in the entire United States in 1943 than in Alabama alone in 1917, the State Department of Health pointed out today in calling attention to mortality reports prepared by its own Bureau of Vital Statistics and the Bureau of the Census of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

In 1917, it was revealed, 898 Alabamians succumbed to typhoid, while in 1943 only 683 deaths were attributed to this disease in the entire United States, of which only 15 occurred in Alabama.

Britain Plans 3-Bedroom Flats to Cost $2 a Week

LONDON.—Health Minister. An. aurin Bevan announced new housing subsidies designed so local authorities can provide unfurnished three-bedroom apartments for an average rental of 10 shillings ($2) a week.

The annual cost of the subsidies for each 100,000 apartments was estimated at $10,660,000. Of this amount, $8,200,000 would be provided by the government.

Forget About Uniforms

NEW YORK.—One thousand clothing designers, here for a three-day convention, have agreed it is their job to make the nation's servicemen forget about their army and navy uniforms.

Pursuant to this policy, the designers emphasized light colors, bold patterns and new fabrics in the first showing of men's spring and summer styles.

962,800 Veterans Are Getting Jobless Pay

WASHINGTON.—The number of veterans receiving unemployment payments under the G.I. Bill of Rights swept upward to 962,800 for the week ending February 2. The previous week the number was 840,743.

The amount paid reached $23,633,635, up from $20,826,262.

DEER REPORTED IN LIMESTONE COUNTY

Now that the season has ended, it can be told—Limestone County, up on Alabama's northern edge, has deer! They were reported in September just five miles from Athens. They were few in number, only about four being seen. Investigation by District Game Warden Jack Tanner and Editor of Publications Tom Ford, both of the Department of Conservation, revealed that numerous residents had not only observed several adult deer but at least one fawn. Among those reporting the deer was Raymond Clem of Route 1, Athens.

After hearing that one had been shot, Warden Tanner warned that there was no open season in Limestone County and asked the cooperation of residents in protecting the deer.

See Crippled Vets Walk Again

Doctor Said They Could, So
Soldiers Are Given New Lease on Life.

ATLANTIC CITY.—They laughed when he got up to walk. So he went to the deserted basement of the army's Thomas M. England General hospital at night and walked anyhow—on legs that were labeled "useless," says the Associated Press.

With him went other wounded veterans—boys hit in the spine by bullets or shrapnel. They had been doomed to spend the rest of their lives on their backs until a young doctor from Highland Park, N. J., Capt. William Kuhn Jr., 30, talked them into believing they could walk again.

These men are paraplegic patients—more technically known as victims of transverse myelitis. Their spinal cords wholly or partially severed, they are without muscular control from the waist down.

General Patton became such a paraplegic as a result of the auto accident in Germany, but the former commander of the 3rd army lost his last battle when pneumonia set in.

The army's public relations office has released the dramatic story of the hospital's paraplegic ward, and of Captain Kuhn, ward officer for the paraplegic section.

All Now Walking.

A year ago, not a single paraplegic patient was on his feet, and only two could use a wheel chair. Today, all of the 93 men—comprising the largest paraplegic ward in the country—are walking.

They are driving automobiles. They are wheeling themselves up and down this resort city.

"A year ago these were the forgotten men," Captain Kuhn said. "Their morale was so low it didn't exist at all, and the mortality rate was high. They knew that of the paraplegics of the last war, only 1 per cent survive today."

"Our goal for the 1,400 army paraplegics of World War II is at least 90 per cent survival. We'll make it."

Many, he said, already have been discharged, and are self-supporting civilians.

Mortalities Among Paraplegic.

"I told these men what they were up against," he said. "I told them it was up to them to do something about it, and that they could if they would only try."

"It was tough at first, but one by one they came around, and one by one they tried to walk. Now look at them."

"Walking, for a paraplegic, is a difficult and arduous process. Without muscular control in the hips and legs, the actual work is done by the muscles of the chest and arms now marvelously developed in most of them."

Laughed at First.

"When we first tried to teach these men to walk, other doctors and patients laughed at us, so we went at night to the basement where the amputees practiced during the day."

"There, in the privacy, we taught these men, first, to regain their sense of balance, and then to raise and swing forward one side of their bodies, raise and swing forward the other, until they were 'walking'."

"We salvage what is left of their bodies, and overtrain it to perform the functions of the 'dead' portions."

Unfamiliar with paraplegics when he was assigned here, Captain Kuhn employed no new medical techniques, but resorted to a combination of "personality and psychology." The men, taught to be independent, are given a minimum of physical assistance.

MANY FARMERS ARE GETTING TELEPHONES

Approximately 7,500 telephones will be installed on farms in Alabama during 1946, F. M. Malone, Alabama Manager of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, has announced. The construction will consist of approximately 2,600 miles of new pole lines and the necessary circuits to provide service for the subscribers to be served.

Since V-J Day, over 1,100 applications have been taken for service with approximately 450 already installed. Construction on other projects is now in progress. Rural development crews are now working in Auburn, Athens, Bessemer, Jackson, Jacksonville, Lafayette, Livingston, Mount Pinson, Warrior and York. In addition, many telephones are now being installed by regular exchange forces along existing routes.

Due to the general congestion of central office facilities, it has been necessary to select exchanges where facilities were available to resume our rural development program, Mr. Malone said.

Facilities are being provided in other exchanges just as rapidly as possible and as installations are completed, the rural development will be resumed in those exchanges immediately.

Mr. Malone stated that in order to resume the rural development program which was suspended in 1942 due to war conditions, surveys were made during 1945 of all of the areas in Alabama in which the Southern Bell operates. Each farm was classified as to prospects for telephone service. This advance planning made possible the immediate resumption of actual construction as fast as manpower and material become available. The program will continue for several years until the maximum of telephone service desired by farmers in areas served by the Southern Bell is provided.

GRAY RE-ELECTED JEFFERSON PRXY

Allan Gray of Birmingham has been re-elected to another term as president of the Jefferson County Sportsmen's Association which boasts around 5,000 members. Also unanimously re-elected were: Dr. Joe C. McDaniel, Birmingham, first vice president; and Dr. J. L. Kincaid, Bessemer, second vice president.

H. A. Bowron was elected to fill a vacancy on the board of directors, which was named as follows: James G. Adams, Jr., Osa Andrews, G. R. Armstrong, Joe Biddle, Don Drennen, Sam Hester, Judge J. R. McElroy, Ed Montgomery, D. R. Price and P. Y. Whitman.

Among Jefferson's outstanding projects is the annual forest fire control program centered around the county's rural schools. A dual program of awards for the best record in fire suppression and essay contest is sponsored.

WIND-THROWN TIMBER IN CLARKE IS SOLD

Windthrown timber on Clarke County school lands which was offered for sale by the Department of Conservation has been bid in by the McCordale Brothers Lumber Co., Jackson, Ala., it was announced by Conservation Director Ben C. Morgan. For the 153,772 board feet of pine and a small mixture of hardwood timber, the Jackson firm bid $2,511.74. This is an average of $16.33 per thousand board feet.

The program will continue for several years until the maximum of telephone service desired by farmers in areas served by the Southern Bell is provided.

FARMERS WANT ELECTRICITY

Rural Electrification Administration and power companies are experiencing the greatest demand for loans in history. Farm demands for electricity are so heavy throughout the country, the Department reports, that applications for loans to establish and expand rural power systems are far in excess of loan funds available to REA during the current fiscal year.

Although REA's loan authorization for the year ending next June 30 was larger than ever before, the agency reports that by the end of 1945 loans approved plus loan applications on hand exceeded by 117 million dollars the amount it was authorized to lend.

Verbena, Alabama, March 27, 1946.

To the Voters of the 15th Senatorial District, Composed of Autauga, Chilton and Shelby Counties:

When I announced my candidacy for the State Senate, it was at the insistence of many business men, both within and without the 15th District. In qualifying for this race, I gave the matter deep consideration and fully realize that not since World War I has there been, nor in the next twenty-five years will there be problems of such grave importance to us all as will come up for consideration by the Legislature during the next four years. The results of World War II will present problems that need sober, level-headed, sound thinking by men of business experience, weighing everything before taking action.

My qualifications may be judged by the following:

For the past forty years I have operated a mercantile business in Verbena that was established by my father, F. A. Gullledge, seventy years ago. During all these years, from my boyhood, I have dealt with farmers, sawmill men, contractors, manufacturers, miners, laborers and many others who have lived or operated in this section of the State, and I know something of the problems of them all. I believe we must be fair to both labor and industry in order to promote the growth of our State.

I have worked for improvement of schools from early manhood and for nearly eight years have been a member of the Board of Education of Chilton County. The improvement of our schools and school facilities, including transportation, is concrete evidence of my interest in the educational development of the youth of our section. Much more would have been done if funds, materials and equipment had been available. By earmarking liberal appropriations for increasing salaries of teachers we will be able to maintain high standards of training and leadership for our children through the high type teacher we can employ. We must also provide facilities in each county whereby all our children may have Vocational Training. Public school education is all the chance many of our children will have for training them to live their lives.

For the past thirty years I have owned some farms which I have operated with share croppers and renters and I know the farm problems. I believe closer contact by County Agents and their assistants with the farmers will help them in controlling erosion, building soils, diversifying crops and increasing production without added expense. I believe a man who owns his home will make a better citizen and for that reason I have always encouraged ownership.

I have been a strong advocate for good roads and have worked constantly for their improvement.

I strongly favor helping returned veterans to get established in homes, business or jobs that they can feel that they are on the same footing with us who have enjoyed prosperity while they were combating our enemies. By encouraging new industries to develop in our state we can provide employment to veterans and to others and thereby open up markets for farm products. In connection with such industry we must also conserve and develop our natural resources.

I have always supported all measures for improvement of public health facilities and liberal support of those handicapped by afflictions and for our old people.

I favor enforcement of all laws without favor to any. I am also opposed to any legislation favoring a few against the masses. I favor elimination of tokens in collections of sales tax and feel that by rigid economy in the operation of our state government and the spending of our surplus funds, great prosperity can come to us all. In the passage of and repeal of laws, I shall study them carefully and do my best to be absolutely fair to all concerned.

Due to the fact that I am engaged in business and have my own interests to look after, it will be impossible for me to see every voter in the district in the limited time I have, but I am visiting each community center and stores, and where possible, making some calls in the homes. If I am nominated for Senate I shall continue to visit in these communities for I want to study the individual county problems and do all I can for the betterment of all three counties, individually and collectively.

I ask for your vote and influence based on my qualifications for this job.

Yours truly,

WILL A. GULLEDGE.

ENTERPRISE SCHOOL NEWS

(Too Late For Last Week)

Mr. Wilkins and the sixth grade had charge of chapel, program last week. They presented a very good program, which was enjoyed by all.

The Junior III's are practicing their class play, "Ghostly Fingers," which we feel will be very good. This is a mystery play with thrills galore, mystery and excitement peppered appropriately with many dashes of humor. Watch for the exact date which will be announced later.

The school auditorium is being made ready with broom, water and all the fixings for a new spring coat of paint. We hope to make it look much better.

Our lunch room has been completed and our tables covered with sheet metal, which looks very nice and we are very proud of it. We also have a new pump house covered with cement blocks. It is more attractive than our old one.

Thursday night we will present "Tarnaboot," which is one of Topper's pictures and we're sure you will enjoy it. The comedy will be, "What A Luck."

Come one, come all, and help us enjoy the fun both nights.—Reporter

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Complete farm plans were made last month on the farms of Matthew Berkley, Rob Williams, C. E. Headley, L. M. Gray, W. V. Cummings, E. L. Ellison, C. C. Moore and Lester Barber. These men have made a start toward conserving and improving their soil by planning correct land-use for each field. Incorrect land-use has caused fields, that were once productive, to become a gullied and barren waste land. Mr. Cummings is going to sow sericea for grazing to supplement his permanent pasture. He has a very small acreage that will grow permanent pasture grasses. Mr. Cummings has been using kudzu for temporary grazing and hay. On all the above farms plans have been made for a year-round system of grazing by using different crops at different seasons.

Henry Pelham of Verbena Route, has made a success of growing flowering vetch. By allowing the vetch to go to seed once every three years, a satisfactory stand will come up each year. There is no annual expense of buying legume seed.

CHINESE GIRL COMES TO WESLEYAN ON PILOT
SCHOLARSHIP

Undaunted by a month-long trip, which carried her half way around the world to a strange country, Gloria Euyang, twenty-year-old Chinese girl, has arrived in Macon, Ga., to study at Wesleyan College on a scholarship awarded her by Pilot Club International. Mrs. Lillian T. Simpson, President of the Pilot Club of Clanton, received the announcement from Mrs. Etha G. Hall, President of the International Organization.

Waiting for her was her sister, Mary Euyang, who has been studying at Wesleyan for a year.

When interviewed at the college, the pretty young Chinese spoke perfect English with no apparent hesitation, and her face was lighted frequently with a smile, which showed small glistening teeth. She was dressed in a typical Chinese frock, a dark silk of horizontal stripe design, made with a standing collar and no sleeves. Her blue-black hair was arranged smoothly, yet loosely.

She told of her school life in Shanghai, the last seven years of which was under Jap domination; and of her trip to this country. She discussed her schedule at Wesleyan. It will include psychology, in which she intends to major, sociology, religion, mathematics and English.

Speaking in soft, well-modulated tones, Gloria told of her trip on a British ship, the Japanese Prince, from Shanghai to San Francisco, and of coming to Macon by train.

The Japanese Prince left Shanghai on December 20, and arrived in San Francisco on January 18. The reason for the long trip, she explained, was that the ship stopped at Hong Kong, and remained there for a week. The Japanese Prince was scheduled to dock at Vancouver, B. C., but two days out, received orders to proceed to San Francisco. There, Gloria found, fortunately, that transportation was available and she left the next day for Chicago, and from there came directly to Macon.

Gloria's dark eyes twinkled as she told impishly of waiting until her sister, giving Mary Frances just about an hour to get into town to meet the train. She also told of her dismay when the train came through Riveli. She saw the buildings at Wesleyan and realized that the train was not stopping there.

Then the first night here! There was so much to tell, she said. She and Mary Frances talked until two o'clock! They had not seen each other for three years, and every now and then would begin to talk so fast they would lapse into Chinese.

"Then we would have to apologize to our roommate and begin over in English," she laughed.

As they sat in the dormitory sitting room, Gloria, with Mary Frances' help, pieced out the story of her life, and her preparation for this scholarship.

The Euyang family made its home in Shanghai. At the age of six, Gloria entered McTyre, a school from which many girls, including the Soong sisters, have come to Wesleyan. Gloria's excellent English can be attributed to the fact that she began her study of English when she entered McTyre. McTyre was established by Methodist missionaries, but has since been taken over by the Chinese Government. Miss Laura Haygood, a Wesleyan graduate of the 1870's, and among the first missionaries sent out by the Methodist Church, was active in getting the school started. Miss Louise Ballard, of Atlanta, now Treasurer of the Atlanta Wesleyan Club, also taught for a number of years at McTyre.

When the Chinese Army retreated from Shanghai, the Euyang family went to Chungking, capital of wartime China, to make a new home. Gloria and a younger sister were left in Shanghai to live with their Amah, who had been with the family since the birth of the oldest child, Mary Frances. The Japanese did not molest them.

She graduated from the McTyre high school in 1943, and attended Shanghai College for one year and for one summer-school term. There she studied physics and chemistry.

In 1944, Gloria and her sister determined to rejoin the family in Chungking. In order to do this, they announced that they were going to Nanking, also in Japanese-occupied territory. This is 1,500 miles to the southwest, and it took them two and a half months to make the trip.

"How did you get into Free China?" Mary Frances asked at this point.

"We just slipped away to the interior," Gloria smiled.

The trip from Nanking to Chungking was made by car, she said, and took just two days.

Gloria's family consists of two sisters, a brother, 19 years old, who is a major in the Chinese Army, and her mother and father. Her father was formerly a Government official, the general manager of a trading corporation, which has since been dissolved. She has not heard what he is doing now. Her mother, who is a graduate of the University of Illinois, sells insurance. She has done this for the past ten years—the first woman to attempt such work in China.

In Chungking, Mary Frances attended a school of journalism which is affiliated with Columbia University. She is the recipient of a scholarship established by the South Georgia Layman's Association in honor of Madam Chiang Kai-Shek.

When Gloria's education is complete, she hopes to do social work in China.

"It is a new field there and has great possibilities," she explained.

Gloria is the recipient of the second scholarship awarded by Pilot Club International. The scholarship is given to a worthy student of a foreign country for the purpose of stimulating international friendship and of furthering an inter-change of social problems and solutions.

The first, a fellowship to the University of North Carolina, was awarded

"JES' HOL' IT NATCHEL, SONNY!"

"DISCOVERING"
UNCLE NATCHEL

One day back in 1934, an artist, driving leisurely along a country road in the deep South, heard the sound of banjo music floating toward him through the trees. He left his car and followed the sad-sweet strains until he found a clearing in the forest where, on a little cabin porch, sat an old darky, a red-headed boy of twelve, and a dog—in the middle of a music lesson! All unseen, the artist set up his easel and soon, upon the canvas, appeared the boy, all thumbs, his face screwed up in earnest effort, manfully struggling with the stringed instrument; the dog looking on in painful apprehension; the old man patiently urging: "Jes' hol' it natchel, Sonny—thataway, natchel!"

This beautiful painting by Hy Hintermeister was featured on the 1935 Uncle Natchel calendar, and introduced to a million people the familiar figure of "Uncle Natchel", the kindly old man who has appeared ever since as the symbol of Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda.

Uncle Natchel is really a rare and lovable character. Crowned old in the employ of Sonny's family, he is known to everyone for miles around for his inexhaustible supply of stories about the wonders of Nature and his belief that the best way to do anything is the "Natchel" way. And that, of course, is how he got his name.

The accident occurred just above the overhead bridge above Clanton near Rasberry's Store. It is reported that the motorcycle, driven by Thompson, side-swiped the automobile. Severe injuries were sustained by both.

Thompson lost his left leg and received other body injuries. Popwell has a broken left leg, a crushed foot and according to the hospital attendants, possibly a fractured skull.

Lester Connell, who happened to be passing at the time, was the first to the accident. He reported the accident to Leroy Martin who went and picked up the victims.

MR. REYNOLDS ANSWERS THE $64.00 QUESTION

Editor Chilton County News:

In your editorial caption, "About the Hospital," you pose what you conceive to be the $64.00 question, viz: "Where is the Hitch? Is it the City of Clanton or County of Chilton?" You refer in your editorial to the letters of Dr. V. J. Gragg and Mr. Patterson Hicks appearing in the same issue of your paper and by doing so, necessarily invite the careful reading of these letters.

As the City of Clanton and Chilton County have entrusted the preparation of the necessary proceedings to me to procure a unit of this hospital in the county, I assure the full responsibility for the planning or lack of procedure with reference to the hospital thus far. The full and complete answer to your $64.00 question is found in Mr. Hicks's letter. The Federal Government is to provide one-half of the funds, the State of Alabama one-fourth and Chilton County one-fourth. The pamphlet from which this information was obtained also states that a minimum of $270,000.00 will be required for the Chilton County unit, in addition to the existing hospital facilities in the county. This pamphlet discloses that Chilton County has 22 existing hospital beds, and that 53 additional are needed. It is estimated that 50 additional will cost $270,000.00.

Mr. Hicks's letter clearly states that Congress has not passed this hospital act. No appropriation has been made by the Federal Government and no appropriation has been made by the State of Alabama for its contribution to the building of this hospital. The Legislature does not meet until 1947. Until the Federal Government and State of Alabama have made appropriations to provide for approximately $200,000.00, the Chilton County unit of this hospital cannot be built. For your information, however, Chilton County and the City of Clanton, can at any time provide their part of the funds necessary for this hospital, and there should be no delay after the Federal Government and the State provide their funds.

Yours sincerely,
GRADY REYNOLDS.

Beat Report

We know that some of the workers have not completed their work, and probably several reports in transit from workers to the treasurer, but we are running on borrowed time now and if Chilton County is not going to fail the Red Cross for the year of 1946, we must do something immediately. If you have not made your contribution this year, you can make it to a Red Cross worker, or to Earl Parrish, Treasurer.

Price Control Removed From Strawberries

Price controls on fresh strawberries has been suspended according to J. N. Dennis of the Clanton Berry Growers Association and an announcement from the Office of Price Administration. This means that the berry growers are now allowed to sell their crops for the highest market prices available.

According to Dennis, this went into effect on April 11th.

The Department of Agriculture estimates that the 1946 strawberry crop will be 35 to 40 per cent greater than the previous year's crop. This will tend to bring the supplies into nearer balance with the demands thereby eliminating the necessity for price controls.

Mr. Dennis stated that the shipments from Chilton County was still in great progress with lots of berries still in the field. A few showers were also a blessing to the berry growers.

Strawberries are still bringing a high $10 per crate for No. 1 berries, according to Mr. Dennis.

KIWANIS CLUB WILL ATTEND CHURCH IN BODY

Following a vote taken at the Kiwanis meeting last Thursday night the Kiwanis Club will meet early this week—7 o'clock—and then attend the church services being held at the Methodist Church in a body.

To adjourn early and attend the church services was voted on after a suggestion made by J. C. Pattillo.

Wrestling Fans In For Treat Saturday Night

Something new in the way of entertainment for wrestling fans is being brought to Clanton this Saturday night at the high school. The new main event is a tag team match having four wrestlers in the ring at one time.

Taking part in this main event, the tag team match, will be Sailor Watkins and the Blue Streak. Their opponents will be Prince Badui and Charlie Keene. This is for two falls out of three with a 90-minute time limit. But, this is not all.

In a preliminary bout, Charlie Keene will take on Champion Sailor Watkins for a 30-minute tilt. For further particulars see the advertisement elsewhere in the News.

RHEUMATISM DURING A POLITICAL CAMPAIGN AINT FOW - CHARLIE COX

Saw Charlie Cox down on the street the other day and he was having a hard time navigating under his own power. Questioned as to the cause Mr. Charlie said he had just about been counted out with rheumatism. Now according to Mr. Cox that is no fun during a political campaign when the voters are expecting him out in the county soliciting votes. But, it's just one of those things. Rheumatism never consults a person before it moves in and takes over. He'll be seeing you voters before many days.

Folsom Charges Ellis And Opponents With "Mud - slinging" Campaign

Eufaula, Alabama.

In a speech here in the home town of the Governor, "Big Jim" Folsom put his opponents in the same group. He stated, "Every one here in Eufaula knows that Mr. Boozar managed Governor Sparks's Campaign in 1942."

He charged that "Handy Ellis handed me one of his famous 'Knife-in-the-back' deals to lineup with the Sparks forces. He continued, "You all know that Poole and Sparks were together in 1942 and have been for twenty-five years. The present Governor is, also, against me, and that just makes it a continuation of the 1942 race."

"Big Jim" blasted the present fuss among his opponents as nothing but an absolute phony.

He said, "My opponents are all 4-F's, because they are 'forever fighting a foney fuss." They fought over the radio and in the newspapers. They meet on Dexter Avenue, congratulating each other on how they are fooling the public again."

"Big Jim" concluded by asking the public not to believe what his opponents are saying about each other because if half of it were true all of them would be in jail.

In a speech at Gadsden Monday, he said: "Everybody knows that the present merit system is being used as a political football by the present administration, and that every state employee drawing more than $200 a month is being subjected to political pressure in this campaign." "Big Jim" Folsom continued his tour across the State, discussing his program with the public.

He further stated, "I have in my (continued to back page)

FOOD HANDLERS OF COUNTY TO BE X-RAYED

Mass Examination To Help Stamp Out Tuberculosis

To stamp out tuberculosis in Chilton County, the State Anti-Tuberculosis Association will undertake a mass X-ray examination of all food handlers in Chilton County on April 29th. The move is being sponsored by the Clanton Kiwanis Club.

The X-ray will cover food handlers or persons closely associated with the public only. This includes persons in the following goods: Employees of dairies, cafes, grocery stores, meat markets, beauty shops and barber shops, etc.

A move is now underway by the County Health Department to notify all employers coming in the above category to state the number of employees they will have to be X-rayed. Cards are being mailed out to all employers. The County Health Department wishes to request each employer receiving one of these cards to fill it out and return promptly. This will enable the health office to work out a schedule for the day. Employers will in turn be notified as to what hour of the day their employees may be X-rayed.

The state X-ray machine and technician will be at the Chilton County High School all day on Monday, April 29th.

The examination itself will be a simple thing, something taking only a few seconds. You step before the machine, hold your breath, the camera clicks and you're on your way.

The examination will cost nothing to the people of Chilton County. The anti-tuberculosis association which is supported by the sale of Christmas Seals, will pay the entire costs.

Dr. C. O. Lawrence, who is working in close coordination with the County Health Department, stressed that this move is intended to help discover tuberculosis in its early stages—at the point where it can be easily cured. And cooperation of all citizens and employers in particular, is asked in this move to help stamp out tuberculosis in Chilton County.

Our lead editorial this week is printed on the front page and comes from Mr. Grady Reynolds in the form of a letter to the Editor. We are indebted to Mr. Reynolds for this clear - cut explanation of the new hospital situation and we are sure that our readers will appreciate learning of the exact status of affairs

GRUMAN HELLCAT

Each and every citizen of Chilton County should take an interest in the preservation of the "Hellcat" on the campus at Chilton County High School.

We do not understand why, but it seems that it is human nature to be destructive of public property. The plane at the high school is no exception. Only there a short while it already shows the effect of reckless children at play.

Some of the older ones are taking parts off the plane for souvenirs, and it will gradually be reduced to a piece of junk. As citizens, do not make the youngsters understand that destroying public property is wrong.

It is your job, and my job, and everybody's job to see that this symbol of our great fighting force is preserved.

UNTO THE LEAST OF THESE

Faith in humanity cannot die when a thing like happened in Lynn, Mass., the other day occurs.

A three year old boy lost both his legs under the wheels of a train just a month ago. The citizens of Lynn raised $22,000 to supply the youth with artificial legs at intervals until he grew to manhood.

As long as folks have that kind of feeling in their hearts for the crippled and the more unfortunate—then we cannot be such a bad people.

KIWANIS CLUB LEADS AGAIN

Clanton Kiwanis Club surely deserves an orchid for their untiring work for Clanton and Chilton County.

In conjunction with the Chilton County Tuberculosis Association, they have secured an X-ray machine for the purpose of helping in the war against Tuberculosis.

This week they offer to Chilton County the opportunity of having all employees of dairies, cafes, grocery stores, beauty shops, barber shops and the like, examined for tuberculosis.

This is another step forward in health hygiene and invaluable to the citizens who are thrown in daily contact with these employees and on whom the public depends so much.

For those employees for whom this X-ray machine was secured to neglect to go to the Health Department and be examined would be a gross crime against the customers with whom they come in contact each day.

According to authorities anyone who works in offices or are in daily contact with others will be eligible for this examination.

In Chilton County there were five deaths last year from this disease and eight new cases were reported. It is your duty as a citizen to cooperate in every possible way with the Kiwanis Club, the Chilton County Tuberculosis Association and the County Health Department in this new undertaking.

Rev. A. T. Hickman, pastor at Temple Church, is a real worker. The past Sunday he spoke five times. He taught his Sunday School Class; he preached his morning service; he drove to Warrior Alabama and spoke at a Homecoming Day there; he came back and spoke at the six o'clock hour to the young folks and then preached his evening service. That, my friends, is a full day. When we told Mr. Hickman that he surely couldn't keep up a pace like that he stated: "No, I guess I can't. I have been going such a pace for the past twenty-five years but I don't believe I can keep up a pace like that."

A 'Buster' Foshee fan came in the last of the week and gave us a good raking over about leaving Buster's name out of our article last week on those candidates running without opposition. It is true that Buster is running without opposition too, but, he has been so quiet that we had forgotten that he is running. These last three weeks of the campaign Buster has got to get out here and make more racket. He has done a swell job and we believe he should let the folks know about it—we will surely lend our aid—on account of we are a Buster fan too.

Every time we read Atticus Mullin's political story in the Advertiser we are reminded of the old adage: "A rose by any other name smells—"

Bob Oglesby is right. In conversation the other day he was asking why with all the publicity about new buildings in Clanton his had never been mentioned. His is the largest building that has been built in Clanton in the past twenty-five years. It is modern to the last degree and a credit to Clanton and Chilton County. Whether or not we are responsible for this oversight we do not know, but if we are it was surely a "boner." Bob tells us that there are still more improvements to be made when material is obtainable—if and when he will have one of the most modern Truck & Implement Companies in Central Alabama.

The boss stopped and stared. A boy in the stockroom was leaning against a packing case, idling. Such a thing was unheard of in his establishment.

"How much are you getting a week?" he demanded with characteristic abruptness.

"Twelve dollars."

"Here's your twelve. Now get out you are through." As the boy philosophically pocketed the money and departed, the boss turned to the chief clerk and demanded: "Since when has that fellow been with us?"

"Never that I know of," was the response. "He just brought over a note."

One of our good friends died last week. It was Mr. Robert Hand of Route 5. He was an ardent supporter of the Chilton County News and we always enjoyed his visits. He hasn't been around for several weeks and we were afraid that he was "under the weather," when news reached us of his death. We regret deeply his passing—which is "just human."

VETERANS GET PRIORITY IN FARM EQUIPMENTS

More than 60,000 preference certificates for the purchase of new farm machinery and equipment were issued to veterans during February.

Applications are accepted by the county agricultural conservation committee for the county in which the equipment is to be used. A veteran must show that he has need for the equipment; that he has been unable to obtain new or used equipment; and that supplying of new equipment will tend to increase food production.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

At a church gathering of a certain denomination it was voted to make all churches into one, and that one was to be the church represented in the gathering. Suppose that all the iron in the world should be made into one ax, what a great ax that would be! Suppose that all the water should be gathered into one lake, what a great lake that would be. Suppose that all the wood in the world should grow into one tree, what a great tree that would be! Suppose that all the men in the world should be made into one man, what a big man that would be! Then suppose that the great man should take that ax and cut down that big tree and it should fall into that big pond, what a mighty splash that would be! It is never best to get too many squirrels up one acorn tree.

Most of our song birds have four notes that are distinctly expressive. They have a love call, a fellowship note, a warning exclamation and a distress scream when caught by a cat, or when entrapped by a snare. Those who are familiar with bird life know these notes whenever heard. The human family, like the song birds, have a love call, a fellowship note, a warning sound and a distinct note of sorrow and hurt. When men and women come together, these notes are distinctly echoed. There is music in the very language that echoes the inner fire of the soul.

Man has no better, no more faithful friend than the birds. The birds are our benefactors, our preservers. The bird alone is able to hold in check the most powerful race on earth—the insects. It is a well known fact of Science that if the insects were not held in check, they would soon be master of the world. Insects multiply with a rapidity that defies figures. They only live to eat, and if they are let run to carry out their purpose, they would soon turn this world into a barren planet, without the possibility of life. Better take care of the birds, they are our best friends. They make it possible for vegetation to grow, they make it possible for man to live. Their claws are the grinding mills between us and death. Remember that a bird is more helpful than hurtful, and then be kind to them. Indeed the birds are our brothers.

Prices of 9 of 13 major farm commodities were above parity price on February 15. The 4 products whose price was below the parity price were wheat, corn, peanuts and eggs. Commodities showing the highest margin over parity prices are livestock and livestock products, mainly meat animals.

OLD AGE GROUP DOES NOT ENDORSE BOOZER

To the Editor Gadsden Times,
Gadsden, Ala.
Dear Sir:

The writer has just been furnished a clipping of a news item appearing in your paper in the issue of March 4th, 1946, the heading of which is as follows:

"Old Age Pension Association Backs Booser Candidacy State Association in Governorship Campaign."

The first lines of the item states: "Endorsement of the Old Age Pension Association, Inc., has been given to Judge S. Elbert Booser for Governor of Alabama. Announcement was made today by George W. Beasley, president of the organization, that this action was formerly taken at a meeting of workers and officers."

The news carried in this item is incorrect in every particular. That Mr. Beasley is not the president of the Old Age Pension Association, Inc., enclosed find copy of the minutes of a meeting held in Birmingham October 14th, 1945, wherein Mr. Beasley was defeated for the President of the Association by Mr. J. H. Kelly, and which further show the names of the members of the Board of Directors and other officers elected at that meeting.

That the Old Age Pension Association, Inc., has not made such endorsement of Judge Booser, I am enclosing you copy of the Alabama Pension Advocate, issues of November, December, 1945, and January and February of 1946—marked copies—and specially call your attention to the resolution on page 4, columns 2 and 3 of the February issue. No change has been made in what appears in that resolution.

Neither the Old Age Pension Association or the Alabama Pension Association, Inc., have endorsed any candidate for Governor or any other office.

In justice to the public as well as the association, I ask that you make the correction as above outlined.

I do not question the right of Mr. Beasley to work for pensions, but do controvert his assertion that he is the President of the Old Age Pension Association, Inc., and deny that this Association has taken any such action as outlined by him.

Yours very truly,

VON L. THOMPSON

J. H. Kelly, President.

Judge T. W. Bryan, Vice President.

(Rev. J. M. Engle, State Organizer.)

Peanuts ranked third in dollar value of Alabama's seven major 1945 crops. $27,883,000 out of the farm total of $243,654,000 was goober gold. Cotton yielded Alabama farmers $123,964,000 and corn $53,644,000. Other crops paying off less than peanuts were hay, sweetpotatoes, potatoes and tobacco.

1,003 MEN AND WOMEN
SEEKING WORK HERE

There are now more than 1,000 men and women of Chilton County seeking work through the Clanton office of the United States Employment Service.

Although the total of 23 workers placed by USES in local jobs in March represented a step-up over job placements in February, there is a widening gap between the number of veterans returning to seek civilian employment, and the number of job openings to which USES can refer them. It was revealed today by A. M. Beasley, Manager of the Clanton USES office, located in the Upchurch Building.

Pointing out that veterans seeking employment are routed from separation centers to their local USES, Mr. Beasley emphasized that if all employers will keep the employment office informed of their openings, veterans can be directed promptly to suitable jobs, instead of pursuing a hit-or-miss method of walking the streets looking for work.

Mr. Beasley described the function of USES as providing a central clearing-house of information about available work and available workers, and a channel for directing labor supply to labor demand.

Explaining how USES works, he said that applicants who register for work are classified and evaluated according to their skills and experience. When an employer places an order, applicants are screened against his requirements and those who fill his specifications are sent to him for interview. The employer then makes the final selection and is saved the time of

A. A. Conway; four daughters—Mrs. Susie Middlebrooks, Mrs. Delphia Vinzant, Mrs. Rilla Smith and Mrs. Bertha Burnett; 32 grandchildren, 36 great grandchildren and eight great, great grandchildren.

The family wishes to take this opportunity to express their appreciation for the many kind expressions of sympathy extended to them, especially for the beautiful floral tributes from the Union Grove School, the merchants of Jemison and many others.

pre-screening applicants to weed out the unqualified.

Affirming that USES is pledged to assist this community in achieving full employment, Mr. Beasley clarified the function of the office as a receiving agent for unemployment compensation claim.

"There has been some misunderstanding of this phase of our work," he said, "and a few people have had the mistaken belief that the Employment Service solicited claims."

"When an employed worker files a claim for Unemployment Compensation benefits, he is also registered as an applicant for work, and continuous effort is made to place him in suitable employment."

"Our office," Mr. Beasley stated, "is here to serve all employers and workers of Chilton County. The greater the utilization of our service on the part of both employers and workers, the greater assistance we can give this community in keeping its full labor force employed."

Plumbing and wiring should be installed as new farmhouses are built, if plans for the near future are to include these features.

How women and girls
may get wanted relief
from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like aches and nervous strains of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

- 1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.
- 2 Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Just what IS ELECTRIC SERVICE?

A BRIEF but incomplete answer would be "electricity in use." But electric service is much more than that.

It's power plants and electric lines and substations of course. BUT...

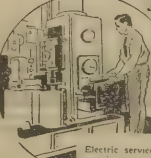

... they are merely the physical means by which power is generated and delivered. For electricity to become dependable electric service, there must be an organization of men and women with a multitude of skills. Therefore, electric service is...

It is the construction crews who build the plants and lines and substations.

It is the servicemen, ever ready to keep electrical equipment in good working order.

It is the home service representative who calls at your home to explain to you the operation of your electric appliances and tell you how to use your electric lights and other equipment.

It's the power engineers who give orders for the generation and delivery of power.

It is the troubleshooters who go out in all kinds of weather to repair damage from storms and other causes.

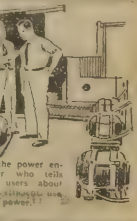

It is the accurate and their staffs who keep the many necessary records.

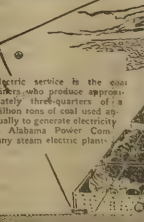

It is the servicemen, ever ready to keep electrical equipment in good working order.

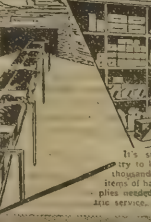

It is the home service representative who calls at your home to explain to you the operation of your electric appliances and tell you how to use your electric lights and other equipment.

It's the power engineers who give orders for the generation and delivery of power.

Electric service is the organization of men and women who produce approximately three-quarters of a million tons of coal used annually to generate electricity in Alabama Power Company steam electric plants.

It's storekeepers who carry to keep on hand the thousands of different items of hardware and supplies needed to supply electric service.

It's men in repair and machine shops, skilled in the special art of mechanics.

It's safety men, to help employees avoid being injured in the course of their work.

It's the power engineers who give orders for the generation and delivery of power.

IN SHORT—

Electric Service is electricity PLUS an organization of skilled men and women doing the many things necessary for electricity to be converted into electric service.

ALABAMA POWER

It's rural service engineers who show how electricity may be used to increase farm profits through the use of electricity.

A SUGGESTION TO BAPTIST CHURCHES AND MINISTERS

It is not long until our Southern Baptist Convention convenes in Miami, Fla. As we look forward to a great and helpful experience in this convention, and since we are facing so many difficult situations in our churches, I think it would be well for all Baptist pastors to attend, who possibly can. The pastor goes there, not in his own interest in a selfish way, but in the interest of the Kingdom of God and its furtherance in the world.

He is the one man, more than anyone else, who should be informed and fitted in every way to carry on the work. Here is the suggestion, which I hope and pray will meet with the approval of the churches: First, find out if your pastor would like to go to the Convention. In the second place, get in touch with the churches, other churches your pastor serves and work out his expenses on a prorata basis. This would be a good investment and bring great returns to each church having a part.

The time is fast passing to make reservations and other preparations necessary. So you need to get busy and complete the plans. See your Alabama Baptist, back numbers, find rates and other information needed.—G. G. Williams.

A good way to use old soap scraps is to grate them into chips on a household grater, or put them through the food chopper. Or they may be placed in water in a jar, and in a short time a bottle of liquid soap useful for many purposes will have been collected. Keep toilet soap scraps in one container for use as shampoo or for washing lingerie, and kitchen soaps in another for hand cleaning.

GLAD TIDINGS

We, the Glad Tidings Church of God, wish to extend to each and every one a very urgent invitation out to services Friday night, April 19th, when the Rev. A. L. Sandlin of Bessemer will be the speaker. He will render some good singing and an interesting message.

At this service we wish to receive an offering for our Orphanage at Cleveland, Tenn. They are our children and yours. Surely you would give to them and gladden the motherless, fatherless, or the unfortunate.

Our Sunday School has greatly increased lately. We had the nice number of 30. Several of our regular attendants were absent. Come and join our number if you are not going somewhere else. I believe we can interest you and your children. We have some nice pictures for your children.

We have our own electric lights now and are working on a plan to floor our building. Come, you have an invitation.

I will be at Oak Grove Sunday, so there will be no preaching service Sunday at Glad Tidings, but will have Sunday School.—Chas. H. Shaw, Pastor.

Bring a few extra dollars and cents with you and help us out. Surely you would like to have an interest in a nice parsonage. We hope to have a nice, neat model on display all day so you may see how the building in reality will appear.

Sunday night we expect to observe the Lord's Supper and feet-washing—this is a very sacred service and you as a child of God, should be glad to partake.

Come one, come all, let's fill the house, the yard and the air with the high praises of God. Why? Because our Christ is risen and alive for evermore.—Chas. H. Shaw, Pastor.

Hale Co. News Endorses deGRAFFENRIED
For Congress

The following is an excerpt from an editorial appearing in The Hale County News, Thursday, March 7, 1946:

DE GRAFFENRIED QUALIFIES FOR CONGRESS

"The Hale County News is glad to see that Edward deGraffenried, prominent Tuscaloosa attorney, has qualified for Congress for the sixth district. The News has studied his record carefully, and feels that he is qualified for the place and announces this week that it will support him fully during the campaign.

"Mr. deGraffenried has been urged time and time again by his many friends over the Sixth District to seek office as representative. The people of his county have such confidence in his ability, that no opposition has been given him in the solicitor's race. He has a record of convictions during his term as solicitor that will compare with any other prosecutor in Alabama. He has served honestly and has every qualification to make the best representative that the district has had in many years.

"Mr. deGraffenried is an aggressive leader, a brilliant thinker, two qualities that are needed in a congressman serving during these critical times. We believe that he has the courage to fight for what he believes and that he will make an honest effort to serve not only the district from which he serves, but will have an outlook wider and deeper, and broader, for the welfare of the nation at large.

"The News feels that Mr. deGraffenried is fitted for the place, and hopes that its readers will consider his record before casting their votes. We need a person of aggression and foresight during these times. The News feels that he is the man for the place, and supports him fully.

Your Vote and Influence Will Be Appreciated!

(Pd. Pol. Adv. by friends of Edward deGraffenried, Tuscaloosa, Ala.)

NEW BULLETIN TELLS HOW GROW OWN FISH

Alabama Extension Service has published a new bulletin entitled, "How To Manage Your Fish Pond," copy of which may be obtained from county agents or Dr. Allen M. Pearson, extension specialist in fish and wildlife.

In the new publication, Dr. Pearson says that "the sport of fishing is only one of the uses of your farm pond."

"If you manage it right, it will give you meat for your table, water for your stock, recreation for your family and friends, and cash income."

Dr. Pearson then goes into detail on fertilizing and stocking ponds, controlling weeds, harvesting and marketing the fish.

Clothes can be ironed more easily and quickly if sprinkled with hot water rather than cold.

TRUCK PRODUCTION STEPS UP

—Peace finds this new International Model K-8 heavy-duty truck-tractor and semi-trailer en route to a farm products transport assignment in the middle West. Production of this model is being steadily increased to meet the great need for replacements. The K-8, with its powerful engine, embodies many important developments of wartime engineering. The K-8 is powered by the same Red Diamond engine that made a remarkable performance record with the Marines, Navy and Seabees in the Pacific.

asked to reduce purchases of wheat products by 40 per cent and fats by 20 per cent. In addition to this there are certain measures every homemaker can follow in her home to save these essential foods.

Every day you can save wheat in this way:

1. Prevent waste of bread.
2. Use less bread at each meal.
3. Use an extra potato for example in the place of bread. Nutritionally a serving of potato replaces a slice of bread.
4. Use oat cereals more often.
5. Use fruits for dessert instead of pies and pastries.
6. Serve more corn bread in the place of biscuit and loaf breads.

Every day you can save fats and oils at home in this way:

1. Make better use of meat drippings for cooking and seasoning foods.
2. Serve fewer fried foods.
3. Save and re-use fats and oils for cooking purposes.
4. Render excess fats on meats and save bacon grease for cooking purposes.
5. Solve all fats that cannot be re-used and turn them in to your butcher or grocer.
6. Go easy on oils and salad dressings.

A teaspoon of fat a day saved by every man, woman and child in the U. S. will mean a total saving of at least one million pounds of fat a day.

JARMAN SPONSORS PAN AMERICAN DAY

Since Pan American Day, April 14, fell on Sunday this year, the House of Representatives at the request of Congressman Pete Jarman, (D. of Alabama) who is Chairman of the Pan American Subcommittee of the Foreign Affairs Committee, designated April 15, as Pan American Day.

On this occasion the Speaker yielded to Congressman Jarman who, after a thirty-minute speech on Pan American solidarity, yielded to numerous other members of the House to speak on this important subject.

Thereafter Congressman Jarman introduced a resolution of greetings and goodwill to the other American Republics which was unanimously passed.

He concluded his remarks by announcing emphatically, "I intend to eliminate politics from the merit system by having a Civil Service Board of five members, staggered so that no Governor can appoint more than two members. Then, and then alone, will the merit system be taken out of politics. I intend to examine the political activities of every state official drawing more than $200 a month, and those who have used their office of public trust for political purposes will be held accountable before the proper authorities."

"Man On The Corner"

The laugh on the Wets about Kansas turned out to be a joke on the Drys in Alabama.

After studying the column of the "Man On The Corner" in the good old Union-Banner last week I could not seem to find where the laugh was. So a man drove into my service station with a Kansas license plate. I asked him about the situation and this was his answer.

The reason for no poor people and no prisoners in Kansas was that the people in Kansas worship God instead of the dollars and the reason there wasn't any feeble minded and insane was that they always nipped the problem in the bud. When a person gets feeble minded in Kansas they just send him to Alabama to run for some office. That's why we are going to nip our problem in the bud and elect a home-made man for Probate Judge—Dr. W. L. Parrish.—Signed: J. I. Bice. (Pd. Pol. Adv. by J. I. Bice, Clanton)

INFANT PASSES

X-RAY MACHINE TO BE HERE MONDAY

X-Ray Aimed To Wipe Out TB In County

Chest X-rays for tuberculosis will be given at the Chilton County High School next Monday, April 29th, sponsored by the Chilton County Tuberculosis Association and the Clanton Kiwanis Club.

The X-rays will be given by a state technician who is coming to Clanton with the State X-ray machine.

The X-ray was originally planned to cover only food handlers of the county or persons closely associated with the public, i.e., persons such as employees of dairies, cafes, grocery stores, meat markets, beauty shops, barber shops, etc. But, the County Health Department announced this week that anyone desiring a chest X-ray are urged to be at the high school Monday morning. There is no charge. The X-ray is free to the public, all expenses being paid for by the County Tuberculosis Association from the sale of Christmas Seals.

Prof. Hicks of the Chilton County High School asked this week that all school teachers and bus drivers who missed the examination last February be at the high school Monday if they wish to be X-rayed.

Last week cards were mailed to employees of the county asking employers to list the number of employees they would have to be X-rayed. The County Health Department said that cooperation was splendid.

The examinations at the high school will begin at 9:00 a.m. and last all day.

Seven Houston County Officers Arrested

Seven persons including the Houston County Tax Collector, a member of the Board of Registrars and two candidates were arrested last Saturday on indictments returned by a Grand Jury impaneled to investigate vote registrations and poll tax payment irregularities.

Thirteen indictments were returned against the seven persons. Following their arrest the accused were released on $500 bond on each indictment.

BOX SUPPER AT ISABELLA HIGH SCHOOL

Every one is urged to attend the supper and enjoy the food and fun.

Berry Shipments In Full Swing In County

The movement of strawberries from Chilton County is now in full swing with 1,500 to 1,600 crates being shipped out of the county daily. It is reported that about one-half of these are from Clanton and the remainder from Thorshy and Jemison.

Up until a few days ago the demand for strawberries had exceeded the supply. Up until this week No. 1 berries had been bringing around $10.00 per crate. J. N. Dennis of the Clanton Berry Growers Association reports that last Monday was the biggest day this season with 737 crates being moved through the Clanton Association. Although Mr. Dennis reported the price dropped to $6.00 per crate on the Monday shipment. He reminded that a large Cullman County berry crop was now in full swing with around 3,000 crates being shipped from there daily.

On Tuesday night of this week 4,886 crates had been shipped through the Clanton Association. This brought the farmers $39,621.12 with no returns in on 198 crates at that time.

Chilton County berries this year have gone largely to three main buyers, namely: Schwartz Brothers, of Dayton, Ohio; Hybel Produce Co., of Kalamazoo, Michigan; and Charles W. Wade, of Nashville, Tenn. Most of the berries have been shipped by truck.

MAYOR ASKS COOPERATION

Everyone Urged To Help City Truck In Garbage Collection

"We cannot give service in the collection of garbage without cooperation of the public." This statement was made this week by Mayor Leo Thompson in conversation regarding the sanitary department.

"When the drivers and employees of the truck have to stop and gather the trash, and when suitable containers are not kept to take care of the garbage, the employees cannot be held responsible," the Mayor stated. "Only through cooperation can we give the best service."

The Mayor stated further that Clanton was a fast growing City and although there was a law that no garbage would be picked up unless in suitable containers, to date they had done their best to make every allowance and aid in every way to co-operate in keeping the garbage cleaned up at regular intervals.

Trash cans are on sale now at the local hardware stores, according to Mayor Thompson, and he urged every home owner who was without a proper container to obtain one at once. "Only through full cooperation can the city get along with one garbage truck considering the fast increasing population," the Mayor finished.

C. B. Cox Writes To County Voters

C. B. COX

To the Voters of Chilton County:

At the beginning of this campaign I explained to you that because of my business associations I would be unable to devote as much of my time to visiting over the County as I would like to.

For the past two weeks in addition to my personal duties I have been bothered with a touch of arthritis which has handicapped me in calling upon you and assuring you of my appreciation of your support and influence in my campaign for Representative in the State Legislature.

I am writing this letter to let you know that I do appreciate your support and to let you know that it has been because of things over which I have had no control, that I have not visited you, personally.

I am on the mend now and if the Lord be willing I will be out the last week of the campaign and cover as much of the county as time will allow. I hope to see you at this time.

Let me assure you again of my appreciation for your friendship and assistance in my campaign.

Sincerely,

CHARLIE COX.

80 Fat Calves On Display Here Next Monday

Next Monday, April 29th, is the day for the big fat stock show to be held in Clanton under the sponsorship of the Clanton Kiwanis Club.

Some 80 fat beef calves will be on display in the Chilton County High School ball park, belonging to 4-H and F.F.A. members of the county.

This show will be by far the largest and most colorful of its kind ever held in Chilton County.

On the morning of April 29th, club boys and girls from every corner of Chilton County will assemble at the high school in Clanton to compete in the show for several honors and awards and also to display the fine work they have done with their beef projects.

Of the eighty steers and heifers that will be shown, three major breeds will be represented—the Angus, Hereford and Aberdeen. Shorthorns will also be exhibited.

This year there will be an adult and 4-H F.F.A. judging contest. A grading demonstration will also be put on by P. G. Rocquemore, of the Federal State Market News.

Two of Alabama's leading beef judges, Dr. J. S. Sugg, State Veterinarian and Dr. D. J. Meador, L & N Railroad Livestock Specialist, will place the animals according to their merits based on fatness, conformation, quality, etc. Judging will begin at 9:30 and will climax when the Grand and Reserve Champions of the county are chosen.

To the boy or girl showing the Grand Champion, a minimum of $90 will be given in prizes. A total of $450.50 is being offered in prizes.

On Tuesday night of this week, three Clanton merchants had announced that they would buy a fat beef from the show and would be selling club beef for the next few days. These merchants were R. L. "Bob" Wadham of the City Grill; J. D. Broadhead and Hill Grocery Company. More may be bought by local merchants.

The largest gathering ever to attend a show of this type is expected in Clanton Monday morning. Besides the many, many farmers, merchants and business men of Chilton County there is expected to be a great number of visitors from outside the county at the showing.

Following the county showing, the 4-H and F.F.A. Club members will enter their animals in the State contest to be held at Legion Field on May 2nd and 3rd. It is understood that the 80 Chilton County beefs on display here Monday will be transferred to Birmingham on that date. Some fifteen of the largest 4-H and F.F.A. Club members will accompany the animals there. The rest of the members will go up on the following Thursday.

On April 29th one of the biggest rodeos in the World will be given at Legion Field in Birmingham, Alabama. Members entering animals in the fat stock show will receive passes. Anyone else desiring to go will have to buy tickets—and tickets are getting hard to get. M. R. Glasscock, county agent, says he might have a few tickets for sale. Anyone desiring a ticket might do well to contact Mr. Glasscock.

YOUR PRIVILEGE

There is a sample ballot of the May 7th Primary printed in this issue of Chilton County News and you want to study it well. Learn all you can about the candidate you intend to vote for, and if you do not think he will "fill-the-bill," vote for a candidate who will. You have only one vote. It is your chance to declare yourself for the man who you think will do the most for your county, your state and your nation. Vote your convictions—let no man tell you how to vote if your conscience tells you different.

ANOTHER TRAFFIC LIGHT NEEDED

A traffic light is needed at the intersection of Fourth Avenue and Sixth Street.

What could have been a serious wreck happened there last Wednesday afternoon. Fortunately no one was killed or no one injured to speak of, but the time to lock the barn door is before the horse is stolen.

Probably more wrecks occur at this intersection than at any corner in the city. Something should be done about it. At this time when it is almost impossible to get materials of any kind we suppose that it is impossible to get a traffic signal light—however, when such material is obtainable we know of few things more needed in Clanton than more traffic lights.

THE MAYOR ASKS COOPERATION

Mayor Leo Thompson asks the citizens of Clanton to co-operate with the garbage truck drivers in handling the city garbage.

The city is growing fast and unless the city has full aid of the people one garbage truck will not be able to handle all the city garbage in the future.

The mayor asks that suitable containers be purchased so that the employees will not have to stop to clean the waste where it is scattered in small sacks and boxes—this is what slows down the service.

It is to your benefit as well as others to cooperate with the city in giving the citizens better service in this department and the way to do is to go down and get that needed galvanized garbage pail TODAY.

"BIG JIM" LOOKING BETTER

We learned the past week that instead of Handy Ellis being the high man in the Governor's race it now looks like it will be "Big Jim" Folsom of Cullman. The voters are falling in line behind "Big Jim." They have decided that he is the only "peoples' candidate." The four others are "machine candidates."

S. A. Harrell of Jemison has just returned from a six-weeks stay in Mobile and Baldwin counties. Mr. Harrell says that the most talked of candidate for governor down there is "Big Jim" Folsom and the least talked of candidate is Elbert Boozer. He tells of one lady down there that made the statement that she couldn't, with a clear conscience, vote for a man with a name like "boozer."

Just two-hundred and forty-two years ago today, (Wednesday, the first newspaper in the United States was published. We do not know the name of the paper or where it was published, but we would guess in an Indian's wigwam. Anyway, we do know that the first newspaper was published on April 24th, 1704.

How did you get through Easter Sunday? We made out pretty well except for getting kicked in the face by a rabbit. The rabbit will be in the form of a "please remit" notice on the first of May, we suppose. Then we get kicked again. But no kidding, it was a beautiful Easter, wasn't it? We hid Easter eggs until we felt like cackling. The churches were packed for all services. Things in general were quiet and serene. It was verily a "Day of Rest."

Cecil Ramsey's daddy came down on a visit last week and Cecil took him fishing. Now Cecil is supposed to be a pretty good fisherman and to know the ropes pretty well. Anyway, we believe that is what he told Mr. Ramsey. Well, they went fishing as we said before. But, Mr. Ramsey caught all the fishes. Cecil evidently just went along for the ride, he didn't

A lawyer was walking down the street the other day when he ran into an old friend whom he'd recently given some simple legal advice, and whom he'd presented with a pretty big bill. "Nice day, isn't it?" cried the friend, and then added hastily: "Remember, I'm not asking you, I'm telling you."

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

I knew a house wife who spent the most of her time in her yard, planting cultivating flowers. She wanted her yard to cheer and lift the passer-by with a sense of the beautiful. Victor Hugo makes the good bishop in one of his novels to say to his house-keeper after she had given him a tongue lashing for planting his garden mostly in flowers rather than vegetables, "Ah, Madam, the beautiful is as useful as it is beautiful." The ministry of the beautiful is one of the overflowings of the Divine mind and heart and serves God's purpose as the feeding of the body. The sense of the beautiful is often seen among the fowls. The robin has been seen to build her nest out of flowers and the Peacock is very proud of his feathers.

The devil is well aware of the attraction to be found in beauty. He has his most attractive places beautified with varied colors, beautiful women and charming music. On the Amazon River a traveler found a spider that would spread itself out like a flower and look beautiful to bees and insects. When they would light upon what they thought to be a flower, they found poison, torment and death. The more attractive the devil can make his ways, the quicker he can inject his poison, his torture, his death. The perfection of mimicry is in the moral world, deceiving the very elect. Better be on your guard when the devil displays his dyes to make beautiful his ways. He is trying for the innocent and that may mean you.

One of the most beautiful sights in Persia is a field of poppies, a pure white flower, stretching away for miles. The natives know how to turn that field of flowers into a source of misery and death. Before the poppy is ripe the natives pass over the field and scratch the head with a comb-like brush that injures the seed ball, and the Opium oozes out during the night. Before the sun rises the next morning the natives gather up the opium and it is pressed and dried and the cakes become a source of death to all who form the opium habit. It is too often true that the beautiful things of this life, like the beauty of the poppy, becomes a curse. What God intended should be a blessing becomes a bane.

For the first time since the war began, half-pint glass jars for canning are being manufactured this year. These small jars are just right for putting up home-canned foods for gifts. For example, little jars of chili sauce, or spiced cherries or peaches will make ideal Christmas remembrances.

Selling non-laying hens from the flock and using the feed for chicks provides one means by which poultry raisers can help solve the mounting feed problem, says John Ivey, API extension poultryman.

Telephone folks make up a big family—a total of more than 36,000 people. They are the largest group employed by any single company in the nine southeastern states we serve.

Add in Mom, Dad, Susie and Joe, and close kin—and the number quickly grows into a large portion of the population interested, directly or indirectly, in supplying you with the kind of telephone service you want.

They are your friends and neighbors—the kind of people you like to meet, to know, to visit with. They are keenly alert to civic movements... eagerly participate in community activities.

With their earnings and purchases, they are an important factor in local prosperity. And you'll find them everywhere—for the Telephone Company is a local business, multiplied by all the many localities where we serve, and operated by hometown folks like you.

We're proud of the telephone family. You can be too.

What is your GUESS? on our profits...

SOMETIMES, although an idea is wrong, it does no harm. Like the idea that a square jaw is the sign of will power. That winters aren't as severe as they used to be, or that red hair denotes quick temper.

But there are other wrong ideas, which are definitely harmful to public confidence and understanding of industry. One such idea is the current "guessing" about profits made by large business organizations.

Many people are apt to grossly exaggerate the money made by business. So Opinion Research Corporation (an independent organization) made a survey to learn just what the public thinks about profits. Compare these guesses and yours with the International Harvester profit figures given below.

Public guess on war profits... 30.0%

I H four war year average profit... 4.9%

In this survey, the average of the guesses by the public of the war-time profits made by industry was... thirty per cent (30%).

But in the four war years of 1942, 1943, 1944, and 1945, the profits of International Harvester Company averaged only... 4.9% on sales. Less than one sixth of what the general public "guessed" for all industry.

For this period, the year by year per cent of profit on sales was: 1942—7.34, 1943—6.69, 1944—3.95, 1945—3.93.

Public guess on peace profits 18.0%

I H four pre-war year average profit... 7.17%

In the four peace years of 1938, 1939, 1940, and 1941, the profits of International Harvester Company averaged 7.17%. This is well under half of what the public "guessed" for all industry.

Majority think fair profit in normal times is... 10%

I H two-year average is less than 7%

The survey indicates the public knows that in our economy profits are indispensable. And the majority regard 10% as a fair rate of profit in normal times. Many large businesses, including ourselves, would consider it a banner year if we could reach this figure. Our average profit for the last ten years—four war and six peace—was 6.43%—more than a third less than what the public considers fair.

All these figures show that our profits are not high. As a matter of fact, the entire farm machinery industry is a low profit industry. In 1944, the Federal Trade Commission published a list of 76 industries ranked in order of their ratio of profits to sales. The farm machinery industry was 57th on the list.

What About Current I H Prices?

When the War ended and we planned our peace-time production, we had hoped to be able to serve our farmer customers at the same level which has held since 1942, regardless of war-time increases in costs of wages and materials up to that time. But recent developments have forced a change in our plans.

When the War ended and we planned our peace-time production, we had hoped to be able to serve our farmer customers at the same level which has held since 1942, regardless of war-time increases in costs of wages and materials up to that time. But recent developments have forced a change in our plans.

Wages and materials consume nearly all of every dollar Harvester takes in from sales. A Government board has recommended and the Company has agreed to pay a general wage increase of 18 cents per hour for Harvester factory employees. The Government has also allowed price increases on raw materials which we purchase in large quantities. Steel has had an average increase of 8.2%.

There has been no general increase in our prices since they were frozen by the Government early in 1942.

So our situation today is that what we BUY costs us 1946 prices. We will be paying average hourly wages 86% above 1941. For what we SELL we get only 1942 prices. This condition cannot long be met out of our present low rate of profit.

Future Prices on I H Products

It is plain that price relief will be needed to meet the increased wage and material costs which we must carry.

We regret this necessity. We prefer to lower prices, when possible, rather than raise them. And we know our customers prefer to have us do that. We had hoped to be able to "hold the line," at least.

But we do not see how we can avoid operating at a loss if our prices continue to remain at their present frozen levels. We will NOT "cut corners" on any of our products, because QUALITY IS THE FOUNDATION OF OUR BUSINESS.

Our customers can be certain that we will seek no more than a moderate profit, both because of our policies and because we have approximately 300 competitors fighting us vigorously for your business. Our request for price relief will be no more than is necessary to insure continued service to our customers, continued work for our employees, and a reasonable return for our stockholders.

Wild Life Club

Organized Here

A group of over 30 people met at March 19th, for the purpose of forming the clubhouse last Friday night, an organization to preserve the wild life of Chilton County. A very enlightening talk on the purpose and interest of such an organization was made by Mr. Thomas A. Ford from the Alabama Department of Conservation. He told about work being done by similar groups in many other counties of Alabama. The group were given an outline of the many things to be done in Chilton County in order that we may preserve the wild life and protect our forests.

The names selected for the organization was Chilton County Wild Life Conservation Club. A. B. Foshee was year; Raymond P. Mims, secretary selected as president for the next and Louie Smith, treasurer. A membership committee was appointed by Mr. Foshee with the approval of those present. This committee consists of Jack Gore, chairman; H. L. Ratliff, Beat 15; Rube Wyatt and Dick Bean, Clanton, Ala. The organization is to have a board of directors with at least one director from each beat in the county, emphasis being placed upon the fact that all the county, not just Clanton, is to be served and a co-county-wide membership is the aim.

The object of this organization is to unite and bind together all who are interested in the conservation of game, fish, forests, soils and streams in Chilton County, to advance the interest in the same and to raise the standards of sportsmanship among fishermen and hunters.

Membership dues will be $1.00 per year. All people interested in this very worthwhile endeavor are urged to enroll at once with either the membership committee or Raymond P. Mims.

Dr. Parrish Writes County Voters

With less than two weeks until election day let's all renew our determination. Let's all put our shoulder to the wheel and keep on keeping on with our determination that right will rule. You have no doubt heard of a lot of things that I could not do and probably would not do if elected as your Probate Judge. I feel free to promise you anything that anyone else has promised you, if it is possible for that promise to be fulfilled. There is one thing that I wish every citizen of the county to know, now that I will expect him or her to feel that the courthouse is as much one's as the other's, and to feel perfectly free to come and talk over your problems with me. We will work out the answer.

I see now that I will not be able to see everyone, but the most of you know me and my generation, so I will let that speak for itself and will be perfectly satisfied with the way you vote on May 7th.

Be sure to come out and cast your ballot for W. L. Parrish. Will write you again next week.

—W. L. PARRISH.

THE FOLLOWING LETTER WAS RECEIVED BY CONGRESSMAN PETE JARMAN RECENTLY:

Greensboro, Alabama
March 27, 1946

Honorable Pete Jarman
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Congressman:

I have followed your actions all along and I am proud to tell you that you surely have been tried in the "fiery furnace" the past few years when the fate of civilization rested on our able Congress. It is such men as you that have guided the destiny of the world to a successful conclusion. I think we are facing almost as critical a situation now as winning the war, the reconversion period. We need men in Congress that know and that have had experience.

May I assure you that you have my whole hearted support and all that I can say or do for you in the coming primary. I can sincerely tell you that I have not let opportunity slip to say or do something in your behalf. So far as I can see you stand head and shoulders over your opponent here and I believe your friends will see you through safely. Please bear in mind I am ready, willing, and am doing everything I can in your behalf, also my sons are.

So far as I can see your opponent has not stirred up any following here, where he was raised. I will be on guard at all times should anything come up that will be detrimental to you. I will do my best to stop it and write you.

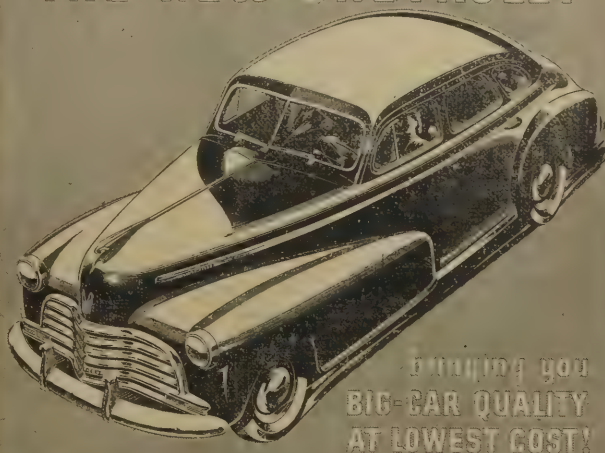

With sincere best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Q. L. Stewart.

We all know there are plenty of records furnished the Probate Judge to inform him that these people are dead.

It is up to you people to decide why the names of these dead people were put on this voting list.

BAPTIST YOUNG MATRONS CIRCLE MET

The Young Matrons Circle met for their regular program and business meeting at the church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There were eleven members present. The chairman, Mrs. Robert Powers, called the meeting to order and welcomed our new member, Mrs. C. R. Morrison. The program chairman, Mrs. Joe Moore, introduced Mrs. Howard McKenzie and Mrs. John Higgins, who each gave a chapter from our Mission Study book, "Of One," in a most interesting and informative manner. The Scripture passage in each chapter was given as a devotional.

The chairman presided over the business meeting. Plans were made to present a pageant, "Mother Pictures," on Mother's Day, at which time this Circle will have charge of the Sunday night services at the church. Plans were made to meet next Monday, April 29th, at 3 o'clock, at the church for a rehearsal and further plans. All members are urged to be present. Mrs. R. H. Kirkpatrick dismissed the meeting with prayer.

The Circle members went in a group to Alred Drug Company as guests of Mrs. Howard McKenzie. A most delightful time was had by all.

AN EASTER RALLY

Mr. W. F. Dobbs and children and grandchildren met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Arthur Murr Sunday for an Easter Rally and birthday dinner for Junior Murr and Lanett Dobbs.

Those present were: Mr. W. F. Dobbs and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mims, Mr. and Mrs. Harvie Dobbs and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Arthur Murr and children, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lockhart and children, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Enfinger and daughter, Eddie Earl Baker and Mrs. Doshie Murr.

A beautiful dinner was enjoyed out under the shade tree.

In the afternoon a big egg hunt was enjoyed by all, especially the children. The afternoon visitors were Mrs. Etta Caton and children and Mrs. James Popwell.

Talking and laughing were enjoyed throughout the day. They all departed in the late afternoon, with the report of a happy spent day.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baker and son and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Arthur Murr and children spent a while with Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Enfinger and daughter Sunday night.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD NEWS

Our Sunday School seemed to be on a rise Sunday, especially the Young People's Class. Everyone enjoyed a wonderful Easter lesson, which is something old made anew each year at this time. It's just like the new buds coming forth each Spring; we see them every year, but still we await their coming next Spring, just so, we await the coming of Easter each year with enthusiasm. It never seems to grow old in the hearts and minds of people.

After Sunday School everyone enjoyed two Special Easter songs, given by Rev. and Mrs. Sandlin, Gertha Easterling and Jessie Carolyn Ruthe; one by Rev. and Mrs. Sandlin and Amy Sandlin. Then the pastor, Rev. Sandlin brought a wonderful Easter message.

Sunday night the C. A. Class presented a very inspiring Easter play, called, "The Easter Broadcast." The setting and time centered around the death and resurrection of Christ, which was presented behind curtains and broadcast over a radio to the audience. It was enjoyed by all present.

We extend a cordial invitation to all, young and old, who do not attend Sunday School and Church some other place, to come and be with us each Sunday, and also to attend C. A. Class on Sunday nights.

CHURCH MEETING

Members of the Episcopal Church will hold an evening prayer service and a study class on Sunday, April 28th at 4:30 p.m., in the Presbyterian Church auditorium in Clanton. All friends interested are invited to be present.

nie Roberson spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Foshee, Sr. Meet with us next Sunday for our regular preaching day at 10:30.

Boozer Supported By Old-Age Pension Association, Inc.

At Gadsden, Alabama, Headquarters of the Old-Age Pension Association Inc., the Board of Directors, Trustees and officials met consulted the records of the five candidates for Governor, secretly voted on each of them and the results is as follows:

Handy Ellis — Received no votes.
Joe Poole — Received no votes.
Gordon Persons — Received likewise no votes.

Jim Folsom — Received two votes.
Judge S. Elbert Boozar — Received 65 votes as the endorsement of his candidacy and the Old-Age Pension Association, Inc., of which Dr. George W. Beasley, is the duly and Constituted President is actively supporting Judge Boozar for Governor.

Also the correct status of the October 14, 1945, meeting as referred to by Mr. Thompson, is as follows:

At the opening of the meeting J. M. Engle of Decatur, took the floor and placed the meeting in disorder and J. A. Romine, of Nauvoo, offered a motion which was seconded by Engle to lay aside the Constitution of the Old-Age Pension Association and allow six non-members to vote on the election of officers which brought from the meeting Chairman George W. Beasley, the citing of Section 13 of the Constitution which permits only the ten members of the Board of Directors, officials and county presidents to vote as the Governing body of the said Association, and the Kelly group refusing to abide by the Constitution and the ruling of the Chairman, the Chairman stood and declared the meeting out of order and closed which was sustained by seven members of the Board and two-thirds of the membership present.

On November 10, 1945, the Thompson-Kelly-Company group met and according to their minutes formed their Alabama Pension Association, Inc. Their paper bearing the name of Alabama Pension Advocate, this within itself is conclusive proof that they recognize the fact that they have no claim nor association on and with the "Old-Age Pension Association, Inc. which Dr. George W. Beasley is organizer and President-In-Fact.

If you really believe in Pensions from Washington, D. C., and from Montgomery, Alabama, without the Welfare's pauperism, humiliation and abuses you will join the Pension Organization that knows the pension field from hard earned experience and knows what candidates can be depended upon to stick in with the organization to put pensions into operation.

Sincerely,

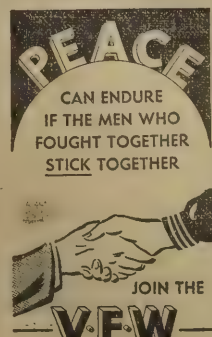

Old-Age Pension Association, Inc.
John W. Mahan, Secretary of the October 14, 1945, meeting, and General-Secretary.

Mrs. J. J. Brown, Secretary of the Board of Directors and Officials.
George W. Beasley, Chairman of the Board of Directors and President.

4-H, FFA HEADS RIDE IN PLANE WITH BULL

Billy Smith of Tuscaloosa County and Max McLaughlin of Barbour County, presidents of the State 4-H and FFA clubs, respectively, took an unusual ride last week—with an Angus bull in an airplane.

Their destination was Washington where the bull was offered as a gift to President Truman by Luther Fuller, director of the farm markets division of TCI. 4-H and FFA members will exhibit and sell 1,000 fat steers at Birmingham, May 2-3, and Billy and Max are hoping the event furnishes as much thrill to boys and girls as their ride to see the President did.

Rhuben E. Scott, Cox, USNR, son of Mrs. Pearl F. Scott, Clanton, Ala., is returning to the states aboard the USS SEA BASS, which left Okinawa March 23, and is expected to arrive in Seattle about April 9th. The USS SEA BASS is one of the attack transports of the powerful U. S. Navy, which carried both fighting men and their equipment to invasion beaches and to U. S. held beachheads, as the Navy carried out its island hopping campaign in the Pacific.

4-H MEMBERS URGED TO GROW MORE FOOD

Alabama 4-H Club boys and girls will have an important part in easing the worst food famine in history, judging from their role in helping feed the Nation in the past few years, says T. A. Sims, API state 4-H Club leader.

With the greatest need for extra food in prospect, and with a National goal of 20 million Victory gardens Sims is urging more 4-H Club members than ever to include gardens and food preservation in their list of projects. All food that can be grown and saved will release that much for hungry people of other countries, he points out.

Last year 23,171 4-H boys and girls completed home garden projects involving more than 8,000 acres. In addition, more than 1,177 club members completed projects in market gardens, truck and canning crops, which covered almost 1,000 acres. From these projects nearly 1,500,000 quarts of fruits and vegetables were canned. This, it will be noted, came chiefly from garden projects, and does not

To make a real success with alfalfa, J. C. Lowery, API extension agronomist, says to turn a good crop of winter legumes then summer follow the land until time for planting alfalfa.

Lyte Brown, API extension horticulturist, says that to get the best yield of early tomatoes, the plant should be pruned to two main stems. All lateral branches should be pruned off these main stems, and the vines tied up to stakes.

Washing eggs removes the natural protective covering of the egg and increases the tendency of eggs to absorb off-flavors.

take into account field crops, livestock and dairy projects.

4-H Club members plan to do even a bigger job in growing and saving food this year, Sims believes. "By using carefully selected seed, adoption of best production methods, most proper use of fertilizer and equipment, and by carrying all garden projects to completion, these boys and girls can boost the food for famine relief," he added.

$9,000,000 Handout In State Tax Savings To 52 Large Corporations Hidden In Poole's Program

- Mr. Poole's program calls for use of income tax monies to reduce property taxes and provides not one cent for increased teachers' salaries, or broader public health and welfare services.
- Under Poole's program, 52 of Alabama's largest corporations, including many foreign corporations, would save over $9,000,000.00 in state taxes during the next four years.
- No wonder the Big Mules have raised the largest campaign fund for Poole in the political history of Alabama—reported to be over a quarter of a million dollars.
- No wonder Poole is trying to cover up his Big Mule support by claiming to be the "people's candidate."
- No wonder the Republican members of the Associated Industries and the National Association of Manufacturers are continuing to pour money into Poole's campaign, in an effort to put their hand-picked candidate in the running.
- The people of Alabama will not be fooled by this undercover clique.

To The Voters of Autauga, Chilton and Shelby:

G. C. WALKER

I have a desire to represent the people of Autauga, Chilton and Shelby Counties in the State Senate during the next administration. I represent the people of Chilton County in the Legislature at the present time.

Under a long-standing agreement between the three counties, it is Chilton's time to furnish a Senator. I feel that by education, observation and experience, I am able to vote for and support legislation that will be to the best interests of all the people of the three counties.

I volunteered for service in World War I, and was discharged at Camp Pike, Arkansas. I am a member of the American Legion, Post No. 6, at Clanton. My only child, a son, volunteered for service in World War II, and, after almost one year's service, was discharged at San Diego, California, on the 14th of September, 1945.

I will appreciate your vote and support in the Democratic Primary on May 7th, 1946.

Respectfully,

G. C. WALKER.

CHECK QUALITY OF HOME FREEZER UNIT

If you plan to buy a home freezer unit, be sure to check the quality of materials used in manufacturing it, advises J. T. Gaillard, API extension specialist in marketing facilities.

Pointers Mr. Gaillard offers in choosing a freezer are:

- (1) Be sure that the freezer is well built and especially well insulated.
- (2) Fit the size of the unit to the job it will be expected to do. A small unit naturally will not preserve a large volume of food. Most small ones will be useful only as a storage space for foods already frozen in the freezer locker plant or in a large home unit.
- (3) Buy only from a dealer who can guarantee good services when repairs become necessary.

RATION CALENDAR

Slaughter Controls To Equalize Meat Supply

Many housewives should soon find it easier to get meat as a result of new slaughtering controls, designed to equalize the available meat among slaughterers, that will go into effect shortly, OPA Price Executive, B. B. Burton predicted today.

Many packers have had trouble securing normal supplies of livestock recently, Mr. Burton said, while others have been killing several times their normal proportion of the supply available. The new program, he explained, will provide a "channelling" system so that each legitimate slaughterer will be able to secure the same percentage of available hogs, cattle and calves as he did in 1944.

However, Burton pointed out, farmers are not primarily affected by the new controls, since slaughtering by farmers—for their own use—will not be regulated by the new actions.

The new controls, as they affect federally inspected slaughtering firms will be administered by the Department of Agriculture, Burton said, and OPA will administer the regulations as they affect all other plants.

The price agency is increasing its enforcement staff to see that the new regulations are not circumvented, and to see that available meat is distributed in the "most equitable manner possible," Mr. Burton said.

OVER 550,000 DRIVERS LICENSES ISSUED IN ALABAMA

Over 550,000 drivers licenses have been issued in Alabama since September 15, 1945, Inspector J. F. Brawner of the Drivers License Division of the Alabama Highway Patrol, announced today.

Alabama 1946-47 drivers licenses have been mailed in accordance with all applications received up to April 1 of this year. Already, more licenses have been issued since September 15, 1945, than in the entire previous two year period of 1944-45.

"Approximately 100,000 persons whose 1944-45 licenses have expired have not made application for renewal of their licenses. These motorists are subject to arrest if they are found driving," Inspector Brawner stated.

Nearly 6,000 licenses issued by the division have been returned by the Post Office Department as undeliverable. The division had urged all motorists who applied for their 1946-47 drivers licenses and have not received them, to notify the division by letter.

He stressed the importance of giving their full name, date of birth and both new and old address if that has been changed. All mail should be addressed to the division in care of the Alabama Highway Patrol, Department of Public Safety, P.O. Box 1471, Montgomery, Ala.

new program granting relief to dairy farmers, is foreseen by the OPA.

The program, which virtually grants an increase of 20 cents per hundred pounds on milk, will not result in increases in milk prices at retail, it was said. It was explained the increase will be accomplished by holding the scheduled 35 cents seasonal reduction in production payment on May 1st to a 15 cents per hundredweight cut. The higher subsidy rate will increase total returns to dairy farmers by 20 cents per hundred pounds as compared to last year's returns.

This program grants relief which dairy farmers urgently need, because of increased feed and other production costs, yet will at the same time protect over forty million families against higher retail prices for milk OPA said.

MACHINERY DEALERS TO STUDY EXPERIMENTS

A series of meetings at Alabama's agricultural experiment station and sub-stations is planned by farm equipment dealers of the state to study experimental work and the further mechanization of the programs.

"Much work is involved in the adjustment of Alabama's agriculture to more mechanized operations and these equipment dealers want to be of maximum assistance in this," says J. B. Wilson, API extension agricultural engineer, who serves as secretary of the Alabama Farm Equipment Dealer's Association.

Meetings will be held at Marion Junction, June 3; Auburn, June 25; Headland, June 26; Fairhope, June 28; Winfield, July 9; Crossville, July 11; Belle Mina, July 12.

DELTA KAPPA GAMMA NEWS

The Alpha Beta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma has concluded a very active year. In February Miss Elsie Schurter gave the club an interesting talk on women pioneers in education. The March meeting featured a survey of theories of childhood education capably presented by Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin. In the interest of teacher recruitment a number of this year's graduates of the various county high schools were honor guests at a banquet at the C.C.H.S. lunch room on April 5th. Dean T. H. Napier of Alabama College, Montevallo, spoke with clarity and conviction of the future of teaching and its grave responsibilities. Mrs. Edna G. Kinney, president of Delta Kappa Gamma, presided over this banquet, and Mrs. Raymond P. Mims presented a group of vocal numbers. Forty-nine members and guests enjoyed this occasion. This year Alpha Gamma chapter observed its fifth anniversary. It received into its membership its first associate member, Mrs. D. P. Culp and

USE DDT SPRAY FOR HORN FLY CONTROL

Alabama farmers can get practically 100 per cent control of horn flies on cattle by using DDT.

A 0.2 percent DDT spray in water will keep these insects down for a two or three week period, according to W. H. Gregory, API extension livestock specialist. The spray should be repeated if the horn flies return at the end of this period.

This spray is made by mixing 1 ounce (3 tablespoonsful) of 50 percent wettable DDT powder with 2 gallons of water or 4 ounces to 8 gallons of water. In preparing the spray from wettable powder, first mix a little water with powder to form a paste. Thin the spray with more water until it pours readily. Then add the amount of water desired. Spray back, neck and legs of cattle, using approximately one-third pint of spray for each animal.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

As I stated in my announcement, we had on hand in the County Treasury, Two Hundred Seventy-Seven Thousand, One Hundred Ninety-Two Dollars and Ninety-Two Cents ($277,192.92), in cash and United States Bonds. And I make this statement to you, if I continue in office, I pledge to you that this money will be spent for the best interest of Chilton County, and each district will get its prorata share.

Heretofore, we have spent much of the County money on State roads in order to get the State Highways paved through our County. Through the efforts of the Association of County Commissioners and Probate Judges, we got the Legislature to enact a law, whereby, the State would set aside one cent of the State's part of the gas tax for the paving of farm to market roads, provided the County or Counties were in a financial condition to match it. We are in a position to match every dollar of State and Federal Aid made available, and then have a surplus.

There has been a bill passed in the United States Senate and now pending in the House of Representatives to appropriate money for the building and equipping hospitals. Your Commissioners and I are going to do everything we can to get one of these hospitals located in Chilton County.

In campaigning over the County I have had a number of our good citizens to ask me this question. If there had been a large sum of money contributed to my campaign. I wish to make this statement: there is no individual, firm or corporation that has ever contributed one dollar to my campaign when I was running for Mayor of Clanton or Probate Judge of Chilton County. And no one has offered me any money to induce me to run for the Probate Office. And, if re-elected, I will only be obligated to ALL the people of Chilton County and will be free to work for their best interest.

We need the best trained business men we have at the head of our National, State and County Governments. A good record made by a public official is better than campaign promises. On this record I solicit your vote and support.

Yours very truly,

HUNDREDS JAM COURTHOUSE FOR SINGING

Largest And Best Convention Ever Held Last Sunday

Hundreds of people jammed the courthouse in Clanton last Saturday night and Sunday to attend the largest Chilton County Singing Convention ever held here. Some say it was also the best annual convention ever held. The house was packed and jammed at both sessions with a record number of visiting singers and quartets on hand to take part in the singing. From Wisconsin to Florida and Georgia to Mississippi, people attended the singing.

Marion W. Easterling, chairman, said he wanted to express his thanks and appreciation to everybody attending the convention, thus helping making it the success it was.

Directors were: Jesse C. Jones, Prof. O. L. Devaughn, Emmett Wilson, L. T. Grant, L. M. Lyons of Shelby County, P. B. Shaw of Shelby County, Hugh McDaniell of Shelby County, A. H. Glasscock, J. T. Brasher of Shelby County, Jasper Jones, Posey Cleeckler, J. O. Jones, Sam Collins, Prof. W. M. Devaughn of Sylacauga, Lee Grant, Alton Benson, Ammie Boswell, Steve Stanley, Dewey Morris of Sylacauga, Rev. M. Lockhart, Rev. H. M. Sandlin, Ellis Jinks of Sylacauga, T. E. Wyatt, J. Floy Devaughn of Sylacauga, Vernon Lackey of Birmingham, E. L. Culberson of Sylacauga, Mrs. Meeks of Birmingham, Prof. B. H. Vickery, Francis Huett of Sylacauga, Marion W. Easterling, chairman, all directed three songs during the day.

The following rendered several special numbers during the day: Deep South Quartet, Sylacauga Four, Devaughn Quartet, Eugene H. Davis, local quartet; J. Floy Devaughn, solo; Mrs. J. Floy Devaughn, piano solo; and Floy Devaughn's little boy rendered a solo, which was enjoyed by everybody.

Pianists for the day were: Mrs. J. Floy Devaughn, Marion W. Easterling, Carl Bailey, Jr., Lawrence Howard, Mr. Benson and Miss Grant.

SERVICES AT JEMISON CHURCH OF CHRIST SUNDAY

Big Wrestling Show Here Saturday Night

For wrestling fans who like plenty of excitement, Saturday night is the night at the high school. A program believed to be unexcelled is being offered this week.

Nick Carter and Charlie Keene, two favorites in Clanton, are opposing Bad Boy Brown (who was never a favorite anywhere) and the "Blue Streak," who is as rough as they come, is still wearing his mask and is still unknown. This tag team match will be the main event for the best two out of three falls. But, the preliminary is just as attractive.

Nick Carter will tackle Bad Boy Brown in the preliminary for two falls out of three.

Indeed, all roads lead to the high school next Saturday night. For pictures of these performers, see the ad, elsewhere in the News.

Howard Roper Asks For Re-election

HOWARD ROPER

Dear Friends:

I have not called on you personally and asked you to vote for me because my duty as Commissioner has required most of my time and I felt sure you would rather I would attend to duty more and politics less.

Commissioners have had a hard job during this term, but I have not complained or made excuses and I believe I have done as good a job as any man would have done under the circumstances.

Now, I ask you to give me a chance to serve you when I can have machinery and labor sufficient to do a real good job.

We would be glad for you to visit our district before the election. When you see for yourself, you will know.

I do not believe in mud slinging. I have never criticized an opponent. Your vote is solicited on my own merits as a citizen, and my record as a servant of the people.

Sincerely,

HOWARD ROPER.

Senior II Play To Be Given Friday And Saturday

LEAVE IT TO YOUTH, the C.C. H.S. Senior II Class play, will be presented in the City Hall on Friday at 1:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. and on Saturday at 3:00 p.m.

Directed by Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin, Leave It To Youth has a cast of 14 characters, all young in spirit. The play, a comedy of a superior type, concerns the family of a famous atom-splitting scientist and their problems because of his harem-scuram immature wife.

LEAVE IT TO YOUTH is a comedy highly praised by the Hollywood Community Theatre and by many other organizations who have produced it. According to its first director, "The characters in Leave It To Youth are human and real, and the plot is amusing, with a savor of good philosophy which makes for real entertainment. It is recommended to any group that appreciates a good story and humor that is intelligent and not merely wisecracking and clever."

LEAVE IT TO YOUTH concerns a distinguished atom-splitting scientist pre-occupied with his work; his charming harem-scuram wife who looks and acts younger than his children, their two daughters and son, Delphine, their older daughter, at-

ANNUAL STOCK SHOW BIGGEST EVER HERE

E. J. Kliner, Perry Deason Are Show Winners

The annual 4-H-FFA Club fat stock show held in Clanton last Monday was the largest and best ever held in Clanton. It was the largest with 76 fat calves on display. It was the best by far from the opinions of the judges and the hundreds that attended.

Judges R. S. Sugg, State Veterinarian, and D. J. Meadows, L. & N. Railroad Company Representative, who go all over the state judging cattle, said the bulls and heifers on display in Clanton last Monday was the finest they had ever seen in any cattle show.

E. J. Kliner of Vermont Community again this year was the first place winner with his Hereford, "Mac." "Mac" weighed 925 pounds. Pauline E. J.'s sister, showed the winner. Perry Deason of Sardis Community, son of T. J. Dennis, showed the Reserve Champion, "Bob," a 870-pound Hereford. Both of these boys were very enthusiastic over being winners and headed for the State showing in Birmingham.

Monday afternoon with great confidence that they might show a winner up there again this year. Kliner was state winner last year. He attends school at Isabella High.

Monday afternoon all the cattle on display in Clanton were loaded into trucks and carried to Birmingham for the state show. The state show is today (Thursday, May 2). All the calves will be sold at the state show. Three merchants of Clanton will buy beefs at the Birmingham show and will be selling club steaks in a few days. Buying club steaks will be R. L. (Bob) Windham of the City Grill, Broadhead Grocery and Hill Grocery Company.

The Kiwanis Club, who sponsors this event annually, wished to thank the merchants for their cooperation in putting this show over. Monday morning merchants locked their doors and went to the calf show besides the contributors they had already made in providing prize money and their assistance in many ways in putting the show over.

You Pronounce It...

Cleve Wyatt, formerly of Clanton and now of Prattville, was in Clanton last week end attending the singing convention. To try and throw the news staff in a ditch he left us with this jaw-breaker: Antipaterica metapargendamphepibierations. This was the proposed title of the book the England naturalist writer, Lovell, was going to give to a book. Small wonder the book was never written.

While on the subject, it is understood that this word is the longest in the English language—disproportionableness.

300 People Received X-ray Last Monday

A turnout of over 300 people went to the high school last Monday and for chest X-rays, according to the County Health Officer. About 150 attended in the morning and an equal number in the afternoon.

The Health Department said they did not know just when the results of the X-rays would be in. Although, it stated that those receiving X-rays would be notified of the results by letter whether the X-ray showed tuberculosis symptoms or not.

The X-ray machine belonging to the Jefferson County Anti-tuberculosis Association, was brought here through the combined efforts of the Clanton Kiwanis Club working in close coordination with the County Health Department. Miss Virginia Putnam did the X-raying.

To Dr. Farmer's many friends and admirers, this will be a most welcome announcement, for it is a rare privilege indeed to have such a gifted and able speaker in our community.

It has been said that Dr. Farmer is the best informed woman on political economy in the South. We sometimes fail to appreciate the fact that we are living practically within the very shadow of such a famous woman. We hope that friends from all over our town, representatives from the various churches and civic clubs, will take advantage of this opportunity to hear Dr. Farmer's timely message. Every one is most cordially invited.

BOARD OF REGISTRARS IN SESSION MONDAY

The Board of Registrars will be in session at the courthouse next Monday for the purpose of registering any person who has become of voting age (21) since February 2, or any returned service men who wish to vote in the May 7th Primary.

Contest For Judgeship Drawing Most Of Attention

Clanton and Chilton County goes into the last lap of what is believed the most hotly contested election in many years this week. All candidates are working feverishly and what is different about this year's election is the fact that the friends and backers of all the candidates are working harder than the candidates.

The most hotly contested race is that for the office of Probate Judge. J. Lee Smith, incumbent, and Dr. W. L. Parrish, local veterinarian, are the candidates and up until now the lines are drawn close and between now and May 7th it could be anybody's election.

Next race in order of interest seems to be the race for the office of Sheriff. This office is sought by J. A. Nivens, incumbent, and Ira Crowe, one-time deputy under Hardy. Although not so hotly contested, much interest is shown in the race and both candidates and their friends are working overtime to place their candidate first.

Pete Jarman has formidable opposition in Edward de Graffenried of Tuscaloosa. He is at present Solicitor and could have run for his present office with no opposition when he threw his hat in the ring for the congressional post.

As to the governor's race it seems commonly known or taken for granted that Handy Ellis will lead the field. However, in past races overconfidence has been the downfall of many a candidate and that could take place in some of our state races as well as some of these county races. In this county it looks like "Big Jim" Folsom will lead the field in the governor's race.

Will Gullede and Grover Walker are both tireless campaigners and are working hard to see who the people of the Fifteenth Senatorial District want for their State Senator.

In the Representative race are C. B. Cox and A. C. Wells. Both are old campaigners, but the interest in this race is small compared to some of the others. The same is good for the Circuit Clerk race. However, Mr. Paltillo is well known and a favorite throughout the county, where Mr. Dennis is a newcomer in politics, but has been a resident of the county for the most of his life.

As the old saying goes: Alty well that ends... And next Tuesday will end the race for office of the various candidates. The races have been clean with practically no mud-slinging, but enough interest to keep both sides in line and a fair result obtained.

Chilton County will receive a fair mandate of the people in the Democratic Primary, May 7th.

TURKEY ANY TIME

Traditions, as a general thing, warm our hearts, but there's one that we should like to help break. It has to do with turkeys.

There are literally millions of people in the United States who taste turkey meat only twice a year—at Thanksgiving and at Christmas. These are the traditional dates for turkey. Very good. But why do so many of us, without giving it a thought, confine our turkey eating to these two occasions? If, for example, the fowl tastes wonderful on Thanksgiving Day, it should make a very good meal some day two weeks before or afterward. Turkey, in other words, is good meat any day.

Custom is a formidable thing—and maybe we're breaking it ourselves by trying to talk turkey out of season. On the other hand, that's our point. There ought not be any season when it comes to serving turkey at the table. During the regular market season the fowl can be had on foot; during the rest of the year there is canned turkey, which is excellent, and frozen turkey, which is equally delicious.

Now it looks as if the war to win year-around fresh turkey eaters is going to be won. Progress is being made. The Texas Turkey Federation, organized during the past winter, has hatched some big plans for popularizing the turkey as an any-day meat on the public's menu, and the organization also has a lot of sound breeding and marketing ideas for the Lone Star State's $50,000,000 turkey industry. Texas, incidentally, produced more turkeys last year than any other state except California—and it wasn't far behind that Pacific state.

The immediate aim of the Texas group, as well as of the National Turkey Federation, is to hold and increase the turkey gains during the war. Last year, for instance, the per capita consumption of turkey was four and a half pounds—a sizeable increase over the mere two and three-fifths pounds the U. S. citizen ate annually during the 1935-39 period.

The future of the big broad-breasted turkey seems assured. It is being cut up into parts so that the housewife may buy as much or as little turkey as she wants for her family. This is one of the most important things happening in the turkey marketing. Formerly, many a housewife would have bought turkey had she not been faced with the problem of having to purchase too much turkey for too few people. Now she can take home any quantity she wishes—or any part of the fowl.

Another development is the breeding of "family-sized" turkeys—hens maturing at seven to nine pounds and toms at 12 to 15. Still another new angle is the production of turkey fryers. Here again a definite demand by the public must be created before a profitable market can be established. One of the men who believe such a demand and market are in the offing is Ralph Janes, owner of the Janes Bar Nothing Turkey Ranch, Austin, Texas, and president and director respectively, of the Texas and National turkey federations. "At eight weeks," he reported to the state group, "you have a fryer of six pounds or better, and this size turkey has very tender and sweet meat."

All details aside, it seems certain that the American people have just begun to eat turkey, so far as amount and season are concerned. During the war the Armed Forces consumed prodigious amounts of the bird, and the men came to forget that they once considered it a holiday meat. They liked it on any day of the year—and it stands to reason that in civilian life they will continue to like it in any season.

In short, we are all going to enjoy the fowl as much in July as in December, and the farmer in the South is no longer going to have to wait until the Thanksgiving-Christmas season to make his turkey money.—Southern Agriculturist.

FOLKS & THINGS

ABOUT TOWN

-By BEN

So let it be. In God's own might
We gird us for the coming fight,
And, strong in His whose cause is ours
In conflict with unholy powers,
We grasp the weapons He has given—
The Light, and Truth, and Love of Heaven.

—WHITTIER.

Do you know how many bananas a ton of bananas are? Well, we don't either, but Mrs. Robinson at the Robinson Fruit Stand does. One day last week she got a ton of bananas early in the morning and before noon the whole ton was gone. As Mrs. Robinson says, "cut off and sacked," and we bet that is no little job. The next morning she went to Birmingham and got another ton. She didn't say how long the second ton lasted and we forgot to go down and get our quota, but we bet it lasted as long as you could say, "Mrs. Robinson."

A five year old girl was taught to close her prayers during the absence of her father, with, "and please watch over my papa." It sounded very sweet to the mother, but her astonishment may be imagined when one evening the little girl added, "and you had better keep an eye on mama too."

Lotta fun was had last Saturday night by the kids of the Methodist Youth Fellowship group—that is by the kids. We don't think the mules had so much fun after a day in the fields. We wouldn't be so sure that Carlisle Miller had too much fun while he was riding on that hay wagon with the kids. But being just about the best sport (if it's permissible to call a preacher a good sport), we ever saw, or knew, he made the best of it and assured all that he had a wonderful time. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Stapp came out late but arrived in time to enjoy the festivities. All in all, it was a glorious time for all, and approximately fifty "young 'uns" were present.

The directors were considering the slogans to be used in the marketing of their new seasons line of toilet soaps and perfumes. A competition had been organized, and the pile of entries lay on the table for consideration. Solemnly putting out his hand, the maging director extracted one from the pile, peered at it, grunted, and read it aloud to the directors: "If you don't use our soap, for goodness sake use our perfume."

Mr. Tom McKee's boys started out bright and early the other morning for work in the log woods. They had traveled only a few miles when they met up with some friends going to the Gulf fishing. After considerable conversation as to whether there would be facilities for them the McKee boys turned around and came back to Clanton; contacted their father and told him that they were going to the Gulf on a fishing trip. Upon being questioned what "Mr. Tom" thought of this, he remarked: "It's the brightest idea you boys ever had. If I had taken more time out for pleasure when I was young I would probably live lot longer." Thus the lesson is told. Of course, we never get around to putting it into practice ourselves but if we all would take more time out for relaxation, it would do us all good.

Our good friend, Mr. Leo Thompson, the mayor, took a good swing at us the other morning. We were wandering around town early and stopped to pay our respects and see what news we might pick up—plus advertising—when we stopped by the Clanton Laundry. We genially asked the Mayor what was news and where he had been for the past three days. Said the Mayor: "None of your business, you newspaper men tell everything, you know." Where upon he lit in and told us everything he didn't want us to know because we would tell you about it—the very things that we stopped to find out in the first place. We're telling you, a newspaperman's hide has to be pretty thick at times or else he would really be in a bad fix. The Mayor of course was kidding—no one could be more cooperative.

E. G. CALDWELL WRITES COUNTY VOTERS

To the Voters of Chilton County:
As we all know, we are almost on the eve of election. May the 7th is "just around the corner" and it should be (in my opinion) some importance to we people of Chilton; I expect it to the various candidates.

We people of Chilton SHOULD be very happy, we have plenty of water, timber and lots and lots of fertile lands that will grow almost anything. We have good County Officials' all the way round; and, OUR County is in GOOD financial condition; AND, we are just on the eve of improving our County in the way of good roads, etc. Since the war, material and lumber and laborers have been hard to get, but now it is soon going to be better. So, WHY let's "swap horses in the middle of the stream"; why let's do anything to "muddy the waters?" Why not let's cooperate with our County Officials another year and see what can be and WILL be done for our County?

We all know we have some bad roads and usually the Probate Judge (unjustly so) is blamed for this, but any one of us will have to admit that we have a competent, capable, efficient Judge of Probate. If one doubts it for a minute, ask the auditors at Montgomery how our Probate Office is run and our other County offices. SOMETIMES it is better to make a change and SOMETIMES it is not, and this is one time it is not (in MY opinion).

If these are not facts, then, "black is white and red is no color at all" (in my opinion).

Respectfully,

E. G. CALDWELL.

I have not been hired to write this letter nor even ASKED to write it, or suggested by anyone to write it, and on one will know anything about it until the Editors tomorrow.—E. G. C.

MORAL ECHOES

Rev. D. W. Haskew, D.D.

On the billboard of a movie I noticed this announcement of a coming picture, "The Lost Week End," will be shown at this theatre next week. I did not see the picture, but it was suggestive to me. Some men take the week end as the time for a drunken spree, some take it as a time to be lazy and lounge around their home, some take it as a time to catch up on jobs that should be done. There are some who take the week end for fishing trips, or hunting times, while others make the week end to be a time for business conferences and plans. Above their conduct should be written, "The Lost Week End." Count that week end lost when you fail to make use of it as a resting and worshipping period. All week ends should be a time when we draw near to God, presenting ourselves before His Holy altar.

There was a beautiful window in a Cathedral that was loved by all who saw it. One day a storm struck that window and it fell to the marble floor and was shattered into a thousand pieces. Great was the grief of those who loved that window so much, and they gathered up the pieces and put them into a box and carried them into the basement of the church. One day a stranger came to that church and asked to be shown the window of fame. He was told of its fate and then he asked again if they would give him the broken pieces. He carried the box away in his arms. Weeks passed and then one day the custodian of the Cathedral received an invitation from a famous glass artist to come to his art gallery, and he was shown into a room to see a window to take the place of the one that was broken. The artist pulled back a curtain and there before his eyes was the glass window that had been broken and now it was more beautiful than ever. "This window I have made out of the fragments of the one shattered by the storm," said the one who was a master in glass-craft, "And now it is

FARM LAND PRICES CONTINUE TO SOAR

Here's a report on the buying and selling of farms.

It shows that farm real estate values to rise much the same way they did in most parts of the country continue after World War I. What's more, it shows average values have already reached uncomfortably close to the peak they hit in the boom, just before the bust, after that other war.

So many sales at higher prices are taking place, economists doubt that buyers are giving proper consideration to the long term earning capacity of the land. If so, many buyers may find they've paid too much for their land.

ready to go back to its old place in your cathedral." You may have fallen under the storms of temptation, but Jesus can make you whole again and beautiful within.

A drunk man reeled and fell under a passing truck. He was picked up and rushed to a hospital with one leg crushed from the hip down. He was placed on the operating table restless and moaning. "Oh, doctor," he said, "will it kill me?" The honest doctor replied, "no not the leg, but that whiskey in you, the surgeon's knife cannot cut that out and likely you will die from that"; and he did. Whiskey will mangle.

It has been called to my attention that my name appears upon the ballot as a Candidate for State Senator from this District, and I wish to call your attention to the fact that I have withdrawn as such a candidate and am no longer in the race.

On March 21, 1946, there appeared an article in each of the County Papers that I had withdrawn.

I wish to take this occasion to again thank my many friends who pledged me their support.

Arthur Glover Writes Voters

To the People of Chilton County:
I am writing you in the interest of candidacy for re-election to the office of Judge of the 19th Judicial Court of Alabama composed of the Counties of Elmore, Autauga and Chilton.

I have performed the duties of this office for a number of years and have done lots of study and work in carrying on the different phases of the duties of the office. I am 55 years of age and have had considerable experience as a Circuit Judge and as a lawyer. Experience is a big item in the qualifications that a Circuit Judge should have and most especially as a jury trial judge. The work of a jury trial judge is complicated and actual experience is a big part of the ability of a successful trial judge.

I am an overseas Veteran of World War I and am a member of the American Legion and of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

It is sometimes said that a man has held an office long enough and that it should be given to someone else for a while and that someone else be given a chance. On first thought this sounds good, but in practice of efficiency it is not the rule. Good business organizations such as successful banks, merchants and manufacturing establishments don't lay off an employee or worker JUST because he has been employed for some time. Such business organizations feel that a worker of experience is better and worth more than one without experience and retain their workers on and on for some considerable time.

With the help of the officers of the Circuit Courts of the 19th Circuit I have been able to put all of these Courts on a cash basis, that is, they have paid all the indebtedness due by them and have some cash money in their treasuries. State witnesses are not required to register their claims against the Fine and Forfeiture Fund and wait until some later date to get their pay. These witnesses are paid at the conclusion of the cases in cash and there is now no court script.

We have been able to improve in the handling of cases to such extent that the juryman on an average are not required to serve in Court more than 2 or 3 days per week unless on some special case, and as a result a big reduction in court expenses has been made and juryman are not kept away from their work as long.

I believe that by reason of the results that have been brought about and the condition of the Courts I am entitled to be re-elected for another term and respectfully ask that you vote for me in the coming Primary of May 7th.

Yours respectfully,
ARTHUR GLOVER.

T. L. McKee's Query In Regards to Dead Voters

Mr. McKee, you stated in last week's issue of the Chilton County News and the Union-Banner, that I had put on the poll list, the names of a number of dead people. You also stated, that we all know that there plenty of records furnished the Probate Judge to inform him that these people are dead. Now Mr. McKee, there are no records furnished the Probate Judge of the death of any person. So you see, you are trying to mislead the people.

Mr. McKee, you spent four years in the courthouse and you should know that the Code of Alabama, provides that the Board of Registrars shall meet in each County on the first Monday in January, and every two years thereafter for purging the poll list, and may continue in session one week. They are the only ones that can have the name of a dead person taken off the list.

Mr. McKee, you know Mr. Joe Culp, Mr. Albert B. Burks and Mr. Watson Jones, and you know as well as I do that they are men whose honesty and integrity has never been questioned.

Yours very truly,
J. LEE SMITH.

Norman Harris And Miss Sara Hays Wed

The marriage of Miss Sara Ann Hays, the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hays and Dr. Norman Traut Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Harris, of Clanton, was solemnized at the First Baptist church on Wednesday afternoon, April 10.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Walker Combs. Mrs. R. M. Tuck presented a program of nuptial music and Mrs. T. A. Rape sang, "Always" and "Because".

The altar and choir loft was festooned with magnolia leaves, pine and Similax which formed a background for baskets of white gladioli and tall white candles burning in seven branched candelabras. Sprays of English dogwood tied with white satin ribbon marked the pews for the family and close friends.

Usher groomsmen included Dr. Harris Minter, of Donalsonville, Dr. Benjamin F. Ventress, of Clayton Nicky Bolton and Thomas C. Swann.

Miss Mary Hays, sister of the bride was maid of honor. She was gowned in apple green marquisette, featuring a sweetheart neckline and full skirt. She carried an old fashioned colonial nose-gay of sweet peas tied with a peach ribbon.

Bridesmaids included Misses Sara Frances Henderson and Miss Annie Ruth Jones, of Metter. Their gowns were of peach marquisette made like the maid of honor and their bouquets were nosegays of sweet peas.

The lovely bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, his brother, Lt.-Col. Herman L. Harris. She was gowned in traditional ivory slipper satin made along princess lines, featuring a heart shaped by the hostess.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

It is with a profound respect that I make this, my last news print appeal, to you voters of Chilton County before you have been privileged to nominate the man who is to represent the Democratic Party of Chilton County as Candidate for Sheriff of the County in the General Election of this coming November.

This being my first experience in asking the voters of the county to trust me to become a public servant, I am sure I have appeared somewhat awkward at times, yet, I have tried to see as many of you as possible. I suggested at the beginning of my campaign that I would try to be very conservative of your time and patience, this I have tried to do.

Having been raised on the farm myself, I know how easy it is to hinder a farm family at any time of day at this particular season of the year; then, too, having some twenty-odd years business experience, I also know that the patience of a business man might be imposed upon. I therefore, have tried to make my Campaigning very brief with all of you whom I have contacted.

I am well aware of the fact that I have not been able to see every voter of the County, but I have not missed anyone through the slightest intention of disrespect. Therefore, I take this privilege of asking any one whom I have not been fortunate enough to see, to GO TO THE POLLS TUESDAY — THE 7TH and Vote for me to become the Nominee for Sheriff of the County.

To those of you whom I have contacted, I would like to thank you again for your Courteous and kind attention and encouragement; also to urge you to exercise your privilege as a Voter of our good County.

I have maintained from the beginning of my Campaign that a certain amount of the progress we make as we go through life, is due to the changes we make along the way. I suggest that this holds as true in our political life as it does in our domestic life. It is therefore my honest opinion that it is an "Imperative" duty of every qualified voter of this county to exercise his or her privilege in this and all future elections, regardless of whether or not you have been personally solicited by the candidate of your choice.

The Courteous manner in which everyone has respected me in my efforts during my Campaign demand, that I thank you again for such.

It is my humblest desire that no one person shall become so enthusiastically interested in any one Candidate that the slightest trace of ill-feeling shall be traceable after the election is over.

Again I earnestly Solicit your Influence by ballot, Conversation or any other way that I might be honorably entitled to.

Smith Makes Final Statement To Voters

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

As the campaign is drawing to a close for the May 7th Primary election, I want to take this opportunity to say a few words in the behalf of my candidacy for re-election to the office of Judge of Probate. Du to the duties in the office, I have been unable to see all the voters, but I trust that I have the opportunity before May 7th.

I would like to state in a brief way some of my qualifications for the office. It is only fair that the people of the county know how the several candidates stand, so they may be in a more enlightened position to choose the best qualified to manage the affairs of our county.

I was in the wholesale grocery business for a number of years. I served the people of Clanton as their Mayor for two terms, and was Mayor of the Town of Clanton when you honored me with the highest office within the gift of our people.

We have on file in the Probate Office, plans that have been approved by the State and Federal Government, for over one hundred miles of farm to market roads. And, we intend to keep one or two projects going all the time, until these roads are paved.

United States Senate and now pending. There has been a bill passed in the House of Representatives to appropriate money for the building and equipping hospitals. Your Commissioners and I are going to do everything we can to get one of these hospitals located in Chilton County.

We intend to take advantage of every dollar made available by the State and Federal Government, and will see to it that it goes to the last cent of all dollar people.

A good record made by any business man or a public official is a better than campaign promises. On this record, I solicit your vote.

Yours very truly,

WILLIE SMITH

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Olin Bice, in Kincheon Community, has established a meadow outlet in sericea. The sericea will be used as a source of hay while acting as a protective cover for the meadow outlet. As soon as the sericea has become firmly established, the terraces in the field will be changed so that they will empty into the sericea. Mr. Bice is also experimenting on a new way to improve the soil in one area of the same field.

J. Litt Cox, in Enterprise Community, is planning to mow his second year stand of sericea as soon as possible so that the next cutting of hay will be clean. An early mowing will also give the young sericea plants a better chance to live.

J. C. McGee, in Mt. Pleasant Community, has planted his pecan orchard in sericea. He is going to use this as a source of hay.

Now is the time for cooperators to mow their second year sericea for hay. This will make the second cutting be more even and cleaner. It will help to thicken up the stand.

Board Of Registrars Answers Tom McKee's Letter Of Last Week

Editor Chilton County News:

In your paper last week, T. L. McKee called attention to the fact that the names of certain people whom he claims are dead appear on the present voting list prepared by the Judge of Probate.

As it is the duty of the Board of Registrars to purge the list of voters of persons dying, Mr. McKee's letter casts reflection on this board for not performing its duty.

The registration laws required this Board to meet on the first Monday in January, 1946, and to continue in session for one week only for the purpose of purging the voters list. It was our duty to strike from the list any voter who had died, become insane, or for other reasons set out in the law, was incompetent as a voter. Our Board met at the Courthouse on Monday, January 6th, 1946, and continued in session for one week for this purpose and quired the list of all voters whom we had information had died, become insane or otherwise disqualified as provided by law. This purged list was then filed by the Board of Registrars with the Judge of Probate.

We are informed that the Attorney General of Alabama has made a ruling that we cannot strike any name of a voter off of the list except during this week in January. Any person who died since January 12th is properly on the voting list. The Probate Judge and our Board have no authority whatever to strike the name of such a person from the list. Many times the names are duplicated and a person of the same name of said initial appear on the list. A person may register in one beat and move to another beat and many times the names are confused.

We are provided with no conveniences and we are allowed no expenses to visit different parts of the county to find out who is dead or for other reason disqualified and we perform our duty as best we can in the limited time we have and with the information we can get.

We invite the co-operation of all the citizens of the county and we do not intentionally leave any voter's name on the list who is dead, or otherwise disqualified as a voter.

Respectfully,
ALBERT B. BURKS,
J. D. CULP.
WATSON JONES.

Supplies of eggs available for civilians during the second half of the year will be larger than in the corresponding period of 1945. Farm egg output may be somewhat smaller, but the increase in commercial stocks which is expected during the next few months will more than offset any decrease in production.

Grammar School Students Take Trip To Moundville

OUR TRIP TO MOUNDVILLE

One day, about a month ago, We decided to take a trip, so We made preparations and arranged for cars. We were as excited as if going to wars. When the day came to leave, we could hardly wait And set off as a joyous gait

We rode and rode, for 'bout two hours And saw many pretty and colorful flowers. We arrived, at last, in Moundville. Where we observed the ancient skill Of people who lived so long ago. It was really an amazing show.

We saw some pits, which had been dug out. In them were skeletons of Mongols, no doubt. We saw fish hooks and a hair pin Probably used by these ancient men. Then we went to the picnic grounds Before we got there we climbed a mound. We laughed and talked while we ate

We met some children, also, from our State. Then we went to climb Mound B. From the top of this there was much to see. We went through Smith Hall And saw rocks, crystals, snakes and all. Everyone had been good, not bad And in leaving this place we were very sad.

—LENORE OGLESBY.

OUR EASTER OUTING

Four weeks ago we decided to make a visit to the State Monument in Moundville, Ala. We wrote for permission to visit the museum and also asked for a guide to explain the different points of interest to be seen. Several mothers and fathers volunteered to take us in their cars. Each car had around six people. We were divided into squads before leaving as it would be easier to see everything in groups.

We had a very nice time on the trip over. Mrs. Oglesby, in her car, was first; Mrs. Smith second, Mrs. Bennett third, Mrs. Deramus fourth and Mrs. Huddleston fifth. The children in our car sang songs and played games. The procession stopped frequently and bought refreshments.

We reached the museum near dinner time. Dick Kemp introduced the class to Mrs. Montgomery who showed us through the museum. The museum and mounds are located in a bend of the Black Warrior River. The skeletons of the Mongolians or so-called Moundville Indians were never moved, but the museum was built over them. These early people recognized flat heads as a mark of distinction. Almost all babies' heads were flattened by strapping their heads to a wooden cradle. The pressure on the soft bones of the infant's head caused it to become flat. The Mongolians were fond of jewelry. The hair pins were made of bones and much time was devoted to hair dressing. Their houses were made of logs fastened together at the top and covered with a thatched roof. The walls were plastered with thick coatings of sand and clay. Their food was principally fish and other wild game. Their religion was very important to them. The Mongolians were skilled in making pottery.

After we finished visiting the museum we went to the picnic grounds where we met another sixth grade group from Eutaw, Ala. Later we climbed the highest mound and there Mrs. Deramus took a picture of us. On these flat-topped mounds the Mongolians built temples in which they worshipped.

After we explored the park thoroughly we rode to Tuscaloosa where the University of Alabama is located. Many of the rarest articles found at Moundville are in Smith Hall at the University. The building in which the museums is located is one of the oldest at the University. Here we saw many interesting things such as different kinds of rocks, many about which we had studied and a large collection of stuffed wild animals. We were especially interested in the model of planets and their relation to the sun. Most of the articles at Smith Hall came from our own State of Alabama.

We greatly appreciate the kindness of Mrs. Montgomery who so patiently explained the chief points of interest at the monument. We feel sure that we speak for the entire group when we say that we hope we can make another trip as enjoyable as this one.

—ANN AND PAT HUDDLESTON.

OUR TRIP TO MOUNDVILLE

The first thing we did about our trip was to decide how we would get there. We used five cars. Six or seven people rode in one car.

On the way up there we got tired of riding, so we stopped in Centreville, rested and bought some food. We got back into the cars and were trying to think of something to do, when up popped an idea. We thought we would write notes to the car behind us and they answered us. We did this most of the way up there.

When we got there we were sort of afraid we would have to go back without seeing anything. There wasn't anyone in sight. We waited a few minutes, then a lady by the name of Mrs. Montgomery walked up. She let us in. As we went in, she took a dime from the pupils and a quarter from the teacher and the parents. There were many interesting things inside. The first thing we saw was the Age of Man. The other things we saw were maps, shells and beads for jewelry, queer hair pins, needles which were sharp; skeletons of American Indians and different kinds of pipes. After we had finished looking at the things we registered and Mrs. Montgomery gave us little books about the things we saw.

Next we ate our lunch. We climbed a mound to get to the picnic grounds and when we came down nearly all of us fell down. When we had eaten lunch we played some and then left the picnic grounds. We went around passed the museum and were on our way to climb the highest mound, which is Mound B. When we got there, we started to climb. It was, for me, very hard. I don't know what the others thought, but at last we got to the top. We stayed up there a few minutes before coming down on the other side. Most of them ran down the mound and landed in briar patches. So I went down very cautiously.

There are forty mounds on the three hundred acre Monument tract. They are of many sizes. The highest is Mound B. It is 58 and one-half feet high and covers almost two acres.

On the way back we stopped at Smith Museum at the University. We saw some very interesting things there, too. Some of them had been moved from the Moundville Museum. We started on our way home after we had finished looking at all the interesting objects.

We started to writing notes again, but it soon got tiresome. Then we started asking riddles. It was a very enjoyable trip.

After a short time we were home.

—DOROTHY GARNER.

OUR CLASS GOES TO MOUNDVILLE

Friday we took a day off from our books Out the old Moundville way, Where we saw remnants of yefrs ago As in the cases they lay.

There were the skeletons displayed in pits; There were the bones and the beads; There were the remnants of squash and of maize; There were the ancient man's needs.

Down by the Warrior, our picnic we had, There in the cool of the woods.

Gaily we chatted and hungrily ate. Boy, but that dinner was good!

Back then we came to the museum site, Eager to climb the big mound. Hurriedly then we came back to our cars Bound for a nearby town.

Then to the Smith Hall Museum we came. Saw the museums, both. All was so wonderful, splendid and grand That to leave we were loath.

Fun it was rolling along toward our homes. Fun it is now with our books, Thinking again as our minds stray away Just how a museum looks.

— BETTY GOODMAN

A TRIP

One bright morning very early We decided on Moundville surely. Knowing just which car to ride Yet everyone did want the side. At last we managed to get there Without a worry or a care.

After we had paid the fare, The museum we went to share. Mongol remnants had been found Way down under the ground. There was a prehistoric lake Where we saw an ugly snake. Next, we found the picnic ground After we had climbed a mound. Later we went to Mound B To find just what there was to see. We also went to Smith Hall To see the treasures great and small.
